

SALT LAKERS IN GOTHAM.

Special Correspondence.
NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—Prof. O. C. Anderson, a one time resident of Mt. Pleasant, Utah, a former teacher of music in the branch school at Cedar, now a resident of Dallas, Texas, where he is instructor of music in the conservatory, is a visitor to Gotham this week; he is leader of the orchestra that accompanied the Utah fellows' delegation from Texas. Many of the other Southern States also sent delegations. Prof. Anderson has made wonderful progress in his profession, in the south, and while in New York, he has hunted up his old friends, Mr. J. R. Clark and Will Ward, teachers who were associated with him in Cedar City. His son and daughter, now in the conservatory, the boy, Farley, 12 years old, is already an acknowledged pianist of note, and the daughter is quoted as a prodigy on the violin. Prof. Anderson will leave for his home the coming week.

"Counting" "The Jail Breaker," now performing at Hurtig & Seamon's One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street, who has made the circuit of all the popular vaudeville houses in New York, is no other than Bob Cunningham, a Provo boy, he makes one of the most entertaining acts to be seen in those theaters. Mrs. Cunningham often accompanies her husband, but at present is at home.

This year at the College of Physicians and Surgeons Mr. Will Ward is registered. Mr. Ward has been assistant night surgeon at St. Luke's all summer. On September first he accepted the position of principal of a ward in the Infirmary Soldier's Home on Staten Island, where he will remain until November when he will return to New York only occasionally visiting at the home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Clark have taken a flat on the corner of One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street and Amsterdam avenue, at No. 500; Mrs. Clark's health is greatly improved, her summer at home in the mountains having been of the greatest benefit to her and the two children.

Elders Amos A. Fuller, and Ephraim Blackburn, who have been associated with the Brooklyn conference for the last year, left for south West Virginia Wednesday last, to labor in that field. Elder Blackburn to preside over the conference. Elder W. W. Collins will succeed Elder Fuller, as presiding Elder in Brooklyn. Elder Collins has been a most valuable member of the household of 420 west One Hundred and Twenty-fourth street, the headquarters of President W. K. Jacobs, and his change of residence is regretted by all.

At Sunday's services of the Latter-day Saints, Elders Wallace Hunter and J. Reuben Clark were the speakers. Elder Porter presided. President McQuarrie having gone to Boston to hold meetings, and President Jacobs being at Orem. Mrs. Delyn, with friends, traveled as far as Boston with President McQuarrie, intending to visit and do some sight-seeing for a week or 10 days.

Miss Susan Talmage and the Misses Swenson and Livingstone arrived in New York last Thursday and are located on west One Hundred and Thirtieth street. The young ladies will attend special classes in Columbia the coming winter, and are heartily welcomed into the Utah colony.

At No. 71 Broadway Messrs. Clarence and Willis McCormick have taken an office. The Empire building, owned by Russell Sage, is the one selected by the brothers to carry on their business in stocks and bonds.

The farce comedy, "Moonshine," by Ned Royle, with introduced music, that Marie Cahill employs as a vehicle to exploit her talents, this season, will have as leading man Mr. Will Ingersoll, Mr. Ingersoll, who is a fine actor, but

SIR THOMAS LIPTON.

KING SEES LIPTON HUNT.

While Sir Thomas Lipton, who is honorary colonel of the Second Lanarkshire engineers, was leading his regiment past the king at the review of 40,000 Scottish volunteers, recently, his horse swerved, and Sir Thomas was thrown. He was kicked in the face by his mount, and his lips were badly cut. His right shoulder and arm were terribly bruised by the fall. The review was the greatest muster of Scotchmen under arms since the battle of Flodden Field. Enormous numbers of visitors from all parts of Scotland and the north of England witnessed the review, which is expected to assist in counteracting the extreme irritation felt in volunteer circles over recent worrying regulations of the war office.

THE TEMPERANCE CAUSE.

The matter in this column is edited and prepared by ladies of Ogden interested in temperance work.

The writer of the following article will be one of the speakers in Salt Lake City, Oct. 22, when the White Ribbon special comes through.

Mrs. Hunt is the one woman who has done so much to secure scientific temperance instruction throughout the United States. Her plans are now adopted in Great Britain.

Whoever would successfully plan for the overthrow of the drink curse in America must think in millions and at the same time must have a capacity for detail.

Twenty-five years ago the alcohol problem, to my thinking, took this form. Science, through the investigations of Sir Benjamin Ward Richardson in England and Dr. N. S. Davis in our own country, had proved that alcohol instead of being, as people supposed, a harmless beverage if taken in moderate amounts, is in reality a narcotic poison that taken even moderately had the power to create an uncontrollable desire for more that destroys the mental, moral, and physical power of the drinker and impairs that of his children.

From these demonstrated facts it was not a far cry to the conclusion that the popular use of alcoholic drinks is a menace to a government like ours, the strength and perpetuity of which depends on the character of its people.

But how can a people who have a more or less tendency to the use of alcohol, as have the Anglo-Saxon and other races that make up the American nation, be prevented from drinking such liquors was the question.

A republic like ours has no power with which it can compel majorities, for majorities make the laws. As long as a majority of the people believe in alcohol they will drink it because they like it, and they will vote for its manufacture and sale.

TEACHING A NATION THROUGH ITS CHILDREN.
Hence, the first step in saving this nation from the alcoholic destruction that has overtaken other nations was the gigantic undertaking of teaching the 60,000,000 people then in this country, and those who would come later the dangerous character of alcohol and other narcotics and the physiological reasons for abstaining from their use, as well as the reasons for obeying other laws of health.

After Napoleon Bonaparte had despoiled Berlin, Queen Louise of Prussia said: "We must raise a new race of men, we must teach the children, and Germany's system of public education followed."

"A new race of men," through teaching the children is the hope in this conflict with alcohol, and if it is to save the nation, such teaching must reach not a few in temperance societies, but all pupils in all schools.

It must be progressive, systematic study, beginning with the first primary grades to the end of the first year in the high school.

It must be a legally required study, ranking with geography and arithmetic. An intelligent people who are not the slaves of alcohol, and who know the real character and force for evil of this poisonous narcotic, will not tolerate its manufacture and sale any more than they would that of any other vile thing that menaces the individual, the home, and the very life of the nation.

The only insensuality that can reach all the people and teach them betimes, before appetite for alcohol is formed, that the most moderate beverage use of alcohol drinks is by nature an outgrowth of man's life and health are based on definite laws which must be obeyed, is the public school.

A majority of the voters of tomorrow are in the first five years of the public schools of today.

Thorough scientific temperance education in this first five school years means future no-saloon majorities.

Students of scientific temperance education in the first five school years means future no-saloon majorities.

Through the schools and every other possible avenue for 20 years the truth as revealed by modern science against alcohol has been spread broadcast. God's spirit has energized it. The vote today represents the intelligent moral conviction of an overwhelming majority of the American people that alcohol as a beverage is by nature an outgrowth of man's life and health are based on definite laws which must be obeyed, is the public school.

MARY H. HUNT,
National Superintendent of Scientific Instruction.

HANDKERCHIEFS.

They Are Often a Source of Grave Danger to the Washerwomen.

Statistics have shown over and over again that washerwomen are much more likely to contract tuberculosis and actually suffer from the disease in much larger proportion than other working women of the same grade of life. This is due to the fact that the expectation of the tuberculous bacteria clinging to their various articles of clothing is not rendered innocuous by antiseptics or by boiling before they come into the hands of the washerwomen. It is particularly handkerchiefs that are the most dangerous in this respect, and the enforcement of sanitary regulations with regard to expectation is sure to add to this danger. It would be well if the Chinese custom of using a paper handkerchief which the children of the better classes would disdain to carry with him once it has been soiled, but which he hands over to his servant to be disposed of by burning could become the rule in this country. Until it does, however, physicians should call the attention, especially of those suffering from tuberculosis, to the necessity for having their handkerchiefs soaked for some time in a suitable antiseptic solution before allowing them to be sent out to become a possible danger to the overworked and underfed poor-American housewife.
