

MINOR MENTION.

Election day tomorrow.
The Territorial Supreme court meets on Wednesday next.

The latest report from Judge H. W. Smith, of Ogden, says he is improved in health.

The polls will open for tomorrow's election at 8:30 a.m. and will close at 4:30 p.m., or there early so as not to be disturbed.

James Walker, sent up from Ogden for sentence, concluded his one year term in the penitentiary today, and was released.

"Locks like Christmas" meant more than the flying snow to those who saw C. H. Savage today putting in large holiday stock to the hardware vault store south of 2nd and Main streets, and discussing about the time of Santa Claus' visit.

Some signs are only on the territorial line, and can't be seen tomorrow, others are on the territorial line, and therefore don't count their ballot only for officers under the territorial regulations, municipal or county. Municipalities are allowed to have two ballots, one to people to live in town, and another to people to live in the country previous to the election for which they are allowed to have two ballots.

A friend, ready in the following for publication, with the suggestion that perhaps may read it twice, you three, and still find it interesting, writes: "I am a voter, and am going to vote for you, and I am going to do my best to make you win. You are a virtuous man and women, keep them off the streets as much as possible, and especially a tramp. The boy or girl who is allowed to roam the streets at night has no place to go, and is bound to do something that will prove a detriment to their character, and, no matter how vicious they may be, the flavor of sin will be pointed at them."

Charged with Battery.

David Davis, the electric operator in the Atlas building, appeared in the police court today and had a warrant issued for the arrest of James Lovett, who is charged with battery in hitting, abusing and otherwise maltreated his late morning in the Walker Mercantile building. Davis says it was done without any provocation whatever, and as he didn't propose to be struck for nothing, he thought the best way to get justice was have his antagonist arrested. The case will be heard on Wednesday at 10 o'clock.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

Linen J. Carter's Post Mail, which is to appear at the Salt Lake Theatre on Wednesday next is said to be the original of which a number of similar publications are imitations.

DEWELL HOPPER.

On Thursday evening the melodious and funny harpist Wang will be presented at the Salt Lake Theatre by the DeWell Hopper company. The cast includes Edna Wallace Hooper, a bright soprano; Bertha Watzinger, the soprano of the company; Alice Haeniglitz Lester; Mrs. G. Goss; John H. Shirley; Adelie Kline; August Coates, and others.

On Friday and Saturday evenings Dr. Hyatt will be given by the same company, while Wang will be the attraction at the Saturday matinee.

AT THE GRAND.

School is in the bill for the present week at the Grand, commencing this evening. The management of this place have another treat in store for the public.

THE LYCEUM.

Representations of "Darkened Americas" will take place at the Lyceum for four nights and a matinee, commencing Wednesday next. Many of the prominent theaters in the country are spoken of in strongest terms.

DOUBLE ANNIVERSARY.

Celebration of the Birthday, also the Wedding Day of Bishop Schneiders.

HARRINVILLE, Weber Co., Utah, Nov. 2, 1890.

To the Editor:
Yesterday it was the good fortune of your correspondent to attend one of the grandest birthday and marriage reunions he has witnessed during the three score years of his life.

Early down the good people of Fair Ward were all astir, preparing to spring a surprise upon their worthy Bishop and his very good dame, in honor of the 31st year of his life and the 40th year of their marriage. At 10 a.m. the ward clerk was diverting the Bishop's attention to an investigation of the condition of the ward records and the Bishop was making preparations to keep up the old time practice of celebrating the wedding day around the old hearth stone. But the sisters of the Beloit family and others, many of whom had been invited to the Bishop's home, had made arrangements to assist the Bishop in his domestic and by 11 a.m. the ward was surrounded. The band struck up "Hail to the Chief," which brought the Bishop to the front, and the door was thrown open, he plainly saw he was expected, and an instant entrance. He was then taken in charge and marched to the amusement hall where all the members of the church and their wives were numerous, and the Bishop and his wife were seated at a table, reading books, and the Bishop, as he was leaving, said to his wife, "I am sorry to say we are not in the taste of any explore." There were many who had a desire to be present among the guests, but the Bishop and wife of Ogden, who has known him and the church well, before partaking of the meal, a sermon from the pulpit, in which Bishop P. G. Taylor, of Ogden, after a hearty ovation, closed the service, and enjoyed the feast, being seated upon a sofa of leather and green velvet, which was covered to every wish with the choicest of wines, and the Bishop, D. H. Peery, of Ogden, who has been appointed to the pulpit, spoke with the capital of the natural grand heartiness, and of the good news being heralded for an important state where bread is the staple article of diet.
