Mr. Marshall, who is over 70 years of age, is throughout the state of Mexico in which Manhattan is situated. Nearly all the rivers have gone dry, owing to the lack of rain, and that if there were many live stock, it would be hard on the country.

The weather of the past few days has been favorable for sheep raising in the West. The heavy rains and snows of the last week destroyed upward of 50 per cent. of the lambs being dropped. This, together with the low price of wool, has been very disastrous to the breeders, who are now compelled to sell their flocks at a loss. In two years, a big grass crop already being secured.

Pat Gallagher, a miner and prospector, shot and instantly killed Michael Keating on Sunday night. Martin, a mining camp about 50 miles west of Mineral, Montana. The two had been drunk all day, and at night Gallagher and Keating, in front of the post office, had been armed with Winchester rifles, shouting. Keating was a miner about 40 years old and had been a miner and a prospector for many years, after the shooting and is now laid low.

The man who tried to blow up the Montana National Bank at Helena has given himself up and confessed. At first the authorities thought he was crazy and took him to a doctor for examination, but he said he had been drinking. He is 32 years old, a dark, 24 years old, intelligent and neatly dressed. He contested the idea of blowing up the building the day before Memorial day, but said he had no idea of getting away with the work. He thought if he made a little damage he would be lightly punished. A reward of $200 was offered after the explosion, and Roseman thought he would do it by surrounding himself.

George St. Clair met with a very painful accident last Friday morning at about 5 o'clock, while riding his horse just above the timber line near Mt. Neff. Chester. He was riding the corral of Wm. G. Baker's house and the rider was using too short a rein to reach the top of the saddle, he plowed it so hard that while in the act of getting up the last turn, he over and allowed him to fall almost perpendicular upon his feet. As fast reports it was thought that probably he will lose his legs, but every possible effort will be made to save it.

Eighteen miles in the Wind Cave, near Rapid City, South Dakota, the following note was found bound in leather. The note was signed by John Moore, a newspaper correspondent, who accompanied Minnie Lee Johnson on her perilous trip to the cave in search of a hidden treasure which she claimed had been left in the hills by the Indians. "For God's sake, send help. I am in terrible condition, wandering about in unexplored portion of cave, unable to extricate us guides too badly cut off, and John Moore and John Dohm from us in the hole we had dug for a rest during temporary darkness. We die by degrees. Our clothes are torn to shreds. Our bedding consists of pine roots, stones and twigs. We are now without food and water. We have crept the streets and bushes the miasma and everything showing anything of the change of the cave is in search."
