A most interesting anniversary event of the week was the celebration on Monday of the 50th wedding anniver-mary of the veteran actor Mr. Phil Margetts, a double occasion for celebration existing in the fact that this year also witnesses the 50th anniversary of the witnessing the offic antiviersary of the popular actor's first appearance of the stage. The eventing of the date was celebrated by a family reunion at the Margetts residence, where the relatives and near filends of the host gathered to offer congratulations and otherwise pleasantly commemorate the occasion. Recitations and music were amongst the features of the event which was a most enjoyable one throughout.

On W micesday Bishop Hiram B. Clawson reached the 74th annual mile-stone in his life's journey, and in the evening of that date his children and grandchildren celebrated the day by assembling en masse at his residence in the Twelftch ward where the evening was mean in a metable remnion steerches. the Twelfth ward where the evening was spent in a notable reunion, speeches, congratulations, music, games and bounteous refreshments being features of the occasion. An interesting incident was the taking of a flash-light photo-graph of the family group present, the picture presenting Bishop Clawson seat-ed in the midst of his assembled family, with his 102nd grandchild, the infant son of Mrs. Phoebe Clawson Taylor, on his knee. The event was an enjoyable and doubtless a most notable one in the experience of the recipient and his family. family.

Miss Rose Young, the subject of this sketch, is one of the prominent young ladies of Utah county. She was born in Sugar House ward, Salt Lake county, in 1876, and is a granddaughter of Brigham Young. In 1890 the family removed to Provo, and the young lady, early realizing that her father's uncertain health placed grave responsibility upon her as the eldest of a family of eleven, turned her educational efforts into a practical channel, and spent two years in the business department of the Brigham Young Academy. In 1897 she was chosen to serve as second deputy in the office of Recorder Thomas, of Utah county, and retained the position till Mr. Thomas' successor, Mrs. May Brown Spencer, was elected to the office. Because of her proficiency, she was subsequently made first deputy by the county commissioners. Miss Young was the nominee on the Democratic ticket for county recorder of Utah county. Besides her native abilities and acquired talents, Miss Yonug possesses force of character, pleasing manners and great beauty of person, and is very public spirited. She has been an officer in the M. I. association, and a teacher in the Sunday school, doing her part cheerfully in all the unpaid work, that promotes the welfare of a community.
