

FRAGMENTS.

NICHOLAS GROESBECK Esq., has been very ill.

The District Court has adjourned till Saturday.

LOCAL will have a celebration on the "Fourth."

THEODORE BURMESTER has been appointed a notary public for Salt Lake County.

MAJOR CRITCHFIELD has returned couched and hopes are entertained for him.

Those lost keys are still here. Come and get them, Brother McNeice; we won't hurt you.

On account of washouts on the D. & R. G., work in the P. V. coal mines has been interfered with to some extent.

If those boys who carried off my front gate last night, will return it, they will be charged nothing for the use they have had of it.

W. WOODRUFF.

The members (stockholders) of Zion's Benefit Building Society should bear in mind that a preliminary meeting of that Association will be held at C. M. I. shoe factory, to-morrow night. The object is to make some preparation for the election of officers and directors, which will take place on the 30th.

The proprietors of the Philadelphia Restaurant, 64 Main Street, are out with a new advertisement. Having been greatly improved of late, there is no place in town where a better meal can be obtained at the popular price. Solomon Bros. & Gold have shown commendable enterprise in purchasing and improving this establishment, which is growing in favor.

LOCAL NEWS.

High Council. The members of the High Council are requested to meet in the Social Hall, to-morrow, Friday evening, June 27th, 1884, at 7 o'clock.

WILLIAM W. TAYLOR, Clerk.

Ladies' Conference. The Relief Society Conference of this State will convene at 10 a. m. to-morrow, in the Social Hall. There will be two meetings, the second one to assemble at 2 p. m., in the same building. At the conclusion an adjournment will be taken to the assembly hall, where the Primary Conference will open at 10 o'clock on Saturday, and that of the young ladies at 2 p. m. on Sunday. All who are connected with these associations should turn out and attend. A cordial invitation is tendered to all who are interested.

Lawrence Barrett. Lawrence Barrett, the actor, is about to make the largest theatrical jump on record. He leaves London, July 2, for St. Louis, to open his American engagement at Denver, July 23rd, during the great Colorado Exposition. Among his company are Louis James, F. C. Mosley, B. G. Rogers, C. M. Collins and Misses Marie Walworth, Minnie Monk and Rose. Mr. Barrett is agent, his fourth year with him. He will be here ere long, as Mr. Barrett will open at the Salt Lake Theatre, August 11th.

Wonderful Workmen. Archimedes Secundus and Sons—which being interpreted signifies H. G. Carroll and Sons—formerly of Liverpool, have a circular in distribution in which orders are solicited for all kinds of carpenter and builders work, machinery, turning in wood, iron, ivory or bone, plumbing, gas and water fitting, coopering, designing of various kinds and almost everything mechanics can do under the sun. They mean what they say and are skillful workmen. Their workshop in this city is at 2511 S. H. Street between 7th and 8th streets, 20th Ward. Give them a trial.

"The Rajah."—An audience somewhat smaller than that of Tuesday night, witnessed the second performance of this splendid comedy at the Opera House last evening, and gave every indication of appreciation and enjoyment. The play went off nicely, perhaps even more smoothly than before (a natural result on a change of stage), and the actors won fresh encomiums from the audience.

The public will have no need to blame but themselves if they allow the excellent company to depart without having witnessed them in the Madison Square Theatre's latest and most popular success. Only two more nights including this evening will "The Rajah" hold the boards. See it while it is to be seen.

The Celebration. The committee of arrangements for the Fourth of July celebration held a meeting last night at the Utah Commission rooms, and determined to hold the celebration, such as speaking, reading the Declaration of Independence, etc., in front of the Liberal Institute.

The pyrotechnic display will be given from the Eighth Ward Square, to commence as soon as it is dark enough to be properly witnessed in the Deseret Hospital. The little girls who are to represent the various States and Territories are having all the preparations made that is possible, and that will be an important feature.

At 8 o'clock the committee adjourned to the U. S. District Court room and received the reports of the various committees.

A resolution was adopted requesting that the trades and business of the city be represented in the procession. Invitations will be sent to all the civic societies in the city. A number of the societies have signified their intention of turning out in uniform, and a number of the lodges will turn out in uniform and mounted.

Funeral of a Hawaiian. The obsequies of the Hawaiian girl, Kahanehanehane, who died in the Deseret Hospital on Tuesday morning, took place there at about 10 a. m. yesterday. The services, which were in the native language of the deceased, were conducted by Elder Joseph H. Dean, under the oversight of Bishop H. B. Croswell, President of the Hospital. There were present, besides the brethren mentioned and the members of the Hawaiian Colony of this city, sixteen in number, President Joseph F. Smith, Sisters Cason, Neuber, Clawson and others.

After singing, prayer was offered by one of the brethren of the colony, and another hymn followed in the same tongue. The speakers were three Hawaiian Elders, and Elder Dean, Bishop Clawson and President Smith, and the benediction was pronounced by one of the Hawaiian Elders. All present followed the remains to the cemetery. The services were interesting and impressive. The grandfather of the dead girl took the sad event sorely to heart. The disease was a gradual wasting away.

When Hamlet heard that a factory in Michigan turns out 2,400 washboards every day he exclaimed, "Ah, there's the rub." J. J. Green.

DEVIL'S AUCTION.

THE SPECTACULAR EXTRAVAGANZA AT THE THEATRE.

No one was disappointed, on entering the Theatre last evening, to find a large audience assembled, which steadily augmented until some time after the curtain rose, when the lower part of the auditorium was nearly filled, and the galleries were at all their glory.

The "Devil's Auction" is a lurid medley of burlesque, pantomime, circus and spectacular effect, and is perhaps the only thing, strictly of its kind, ever presented on the local stage. One would suppose the author had in view the pleasing of every shade of opinion and variety of taste, no monopoly of enjoyment being afforded to any particular class, but the consideration being meted out to all the same measure, it could hardly be excelled.

There were weak spots in the performance, it is true, such as hitching of the machinery, a scantiness in the ballet corps, faulty music and other minor inferiorities, but there were also strong points, some of them absolutely marvellous. The acting was mostly poor, and the dialogue trivial. The hits of the evening were made by the agile "Chaos" (Albert Martinet) the humanized donkey, "Toby," (James S. Martin), the burlesque tragedian, and the "Devil's Auction," (James S. Martin), the burlesque tragedian, and the "Devil's Auction," (James S. Martin), the burlesque tragedian.

The scenery was splendid, and the changes, (so instantaneous as to puzzle the eye), were followed by some marvels of mechanical skill. The piece has nothing in the spectacular line so brilliant as "Excelsior," nor is the music and ballet so good, but in other respects the "Devil's Auction" is ahead of that wonderful pantomime. It will be repeated to-night and to-morrow evening. Sell by all means.

Deseret Mills. A short time since the Deseret Woolen Mills by Hon. Wm. Jennings & Sons. These mills were built by the late President Brigham Young, and in the settlement of his estate became the property of his son, Mr. M. Young, Esq., since deceased. The purchase was made of Mrs. Agnes M. Young, widow of the late President, for the purpose of the transfer of the property a suit was instituted in the District Court by L. A. Cummings and other heirs of the late James W. Cummings, against the executors of the will of Mr. Jennings. It is evident that the result of the suit, the litigation as anything but prejudicial to his interests, or those of the parties defendant.

It is the expressed intention of Messrs. Jennings and Sons to make a history for these mills in addition to their past good record, as they consider them in any respect for growing and expansion. In room, power and capacity. They will start up on the 1st of July, under the superintendence of Mr. James Dunn, late of Provo, the well known former superintendent of the Woolen Mills in that place. Mr. Jennings says that he will not be much prevented in the Mills this year, but new facilities in machinery, etc., will be added and the capacity increased as fast as it is ascertained what and how much is wanted to make the Mills what their present owners desire them to be.

The Carriage Drive. As the driving season advances it becomes a question of interest to those who indulge in such delights, as to what steps will be or are being taken to prepare the carriage drives for public use. Some two years ago a drive was laid out, known as the Salt Lake Carriage Drive, extending from the Continental Hotel south to the Deseret Lane, thence east to General Wells' farm, and thence up Fifth East as far north as First South Street.

Last year this was kept in good repair, mainly through the efforts of the Driving Park Association, who bought tools and had the drive regularly sprinkled. This season, the same tools are available, but several hundred dollars will have to be expended in establishing "loading places" for sprinklers and in other details before the Drive can be put in a proper condition. Otherwise it will be comparatively useless.

There is now in the treasury of the Association $100, and the rest must come by subscription from parties interested. The question is, shall the Drive be sprinkled and kept in order this season or not? Those sufficiently interested to answer in the affirmative and give substantial aid to the enterprise, should hand in their names to W. S. McCormick, of this city, or to Alma Pratt of Farmer's Ward. It is suggested that the City put in a "loading place" near Liberty Park, which would aid materially in this matter.

Holiday Excursion. Those who desire going on the Fourth of July excursion to the coast will be pleased to learn that preparations are under way in our sister city to celebrate the nation's natal day in a manner commensurate with the enterprise of the town and the importance of the occasion itself. We clip the following from the Herald of that city:

Before the rare race attractions at the grounds of the Ogden Driving Park Association, on the afternoon of Independence Day, the Nation's Birthday, will be held a grand picnic, commencing at 10 a. m. at the Ogden Driving Park, and continuing at the Ogden City Fire Department who are anxious to have a good time on that glorious occasion, and give everybody a chance to enjoy himself in grateful remembrance of the country.

The following gentlemen of the Fire Department have been appointed a committee of arrangements: W. O. Child (chairman), Orson Risher, Heber Warner, F. F. Cramer, J. R. Chambers, R. Palmer, J. Hays, J. S. Brownlee and J. A. Waterspoon. They will prepare a fine patriotic program, of music, games, sports, and other diversified features, to be published in a day or two.

The train for Ogden leaves this city on the morning of the 4th at 7:20 o'clock. The Sixth Ward silver band accompanies the excursion.

PERSONAL.

Apostle F. M. Lyman made us a pleasant call this morning.

Elder J. M. Tanner, of Endow, who is about to leave for Germany on a mission, called in to-day.

Mr. D. C. Danbar, of the Herald, and wife, have returned from their eastern tour.

Miss May Jennings, daughter of ex-Mayor Jennings, returned from Chicago yesterday.

Dr. A. R. Pike, of Provo, was in town yesterday.

Captain John Codman is among us once again. He is welcome.

Bear River Booming. The water in Bear River is higher than ever before known. The Union Pacific Company's dam near the machine shops, has been washed away. It was a solid structure built with a series of cribs of square timbers, dovetailed at the corners and bolted together, each crib being filled with heavy boulders and cobblestones. The water broke when it broke at one end and began to swing around, large rocks were attached to prevent its floating down the river. A portion of the timber work was carried away, but the bank a little way below where the dam stood, being held there by the ropes, and one section is lodged about 20 yards down the stream. Some of the little houses down the bank have been moved, and some of the trees are in close quarters and cannot stand a further rise. Some more rocks had to be spiked in to secure the dam. The building formerly known as the Star Brewery, which stands right at a bend in the river, near the machine shops. The water had cut away the left bank to within a few feet of the foundation.

Chilean.

The Utah and Nevada. The bathing season having opened, the managers of the above named railway have exerted themselves to provide every accommodation for passengers over their road to the bathing resorts and beyond. The following notice may be seen on the trains that run to the Lake:

These trains are intended for pleasant and healthful recreations for the public, and it is the design of the management to preserve order and respectability. Consequently no loud or boisterous behavior will be allowed. Inexcusable disorderly or other disagreeable persons will be ejected from the trains. Gentlemen will please not smoke in the presence of ladies. Train men are instructed to enforce these rules, and all breaches of the peace will be rigorously prosecuted.

W. W. RITER.

The rise of the Jordan awakens no apprehension in the minds of the company, as they have strengthened all their bridges, particularly the one spanning the river, and the track has also been carefully attended to. The new passenger depot, to which the street cars now run, is at the corner of First South and Fourth West Streets, where ample shade is afforded to waiting passengers by the fine trees in that pleasant locality.

"Enquirer" Notes. From our Provo contemporary, Tuesday's issue:

Our citizens who were damaged by the worms are now feeling quite relieved, as the trees they were cut down are now looking healthy and vigorous. Some of them even have the fruit remaining, apparently uninjured, so that the pest did not damage as much after all. It is now a matter for us to prepare for next year by destroying the cocoons. Let the city authorities place the borers upon the trees, and the city will be saved. The city is now a matter for us to prepare for next year by destroying the cocoons. Let the city authorities place the borers upon the trees, and the city will be saved.

To-day the entire force of the county court, consisting of Judge Dusenberry, Selectmen McCullough, Page and Lott, and County Clerk, Mr. Thurman, took a trip up Spanish Fork Canyon for the purpose of investigating the amount of damage done to the wagon road and bridges, and to decide the extent of the repairing and rebuilding of the same that will be necessary. They expect to return to-morrow. The party are to be joined at Thistle Fork station by Mayor Creed and Superintendent Wm. Warner, of Spanish Fork.

Last Thursday, while Mr. James Houston, of Mexican Grove, was going up American Fork Canyon to begin logging, the road suddenly gave way under him, precipitating his wagon and man into the swollen stream below. Mr. Houston tried to save his horses, but it was with difficulty that he himself escaped. After returning to town for another team, a search was made for the property, but as yet nothing had been recovered. Mr. Houston's intention to take his family with him on this trip, but yesterday they were detained at home. As Mr. Houston had paid his toll, it is now a question whether the owners of the road can be held responsible for his loss.
