DIPHTHERIA.

MARSHALL'S HUMBUG OIL, when used freely internally and externally, will positively cure Diphtheria, even in its worst form; thousands can vouch for the truth of this assertion. The raw Oil may be used freely on the tenderest infant, leaving the parts exposed to the air to avoid blistering. For internal use, the Oil must be diluted with water. Four tablespoonfuls of water to one teaspoonful of the Oil—sweeten to taste; bathing the throat and chest freely and often. Dose, one teaspoonful, repeating frequently. The Humbug Oil may be found prepared for internal use, under the name of Marshall's Canker Cure.

ANIMALS AND POULTRY.

Running at Large.

The attention of the inhabitants of Salt Lake City is respectfully directed to the following extracts from ordinances of said city now in force.

Trespass, and concerning animals running at large, Chap. XLI, Revised Ordinances:

Sec. 2—No cattle, horses, mules, sheep, goats or hogs shall be allowed to run at large within the limits of this city, and all such animals, so found, may be taken up by any person and driven to the pound, and the owner of said animal shall be liable to pay a fine in any sum not exceeding $10 for each animal.

Crimes and punishments, Chap. VII, Revised Ordinances:

Sec. 38— * * * and all fowl, such as turkeys, ducks, geese and hens found running at large at any time between the first day of March and the 1st day of October, shall be forfeited to and shall be liable to be killed by any person upon whose premises they may be found trespassing.

Complaint has been made that persons herding cows and other animals on the bench lands adjoining the city, allow such animals to leave their herds, to commit trespass and damage upon the first garden or orchard into which they can gain entrance. Such gross carelessness should be guarded against, or a too frequent repetition thereof may submit the herder to heavy damages.

As it becomes my duty to see that the above provisions of law are complied with, let all persons take due notice and govern themselves accordingly.

ANDREW BURT, City Marshal.

EVENING NEWS.

Monday, - - March 31, 1879.

Correspondence.

OGDEN CITY, Utah, March 27, 1879.

Editors Deseret News:

March did not "come in like a lion"—but like any other good natured month—still it has thus far been one of the dryest times at this season of the year, that I have seen in Utah, and the oldest settlers never saw the mountains so nearly denuded of snow, in the month of March, as they are at the present time.

Business here is not very brisk just now. "Selling off at Cost," auction sales, "Cheap Johns" and other quacks have been doing a "banking business" lately; every one who had, or could obtain a dollar, appeared anxious to send it out of the country through these mediums; and the regular local trade of the general business houses in town, has, in consequence, been retarded somewhat.

We have had a great deal of sickness, diphtheria, and deaths this year; and I regret to say we are not free from this terrible disease yet.

Improvements are still going forward, but I do not think building will be so extensively carried on this year as it was last in Ogden City. The Latter-day Saints, in the Second Ward, have not a meeting-house large enough to accommodate all those who desire to attend. The matter became serious, and the question was, "What shall be done." A meeting was called, a few weeks since, and the affair was talked over; a committee was appointed to canvass the ward, find out what the people were willing to do towards building a new house. At a subsequent meeting it was reported that President D. H. Perry had donated a piece of land, 4 x 9 rods, located on the corner of Sixth and Young Streets, and the people of the Ward had subscribed between $3,000 and $4,000 in cash, material and labor. It, was then determined to erect a new brick building, in which to hold our religious services. The size of the house to be 36 x 66 feet, with 22 feet elevation. A building committee was appointed, consisting of Bishop Robert McQuarry, Thomas Doxey, *John Ellis, Joseph Hall, James Owen and J. M. Thomas. Our Bishop never says "go," but "come, boys." He then leads out, and the people follow. About two weeks since, a number of teams turned out and have hauled about 150 loads of rock, excavation was commenced at once, and at this writing a considerable portion of the foundation is built up to the grade. The foundation in and out the ground will average 7½ feet on each side of the building. The work will be prosecuted as vigorously as possible to its completion.

Our Female Relief Societies are in a healthy condition, and good working order. The members labor with unwearied zeal to search out and administer to the wants of the poor and needy. Like angels of mercy they visit the abodes of the indigent, dispensing the blessings and comforts of life, leaving each domicile better than they find it.

A short time since some of the members of this institution canvassed this neighborhood, to collect means to send for an aged sister from England. Not obtaining sufficient by this means, they got up a "sociable," the proceeds of which, the amount collected, made up the sum, and the old lady is expected here by the next company of emigrants.

Our day and Sabbath schools are all in session and in a flourishing condition.

As ever, SEMPER.

A Determined Suicide.

OGDEN CITY, March 30, 1879.

Editors Deseret News:

A week ago yesterday, J. S. Mearns, known as "Doc. Mearns," who kept a provision store on Fifth Street, took a dose of laudanum, with the intention of ending his earthly existence. But the meddling physicians, against the expressed wishes of "Doc" to the contrary, interfered and prevented the drug from proving fatal in its operations. He was closely watched, and it was thought he had given up the intention of self-destruction.

Yesterday morning, he went to the U. C. Depot, and just as a train started for your city, he threw himself on the rails in front of the engine; the latter was stopped and "Doc" was again rescued. Mr. Cole Sudlam afterwards had a long talk with him—they "took a drink" together, and it was again thought that Mearns had become reconciled to the waywardness of the wicked world, and had concluded to live in it the remainder of his natural life.

But about three o'clock, yesterday afternoon he left his home secretly, and this time forever. He went to the Weber (R. R.) bridge, where he took off his hat, coat and shoes, jumped into the river, floated down stream to Robbins' Dam, where he sank into a deep wartery grave. Several boys who saw him commit the rash act, gave the alarm, but all attempts to recover the body have, up to this writing, proved fruitless.

A number of causes have been assigned for his self-destruction, among which is domestic infelicity. It is also stated that while in Montana he committed a nameless crime, for which he was given a few hours to leave that country. He left and came to Ogden. Recently he has feared that justice was about to overtake him, and thus he would suffer condign punishment. This preyed so much upon his mind that he determined to put an end to his life. He did it. SEMPER.

KALAMAZOO, Michigan, March 21, 1879.

Editors Deseret News:

I left Ogden City on the 12th of November, 1878, in company with twelve missionaries, the majority of them for the United States, and had a pleasant trip to Omaha. Elders C. S. Lee and R. S. Miles came with us to this State, arriving here on the 16th. Elder Miles left for Ohio, on the 18th, his field of labor, visiting his relatives and bearing testimony to the gospel to all he had an opportunity so to do, was received very kindly by his relatives. Finding no opening for preaching there, he returned here on the 10th of February. Elder Lee is traveling in this county. I have been traveling in different parts of this State, visiting my relatives and friends, doing all I could in fireside preaching. Returning here on the 15th of February, met with Elders Lee and Miles, and we are laboring together in the ministry; have held nine public meetings in this part of the vineyard up to date.

Doc. E. Lee, brother of Charles Lee, 81 years old, died on the 20th of November, 1878; he was a member of the Church. In our labors we feel that we have allayed some prejudice and disabused the minds of those whom we have visited, and scattered the seed of the gospel among them in hopes that it may bring some unto eternal life. But the people seem to be asleep, and at once. Infidelity seems to take the lead, still we feel to rely on the arm of Jehovah for strength, wisdom, power, faith, and knowledge to assist and direct us in our future labors, desiring to be humble and faithful to our calling and fill our missions honorably unto the Lord and our brethren and co-workers with them in establishing the kingdom of God on the earth.
