Plunder evidently was not the object, as nothing in the house was disturbed. English Crops. CHICAGO, 22.- London specials childrage, 22.— London specials sny: Every day increases the pros-pect that crops in England will be a total or large partial failure. It is now some weeks since any rain fell, and the country is very dry. Within the last four days there have been very heavy frosts throughout the entire country. Even should there be warm rain within a short time, it will be too late to repair the dam-age which has already been done by the long continued drouth, frosts and unusually cold weather. These facts, together with advices heretofore telegraphed in regard to the pro-bable failure of the wheat crop in large areas of Russia, indicate the likelihood of a serious deficit in the grain crops of Europe the present
