

BLIND GODDESS IN POLICE COURT

Some Samples of Justice as Dispensed Upstairs at the City Hall.

GREY HAIRS DO NOT COUNT.

Incidents of Aged Woman and Individual Who Had Temerity to Ask for a Jury.

In the 57, and then some, varieties of justice served over the counter in the upstairs floor of the police department one or two new dishes, or rather old dishes with a new tang to them, were marked on bill-of-fare docket today.

There was the dish of a la Hardman, a savory tidbit for the youthful Mr. Rogers and one which he seemed to relish because of his power to handle it. Hardman, a man well along in years, and of sensible mien, was accused of being drunk. He denied the charge and asked for a jury trial. The fact that Mr. Hardman wouldn't admit to being drunk so nettled the stalwart Mr. Rogers, husky with the strength behind him, that Mr. Hardman was given a solar plexus blow. He will have to wait until Aug. 21 to have it determined whether or not he was drunk yesterday, and unless he leaves $50 in the hands of the police in the meantime he will have to spend that time in jail. The usual fine for drunkenness is either $5 or $10, but Mr. Hardman, because he peevish the prosecutor will have to put up $50, or he is permitted to prove that he wasn't drunk.

GRUFF TREATMENT.

Common courtesy finds little room in police court, justice and the veneration for gray hairs of the aged is marked mainly by its absence. Mrs. G. Cereghino, an elderly matron showing the marks of time in her wrinkled face, dressed in the black garb of mourning, and who despite the gruff refusal of the court to permit her to make any explanation managed to say that she is alone in the world, was the pathetic figure of the courtroom this morning when she was called to answer the what-seemed-to-be-considered heinous offense of having failed to remove garbage from her premises at 752 south Third West street. There were nine similar cases on the docket, but Mrs. Cereghino was the only defendant to appear. The others had all seen Mr. Rogers by telephone with the result that as the cases were called a motion for dismissal was made by the prosecutor. Mrs. Cereghino, motherly and gentle looking, and hardly grasping what it all meant except that she was before the court attempted to explain that she had left the garbage on her lot for a day or two when she was sick, but that she had been all alone and could not get anyone to look after it.

With a gruff "Well, I don't care for any explanation," the court shut off the old woman, and although she pleaded that the matter might be settled now, this did not suit Mr. Rogers, and she will have to wait until Aug. 21.

SLAPPED HER ON WRIST.

Mrs. Jane Doe Young, who smilingly informed Clerk Gutch that she would rather not tell her real name, with the same smile denied that she had slapped Helen Cross on the wrist, or as the complaint in legal verbiage read that "she did then and there batter the said Helen Cross upon the arm with her hand." Jane Doe Young, who lives at 5 Philip court, will tell her side of the story on Aug. 20.

G. Anderson and J. M. Gray each paid $5 today for failing to observe the provisions of the hitching ordinance. Charles Jackson was one of the old-gray haired class that the prosecutor terms a "pet" and on the prosecutor's suggestion he was given 30 days in the city jail. According to Mr. Rogers Jackson had been guilty of begging and of "putting up a game fight" when the officers tried to arrest him.

Ed Ray, charged with vagrancy, made a lightning change in his plea of not guilty when he saw that his case was going to be set sometime late in the month, and hurriedly made up his mind that it would be better to leave town than stay in the Salt Lake City Jail. Martin Monroe knew from the first that he was guilty of being a vagrant and the two will keep each other company on the ties between here and Ogden.

MERCHANTS DISCHARGED.

Changing their pleas of not guilty to guilty of having violated the Sunday closing ordinance by keeping their stores open on the Sabbath, and with the promise that they would observe the law in the future, Ben Raimo and H. Rosenbloom, two of the merchants arrested at the instance of the Retail Clerks' association, were discharged this morning by Judge Bowman. The merchants were represented in court by Atty. C. B. Diehl, and Asst. City Atty. Rogers made the motion for their dismissal.

STRENUOUS COLLECTING.

George and Jim Katsopoulos, found faulty of having battered a fellow-Greek, George Rafas, were sentenced this morning to pay a fine of $25 each. The row, according to the evidence, began over the collection of a debt, and in the argument the Katsopoulos swung a chair on the head of Rafas.

court this morning that it was her little girl who had struck Mabel Newman on the face, but it will not be until Aug. 23 that she will be permitted to prove this.

LAX METHODS.

The laxity of the police department was again monotonously brought up this morning when four prisoners were let on their honor after the docket had been called. Of the four, two have been in jail for three days and two for two days, and since their arrest have been brought into court daily, only to find that no charge had been preferred against them. So far as is known the charges are drunkenness and vagrancy, but the arrest of one of the prisoners in jail seemed satisfied with the arrest and forgot all about it. One of the prisoners, who after spending three days in jail without being charged, was discharged at the intercession of a friend, Asst. City Atty. Rogers suggested that a complaint should be made against the officers who arrested men and failed to issue complaints, may perhaps be acted upon.

WULF CASE DISMISSED.

J. A. Wulff, a former collector for the Clark Rose Fruit company, who was arrested early in July on a charge of embezzlement, was discharged today by Judge Bowman on recommendation of the county attorney's office. Wulff was accused of having embezzled a check for $77.08. Asst. County Atty. Bowman in making his motion stated that he had been informed that the matter had been largely a misunderstanding following the dissolution of the partnership of the Clark Rose people. Mr. Clark, former member of the company, and who is now in Los Angeles, it is said had given Mr. Wulff permission to use the proceeds of the check. This Mr. Wulff had done, and in view of these facts the case was dismissed and Mr. Wulff released from custody.

BIG JEFF SMILED.

A Broad Farewell to Crowd of Admirers Before Sailing for Europe.

New York, Aug. 5.—James J. Jeffries, the pugilist, smiled a broad farewell to a crowd of well-wishers that gathered on the German Lloyd steamer in Hoboken today and sailed away on the steamship George Washington for a six weeks' sojourn in Europe. Jeffries and his wife will arrive in London, where they will remain for a few days. The big Californian has been troubled recently with boils and hopes the waters at Pau will do him good. Sam Berger, Jeffries' manager, will leave for California next week and Jeffries will return to his home in Los Angeles. Jack Johnson is expected here today or tomorrow and will talk over arrangements with Berger.

JOSEPH F. SMITH.

GOVERNOR'S SUITE IS NOW COMPLETED

Secretary of State Tingey Finishes Work of Furnishing Handsomely Appointed Reception Rooms.

Gov. Spry, for the first time, threw open today the portals of his private office and bade his visitors enter. Upon entering a revelation of beauty, the product of the decorator and the furnisher, greeted the guest.

For many years the need of a private office for the chief executive of the state has been felt. Now it is provided. Early in Gov. Spry's administration and while the state legislature was in session, Secy. of State C. S. Tingey took the matter in hand and after figuring on the cost of the needed addition to the governor's official residence in Salt Lake City, he suggested to him that with the governor's consent the state legislature be asked to provide $15,000 with which to furnish the room. Gov. Spry gave his consent to the request and the resolution was unanimously passed by the legislature.

With $15,000 of the appropriation, Secy. of State Tingey has provided a most handsomely appointed reception room. The walls are covered with a soft green paper of silk texture, the lower portion of the walls being finished with an olive leather. The room is furnished in ebony finish. The woodwork is all in mahogany finish to harmonize with the furnishings of the room, which consist of a magnificent drowsy table of satin mahogany finish and rounded corners with twin pedestal support. About this table are arranged eight swivel chairs in a handsome design. Seats about the room are large leather rockers and leather davenport. The floor is covered with a thick Wilton rug of a soft green color.

In the room opens from the governor's business office, which has also been furnished and renovated. The governor's suite is now one of the handsomest in the west and is admirably adapted to the entertainment of executives of other states, who will doubtless call upon Gov. Spry in number during the commencement of the Grand Army in this city next week. The work of providing this finely appointed suite has been under the direction of Secy. Tingey, and Gov. Spry is lavish in his expressions of delight regarding the room. Hanging on the walls and illuminated by well distributed and diffused lights are several of H. L. A. Culmer's characteristic paintings of Utah scenes. These were loaned for the use of the state by Mr. Culmer and this courtesy is much appreciated by Gov. Spry and Secy. Tingey.

OPPOSE ADVANCE IN PRICE OF FOOD

Retail Merchants of Salt Lake Hold Meeting to Consider Situation.

WILL INVESTIGATE CHARGES.

Committee Appointed to Look Into Any Prospective Grafting on Part of Storekeepers.

"There is no need for prices to be raised on anything during the G. A. R. encampment, excepting possibly perishable goods, such as green corn, tomatoes, cucumbers and such things," said F. W. Wilson today. Mr. Wilson is chairman of the committee appointed last night at a meeting of the retail merchants of the city to investigate any reported overcharges. The meeting was held at the rooms of the association in the Auerbach building and was unanimous against advancing the rates on any of the staples such as flour, sugar, packing house products, potatoes and coffee. Such a movement is said to be wholly unnecessary, and the member of the association who attempts to advance prices on those things will be dealt with by the association, which is determined to take a stand against anything "famine prices."

Mr. Wilson says the bakers of the city will not be able to bake enough bread for the crowd, so as to let them have fresh bread every day, and the association has therefore decided to send all customers to have their bread and thus help to relieve the situation. The egg market is such that there is no need for anyone to pay more than 35 cents per dozen for fresh eggs.

Following is the names of the committee appointed to investigate any overcharging on the part of storekeepers. The phone numbers are all independent. F. W. Wilson, 1620; Ind. L. M. Blackmore, 1236; Andrew & Wilcox, 917; Minn. H. J. Andaya, 1051; John, 917; C. J. Neigels, 1051; J. A. Wulff, 917. Anyone knowing of overcharging on the part of the storekeepers are invited to call up any of the above members of the committee, who promise to look into the complaint.

G. A. R. DECORATORS REPUDIATE CONTRACT

Lively Tilt in the Kenyon Hotel This Morning Over an Agreement For Bunting.

When the Pan-American Decorating company, through its agent, H. H. Zorneaux, tried to take an advantage over Sam Porter of the Kenyon hotel, it slipped a cog. In fact, it slipped several cogs, and there might have been a broken nose and a couple of black eyes had not a peace loving newspaper man poured oil upon the troubled waters.

The difficulty was all due to a contract signed by Sam Porter of the Kenyon, and the accredited representative of the Pan-American Decorating company, which contract the company refused to fulfill.

Yesterday the company wrote to Mr. Porter, making a proposition for decorating the hotel. A design, "made on a proportionate scale," was submitted, and it was agreed that the company would take down the decorations at the end of the G. A. R. encampment. It was also stipulated that no unnecessary nails or brads would be used. The final paragraph of the proposal reads as follows: "The company agrees that if decorations are put upon building as per design to pay to the order of Pan-American Decorating company the sum of $100, after decorations have been carefully removed and building left in good order." This was signed by Zorneaux, as agent for the company.

Zorneaux called upon Mr. Porter with a stereotyped contract, one portion of which stated that the party of the second part—meaning Porter—would pay to the order of the company, as soon as decorations are put up, the sum of $100. Mr. Porter, and the wording was changed to read: "As soon as decorations are down."

This was agreeable to the agent of the company, and he signed the same. But the decorations did not go up. There was nothing done, and people began to complain to Porter that he was lacking in patriotism and depended to know why he did not decorate the hotel. Porter got busy with the company and was then informed that the contract would not be fulfilled. The bonfire became angry and wrote the following letter to the company:

"I have been advised by your agent that the contract he signed yesterday, he would not be able through you to fulfill. This is a notice that if the work is not commenced and finished according to contract, the matter will be placed in the hands of our attorneys with orders to begin proceedings against you at once."

In reply to this, W. Hintze, "proprietor" of the company, wrote to Mr. Porter, sending the communication with Zorneaux, to the effect that "my agents have no power of attorney but are under contract with me, that in order to make a contract perfect and legal, I must accept a contract." He then goes on to say that if Porter desires to go to law, etc., it is agreeable to Hintze.

After Zorneaux presented the communication to Porter he asked the latter if there were any reply. The hotel man replied that he would stand by the contract and would hold the company to the same. Zorneaux insisted that a new contract be signed by Porter whereby the latter would be bound to pay as soon as the decorations were up. Porter refused to do so and then Zorneaux became insulting until Porter, flushing with anger, threatened to give the decorator a beating and a cloud burst trying with a tumble bus. Hot words, indicative of blows were passed but Zorneaux weakened. Mr. Porter then offered to place in the hands of the writer $100, to be given to the company upon the completion of the work, but the agent would not accept this.

"I don't know what these people are," said Mr. Porter, "they may drive nails in the walls, stick up the decorations and go off and leave them for all I know. Or they might destroy considerable property in taking down the decorations and then where would we be? The American Decorating company also signed a contract to decorate the hotel but repudiated the same. They said they could not fulfill the contract. Then along come these people trying to take advantage of me. I propose to file a suit against the concern and the matter is now in the hands of my attorney."

SCHOOL CENSUS SHOWS GAIN OF NINE HUNDRED

All But One District Have Been Reported to the Board of Education for This Year.

The school census shows a gain of approximately 900 children of school age since the census of last year. The figures will probably be complete this afternoon, as all but one district have reported. The gain, it is believed, will be greater than the figures given above, as during the time the census was taken many families were absent from the city in the canyons and the census takers have reported that in many cases where they found homes closed with no one at home they were unable to include in their reports the number of children of school age living at these places. In the fifth precinct the only loss is shown and this amounts to 32 children of school age. In all the largest gain is in the southeastern portion of the city, which holds the record for the increase, a substantial record year after year with none to outstrip it. The gain in this section this year is over 300 children.

TENT IS BURGLARIZED.

J. B. Reed of the Sixteenth ward and his two boys slept in a tent the other night to avoid the oppressive heat of indoors. When the trio awoke in the morning, it was to discover that some cunning thief had stolen a new suit of clothes belonging to one of the boys, Mr. Reed's trousers containing $25. The thief also stole a watch and a ring, a purse of $42 Mr. Reed had put under his pillow. The thief did not get. The police are in hot pursuit.

ARRESTS ARE DUE.

Sheriff's Force on the Trail of the People's Store Thieves.

Gov. Wm. Spry today signed the requisition papers which will bring Mrs. Lucille Scott back to Salt Lake to answer to the charge of the robbery of the People's store. Deputy Sheriff Corlies left yesterday for Omaha, where the woman, who was formerly a clerk in the People's store, was arrested Tuesday night, and the papers will be forwarded to him today.

Further arrests in the store robbery case have been made, although it is thought that at least another of the thieves has been apprehended this afternoon. Another lot of the stolen stuff, including a handsome silk suit and other wearing apparel, was returned to the store by a woman to whom the articles had been given "to keep" for the thieves.

The sheriff's force is now on the trail of the male accomplices in the thievery which occurred at the People's store at least $200, and arrests are likely to be made before night.

PLUMBERS STILL OUT.

Efforts to Involve Other Trades Fail To Bear Fruit.

The boss plumbers report no trouble whatever today, from the striking journeymen; everything is as quiet as can be. The journeymen are reported as having waited last evening, on the Carpenters' union to ask aid in the way of a sympathetic strike on two school buildings and on the McIntyre building where the more prominent plumbing firms are at work, as the hope was that if three or four of the largest plumbing houses could be tied up and brought to time, it would be only the question of a few days before the other journeymen would capitulate. Scant satisfaction was obtained beyond expressions of sympathy. An idea among the strikers is to show other trades unions that if the plumbers' union falls in this strike it will that much weaken the striking strength of the unions at large, and thus injure the cause of organized labor. It is said to make demands. The shops report work going right on, with new help coming along.

WILL DECIDE MONDAY.

Board of Equalization is Still Wrestling With Livestock Tax Problem.

The state board of equalization heard this morning Kane, Beaver, Uintah and Washington county protestants in argument against the proposed additional tax of 40 percent on sheep and cattle; and this afternoon the hearing is concluded with Tooele county, leaving Rich and Morgan counties unheard from. The arguments advanced by the speakers today are the same as those presented yesterday, varying in detail according to variations in local environment, but all with the same end in view. The general claim was advanced that 75 to 90 percent of the sheep and cattle were taxed, and the tendencies to avoid taxation, of which so much has been said, were minimized. The board will occupy tomorrow and next day in going over the arguments advanced during the week, and arrive at a decision by Monday. In advance of this, members of the board decline to make any statement as to the merits or demerits of the situation.

Mrs. Barbara Wilson of Logan Believed to be Drowned.

(Special to the "News.") Logan, Aug. 5.—There is considerable excitement in Logan today over the disappearance of Mrs. Barbara Wilson, aged 47 years, who left her home in the Fifth ward last night. Mrs. Wilson has suffered from mental trouble for some time and was adjudged insane yesterday and committed to the state mental hospital. She was permitted to go to her home and last night disappeared, since which time no trace of her has been found. Mrs. Wilson's disappearance and the fact that she was adjudged insane were immediately notified after the woman's absence was discovered and although the police have scoured the country no trace of her has been found. It is feared she has drowned herself and the Logan river is being dragged. She had threatened to kill herself. Hay Takes a Tumble; Wheat Prices, a Fall

There is a tumble in hay, wheat and flour—all for the same reason, say the commission men here. The explanation is that the "honest farmer," with the wheat and flour speculators, have been holding back their goods with a view to still higher prices, as the local demand for wheat is so large that the supplies of the country that it was supposed they were just about exhausted, and it was argued that consumers would have to pay more for wheat. But the unexpected sometimes happens, and all over the country come reports of heaviest crops on record. These frightened the supposed holders of food crops, who are beginning to rush into the markets with long withheld goods. The unreasonable attitude of those cornering the produce markets on this immediate part of the country was sized some time ago by the commission men and wholesalers who, it is understood, agreed not to buy from the producers any more than was absolutely imperative, and to buy at a high price for which such a high price was demanded.

The result of this "gentlemen's agreement" has been healthful. Alfalfa is now selling here at $3 and $10 per ton, with the baled article at $14, where the market corner artists had toward the close of winter forced the price up to $22 and $24. The millers, who, it seems, have had a surplus on hand, are now disposing of it with all possible speed, and flour can now be had at much more humane prices. When the tremendous quantities of new crops begin to come, prices will go down further.

Oranges are scarce, it being between seasons. One large commission house found that this morning without a single orange on the premises. However, watermelons and lemons are plentiful, the former being particularly firm and sweet. Adelaide and Muscatel grapes are available in quantities of Utah vegetables. Dealers report apples as few and far between, also, that over the country at large the general crop of apples is ranging from 75 to 75 percent of the usual production on account of the frosts. This will hurt western Utah particularly. There is a slight reduction in prices which is always grateful. The prices, obtaining today, are as follows:
