THEATRE. — Last night the play of "Daring Dick" was repeated, though not to so large an audience nor with quite such good effect as on Monday evening. In the midst of the performance the gas unfortunately failed and lamps had to be substituted, when the performance was brought to a successful conclusion. The gas evidently needs careful management, or it cannot be relied upon. When successfully burning, the illumination is brilliant.

This evening is announced for the last of "Daring Dick." It is a good sensational play, and has some very affecting scenes.

Tomorrow, for the farewell benefit of Mr. J. T. Stetson and the last night of his appearance, "The Fatal Glass, or Dreaming and Waking."

Next week Miss Ada Gray is expected to appear in the New York sensation drama, "Article 47."

THE TEMPLE.—We understand it to be the intention of the workmen on the temple block to commence the laying of two more courses of rock on the Temple building. As the facilities for hauling the rock are now excellent, it is probable this most important work will be rapidly proceeded with.

A "JACK" IN OFFICE. — A correspondent north, sends us an account of a rather ludicrous incident which occurred recently somewhere on the banks of the Bear. He says that a few days ago a couple of logs floating down Bear river, were seen by two Danishmen, who had not been in the country long, and knew very little about the language or the customs of the people. These men, fancying the logs were nobody's property, thought they had better secure and use them than let them be wasted. They accordingly secured them, and, their actions being observed by some boy, not so "green" as they were, he quietly made his way to Corinne and whispered "theft" in the ears of some functionary there, and in a short time after, a man appeared in the neighborhood where the logs had been secured, and observing a number of men, among whom were the two he was in quest of, the functionary made an immense flourish and fuss, read a paper made out in the form of a warrant, for the arrest of some person or persons, but having no names on it, he had no authority, and finally demanded $10, promising to let the matter pass over if that amount were paid. The unsophisticated and unintentional trespassers, terrified at the bluster and brass of Dogberry, paid the amount, and the mighty functionary returned to Corinne.

ACCIDENT.—On Monday, at 10:30 a.m., Mr. John G. Lindsay, of this city, met with a severe accident at the Clipper mine, near Bingham Canyon, Tooele district. He had put in a blast, and, it not going off as expected, he, thinking the fire had gone out, went back to the blast to re-light it, when it exploded, knocking him down. He remained insensible for several minutes, and has continued speechless ever since. He is severely wounded on the head, and it is supposed his skull is fractured. He was brought home last night by Mr. James Crouch. Dr. Anderson attends the sufferer.

P. O. REMOVAL.—In consequence of the removal of the Post Office from its present location in the Exchange buildings, First South Street, to a more commodious place, the third establishment north of Z.C.M.I. produce department, Hooper's buildings, East Temple street, the office will be closed this afternoon after four o'clock, and will be opened as early as practicable to-morrow morning, probably near the usual time.

AN EVENT.—Five car loads of rock were hauled by a locomotive to-day from the U. C. Railroad depot to within the Temple block enclosure. This was the inauguratory trip of the hauling of freight on the new line of street railroad by steam power. Progress is the order of the day.

FROM CACHE.—Brother Moses Thatcher, Superintendent of the Logan Z. C. M. I., is in town, having arrived from Cache Valley last night. He informs us that the big fill on the U. N. R. R. on Cottonwood Hollow, will be completed in about twenty-five or thirty days, when the balance of the work can be proceeded with to Cache, without meeting with difficulties of anything like as formidable a character as the Cottonwood one, between the latter point and Logan.

THE WALKER HOUSE.—This magnificent hotel, H. S. Gresley & Co. proprietors, will be opened for the accomodation of guests on Monday next. This morning we were shown over the entire establishment by Mr. Gresley, which is the only way to form an idea of the complete manner in which this establishment is fitted up. It is perhaps not too much to say that its equal is not to be found between Chicago and San Francisco. Everything that the expenditure of money could do to secure the greatest comfort and convenience to guests and to facilitate every branch of business carried on in such an establishment seems to have been done.

The building was commenced last October; it was built by R. W. Jordan. The ground plan is 85 feet front, with two wings of 116 feet. It has a basement with four storeys. On the basement are the bar room, exchange or reading room, barber's shop, store room, baker shop and laundry. All the rooms on the basement are eleven feet high.

The bar room is 50 x 30 feet. The reading room is 70 x 30. In this room are to be constantly kept daily and other papers from all parts of the world. The store room is 22 x 28 feet. The barber's shop, including five bath rooms, is 50 x 30 feet. The engine room is 30 x 22. Here an eagle engine of eight horse power is used to pump water to every part of the house, to run the machinery in the laundry department and for various other purposes. The boiler is fifteen horse power. The laundry department is as compact and convenient as it is possible to conceive. It has a large mangle, wringer and washing machine, all run by steam, the latter being capable of washing, rinsing and wringing 250 shirts in twenty minutes. The drying in the laundry is done by steam, and is accomplished in an incredibly brief space.

The baker shop is 30 x 18 feet, and is provided with Biglow's patent oven, which is large enough to bake for five hundred people, and is so constructed that the same kind of meat or food, whatever it may be, is always cooked in the same compartment.

On the first floor every room is fifteen feet high. It contains a store room 90 x 30, an office with a rotunda 22 feet wide and 60 deep; a porter's room, guests' wash room 10 x 15 feet, writing room, news office, telegraph office, coat room, club room 25 x 20 feet, dining room 78 x 30 feet, carving room 32 x 20, a kitchen and one suite of rooms for guests.

The kitchen is 32 x 22. It has a range 19 feet long, and is capable of cooking for more than double the number of guests the hotel will accommodate. In this department every fixture and all the arrangements are of the most improved style.

The carving room contains a steam table, provided with covers which can be heated in half a minute, capable of containing and keeping hot sixteen dishes of vegetables, two of soup, two of fish, and eight of meat.

The second floor contains two public parlors, at each end of which is a mirror 60 by 84 inches, in a massive, elegantly carved gilded frame. Besides these parlors there are on this floor; four suites, of two rooms each—parlor and bed room—each suite having four private baths, hot and cold water, and two public baths to the entire number. The whole floor contains forty-nine rooms.

The third and fourth floors are similar to the second, minus the public parlors, being divided into suites of apartments, so arranged that they can be used either by families or single persons, all being amply provided with bath rooms and every other necessary and convenience.

The rear of every floor is provided with an apparatus into which slops of every kind are emptied and conveyed thence to a cesspool in the yard below, and some distance from the building.

The number of private rooms for guests in the hotel is 152, and abundant accommodation and entertainment can be furnished for two hundred persons.

On the top of the building are three tanks, each containing four thousand gallons of water, which are filled from below by the steam pumps. Every suite of rooms is provided with apparatus connecting with the tanks above and with the pumps below, so that water, hot or cold, for baths or to extinguish fire, can be instantly supplied.

Every room in the house is furnished with a simple looking but very effective apparatus placed in the ceiling, which conveys an alarm by telegraph, to the office of the proprietor, when the temperature from any cause rises above 100 Fah. This alarm causes the ringing of a bell, which cannot cease till the temperature is reduced below 100°. The hands of the establishment are organized into a fire brigade, so that any danger from fire seems next to an impossibility.

The furniture is elegant and is of solid black walnut and rosewood; the upholstery is of very fine material and splendid workmanship, and was manufactured by the California Furniture Company. The silver ware is massive and is from Haynes and Lawton of San Francisco.

From this hasty sketch the travelling public may form some idea of the comforts to be obtained at the Walker House. Throughout, the building is elegant and substantial, a credit to the skill of its designers and builders, speaks volumes in favor of the enterprise of its proprietors, and if conducted in the same liberal and painstaking spirit manifested in its construction and appointments, will well merit all the success which it can possibly achieve.

THE SHOW.—"Yankee" Robinson's big show will be in town on Friday. The entertainments given by this institution are said to be of the most varied as well as able character. The more variety there is in public amusements the better they take with nearly all classes, and if this establishment sustains the reputation claimed for it, it will, doubtless, be largely patronized during its stay in this city.

CITY COUNCIL.—Petitions were presented, last night, from Frank Cisler and J. E. Butler, asking for the use of a portion of the public street on which to place building material, the request of the petitioners, in each case being granted.

Petition from Patrick Lynch praying for a remission of taxes for 1871 and 1872 was laid over indefinitely.

The draft of the new city seal, executed by Col. David McKenzie, was received, and submitted to the Council.

"CERTIORARI."—The certiorari case of Smith versus Salt Lake City, involving the validity of the city ordinance relating to markets and market districts, has been argued in the District Court in chambers for the last three days. We understand a decision in the case has not yet been reached.

CRICKET MATCH.—A match was to be played, in Jenkins' pasture, by members of the Salt Lake club to-day. This club boasts some excellent players.

BETTER LATE THAN NEVER.—Some of the repudiators are slow in action, but their notes of repudiation still come. The following is the latest:

LOGAN, August 14, 1872.

Editor Deseret News:

I find in your paper, James Ellis signed to an anti-State petition. If this was intended for my name, I take the liberty of informing my friends and acquaintances that I never signed it nor authorized any one else to sign it for me.

Respectfully, JAMES ELLIS.

FINE VEGETABLES.—The following note shows that fine vegetables can be raised at Fillmore—

FILLMORE, Aug. 24th, 1872.

Editor Deseret News:

A short time since I saw in your paper a notice of some turnips weighing from five to seven pounds each, grown south of your city, on the farm of Mr. Winder. To-day I saw three turnips of the common variety, raised by William Stokes of this place on his gravelly lot, the largest of which measured two feet six inches and a half in circumference, and weighed seven pounds twelve ounces, without the top. The other two were nearly as large. Bro. Stokes, who is one of our enterprising gardeners, challenges the Territory to beat them.

Respectfully, E. M. WEBB.

FROM OGDEN.—Hon. Lorin Farr, ex-Mayor of Ogden, called on us to-day, looking remarkably well. He reported Ogden prosperous, and the prospect of abundant and cheap breadstuffs this fall and winter.
