

HE COUGHED UP AN OLD BAYONET.

Veteran Soldier in Regular Army is Certainly a Freak.

EXPECTS TO NOW GET WELL

May be a Thirteen-Inch Gun Where
Bayonet Came From, but No
One Seems to Know.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 21.—After being given up to die of what the doctors supposed was consumption, James W. Plunkett, a veteran soldier of the regular army, now staying in this city, coughed up the tip of a bayonet out of his lungs today and probably will get well.

Plunkett, who is a soldier of 20 years' experience, and who last saw service with the Forty-first United States volunteer infantry, is unable to account for the bayonet tip in his lungs, but supposed to have swallowed it with food. He often uses his bayonet as a can opener, and presumably the point broke off in the canned meat.

HEARING UPON EXCLUSION

Eastern Men Mostly Favor Admission of Chinese to Country.

Western Men and Laboring Men Object—Samuel Gompers Made Speech for Workers.

Washington, Jan. 21.—The Senate committee on immigration gave hearing today to representatives of various interests on the question of Chinese immigration. Among those present were D. S. Tompkins, of the industrial commission; Silas B. Webb, president of the China and Japan Trading company, New York; Hon. Charles S. Hamlin, Boston chamber of commerce; Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor; S. C. Mendenhall, assistant secretary of the merchants' association, New York; Hon. John W. Foster, Theophilus Parsons, of the Livewright club, Boston; Edward J. Linn, San Francisco; John W. Davis, of the Atlantic association; H. R. Fuller, representing the railroad employees of the United States, and a number of representatives of southern industries.

Mr. Gompers, the labor speaker, outlined the efforts which the Federation of Labor had made in connection with the Pacific coast delegates in Congress to prevent a bill which would secure a continuance of Chinese exclusion and this had been accomplished in what is known as the Mitchell bill.

Mr. Foster spoke in opposition to the bill and presented statistics of immigration from China and the United States. He urged a postponement of any action by Congress looking to Chinese exclusion until the expiration of the present treaty in 1904.

"We are all interested in being on good terms with China," he said, "and should treat her with some degree of consideration and some decent regard for international facts."

He said that the Chinese student, Chinese traveler and Chinese merchant have been unfairly dealt with. Upon being questioned he admitted that there is a division of sentiment among the delegation as represented by him, some of them being perfectly satisfied with the law as it now stands, while others are dissatisfied with the interpretation of the law. He said that the hope of inhibiting American ideas in the Chinese student and the law is hurtful particularly to this class of Chinese.

Mr. Hamilton presented resolutions of the Boston chamber of commerce advocating the Proctor bill continuing in force the present Chinese exclusion law until the expiration of the existing treaty with China in 1904 and urged that no bill be adopted inconsistent with that treaty because, he said, "that treaty involves the honor and faith of the United States government."

Sensational Suicide.

St. Louis, Jan. 21.—Wm. Hoffmeister of St. Louis, ex-supreme recorder of the Legion of Honor, committed suicide at the Plaza hotel today by shooting himself with a revolver.

The only witness to the suicide was George M. Akeley, of Kansas City, Deputy Coroner Hoogher took charge of the remains.

Hoffmeister was defeated last night for re-election as supreme recorder of the Legion of Honor by C. R. T. White, and an entirely new supreme committee was elected after a sensational contest. One feature of the struggle was the arrest of Otto F. Overback, candidate for supreme chancellor and leader of the opposition to the administration, as he was entering the hotel building on his way to the meeting, where the election was to be held.

At the Four Courts a complaint was lodged against Mr. Overback for carrying a concealed weapon. Friends procured Mr. Overback's release on bond and hurried with him to the meeting hall, where they arrived in time to vote, his one vote being necessary to win.

Of this amount nearly three-fourths was shipped from Pacific coast ports.

WEST VIRGINIA HOLOCAUST

Twelve Men Cremated in Their Beds and a Town Destroyed by Fire.

Fatalities in a Lumber Camp—Town of Shinnston Was Without Fire Protection.

Fairmont, W. Va., Jan. 21.—Twelve men cremated in their beds and a town burning up are the results thus far of two fires today in distant parts of the state.

Details of both occurrences are meagre. The fire at Shinnston started just before noon and telegraph and telephone connection has been cut off. The town is a thriving settlement on the Monongahela division of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad and is in the center of a big coal and lumber district. It is without fire protection and early reports say that within a few minutes after the fire started local citizens were obliged to abandon their homes to check the flames and flee for their lives. There have been no reports of casualties from Shinnston.

The lumber camp holocaust occurred at Camp No. 1, near Davis, W. Va., operated by the Otter Creek Lumber company, at four o'clock. The cause of the fire is not known but it is believed there was some sort of explosion as the large frame structure was suddenly enveloped in flames. All means of escape were quickly cut off. Many narrowly escaped and many were injured. Several bodies have been recovered. No list of those missing is available and no details are obtainable from the camp, which is cut off from all means of communication.

Rescue parties from other camps have left for the scene.

John L. Craft, an Escaping Convict, Who Shot a Member of the Pursuing posse.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Jan. 21.—John Lutz was hanged today for the murder of his wife. Lutz kept his nerve until the noose was placed over his head, when he would have collapsed had he not been supported by the sheriff.

On the evening of November 28, 1899, Lutz became enraged because his wife did not desire their daughter to play upon an organ as the child was ill. Lutz left the house and returned at midnight with an axe. Proceeding to the room where Mrs. Lutz and her daughter were sleeping he brained his wife, and then retired to his own room, where he was arrested the next day.

SHOT BY THREE BURGLARS

Patrolman in San Francisco Fatally Wounded by the Thieves.

One of the Criminals Wounded and Captured—Refuses to Tell of His Partners.

San Francisco, Jan. 21.—At an early hour this morning Patrolman Eugene C. Robinson, of the Southern station, was mortally wounded by three burglars who he surprised in the act of breaking into a hardware store on Valencia street near 16th. One of the trio of safe-crackers, supposed to be P. Daly, was badly wounded by a shot from the policeman's pistol and captured. Robinson discovered the burglars just as they were entering the store and immediately crossed the street to arrest them, calling upon them to surrender. Instead of obeying, they opened fire upon him simultaneously and three bullets struck the policeman in the abdomen. As he fell he opened fire with his revolver and struck one of the burglars, who ran for a short distance into the arms of another policeman attracted to the scene by the shots. The other two men escaped meanwhile and although a posse of policemen soon took up the pursuit, they were unable to locate them. The wounded burglar was taken to the city and county hospital while the dying policeman was conveyed to the railroad hospital where he refused to tell the identity of his companions.

Robinson died a few hours after having been taken to the hospital. Daily may recover unless blood poisoning results from his wound.

Charge of Insanity Against Him Was Not Sustained.

GREEN DECLARED SANE.

The hearing of Henderson Green, proprietor of Ford's hotel on the charge of insanity, which was held yesterday afternoon before Judge Pro Tem James A. Thompson, resulted in his discharge, but he promised to behave in the future. From the testimony it was learned that the man at times became violent and noisy, which is usually due to drink, and at such times he is practically irresponsible.

The insanity charge against Green was made up by Morris Block, who is alleged to have tried to carve with a knife last Saturday night. The two had some trouble at the hotel and it is claimed that Green attacked Block with a huge carving knife and the latter narrowly escaped being killed. Yesterday Green was released from the city jail after furnishing $500 bonds to secure his appearance in court next Saturday to answer to the charge of assault with a deadly weapon. The case will be heard before Judge Diehl.

PEOPLE WHO ARE PASSING

"It isn't nearly as far from New York state to Utah as it used to be," remarked J. W. Hubbell of northern New York at the Knutsford today. "Three days and four nights—that is all. Now, just compare that with the three months that it used to take to go to Salt Lake City from the Missouri river alone, when traveling was by immigrant teams. I don't mind the time now. The West has grown out of all expectations since the railroads made access to this country so easy."

the same time it was thought the general had been a little indiscreet. The situation as set forth in the Dooley letter of the 12th inst., mirrored Washington sentiment, especially where Mather Dooley observes that a ripman from the President was the same as a comic pound fracture. The opinion in the national capital also agrees with Mr. Dooley that the papers of the country have been edited either by Sampson or Schley sentiment, and that the public is tired of this sort of thing. Mr. Dooley says that it is either money or years of political experience that go in Washington. As long as a senator or congressman's money holds out he is a great fellow. On the other hand if a man has no money, but a lifetime of political experience to stand on he is looked up to all the same.
