

REPUBLICAN STRENGTH SURE

Senate Demonstrates it in Vote
To Uphold Finance Committee
Recommendation on Lead.

ALDRICH IS MUCH PLEASED

Senators Smoot and Sutherland Disputed Senator Cummins' Statement
Regarding Freight Rates.

Washington, May 10.—The ability of the Republican majority of the senate to uphold the recommendation of the committee on finance on the lead schedules which remain the Dingley rates in the tariff bill in place of the lower duties fixed by the house, was fully represented today, when by a vote of 35 to 41, the senate declined to reduce by one-quarter on a cent a pound the duty on pig lead as recommended by the committee on finance.

In this vote 11 Republicans voted with the Democrats and two Democrats with the Republicans. By a viva voce the senate adopted the rate of 2 1/2 cents a pound on pig lead as recommended by the committee. Chairman Aldrich said he regarded the vote as an endorsement of the action of the committee, and expressed the confidence that all the schedules of the committee would be upheld.

HEYBURN'S SPEECH

Mr. Heyburn spoke at length in discussing methods and the systems of treating lead ore in order to demonstrate the necessity for a differential duty on pig ore and other products of lead ore.

All the industries of Idaho, said Mr. Heyburn, encircle the lead mines, and disaster to the mines would result in general business stagnation. He claimed that without the protection of pig lead provided by the amendment of the committee on finance, the lead industry could not continue. Smelting in Mexico, he said, costs but one-half as much as here, and mining about two-thirds.

As a compromise between the contention of senators who have insisted against giving any differential for pig lead and those who have insisted on five-eighths of a cent a pound, as proposed by the committee on finance, Senator Cummins offered an amendment fixing the duty at three-eighths of a cent a pound, in addition to the duty of one cent a pound, a cent a pound on the lead in lead ore.

SMOOT IS EMPHATIC

Statements by Mr. Cummins regarding the freight rates on lead ore from western states to New York were disputed by Messrs. Aldrich, Sutherland and Smoot. Mr. Smoot was particularly emphatic in stating the rate was about $25 a ton and not $9 or $7 as claimed by Mr. Cummins.

The Iowa senator, however, declared that if there was any railroad charging a rate of $25 a ton on lead ore from Salt Lake to New York, Congress should turn aside for a few minutes from the consideration of the tariff and deal vigorously with any such railway.

In the opinion of Mr. Borah, no form of legislation would hurt the lead and smelter trusts. It was idle, he contended, for any one to say there were no such trusts. So thoroughly entrenched were they, he said, that they could avoid the provisions of the bill by transferring their bases of operations.

A MATTER OF TACKLING

"Let us recognize the fact," he said, "that the tariff bill is just like the rivers and barbers' trusts. You tickle me and I'll tickle you. You give us what we want on the Pacific coast for our lead ore and our citrus fruits, and we will tickle the people of New England and give them what they want on their cotton goods."

Mr. Nelson said all comparisons were being made on the basis of "the poor laboring man" in his competition with the people of Mexico and in other ways. He said he wished some of the senators who were interested in the smelting and refining trusts could be compared with the Mexican people.

In a brief speech Mr. Bradley of Kentucky favored sustaining the committee's recommendation regarding the lead schedule.

Mr. Cummins' amendment reducing the duty on pig lead from 2 1/2 to 1 3/4 cents a pound and the differential from 1/2 cent as recommended by the committee on finance, to 3/4 cent per pound was lost, 35 to 44.

THE VOTE

The Republicans voting for the reduction were: Beveridge, Burton, Brown, Burkett, Chapp, Crawford, Cummins, Dilliver, Gamble, L. F. Follette and Nelson.

Senator Hughes of Colorado and McHenry (Democrat), voted against the amendment. After the result was announced Mr. Beveridge moved to reduce the differential to a quarter of a cent, making the rate on pig lead 1 cent and the differential half a cent a pound. Mr. Beveridge declared that the reputations of Speaker Cannon and other Republican members of the house as protectionists were sufficient to defend senators voting for the amendment from the charge of being indifferent to the protective needs of this industry, as the house had declined to allow any differential.

OIL KING'S WIFE, WHO IS ILL AT VIRGINIA RESORT.

The arrival at Hot Springs, Va., of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., caused the rumor that Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, Sr., who is suffering from an attack of pneumonia, was worse. Her physicians, however, declare the report wholly unfounded. They say she has been steadily improving for more than a week and is now out of danger. As soon as she is able to travel she will be taken to her home in the Pocantico hills, New York.

Mr. Aldrich in reply declared if the senate did not intend to turn the industry over to foreigners, a proper protection was necessary to keep it at home.

Mr. Beveridge vehemently replied that the senator from Rhode Island would have to invent "some new argument" in place of the argument that the industry would be turned over to foreigners. Mr. Beveridge asked whether the Republicans of the house wanted to turn the lead producing interest over to foreigners.

"Forty-four of them voted against the house provision," declared Mr. Aldrich. "That other argument of turning the industry over to the foreigners," continued Mr. Beveridge, "comes like a phonograph report of an ancient campaign, and I ask whether a Republican house attempted to strike that industry down?"

Mr. McCumber declared himself in favor of the committee's recommendations for a differential of 3/4 of a cent per pound on pig lead.

Senator Burkett criticized Mr. McCumber, saying that he would be influenced in casting his vote on the lead schedule by the senators from the lead producing states.

"If," he said, "the senator from North Dakota is going to take the judgment of the senator from Idaho, who is the use of the senator being here at all—why not let the senator from Idaho represent him?"

Mr. McCumber, joining in the laughter, created by this remark, replied he had merely been influenced in his judgment by the men best qualified to know something concerning a matter with which he was not personally familiar.

The years and days then being called for on Mr. Beveridge's amendment it was defeated 37 to 46.

The committee provision fixing the rate on pig lead and kindred leads at 2 1/2 cents a pound, a differential of 3/4 of a cent a pound was recommended by a viva voce vote. Then the senate adjourned.

PLANNING TO CAPTURE NOTED MORO OUTLAW

Washington, May 11.—The Philippine government has determined to take into custody a Moro outlaw known throughout the Sulu archipelago as Jikiri of Jolo. For months many murders and robberies have been charged to this band and its leader. The recent outlawry has been so bold and extensive that the authorities decided to take extraordinary steps to end it. A gunboat is searching among the smaller islands in the Sulu archipelago and land forces are tramping the mountains hoping to ensnare the outlaws into their hands.

On March 12 Jikiri is reported to have led 50 Moros in an attack upon the constabulary barracks at Siasi. In the hope of procuring arms and ammunition, the 24 soldiers within, under command of Capt. Dewitt and Lieut. Bennett, had an exciting time defending themselves in the darkness. The home of N. N. Holmes, an engineer and planter within sight of the barracks, was riddled with bullets that had been left on his bed. A Greek strongfisher on the island of La Tuna was subsequently attacked by the band, but escaped with his life. The murder of two white men named Wolf and Cornell, partners in a small trading business on the island of Simoni, is charged to the bandit. The body of Mr. Wolf was chopped into 32 pieces and scattered over an area of several yards, and that of Cornell was mutilated in much the same manner.
