MILITIA'S CORRESPONDENCE.

THE correspondence of "Militia," juncture. It recalls to the minds of many recollections of the past, which become dim, and to many who are not which have transpired in this Territory, it conveys knowledge of transactions of which they are ignorant. Such communications are needed at the present time. To listen to the expressions fledged officials, prosecuting attorneys, judges, etc., one would imagine that there never had been a legally organized militia in this Territory, and that, in fact, there never had been any government here until they arrived. A stranger, not familiar with what has been done here, would be led to the conclusion, in listening to them, that there had been no governors, judges, Attorneys and other officers in this country | the city to lighten its streets after dark before they came, or if there had been, he would be apt to get the impression that these functionaries never exercis- of the flames; when suddenly, from ed any legal authority.

was organized in the Fall of the year 1850; a Governor and Judges, a Secretary and Marshal were appointed, and they came here and exercised their fusctions in due form. A Legislative Assembly was legally elected, which proceeded to enact laws, that still exist upon the statu e book and are of bindlog force. It is also a fact that a militia was at the time regularly organized, the officers of which were elected in republican style and commissioned by ular. the Governor. All these, and many other important facts, are familiar to the people, and when they see the ignorance and assumptions of some of

they are amused. During the twenty years the Territory has been organized they have bewhile in possession of a little brief authority, were so inflated that the entire Territory was too narrow a sphere for them to move in; but who, when stripped of position, wore such an air of meekness, as to evoke the sympathy of all beholders. They have seen officials of this kind come and go like the seasons; but in nearly every new batch of arrivals there has been found a few of this class, who act, speak and appear to feel as if they were the only vigilant, zealous and suitable officers which had ever acted in the positions to which they are appointed since Utah's organization as a Territory. This is especially the case if these men undertake to run "amuck" against the people of the Territory. Their zeal is then something fearful and wonderful to behold. They seem to think that the honor of the Government is in their individual

The experience of the past twenty years warrants us in saying that a man with such a feeling cannot hold position very long. We never knew it fail. Another thing that we have noticed: officers have come here feeling disposed to act fairly, perform the func- | Congress. tions of their office and averse to assailing the people; and after reaching here, there has been pressure brought an advance copy of the report of the to bear upon them by some person or Secretary of the Treasury. class of persons interested in having a difficulty, and unable to resist the pressure and of official decapitation, they have weakened and changed their enter upon a general war on the open-policy; from that moment they appearpolicy; from that moment they appeared to be doomed and their removal has speedily followed.

MEETING OF THE ASSOCIATION FOR THE IMPROVEMENT OF STOCK. - In another column will be found the minutes of the meeting held on Monday evening by the Association for the improvement and Cultivation of Stock, Bees, Fish, &c. We have received two very interesting reports from the Committee on Horned Stock and that on Bees, made to the Association at the last meeting, which, for want of space, we meeting, which, for want of space, we are compelled to lay over until to-morrow. The meetings and action of this Association give promise of being exceedingly interesting, and it is desirable that Branch Associations should be formed in every county in the Territory; provisions of Paris are almost exhaustand that every agriculturalist should be ed. Scarcely a fortnight's supply reenrolled as a member of the Association where he resides. There is an immense field for the Society to operate in, and its claims upon the people are such that it ought to receive the aid and influence of every public-spirited man in the community. The benefits which will fellow its labors, if prosecuted wisely and energetically, are sufficient inducement to enlist every man's influence and aid in its behalf.

THE people of Sloux Falls City were furnished with a large supply of buffalo meat in an unexpected and extraordinary manner one night towards the close of last month. An enormous fire had been burning on the prairie on the Dacotah side of the river, all the afternoon, and approached near enough to at night. Groups of citizens in every direction stood watching the progress many came the cry: "The buffalo are Now, it is a fact that Utah Territory crossing the river." John Houtz, of Box Elder County, and Charles Decker were added to the committee on Horses Reports from S. H. Rutman and A.

M. Musser, Chairmen of Committees on Bees and Fish, were read. John Pack, Sen. informed the meeting that it was the intention of two of our citizens to introduce some 500 head of Durham heifers, which would be offered for sale at 100 per cent less than if imported in small numbers. This would give us a splendid start.

Joseph Harker referred to his experience in stock raising. He believed that in and in breeding would improve the sheep, but it required great care and experience. The full-blooded Leicester was the best for crossing with other sheep. He has a three-quarter blood, French Merino buck, that yields thirteen pounds of wool.

Encouraging remarks were made by Mesers. Schettler, Putnam, Rockwood, Musser, and others, on the various topics under consideration.
