FOUR DIVORCES IN 15 MINUTES

Judge Morse Yesterday Afternoon
Granted the Decrees in Short Order.

USUAL GROUNDS. DESERTION.

Only Exception Was That of Florence
Campbell Who Had a Convict
For a Husband.

Judge Morse yesterday afternoon granted four divorces in the brief space of 15 minutes. All of the cases were void of sensational evidence and were based on the usual grounds of desertion and failure to support. The only exception was that of Florence Campbell, who was divorced from James E. Campbell on the ground that defendant had been convicted of a felony and is serving a term in the state prison for criminal conduct with a girl 15 years of age. Mrs. Campbell was awarded the custody of her four children. She married defendant at Reno, Texas, on Feb. 4, 1894.

Lou N. Hill was granted a divorce from Oliver N. Hill on the grounds of desertion and non-support. They were married at Reno, Nev., on July 31, 1902.

A divorce was granted Allice Dunham from James T. Dunham on the ground of failure to support. They were married on May 22, 1881, and for a year and a half Mrs. Dunham said that her husband had absolutely failed to help her in the least in providing for her two children. The court also awarded the custody of the children.

Additional evidence was heard in the case of Jean M. Birdsall against Thomas F. Birdsall and the plaintiff was given a divorce. Part of the evidence was heard last week and was concluded yesterday. The parties were married on Feb. 27, 1905, and defendant deserted plaintiff on July 5 of the same year. Her maiden name, Jean M. Dickman, was restored to her.

Five cases of smallpox were reported; also 19 cases of diphtheria, 16 cases of measles, one case of typhoid fever and a number of other contagious diseases making the total number of contagious diseases reported 69. There were 329 loads of garbage destroyed at the crematory during the month and also 122 dead animals. A total of 1,089 loads of refuse was hauled to the city dumping ground.

PROSPEROUS ALBERTA.

S. M. Dudley Tells of Conditions in Mormon Colonies.

S. M. Dudley, a Salt Lake visitor this week, having come down from his home in Alberta, Canada, as one of the Mutual Improvement excursionists. Mr. Dudley is one of the large land owners of his section of country, he, with Mr. W. L. Thompson, having raised last year over 30,000 bushels of wheat and oats. The first named gentleman expects this year to harvest much more than he did last season, as he has over 1,000 acres sown for himself.

A condition that would surprise the farmers hereabouts is the fact that May of this year witnessed the last of the threshing of last year's crop. Some of the grain was stacked, while much of it remained in the shock all winter, while threshing went steadily on. It would be thought that such grain would be worthless, or nearly so, but it came out in good condition, and was sold for only five cents less per bushel than that which had been in the bins all winter.

At a provincial fair, held in Edmonton, the capital of Alberta, the Mormon colonists took five first prizes on different kinds of wheat and first prize on oats. This season's crop is expected to be far heavier than ever before. The spring has been somewhat cold, but the moisture that has fallen will insure an abundant harvest.

At Springhouse, 18 miles east of Cardston and 12 miles from McGrath, 14,000 acres of wheat and oats have been recently purchased from the Alberta Land & Stock company, by the Springhouse Land company. The latter is composed of C. E. Wood, W. L. Thompson, Bishop Harker of McGrath, and others. The land will be sold out in small farms.

Morrill of New York, and daughter of Edmund Converse, the millionaire banker and steel manufacturer, is to become the wife of Baron Fredric Romberg of Westphalia, who is himself very wealthy, being the owner of immense coal lands in Germany. After Mrs. Morrill divorced her husband in June last for extreme cruelty, a great sensation was created by an attempt to murder her in her home near Greenwich, Conn. Mrs. Morrill claiming the object of the crime being to kidnap her 3-year-old child. A John Brown was sent to prison for 20 years for the crime, but friends of Mr. Morrill believe that he acted for some one else. Three years ago the wife of Baron Romberg eloped with a soldier and the outraged husband chased the guilty pair all over the world. PILGRIMAGE OF THE UTAH PIONEERS SIXTY YEARS AGO TODAY.

TUESDAY, JUNE 8, 1847.

About 6:15 a. m. the thermometer showed 53 degrees. The morning was calm; the sky partially covered with clouds, but a clear blue sky in the west indicated a pleasant day. The forenoon the Pioneers saw a buffalo, the first they had seen for upwards of 200 miles. Black tailed deer and antelope were the principal game of the country. The company traveled six and three-quarter miles, and halted for noon in latitude 42 degree, 29 minutes and 58 seconds. In the afternoon they traveled eight and three-quarter miles, which brought them to La Bonte or Big Timber creek. They camped upon the left bank. This creek is about 30 feet wide, 20 inches deep, with a stony gravelly bottom. The road over which the company traveled during the day was quite hilly. The Black Hills ranges on the left, with their broken rugged cliffs and conical peaks, formed a scenery grand and interesting. From the most elevated positions of the road the Pioneers had an extensive view of the surrounding country. On the north and east the landscape stretched out for 20 or 40 miles in a succession of gentle hills and valleys. About a mile from the encampment a small company or wagon loaded with peltries and furs from Fort Bridger, on the other side of the Rocky Mountains, were encamped. They were going to Fort Laramie, being the same as mentioned before. There was considerable timber fringing all the small streams in these parts.
