WHY THEY REJOICE.

SOME folks who think they are very smart are puzzled over "Mormon" rejoicings at the election of Cleveland and Hendricks, and want to know what we expect at the hands of the Democratic party when it comes again into power. They cite the action of that party toward the "Mormons" when Buchanan's army was sent to Utah, and show, very correctly, that our people have been dea't with in times past more rigorously by Democrats than by Republicans. The Tribune says the "Mormons" hope to capture most of the local offices. Other folks in a fog think the "Mormons" expect special favors and a revolution in the method of treating Utah affairs. They are all mistaken or purposely deceptive.

The "Mormon" people lean to Democratic principles because those principles are in consonance with the Constitution and preservative of local and individual rights. They do not anticipate any fraternization of the Democratic party with "Mormon" institutions, secular or religious. They do not put their trust in parties in any way. They look for decided opposition from the party now rising from the obscurity of twenty-four years, when it shall once more hold the reins of power. But they think that, for a season at least, that party will not be likely to ignore those constitutional restrictions which are the safeguard of popular government, after the fashion of the party that is losing its grip upon the heart of the nation. They think that a change of administration cannot very well be for the worse; that a change of Federal officials for the Territory must in the main be some improvement; that the lowest blackguards and most villainous conspirators who have been plotting the ruin of Utah will receive a setback by the defeat of the Republican party; that the Legislative Commission scheme will get such a blow in its vital parts as will knock the breath out of it, for no real Democrat can endorse it and pretend to be consistent; that its supporters and apologists will wilt and grind their gums in chagrin over their gloomy prospects; that some persons who have swelled like turkeycocks and assumed to lord it over the "Mormon" people, will shrink into their natural flabbiness and look like the Herald's plucked and disconsolate chicken. For all this the people rejoice.

It is a great mistake to suppose that the "Mormons" had any grudge against Blaine. They have had no special reason to dislike him nor occasion to fear him. They regard him as a man of great ability and thorough knowledge of most public questions. His mention of Utah affairs in his letter of acceptance of the Republican nomination was, perhaps, the most pronounced thing that has come from him on that matter. But there was little in it, and it was necessary to say as much as he did that he might be seen in harmony with the Republican platform. The "Mormons" had no dread of Blaine himself. But they regarded him as a politician in the common acceptance of the term, and a representative of the worst elements of the party which has attempted to destroy the remnant of republican government and the small modicum of political liberty doled out to the Territory of Utah. While in Cleveland they recognize a man of stamina, who has exhibited a spirit of fairness and magnanimity in his public career hitherto, and who gives promise of a firm and honest and constitutional administration of public affairs, and who is likely to act on his own convictions, and be governed by those principles that are essential to a Democratic government.

As for "polygamy," which is still rung in by anti-"Mormons" whenever Utah affairs are discussed, the people here do not expect it will receive any more favor from Democrats than from Republicans. It does not properly cut any figure in the politics of this Territory. It is not an actual living issue except in a religious or a judicial sense. Practical polygamists and those who have been such, are excluded from office, and from the polls. Men who engage in plural marriage are liable to prosecution and heavy penalties. It is not imagined that a Democratic administration will attempt to change this, or to favor in any way the practice or perpetuation of polygamy. Those who pretend that such a change is probable or allege that the "Mormons" anticipate it, are either very foolish or very false; if they know anything about it they know better than what they say.

The "Mormons" look for the discomfiture of all who plot and work unjustly against the system which they have a mission to establish. And though it may not be an exalted position to take, yet it is very human to rejoice over the defeat of one's bitter and unprincipled foes, and the people here see in the result of the presidential election a heavy wet blanket on the hopes of many of their local enemies, their malignant and unceasing defamers. Hence their jollification over the returns, and the congratulations which are interchanged among them.

And those who watch the progress of events, will see the verification of the promise made to the latter-day Zion: "No weapon that is formed against thee shall prosper." It is written in the heavens that "They who fight against Zion shall perish." Sooner or later all who plot against her people, in the spirit of oppression and falsehood, will be surely wasted away, and politicians as well as parties and nations that seek to exercise injustice and pervert the law to injure the Latter-day Saints, will as certainly go down and come to nought as the people and cities and kingdoms of old by whom offences came against the servants of the Most High. Also the righteous shall rejoice at their departure from power while all hell is moved at their coming.

AN EVIDENCE OF FORESIGHT.

IT is claimed that Jay Gould's haste to Congratulate Grover Cleveland on his election to the Presidency was inspired by fear for his personal safety. It is thought that, on account of his unfair manipulation of the associated press dispatches in favor of James G. Blaine, he was afraid of the rage of the democratic part of the populace being wreaked upon him.

It is not improbable that there is some ground for this theory, but another appears to be equally probable. Mr. Gould's entire career shows beyond doubt that next to his life he is devotedly attached to his money, he being a devout and constant worshipper at the shrine of Mammon. He knows that unless a pacific condition is maintained throughout the country his wealth would go out of sight like a dissolving view.

He knew full well that Governor Cleveland was elected, and was also aware that any heroic attempt to defraud him of the position to which the people had hoisted him by their suffrages would disrupt the Republic. When he apparently prematurely congratulated Grover Cleveland, he simply cast his influence against a disposition to strongly dispute the fact of the election. This congratulation doubtless had the effect of causing the most prominent business men of the country to accept the situation as inevitable, notwithstanding that the political preferences of many of them may be in the other direction. Doubtless business circles and the country generally have been influenced by Mr. Gould's attitude, and as yet there has been no outbreak of popular fury, because the henchmen of Mr. Blaine, in the face of the genius against it have made no outward determined stand on subterfuge to retain the Republican grasp on administrative power which the popular verdict has given to the democracy.

But the bridge over which the coup can cross in safety the present crisis is not yet completed, and it is necessary that its span should stretch over a period of four months. If that gap is successfully passed over without a rupture, then the country may enter upon another epoch of tolerable security against the encroachments of disintegrating causes which are increasing in the Republic.

In the meantime it is the duty of every prominent as well as obscure citizen, whether moving in a business or any other sphere, to use an influence for peace. It is generally felt, and the opinion is given a wide expression, that the very closeness of the election, combined with the fact that those who are defeated belong to the party in power, is a cause of apprehension and danger. At the first signal of an outbreak the nation would instantly suffer a business crash, and a chaos would ensue that would startle the civilized world. As the apparently premature congratulation of Mr. Cleveland at the earliest stage of the present crisis tended to cause the country throughout and business men particularly to accept the inevitable and thus avoid a rupture, the act was a shrewd one, and but another instance of Mr. Gould's remarkable foresight.

AN OBJECT OF PITY.

IN reference to the recent journalistic comments about the outrageous statement made by J. M. Goodwin of the Salt Lake Tribune, to a newspaper reporter of Leadville Colorado, to the effect that his son who suicided had been killed by Mormons, together with other equally inexcusable falsehoods, the paper named says:

> If the editors of the News and Herald would take the trouble to see J. M. Goodwin and his family, we think even malicious and destitute of heart and soul as they are, they would be ashamed to assail him, no matter what he may have said or may say in future.

The talk about assailing Goodwin is the veriest rubbish. It was he who made the assault, which was unjustifiable and foundationless. What we did was to expose the infamy of his accusations, and call upon him to exhibit the grounds for his statements, or stand convicted as a malicious falsifier and bearer of false witness.

We can understand that Mr. Goodwin, in view of late events that have brought grief to his door, is probably equally as much an object of commiseration as one at which condemnation should be hurled. And as for his family, nothing but sympathy can be entertained toward them. The condition of Mr. Goodwin's mind, however, is hardly a palliation for the outrage he has committed, and which even the Tribune does not attempt to sustain, unless indeed the man is beside himself. The theory of mental aberration is the most charitable view to take of the matter, and if such is not his condition and he has a spark of nobility in his nature he will correct the wrong he has done and remove the impression that must otherwise obtain of his utter depravity.

In any event, however, we must admit after all that the Tribune is not far wrong in taking the position that Mr. Goodwin is a subject more fit for commiseration than attack, and while we cannot but abhor the injustice, groundless malignity, and even ingratitude he has exhibited, we wish him no harm. He is in the hands of a just God, and it is in order for the community he has so grossly maligned to forgive him.

The Tribune fling to the effect that we are "malicious and destitute of heart and soul," is rich from such an abandoned and envenomed source. The poisoned dart is pointless, in view of the fact that with all the detestation we feel for the unjustifiable, diabolical course of the persons who conduct the Tribune, a feeling of pity frequently asserts itself in relation to them; for it is a lamentable spectable to see men become so utterly recreant to every principle of true manhood.

A ROUSING MAJORITY.

THE returns of the election for Delegate to Congress exhibits the "powerful weakness" of the so-called "Liberal" party of Utah. Their total strength exhibited at the polls is but 2,215, polled for Ransford Smith, while John T. Caine, the People's Delegate received 22,120. Considering the lack of agitation, our Delegate was well supported by his constituents. He received a much larger vote than we anticipated. His majority is considerably greater than in 1882. We congratulate him on this mark of the confidence of the citizens of Utah, and recommend the "Liberals" to retire in silence or disband and get up a real party with some principles.

THE TERRITORIAL CANVASS.

NINETEEN THOUSAND MAJORITY FOR HON. JOHN T. CAINE.

A GRATIFYING EXHIBIT.

DOUBTLESS the communication from Mr. S. P. Teasdel, the well known merchant of this city, in relation to the prospects of the sugar industry, which appeared in the News of yesterday, would be perused with pleasure by many of our readers interested in home manufactures. Sugar-making is a most important branch of business, and when such capable men as those composing the committee to whom the subject was referred express, after careful examination, an opinion to the effect that its establishment and profitable conduct here are feasible, the public cannot but have confidence in the correctness of the position assumed. We will note with pleasure any future progress made in the matter.

SUCCESSFUL TREATMENT.

Dr. E. L. Plant, Salt Lake City, Utah:

I send you by to-day's express a tape worm taken from my wife a few days ago. Please examine it, and see if it is all there. We are very much obliged to you for the gentlemanly way in which you have treated us, and trust your practice may increase (for it ought to, as you are a benefit to mankind.) Send us word if the worm is all there, and what you think about it. Let us hear from you as soon as you can. Yours very respectfully,

A. REDFORD.

The worm was completely removed from the patient, who will soon be all right. E. L. PLANT.

PIONEER ROLLER MILLS.

In consequence of the present low price of wheat the Pioneer Roller Miller Company have proportionately made a reduction in the price of their flour, which is not surpassed in quality by any article of the kind in the world.

They are also prepared to exchange flour for good, clean wheat (no other accepted) with farmers and customers at the mill, 53 North Temple Street, East. Office 21 South Temple Street, West. d&s1m.

Deserving of Confidence.—There is no article which so richly deserves the entire confidence of the community as Brown's Bronchial Troches. Those suffering from Asthmatic and Bronchial diseases, Coughs and Colds, should try them. Price 25 cents.

DEATHS.

MCDONALD—In Heber City, November 9, 1884, of croup, Alma, son of William and Seriah McDonald, aged 8 years and 10 months.

DUKE—At Heber City, of cholera infantum, Thomas, son of James and Mary Duke aged 10 months and 26 days.

DYKE—At Pleasant Grove, Utah County, Nov. 4th, 1884, of general debility and old age, Susannah Dyke, late of Sherborne, Dorsetshire, England; aged 74 years, 3 months and 27 days.

Deceased was baptized into the church in 1854, and was well and favorably known by many of the traveling Elders. She lived and died a faithful Latter-day Saint.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral.

No other complaints are so insidious in their attack as those affecting the throat and lungs; none so trifled with by the majority of sufferers. The ordinary cough or cold, resulting perhaps from a trifling or unconscious exposure, is often but the beginning of a fatal illness. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has all proven its efficacy in a forty years' fight with throat and lung diseases, and should be taken in all cases without delay.

A Terrible Cough Cured.

"In 1857 I took a severe cold, which affected my lungs. I had a terrible cough, and passed night after night without sleep. The doctors gave me up. I tried AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which relieved my lungs, induced sleep, and afforded me the rest necessary for the recovery of my strength. By the continued use of the PECTORAL a permanent cure was effected. I am now 62 years old, hale and hearty, and am satisfied your CHERRY PECTORAL saved my life."

HORACE FAIRBROTHER.

Rockingham, Vt., July 15, 1882.

Croup.—A Mother's Tribute.

"While in the country last winter my little boy, three years old, was taken ill with croup; it seemed as if he would die from strangulation. One of the family suggested the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, a bottle of which was always kept in the house. This was tried in small and frequent doses, and to our delight in less than half an hour the little patient was breathing easily. The doctor said that the CHERRY PECTORAL just saved my darling's life. Can you wonder at our gratitude? Sincerely yours,

MRS. EMMA GEDNEY."

150 West 128th St., New York, May 16, 1883.

"I have used AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL in my family for several years, and do not hesitate to pronounce it the most effectual remedy for coughs and colds we have ever tried. A. J. CRANE."

Lake Crystal, Minn., March 13, 1882.

"I suffered for eight years from Bronchitis, and after trying many remedies with no success, I was cured by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. JOSEPH WALDEN."

Byhalia, Miss., April 5, 1882.

"I cannot say enough in praise of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, believing as I do that but for its use I should long since have died from lung troubles. E. BRAGDON."

Palestine, Texas, April 22, 1882.

No case of an affection of the throat or lungs exists which cannot be greatly relieved by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and it will always cure when the disease is not already beyond the control of medicine.
