A Veteran of the Prophet Joseph's Day, and Pioneer of Utah.

Special Correspondence. Loa, Wayne Co., Jan. 2 .- Noticing in the last "News" an announcement of the death of Chatman Duncan I wish to make the correction that it should have been Chapman Duncan, and to say further that when the old veteran asso-ciates of the Prophet Joseph Smith pass cates of the Prophet Joseph Smith pass away they are deserving of a little more than a passing notice. Brother Duncan was born in New Hampshire July 1, 1812, and when he reached man-hood the doctors told him his days days would soon be numbered, that grim death in the shape of consumption, had him already in its clutches. He then started to iravel, hoping by doing so to prolong his days, and thus he became acquainted with "Mormonhe became acquainted with ism," and the Prophet of the Lord. He joined the Church in 1832, and was with the Saints in all their drivings and troubles. When the pioneers came to Utah he was not with them for the reason that he was performing a mis-sion in the Southern States, but he followed close after, coming here in 1845. He lived in various places in Utab; he was among those who were called to settle in Nevada in early days and after mission was broken up he was called again to the Dixle settlements, there he resided for a number of years. He also filled a mission to China after he came to Utah. Brother Duncan never tired of tailing of the Prophet Joseph Smith, whom he regarded as the greatest man that ever lived, barring One. He was with the prophet when he uncovered the stone altar and showed the few brethren present where Father Adam blessed his posterity and offered satrifices unto the Lord. One of the saddest deaths which has occurred in Beaver for a long time is the one in Brother Thomas B. Davis family last Saturday. His son, Charles, who was considered a good boy, got into company with other young men. on Christmas day, and after they had had several drinks, one of the party procured a bottle of liquor-accounts differ as to the quantity, but all say there was a half pint or more-and dared any of the crowd to drak it Charley took the bottle and drank the whole of the stuff at once: the result was that he went into a state of unconsciousness, his companions, thinking him simply drunk, took him home, and left him alone in the house, his folks being away visiting. Upon the return of the family, the young man was found on the floor in a complete state of coma. Dr. Coffman was at once sum-monot and found the bedre submoned and found the body cold, and but very little pulse. Hot irons and but very little pulse. Hot irons and other means were used to infuse heat into the poor fellow's body, and he regained consciousness, but his agony was fearful. The stomach must have heen completely burnt up by the liquor, as a large amount of flesh was found in the youtit. He lay in the house in the vomit. He lay in the house about seven hours before his condition was discovered. The poor young man lingered in dreadful agony until Satur-day night, when his spirit passed away, leaving sorrow in the family, where he had hitherto brought gladness. The funeral services were held in the meeting house this morning. (Millennial Star, please copy.) A severe cold wave has been in evi-dence here for several days, and we are having a dry, open winter with prospects for another season of drouth

Some parties have been here and taken up land, and have never done any thing to speak of with it. The parties that have taken it up, I understand, have moved to Big Born county, and 1 think they have abandoned their land.

The above land is situated under the company's canal. The name of the company is the Lucerne Land and Watr company.

We have a very good climate, and as rich a soil as a man would wish to farm

There is plenty of timber and grass, and a good market for everything that can be raised. Most all kinds of hardy vegetables thrive here. The guiet of this place was broken

Christmas night by the accidental dis-charge of a thirty-eight caliber pistol in the pocket of John Scofleld, which inflicted a wound about 3½ or 4 inches long in the right thigh. In the absence of a doctor, T. J. Hicks took a pocket knife and made an incision about 1/2 or % of an inch deep, and extracted the bullet. After the wound was dressed the young man kept right on dancing. It happened between 10 and 11 o'clock p. m. He is around again, and doing well, but he doesn't want any more pistols at parties. tance gaining sprints by some of the leaders, but while the speed was uniformly fast from the start to the supper hour, the positions remained rela-tively the same. The physical condition of the nine men was surprisingly good.

The evening racing began the forty-sixth hour and McEachern set the pace at 7:06. A little later Babcock was per-mitted to lead for nearly all the first hour, at the end of which McEachern went to the front. The score was $57 miles 5 laps for the leaders. Without any warning at 10:55 Babcock cut loose and before either the crowd or riders knew what had happened he was some distance ahead of the bunch and at the end of three laps was within ten f of the rear guard. The scores at the fiftleth hour, the day's finish, were: McEachern, leading Kaser, Stinson, Downey, Fischer, McLean and Walthour, all 928.5; Babcock, 928.1; Muller 918.3
