

EVENING NEWS. Thursday, December 29, 1887.

FRAGMENTS.

JUDITH BORMAN is up from Beaver. Only two days more for registration for the city election.

A CASE of diptheria was quarantined today at No. 3311, South Temple Street.

OLIE ROSSIER OLSEN was fined $5 in the Police Court today for drunkenness.

S. T. TRISBET and the Utah Cracker Factory are issuing handsome chromo calendars to their patrons.

GEORGE M. HUFFAKER was fined $10 in Justice Pryor's court yesterday afternoon, for embezzlement. The case was appealed.

John Skelton in the family of Thos. J. Mackintosh is not diptheria, as reported yesterday, but scarlet fever. The disease is quarantined.

DAN MCCARTHY and William Jones were brought in this morning for being profane. In the Police Court McCarthy was fined $10 and Jones $5.

The fire alarm this afternoon was caused by the burning of a large pile of manure near the corner of First West and Seventh South streets. No further damage.

Messrs. SORRENSEN & CARLQUIST, furniture dealers of this city, reminded their employees of a substantial wage on Christmas. They are not less popular with the men who work for them than with the public generally.

BENJAMIN BROWN, John T. Williams, John B. Rogers, James H. Young, Thomas C. Brookridge, John W. Brookridge, Charles D. Brookridge and John Cope have been admitted to citizenship.

We received a call from Mr. J. P. Harris, advance agent of the Martineau Cosmopolitan Vaudeville and Big 4 Combination, which shows here in the Theatre on Friday and Saturday, January 8 and 9. There are 32 persons in the company and it is well spoken of.

The Workmen's Clothing Store 32 w. First South Street, is extending its trade by carrying a good stock of goods and selling at reasonable prices. The proprietor, Wm. Longmore, Esq., has recently secured the services of Mr. Josiah Burrows as salesman.

Yesterday it was found necessary by the attending physician, to amputate the foot of Frank Graham, the young man who was accidentally shot in the foot last Monday, at Ogden. It seems that the injury was more extensive than was first reported, as the charge passed through the ball of the foot, and seriously injured the bone.

A social reunion will be held in the Seventeenth Ward Assembly Rooms tomorrow evening. A party for the children of the ward will be given in the afternoon, commencing at one, and ending at five o'clock, free to scholars of the Sabbath School. Other children will be charged ten cents admission. Parents are invited. The evening dancing will commence at 8 o'clock. The affair is under the auspices of the officers and teachers of the Sunday School.

Tak art exhibition of the Burton-Gardner's place of business, opposite the Theatre, is attracting quite a number of visitors. Around the walls are hung specimens of ornamental and decorative sewing done on the "Household" sewing machine, a large number of which are on the floor. In the window is placed the elegant machine which will be given away on January 31, and for which every lady visitor to the exhibition receives a ticket entitling her to a chance in the drawing.

Charged With Larceny. Today Deputy Cannon brought in from Tooele County, C. T. Brown, a miner, who is accused of stealing ore from a mine. He asserts that the property is his own. His case will come on tomorrow.

Old Folk's Party. The people of Almy Ward, Wyoming, gave a party and a feast, in honor of the old folks of the town, on Dec. 26th. A free invitation was given to every person in the place over 60 years of age without regard to sect or party. A highly enjoyable time was had. A high standard of good things were provided to eat, the ward hall in which the affair was held was tastefully decorated, and a Christmas tree laden with useful articles, which were distributed among the guests, was an attractive feature.

An Ingenious Level. Mr. Carl E. Nielsen, of No. 407 w. Second South Street, in this city, is the inventor and maker of what he claims is a new style of instrument for leveling. It consists of a piece of walnut wood about 15 inches in length by three inches in width and three-quarters of an inch thick, in one side of which is a recessed, circular metal plate having a diameter nearly the width of the stick. In the center of the dial is the projecting end of an axle to which is affixed a pointer resembling the long finger of an ordinary watch. The point of this finger moves freely round the margin of the dial and the angle of elevation is indicated by a line on a circular plate which surrounds the inner dial. The mechanism is extremely simple, the movement being actuated by means of an internal weight attached to the axle. Mr. Nielsen states that he has taken out a caveat for his invention and not being a man of means, would like to get some one sufficiently interested in the matter to enable him to complete his patent and realize something out of it.

The Registrars. The registration for the Salt Lake City election in February next closes on Saturday, Dec. 31, 1887. Until that time those who intend to register can be accommodated by calling at the following named places during the hours stated:

THE EUREKA SPREE.

Commissioner Norrell Getting at the Facts in the Case.

The deputy marshals who went to Eureka yesterday to serve the warrants issued on the complaint made by Mrs. Annie Marks, whose account was related in the News yesterday, returned on the Utah Central last evening, accompanied by seven prisoners and a host of witnesses from that place. The men in custody were Constable John T. Sullivan, of Eureka; Fredrick, James Douglas, Joseph Peterson, Gus House, Wm. Lynett, and Harry Tompkins. The eighth person named in the complaint, Gil Johnson, was not found. The defendants were taken before Commissioner Norrell last evening and their bonds placed at $700 each.

This morning they were arraigned on the charge of making an assault with intent to do bodily harm, made upon Mrs. Annie Marks, with guns, at Eureka, on the 26th of December. All of the defendants pleaded not guilty. C. S. Varian represented the prosecution, while Arthur Brown appeared for the defense.

In the opening of the case Mr. Brown moved that the charge be dismissed on the ground that the Commissioner had no jurisdiction over offenses committed outside of the judicial district where his office was held. The motion was overruled.

Mrs. Annie Marks was the first witness. She testified—I live in Eureka, with my husband, W. Marks; keep a saloon there; our residence is the back of the store; on the 26th of December, about 11 a.m., Constable Sullivan came to my house and said he had judgment against me for $25 and costs, and I paid him a paper to me; he asked me if I had a case in Provo; I said I did not know it; he said my lawyer said it was to go by default; he said he would go for the house; I asked him for ten minutes' time, and he refused to wait any longer; he came back in about three minutes with a mob of men; I asked Sullivan to send them away but he would not; he had two shotguns; he burst in the back door with an ax and grabbed me; Douglas snatched his gun at me, but it did not go off; then they dragged me off; the others were armed, and pointed their shotguns at me; Tompkins also chopped part of my fence down; Sullivan and Douglas dragged me by the arm; Douglas kicked me in the side and in the back; they took me to Justice Dana's and he ordered them to take me to jail; the mob then tore my house down and carried the things off; Sullivan gave me a paper before the trouble commenced, and charged 75 cents for it; it was a copy of the original judgment.

Mrs. Marks continued—The men surrounded the house; all of the defendants were there; they called me hard names and some of them shot to kill me; the treatment I got made me very sick, and I was badly bruised; I was afraid they would lynch me; Sullivan dragged me by the hair, when he and Douglas dragged me out of bed; they wanted me to give up the house; I was afraid it was poison and would not take it; I said I wanted to go out of town and he said I could not live through the journey; I lay there very sick for a week and was then brought to this city; the motion of my body was dragged on the ground.

Cross-examined by Mr. Brown—I knew Sullivan was constable; knew of the case in the commissioner's paper; Mr. Provo; Sullivan read the paper to me; he said part of it; he never showed me the original judgment that I knew of; he told me he wanted my house; he said he would not wait till I telegraphed to my lawyer; I told him that if my lawyer advised me to vacate the premises I would do so; When the bed was taken away I lay on the floor; I was not excited then; I was sick; I did not have two pistols out while Sullivan was there; the two pistols were under my pillow; I kept them there for protection; I did not touch me or exhibit any weapons; the men came when he left on the first occasion he said he would be back in a few minutes; he left a young man in charge while he was away; he was gone about five minutes; I locked the doors when I saw him returning with armed companions; the young man in charge did not tell me he had no right to lock the doors; I did not draw any weapons on him; Sullivan had a shotgun when he came to my bedside after he chopped the door down; he pointed the gun at me, then laid it down and grabbed me by the hair; then he took hold of me by the arm, and made some threats; he did not tell me he had a warrant, and I thought he was going to lynch me; he dragged me along; I could not walk; they never gave me a chance; there were seven or eight guns pointed at me and three at Mr. Marks; I was not tried at Justice Dana's; I was not fined there; not required to give bonds.

Lydia Stealy testified—I was in Mrs. Marks' house at the time of this occurrence; I saw the defendants there; heard the conversation when Constable Sullivan first came there; it was as stated by Mrs. Marks; Sullivan left Mr. Lee in charge of the house; he told Mr. Marks he would not give her two minutes' time when she asked it; when Sullivan came back he demanded assistance; he said she would open the door for him but not for the others; he said the men were with him, and if she did not open the door he would break it in; he went to Tompkins house and returned with two guns; he then broke the door in with an ax, and I hid in the cellar; I saw Sullivan and Douglas come in armed; I heard a noise after this, but did not see anything; Mrs. Marks was screaming; after she was dragged away she came over the cellar; Mr. Hanson pointed a gun at me, but said they would not hurt me; would not get out of the door, and went through a back window; saw Constable Sullivan dragging Mrs. Marks away.

Dr. Loria Hall testified—I attended Mrs. Marks on Monday last; she was bruised, and gave symptoms of being very sore; there was no evidence of her feeling suffering; she was in a very excitable state and I had to give her soporifics to enable her to obtain sleep.

Miss Stealy was called and said—The furniture was taken out and the building torn down; the furniture was thrown into the street; some of the valuables were taken to Mrs. Tompkins; I was greatly frightened when the men came, and so was Mrs. Marks.

At this point, a recess was taken till 3 p.m. today.

The account of the defense in the case differs materially from Mrs. Marks' story. It is in brief as follows: On the day named Constable Sullivan presented an execution to the Hon. Mr. Hopper, having been issued by Commissioner Hille, and requiring her to pay $25 damages and costs of a suit made against her by Mrs. Tompkins, and to surrender and vacate a piece of land which both had claimed. This piece of ground is the one on which Mrs. Marks recently put up a new frame house, and which was held to be the property of the other parties. In pursuance of this order of the court Mr. Sullivan went to carry out the decree.

Mrs. Marks asked for some time to consider what course she would pursue, and was allowed ten minutes. She told the constable, however, that she would not vacate the premises. He anticipated some trouble, but nothing serious, and left an employee of Mrs. Marks, Mr. Lee, in temporary charge of the place. Sullivan went back in about an hour, and found the door locked. He then learned that Mrs. Marks had fastened the house against Mr. Lee's protest, a couple of loaded revolvers being the instrument which brought her success. He also learned that she proposed to fight, and that it would be exceedingly dangerous for one man to approach the place unless he desired to go to his death. The constable thereupon selected a posse and surrounded the place. He could not gain admittance, and, however, he had obtained a warrant for the arrest of Mrs. Marks. When he got inside he found her on the bed in a towering passion, and arrested her. She refused to go and he took hold of her, directing Mr. Douglas to take her other arm. She resisted, refused to walk, set her feet against the door, and by her struggling compelled the officers to drag her in this style a short distance, when they obtained further assistance and carried her bodily to Justice Dana's when she made such further exhibition of a violent temper that the justice, to keep her quiet, threatened to have her put in jail.

Each of the two versions of the affair is correct will be determined when the Commissioner has heard all of the evidence.

The "Instructor."

Among the Latter-day Saints the Instructor has taken the front rank of magazines. It has steadily grown in interest and public favor, there being apparently no effort spared by the editor to make it rank among the best periodicals of the day. Every number is filled with instructive and entertaining reading for both old and young, while the illustrations and music in each issue are very pleasing features.

Already the Instructor has completed the twenty-second volume, its holiday number of this year being excellent. Five appropriate illustrations adorn this issue, which is also done in its usual size, and the following well-prepared articles form its table of contents: The Smoking Coterie, Yucatan; First Steps; The Coming Men; Letter to the Prince; The Desert; Beale's Christmas Light; A Hint to Grumblers; Golden Keys; Christmas Dreams and Gifts; Topics of the Times; Arctic Scenes and Incidents; Killing Time; Bishop Marsden's Daughter; The Two Little Stockings; How he Saved; Editorials; Thoughts; A Christmas Snow Slide; A Dutch Uncle's Christmas Party; Good Tidings (music and poetry), and The School of sorrow.

In volume twenty-three several improvements are promised. The firm having just purchased new book press, they will even excel the first-class work heretofore issued by the office, and a better class of illustrations will now be used; each number will also be trimmed. Every endeavor will be made to bring the Instructor to the highest point of perfection, and we recommend it to every Latter-day Saint as being worthy of careful perusal.

Coasting Accident. Last Monday evening, a rather serious accident occurred to a party of young ladies who were coasting on a large schooner, on Third Street Hill. Eight of the party were on the schooner at the time, and were going at a rapid rate down the hill, and were endeavoring to guide the sleigh along the sidewalk of the street.
