THE INLAND EMPIRE.

Subject Seriously and Ably Considered And Discussed by Moyle.

The final toast of the evening was by Hon. Jas. H. Moyle, who spoke on the "intand Empire." Mr. Stoyle struck arecely into serious considera-tion of his topic, which had to do with the possibilities for growin throughout the entire intermountain west. Mr. Moyle said:

I am somewhat overawed at the thought of attempting in a few min-utes, and with the innited time at my command, to discuss before this audience of captains of inquatry-industrial rulers-that subject so pregnant with thought and tar-reaching in its import-arice-The Intermountain Empire. Its industries, resources and natural productions are as varied as its climate, which practically includes all that can be found between the arctics and the Most noted, perhaps, are our glorious mountains and valleys, blessed by their heights and depths, their majesty and grandeur, their inspiring and enobling edifices, which ever point the mind and its aspirations upward and onward to the noble, good, pure and great. However much the wheels of progress may at times appear to turn back, no people who were or will be reared in the shadows of such temples reared in the shadows of such temples -monuments of Deity's construction-could be other than guided by a de-termination to be free, and, animated with an unyielding ambition, united with the energy to do, to build, to progress. In the choicest farming district of our beautiful valleys land sells for as much as $600 per acre for farming purposes, and readily yields an in-come to both landlord and tenant on such a valuation.

Unexcelled grass grows upon our mountains, furnishing pasturage for millions of live stock, with the choic-est of water and shade in summer.

CANNOT BE EXCELLED.

Our soil and elimate cannot be excelled in the production of choice fruits and vegetables of almost every variety, And vegetables of almost every valuely. As much as thirty tons of sugar beets to the acre are produced, and 250 pounds of sugar per ton is a common yield. Sixteen tons per acre has been the average yield of vast areas. In Utah our factories are producing about 145,000,000 pounds of sugar per annum. Probably more important than any Probably more important than any other resource is that of our coal and nudeveloped iron deposits, which are rapidly being acquired by iron and raliway interests in the anticipation of our eventually supplying this mountain region, the Pacific coast and the ort-out. One of our small counties-Car-bon-produced in the last year over a million and one-half tons of market-able coal, and, strange to relate, thousands of acres of excellent coal and iron lands in Utah are yet part of the public domain. Our inexhaustible deposits of copper and precious metals, with our mammoth and increasing smelters, some of which will treat 6,000 tons of ore per day, are yielding a rapidly increasing wealth of treasure to our natural resources, which is attracting and commanding the at-tention of our greater financiers. In fortunate conjunction with our amazing products of gold, silver, lead, copper ani zine, is found vast bodies of baser minerals, such as mounatins of sait. The Great Sait Lake, whose waters, at a nominal cost, aided with our climate, freely yield its 20 per cent our chimate, freely yield its 20 per cent of salt. There also abound great de-posits of gilsonite, elaterite, gypsum, sulphur, soda, oil, mineral fertilizers, building rock, cement, and the rest too numerous to mention here.

With such an undeveloped empire and resources so unlimited, and just attracting the attention of the world, it is tracting the attention of the world, it is quite natural that the master minds who are directing the great railroad systems of the country should be com-peting for the lion's share of our com-merce and passenger service.

THE CENTRAL CITY.

To those of us deeply interested in Salt Lake City and its growth as the natural capital, place of residence, jobbing and business center of this mouncountry, is the conspicuous fac tain that this mountain empire, with unto and undeveloped natural wealth, sur-rounds it on all sides for about 500 miles. It is not only by far its largest city, but it is the center to and from ich all the great railroads are now building.

We now have direct connection by separate lines of railroad with Denver and the east over the Union Pacific; southern Colorado and the east by the Rio Grande Western; southern Utah by both the Harriman and Gould systems; the Salt Lake Route to Los Angeles; the Southern Pacific to San Francisco; the Oregon Short Line to western and northern Idaho and Port-land, and by another branch of the same road to Montana and the north-enst; with the Montar road being built from Denver to Salt Lake, and the Western Pacific from Salt Lake to San Eight railroads are pro-Francisco. jected and being actually constructed in Nevada. The Burlington and Northwestern systems are forcing their way through Wyoming for a western out-let, with Salt Lake as one of their objective points.

The Harriman lines are now spending the Harriman lines are now spending $2,000,000 on their passenger station and yards in Salt Lake City, in addition to their purchase of the street railway and lighting system of the city. The Gould lines are also making Salt Lake their mountain division and have purchased hundreds of acres of land in and adjoining the city for extensive shops, yards and station; and are now almost ready to commence the erection of their depot, which will doubtless equal that of the Harriman roads.

ATTRACTING THE BEST.

Nothing, however, is more significant and gratifying than the fact that Salt Lake City is attracting more than ever before the brave, strong and stalwart before the brave, strong and stalwart men who have made their fortunes on the ranches, ranges and mines of Ne-vuda, Idaho, Wyoming, Montana, west-ern Colorado and Utah. as is evidenced by the beautiful homes of Messrs, Me-Cune, Kearns, Keith, Judge, Wood, Wall, Weir, Salisbury, Armstrong and many others, and, by no means last, Mr. Newhouse, whose recent princely purchase of business property followed purchase of business property, followed by the deciaration that he would creet thereon a number of business blocks, involving the expenditure of millions of dollars, has given a decided impetus to real estate values. It is such evidences of faith and inter-est in Salt Lake City that will soon make it what Tature and its natural surroundings uas intended. Such men are coming here because Salt Lake City has more natural advantages they has more natural advantages than probably any other city in the world. It is not only the center of this inter-mountain empire, it is the mecca of all tourists, a great educational center. Our common and high schools are the very best. We have numerous colleges. Our university is making rapid strides. Our university is making rapid strides. Our Agricultural college is probably the equal of any. And I agree with Mr. Hill in the importance of agricul-ture. Our school of mines and mining engineering is attracting students from

to develop our initiand empire. We must have better wagon roads, street and suburban railroads, factories, packing houses, storage of our irrigating waters now going to waste, storage of our fruits and farm products, and, above all, a higher degree of intelligence ap-plied to the comparations of waters till all, a higher degree of intelligence ap-plied to the conserving of waters, tillour fertile valleys, the breeding and care of animals, and marketing of farm crops Our mines are taking splendid care of

Our mines are taking spiendid care of themselves, and I believe that the rall-roads will do their part, as they have done it in the past, in opening the way for the development of our wasts places. However, for us tonight we have nothing but hope for the future and good-will to all.

CONCLUDING SPEECHES.

Following the formal toasts, which began at 10 o'clock, and were finished shortly before midnight, half an hour was spent in informal responses. Lawrence Townsend, who is in charge at Samuel Newhouse's offices during his/absence, spoke as a friend of the millionaire mining operator, and told incidents connected with his ser-vice behind the scenes in displomatic vice behind the scenes in displomatic and political Europe. He expressed the opinion that Japan and America would not go to war, basing his conclusions on his extensive European diplomatic experience.

Judge Colborn was called to explain Judge Colhorn was called to explain why he had just refused an offer of $5,000,000 for Popperton place, and re-sponded with a facetious speech in which he referred to the fact that no engine ever crossed the mountains without steam enough in her boilers to carry her over, drawing the conclu-sion that Salt Lake would become great when her citizens got up the steam to make her great. It had one knock coming, and it was on the man who waits for the other fellow to get things started. A telegram from Samuel started. #### Suspected of Having Committed Many Burglaries Here.

Two more members of the youthful gang that has been committing robberies and burglaries in Ogden and Weber county of late, are thought to have been apprehended in Salt Lake. The suspects are Jack and Roy Hayward, whose true names are said to be J. E. and Carl Nyborg. The last named was placed under arrest yester-day by Detective George Raleigh, and word was sent to Ogden police to come for him. Sergeants Pinnock and Tout responded, and while they were here, Mr. Tout ran across the other brother, who was also taken prisoner.
