CONGRESSIONAL.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, 1.—The desk of Senator Morton was marked by a bouquet of plain white flowers, placed thereon by some friend. The chaplain in his opening prayer alluded to his illness.

The Vice President appointed Withers a member of the board of regents of the Smithsonian Institute.

A number of bills were referred.

The Senate then went into executive session, and when the doors were reopened adjourned.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, 1.—Schleicher introduced a bill to aid the Washington, Cincinnati and St. Louis railroad to construct a narrow gauge road from tide water to St. Louis and Chicago.

By Cabell, authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to pay the owners the value of cotton and tobacco seized by the government since 1865.

Schleicher offered a resolution calling on the President for all information respecting the condition of the Mexican border violations of United States territory by Mexican incursions. Adopted.

Goode asked leave to offer a resolution declaring in the judgment of the House the action of the President in withdrawing federal troops from South Carolina and Louisiana was wise and just and constitutional; that it has contributed in a large degree to the restoration of peace and harmony throughout the country, and is entitled to receive the cordial support of all men who realize that while there is a north and a south, and an east and a west, there is but one country, one constitution and one destiny.

Phillips objected.

Butler suggested that it should be referred to the committee on education and labor.

Haskell was sworn in from Kansas.

Ewing called up his resolution to reconsider yesterday's recommittal of the bill repealing the resumption act. He said the committee desired ample discussion of the bill, but its being in the morning hour and there being some probability of an early adjournment, caused the committee to request unanimous consent for the discussion to continue until 3 p. m., when the previous question might be called on the passage of the bill. To Conger's question he said Fort might offer the amendment presented yesterday. He was willing that it be otherwise amended, provided its consideration or disposition be not affected. Ewing adopted the Speaker's suggestion and asked unanimous consent to have the bill taken out of the morning hour.

Hale, Garfield and others objected.

After discussion as to the time when the morning hour expires, Ewing moved the previous question, which was seconded—128 to 120, and the House proceeded to a yea and a nay vote on ordering the main question.

Conger moved to adjourn, but his motion came after the call had begun. The main question was ordered—132 to 124.

The question now was on reconsidering yesterday's vote recommitting the bill.

Hubell moved to adjourn, and called the yeas and nays, which occupied the morning hour.

The Speaker ruled that the main question having been ordered, it must be executed.

Conger submitted that would be the first vote the next morning hour.

The Speaker differed, and said until the main question was exhausted the morning hour must continue. After deciding whether the House should reconsider the vote, the main question would be exhausted.

Conger expressed satisfaction, and it was agreed to reconsider the vote, whereupon the Speaker announced the morning hour had expired.

Sayler asked the grounds of this ruling, and the Speaker responded that the morning hour means a single hour, not two or more hours. The matter rested there.

The opposition may thus, by dilatory motions, consume the morning hours and prevent action on the bill. It occupies the same position as Bland's silver bill last session, and Hooper's civil rights bill during the previous Congress. The bill may, however, be again reported and referred to the committee of the whole on the state of the Union, where it will lie open to indefinite discussion and amendment or else be passed under a suspension of the rules.

Potter moved that the House adjourn till Tuesday, and then adjourn without transacting any business to next Thursday on account of the coming elections.

Conger asked if Potter thought the public interests would be promoted by letting the members go home.

Potter thought they would by letting his side go home.

Kelly thought the House might do some business during those days. The officers of the navy were borrowing money at inordinate rates of interest because Congress failed to appropriate their pay. He thought the House should remain in session.

Clymer said the House had voted an appropriation for the navy, but it had been improperly diverted to other uses.

Kelly said the fact remained that the navy was suffering.

The resolution was then rejected without a division.

The Speaker overruled Springer, who tried to bring before the House again the bill repealing the resumption act.

On motion of Kelly the House went into committee of the whole on the state of the Union, to allow the gentleman an opportunity to speak on the pending bill.

Hunter then argued that national bank notes were safer and cheaper money than greenbacks.

Kelly sarcastically felicitated himself on getting the house into committee of the whole where bankers' wrongs and sufferings had been so feelingly stated. He was sure bank officers and stockholders were ignorant of their sufferings and would surrender their circulation when they read Hunter's speech. He knew no Pennsylvania bank had declared a dividend of over 100 per cent., but it was common to declare 10 per cent. dividends semi-annually, and put a large amount to the reserve.

The committee rose, and Springer offered a resolution for a final adjournment of this extra session on November 28th. Referred.

Adjourned.

EASTERN.

Funeral of Edwin Adams.

PHILADELPHIA, 1.—The funeral of Edwin Adams took place to-day, under the charge of the Actors' Order of Friendship. Many beautiful floral tributes were presented. The remains were taken to St. James' P.E. church, and after the services, were borne to Mount Moriah cemetery and interred in a lot belonging to the Actors' Order of Friendship.

Fatal Boiler Explosion.

FOSTORIA, O, 1.—Hammond's extensive flouring mill was almost totally wrecked at noon to-day, by an explosion of the boiler. Henry Wilson, fireman, and Johnny Brown, a lad 15 years of age, were instantly killed. The loss is $20,000.

SENATOR MORTON.

Death of a Great Statesman.

INDIANAPOLIS, 1.—Senator Morton died at 5.30 p. m. The frequent bulletins of to-day render it unnecessary to recount his sufferings and the measures employed to alleviate them. About noon Mrs. Morton and her sons, by request, were left alone with the senator for about an hour. What passed between them is not proper to inquire. Before 5 o'clock it became evident that he had entered upon his last hour on earth. He had rested the greater portion of the day in a half lying and half sitting position. As he grew weaker the supporting pillows were withdrawn so that he lay prone upon the bed. A deep silence now pervaded the room and remained unbroken except by an occasional question to the dying man. Once when the senator exclaimed "I am dying!" his sister-in-law, Mrs. Halloway, asked, "You are not afraid to die, Oliver?" he indicated "no" by shaking his head. Soon after a similar exclamation, question and answer passed between him and Dr. Thompson. At 5.10 he exclaimed, "I am dying: I am worn out," and these were his last words. From this on it was difficult to discover that life remained. On the doctor's announcement, "He is going," the gaze of his wife and sons became fixed on the face of the husband and father, with now and then a piteous look of inquiry towards the doctor, until his further announcement, "It is over." The widow clasped her boys to her, exclaiming quietly, but in tones never to be forgotten. "My darling boys." The friends withdrew, leaving them for a time, when they were tenderly led from the room. This evening, by direction of the mayor the city bells have been tolled fifty-four strokes, indicating the dead senator's age. The bells will also be tolled each day at noon until after the funeral. The family have decided on Monday at 1 o'clock as the time for the funeral services, at Robert's Park M. E. church, and the interment to take place at Crown Hill cemetery. The services will be conducted by Rev. Prof. S. K. Hashour, Mrs. Morton's former pastor, and the senator's perceptor, assisted by Revs. J. B. Cleaver, Henry Day and J. H. Bayliss. The body will lie in state during Sunday in the corridor of the Marion County Court House, now used as a State House, giving the people of the State an opportunity to view the remains. For their accommodation special excursion trains will be run on Sunday and Monday.

The Indianapolis light infantry will tender their services as a guard of honor; the Montgomery guards of Crawfordsville have also tendered their services. The family have requested E. B. Martindale, Hon. James A. Wildman, and ex-Governor Conrad Barker to represent them and act for them in making all further arrangements.

The mayor has called a meeting of citizens in the United States court room to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock, when it will be decided to invite the President and cabinet and governors of the several States to attend the funeral.

Members of the bench and bar of the city and State are requested to meet at 2 o'clock to-morrow.

Reports from many cities and towns in the State announce the tolling of bells.

Governor Williams will close the State office on Monday, and Mayor Coon the offices of the city government. They will jointly request the citizens to close their business houses from noon to 3 o'clock of that day.

A Lively Case—Capture of Two Black Hills Desperadoes.

CHEYENNE, 1.—"It is a long road that has no turn," and to-day two of the modern Dick Turpins who have so long and so successfully plied their vocations on the Cheyenne and Black Hills route made so short a curve that their career, as knights of the road, is ended.

Yesterday, Mr. Voorhees, superintendent of the stage line, received information that the robbers would be in the vicinity of a ranch near Fort Laramie last night. He notified his agent at the fort, and at dusk two soldiers, dressed in citizens' clothes, were sent to the ranch to represent themselves to be deserters. Two hours after their departure, Lieut. Chase, with twenty cavalrymen, followed. The ranch was surrounded and searched for deserters, but no trace of the robbers could be found. After searching all the buildings in the neighborhood and on the route the detachment returned to the post, reaching there about 11 o'clock.

The southern bound coach left Fort Laramie a few minutes after the arrival of the soldiers, and two and a half miles out was halted by two men, when the usual programme of throwing up hands, forming in line and being robbed was gone through with by seven passengers, the robbers taking all valuables, even blankets and overcoats being appropriated, notwithstanding the night was very cold and stormy and the passengers had a long ride before them. Among the sufferers was United States Marshal Sweezy, who donated his overcoat and what valuables he had about him. The amount lost cannot be stated to-night, as owing to bad roads the stage has not yet reached here. The robbers gathered up their plunder and rode north.

About daylight they came upon a freighters' camp, surprising and robbing the occupants. A Chinaman who was going to Deadwood with the freighters was robbed of everything he had, and then severely whipped by the robbers, who seemed to enjoy his pleadings for mercy hugely. News of this robbery reaching Fort Laramie, Lieutenant Chase, with a detachment of the Third cavalry, started in pursuit, accompanied by Wm. Reed, an experienced hand at trailing. The pursuit was kept up nearly all day, the robbers being heard of often, they having robbed six different parties on their route.

About forty miles north of Fort Laramie the road agents were discovered, and a hot chase was had for about five miles, the robbers throwing away guns and heavy articles in their flight. They were fired on, and seeing they could not escape, surrendered and were taken to Fort Laramie, where they now are secure in the guard house. They refuse to give their names, but one of them is identified as Webster, the murderer of Deputy Sheriff Cuny. The horses they rode belong to the stage company, having been stolen some time ago. Two overcoats and other articles found in their possession are identified as the property of the passengers on last night's coach.

Great credit is due Lieutenant Chase and command for the long, hard and successful pursuit, nearly 90 miles being ridden between daylight and dark, and to Mr. Reed for the manner in which he discovered and followed the trail.

FOREIGN.

GREAT BRITAIN.

A Ship Wrecked—Crew Saved.

LONDON, 1.—The ship D. W. Chapman, New York for Bremen, went ashore at Nieuwe Dieppe, and became a total loss. The crew were saved. She parted her cables in a storm last night and beached. Two hundred barrels of petroleum floated away.

Eastern War News.

A Russian official dispatch says the total number of prisoners captured at Dubnik and Telische was 7,000, including two pashas, 200 officers and an English colonel in the Turkish service. After the victories at Dubnik and Telische, Russian scouts approached Radomirze, and Chevket Pasha with twelve battalions fled from there without waiting to destroy the bridge, which is now intact in our hands. Our cavalry is pursuing Chevket Pasha.

It is officially announced that 226,000 men are to be immediately called out for active service. The majority of these are members of the reserve. The draft will leave 333,000 registered members of the reserve.

A considerable force of Russians is concentrated in Hain Boghaz pass.
