

the head. I had to defend myself and did so. Then Ekman and Fred Gulbransen jumped in and Fred tried to throw me down, but I choked him. They all struck me, but I was not hurt. When I defended myself against Ekman, he began to talk about being a cripple. His nose was bleeding a little bit.

"The whole thing is simply this: That Ekman said his nose was bleeding a little bit. There might have been a fire. I did not propose to wait, as it is always important to answer the truth as promptly as possible. The men jumped on to me and I defended myself."

As a result of the mix-up, Charley Gulbransen says his nose is a little sore from Stab's punch. Neither Ekman nor Fred Gulbransen has a mark on them to show that they had been in any kind of a physical encounter.

On the other hand, Capt. Stab shows some evidence of having stepped a few joints and swings. On the left side of his face are some scratches. On the right side of his neck is a scratch about an inch long that looks to be inflamed. On the right side of his head, there is a bump that might greatly confuse a photographer.

STAB ALSO FILES CHARGES.

Stab says he has filed charges against all three men, the Gulbransens and Ekman.

Charley Gulbransen has filed charges against Stab. Ekman and Fred Gulbransen say there is no need for them to file charges, but they will have an interesting story to tell Chief Bywater. The feeling among members of the department was running high against Stab this morning, and requests were made on the "News" by some of the firemen to be permitted to make certain statements in writing—statements that were damaging to the captain, but the paper does not care to give place to them in advance of the investigation that is sure to be made.

BRIGHTON NOTES.

The most successful season in Brighton's history is now drawing to a close, and a great many families are enjoying the week. The advancing popularity of Brighton as a summer resort has been evidenced during the week by the purchase of a tract of seven acres of land by the Messrs. W. Mont Perry and E. P. Perry, Jr., who will erect a handsome summer home on the plot. The land was purchased from Robert Brighton and lies north of the Odell, Whitely, and Piper cottages. Col. William Young, who has spent some time at the resort this summer is also expected to build next year. Among others who came to town during the week closing on their cottages, were the Messrs. Broome, Critchlow, Spencers, Whitneys, Pipers and Odells. Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Engsign also returned to town with Mr. and Mrs. Perry.

Mr. Nelson, proprietor of the hotel has had a very busy season and will keep the place open for some time yet, as in the opinion of the Brighton is at its very liveliest during September.

CACHE VALLEY PIONEER GONE.

Death of Bishop Maughan Removes Stalwart Citizen and Faithful Latter-day Saint.

SOME OF HIS ACHIEVEMENTS.

Subdued the Desert and Took Active Part in Civic and Ecclesiastical Affairs.

Special Correspondence.

Wellsville, Cache Co., Aug. 30.—At 5 minutes to 12 last night, after an illness of nearly a year's duration, Bishop William H. Maughan, aged 71 years, 5 months, 12 days, passed peacefully away, surrounded by all the members of his family. The immediate cause of death was hypertrophy of the liver, and resultant complications.

In his death Wellsville has sustained a loss well-nigh impossible to estimate, while the Church, whose principles he had ever been valiant to uphold, is deprived of the services of one of the most resolute and faithful stalwarts who ever helped to unfurl the banner of the Gospel in this section.

return home. In 1854 he was called to act as a director of the Logan temple, a position he held till his death.

From January 3, till October 15, 1859, a period of nine months and 12 days, he was imprisoned in the state penitentiary for conscience sake, being sentenced to two years for the half year imprisonment but subsequently being pardoned by President Benjamin Harrison.

In 1862 he served as a volunteer under General James Ferguson and as such aided in subduing the Goshute Indians. In 1867 he was elected Captain of Company F of Colonel Frank Cunningham's command, Navajo legion.

In 1862 he was elected Major under General West's command, and, when the Cache county military district was organized, he was elected Colonel of the Second infantry, under General Ezra T. Benson, holding the legal commission therefor from Governor Doty.

In civil affairs Bishop Maughan always took a leading part. In 1869 was elected selectman of Cache county and was re-elected in 1872, 1875 and 1878. He served as a member of three constitutional conventions. When in 1863 Wellsville was incorporated as a city he was elected to be its first mayor and was re-elected every two years till 1875. He was again chosen in 1878, 1880 and 1882 and again in 1887 and 1891.

Bishop Maughan was the father of a large family, most of whom are now living and all of them members of the church in good standing. The deceased was a man of God, firm for the right, loyal to the truth and to his fellow man, charitable to the weak and erring, and full of love for all mankind. He was a born leader in his sphere of action, thrifty, progressive and of keen discernment.

FARMERS UP IN ARMS.

These in the Vicinity of Anaconda Fighting the Smelters.

Prof. Marcus E. Jones has returned from Anaconda, Mont., where he is an expert witness in the great suit against the smelter by the farmers in the vicinity, whose crops and farms are being destroyed by the fumes from the big smelter. Prof. Jones says the suit is developing into the greatest litigation in western legal annals, and is the outcome of the selfishness of the smelter interests, who do not care how much property they destroy, and are fighting against the law which compels them to use consumers because this precaution would cost something. The professor says already a tract of farming land six miles has been made sterile, and the timber over a tract 1500 miles has been destroyed—all because of the refusal of the smeltermen to obey the law enacted in protection of the agricultural interests of the state. And, moreover, the area of desolation is being steadily extended, so that there is no telling where the damage will stop. The agriculturists and stockmen are up in arms, both sides have large sums of money with which to make the fight, and the main battle will be on about Oct. 1.

Prof. Jones says there is as much sulphurous smoke and chemical fumes pouring out of the great stack comes from the volcano of Colima, down on the west coast of Mexico, and he has been there, and knows what it is. He says the smeltermen will be made to see that they have no right to ruin whole areas of valuable country with their fumes when by the adoption of means easily within their reach, all this trouble could be avoided.

UINAH AND OURAY SCHOOLS COMBINED

(Special to the "News.")

Washington, D. C., Sept. 2.—It was announced today at the Indian bureau that a consolidation of Uinah and Ouray Indian boarding schools had been effected. The Ouray school being merged with the Uinah school. The Uinah boarding school is to be enlarged and greatly improved along modern lines to meet the necessities for the education of Indian children on the Uinah reservation. This change has been made by Commissioner of Indian Affairs Leupp, because he thinks better results may be obtained through consolidation. This merger, it is thought, will greatly improve the efficiency of the service and result in a great saving to the government.

Charles M. Waddell has been appointed superintendent of the combined schools.

BISHOP WILLIAM H. MAUGHAN.

Bishop Maughan was born in Alston, Cumberlandshire, England, on May 7, 1834, and passed in that village the first six years of his life. At the end of that period, with his father and the rest of his family, he crossed the sea in the sailing vessel Rochester, leaving Liverpool on April 21, 1841, and arriving in New York over two months later. From that port he proceeded to Kirktland, remaining in the famous temple city for seven weeks, when he journeyed on to Nauvoo. Here he sojournd till the spring of 1843. While in that beautiful city he had the inestimable privilege and blessing of gaining the countenance of the Prophet Joseph Smith and of listening to his inspired utterances. To quote the language of the deceased Bishop at a recent family gathering, in referring to this experience, he said: "The impression left upon my youthful mind no lapse of time can ever efface. I have heard his voice. I have seen his face literally shine from within and illumine the countenance of the Holy Spirit, and I testify to you that he was in very deed, a Prophet of the true and living God."

His father being called by the Prophet to go to Rock Island to explore for coal with which to supply the City of Nauvoo, young William accompanied him. They remained at Rock Island for over a year, and returning to Nauvoo, left that city for New Digeling, Wis., arriving there on April 15, 1846, and remaining till April 17, 1846. During this period, his father with his elder brother John, and himself, were successful in accumulating enough means to purchase an outfit with which to travel to Salt Lake City, at which place they eventually arrived on Sept. 17, 1846. They were met by President Brigham Young to locate in Tooele (now Tooele city) and were among the first pioneers of that place. On Christmas day, 1853, William was married to Barbara Morgan, daughter of Morgan Morgan and his wife, Cecilia. The ceremony being performed by Bishop John Taylor. In 1854 he removed to E. T. City.

In July, 1858, under instructions from President Young, in company with his father, Morgan Morgan, George W. Bryan, John Tate and Zai Riese, he proceeded to Cache valley, for the purpose of exploring it, and investigating its adaptability for agricultural purposes. After doing so, they returned to Tooele, and winding up business affairs there, came with their families to Cache valley, arriving on the site of Wellsville, which they named Maughan's Fort, on Sept. 15, 1858, there being the first colony settling in Cache valley for agricultural purposes. Here, for the next few years they had to undergo all those adventures and privations incident to pioneer life.

Brs. Maughan was ordained a Deacon by Bishop John Rowberry in 1861, and an Elder by Doctor Sprague in June, 1864. She was ordained a High Priest and set apart as Bishop of the Wellsville ward under the hands of Apostles Orson Hyde and Ezra T. Benson on Nov. 12, 1865. This office she held until her death. In April, 1900, on June 25, of the present year, she was ordained and set apart as Patriarch under the hands of President Francis Marion Lyman and President W. C. Parkinson and C. W. Nibley. This ceremony was performed in the deceased brother's sick chamber. Elder Lyman making a special trip for this purpose.

In May, 1875, he responded to a call to perform a mission to Great Britain where he labored successfully in the Sheffield and Birmingham conferences, being called by President Jos. F. Smith to preside over the latter conference, which position he filled till July, 1878, when he was honorably released to

MRS. RALEIGH MAKES STATEMENT

Editors Deeret Evening News.—I read in your issue of Aug. 5, 1905, an article purporting to be the facts in the case of Emily P. Raleigh versus the Mutual Investment company. Your paper has been very much misinformed, and I am hoping in fairness to me, you will insert the following:

Passing over the first part of your article, which is entirely untrue, I will come to the facts of the case. Referring to the houses of which I have only a life interest and which I have never accepted, you say: "has a rental of $12.00 a month. Allow me to state that the houses in question are very old and very much out of repair, now if I am forced out of my home, I must occupy one of these cottages, and the other two bring in a rental of $22 when occupied. One renting for $10 and the other for $12. These houses are in the rear. Out of this the taxes must be paid and the necessary repairs made which amounts to considerable on account of their dilapidated condition. In regard to my cash allowance of $25 per month, during Mr. Raleigh's life my allowance was from $40 to $50 a month, but after his death it was always considered a part of my allowance. In his will he left it to the discretion of the administrators as to the amount of the allowance, whether to increase or decrease said allowance. They immediately decreased it to $25 dollars per month. From May 1901, to Sept. 1902, they paid me $25. From this date to Sept. 13, 1904, I received just $25 during the year and nothing was paid for my unfortunate son during this year, whose monthly allowance should have been $16. From this date, Sept. 13, 1904, to the present time, I have received for my son $112.40 and for myself $224.80. You say, "years, and my allowance would average about $4 a month during the last two years, and my allowance would average about $9 a month during the last two years. According to this you will see there is a great discrepancy between the amount you state and the amount I have actually received."

The attorney for the estate has informed me that there is very little left in the estate, and with the extravagant fees of the attorney for the estate, and salary of executors there will be very little further for us to look for from that source. If I am forced out of my home, I still have hope that my appeal will not go unheeded, and that justice will be meted to the widow and her poor afflicted son, and that we will not be driven from the home that I have occupied for 49 years, to face destitution in my old age. For I have no other source of support than this in the name of justice; and for the truth of my statement will refer you to the executors for the estate; also to the tenants in the cottages.

MRS. EMILY P. RALEIGH.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

An interesting announcement to their many friends of this city is that of their marriage on Thursday of Miss Helen Boyer, the accomplished daughter of Mrs. Sarah Boyer of Springfield, and Mr. William Rash of this city, the young couple being united at the home of the bride's cousin, Mrs. Lillian Gleason, 247 south Second West, at noon, with Rev. W. M. Pinkerton, who is a warm personal friend of the groom, performing the ceremony prior to his departure for the east. Mr. and Mrs. Rash will make their home in this city, where Mr. Rash conducts a large wholesale business. They will receive the congratulations of their many friends.

A pretty wedding of yesterday was that of Miss Ruby Williams and Mr. Charles D. Owen, which took place at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. W. M. Paden officiating. The rooms were handsomely decorated and about 60 guests were present. The bride wore a beautiful gown of white silk with trimmings of real lace. She was attended by Miss Para Dalton, who was given in marriage by Mr. W. M. Paden. Misses Ruth Shields and Ruth and Hazel Clark acted respectively as ribbon and ring bearers. John Kergen was best man, and a warm personal friend of the bride, and Mrs. Owen will be at home after Sept. 15 at 10 Delmar avenue.

CHICAGO TO NEW YORK.

Continuous Trolley Rides Between Cities Is Now Proposed.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—The Record-Herald today says: "trolley rides from Chicago to New York over two routes, and between Chicago and Cincinnati are among the transportation probabilities of the near future. William S. Reed, a builder of railroads, who has an office in the First National bank, has organized a syndicate which has purchased the Chicago Electric Traction company and has organized two other companies which will complete the gaps which now bar a continuous ride on electric roads between the cities named."

Mr. Reed claims that these transportation routes will be made possible by next June, and that the travel may go from Chicago to New York by way of Buffalo and then through New York state or may branch off at Cleveland and take a long distance airing through Pennsylvania and so on to the metropolis.

The Chicago Electric Traction company, which is now in the hands of a receiver in Judge Kohlsaat's court, is to be taken out of litigation and will then be absorbed by the Chicago and Southern Traction company, a new Indiana corporation, which is capitalized for $2,000,000. This will be increased to $4,000,000. The latter company is to construct a line from Harvey to Kankakee, a distance of 35 miles.

Other lines then will take up the connection, completing the route between Chicago and New York.

Ogden Man Alleged to Have Sold Mutton On the Train.

(Special to the "News.")

Rawlins, Wyo., Sept. 2.—Frank O. Wheeler of Ogden has been arrested at Hanna for the theft of three sheep from a car on a train there a few days ago. He was in charge of a shipment of horses being shipped east, and was approached by three Greek laborers, who wished to buy three sheep from a car in the train. Wheeler told them he owned the sheep and would sell them some for $5 per head, and three head were taken out of the car and the Greeks paid him $5.
