

BREVITIES.

It is proposed to make Alaska a penal settlement.

New York still thinks of an iron tunnel to Brooklyn.

Cheap religion is announced in New York. That is it isn't worth much.

New York has sold an eight thousand dollar diamond to Boston.

The Queen of Prussia has crowned Mlle Nilsson with a golden coronet.

A tumble of three hundred feet down a shaft killed two men in an English colliery.

A New York paper says of a famous singer, that "she sings a few airs and puts on a good many."

The Lowell Courier thinks the tune, when the morning stars sang together, must have been common meteor.

The man that forgets a great deal that has happened, has a better memory than he who remembers a great deal that never happened.

The sale of a very pretty Coolie girl in Texas excites the Tribune's attention. She was sold as English girls were to planters in old times, to pay her passage.

Philadelphia turns out four million dollars' worth of shoes annually, and claims that the ladies' shoes manufactured there are the best in America.

There is an eagle's nest in a tree on the shore of the Mattawunkeag Lake in Maine, which has continued there ever since the country was visited by white men.

The editor of a Western Democratic paper says: "To the many inquisitive friends who want to know how far we are going up Salt River, we make this general reply, Yuba Dam."

He who would pass the declining years of his life with honor and comfort, should when young, consider that he may one day become old, and remember when he is old that he has once been young.

The Western music World says: "One evening at a social gathering, a young lady played a piece of music consisting of twenty-four pages. A gentleman referring to it next day, said, they were favored with music by the quire."

During an election campaign in Ohio, on one occasion, it is said, some benches gave way at a mass meeting, whereupon a lady stood up and said: "Let nobody be killed but women, for they can't vote!"

If cranberries are dried a short time in the sun and placed in bottles filled with them, and then closed with sealing wax, the berries will keep in good condition for several years.

A London magistrate has humanely decided that any householder feeding or otherwise encouraging a street musician to the annoyance of any other person, is liable to the same extent of fine as the musician himself.

A native Boston youth accosted a boy of decided African lineage a few days since, and asked the sable boy why he had so short a nose.

The reply was, "I suspect's so it won't poke itself into other people's business."

The Hon. William Everhart, who died in Pennsylvania recently, was once wrecked on the coast of Ireland, and required the kindness shown him on that occasion by sending over, at his own expense, a cargo of provisions during the famine of 1847.

In England it has been decided that the title of Esquire belongs to no one who does not bear a civil commission signed by the Queen. Esquires can only be drawn as grand jurors, while "gentlemen" are subject to be drawn as petty jurors.

"I say, boy, stop that ox."
"I haven't got a stopper, sir."
"Well, head him, then."
"He's already headed, sir."
"Confound your impertinence—turn him!"

"He's right side out, already, sir."
"Speak to him, you rascal."
"Good morning, Mr. Ox."

It is a well known fact that no manure is more eagerly sought for by the florist than the leaf manure. It enters largely into the compost prepared for potting. Leaves collected and mixed with barnyard manure, greatly enhance its value. Therefore gather up the leaves that nothing may be lost.

The Xenia Torchlight says of the Rev. Granville Moody: "He may be supposed to have inherited the temperament of an old-fashioned camp-meeting, and got it mixed up in his blood with a modern torchlight procession. Where he is, there must be wind, and thunder, and volcanic eruptions, and earthquakes, and the ground tore up by the roots."

A Rev. Mr. Bently, of Omaha, has been amusing the members of the Young Men's Christian Association of St. Louis, by the announcement that he was "from a far off and wicked land—a land of moral darkness so dense that the light of Christ's grace can glimmer there only occasionally," which contains twenty thousand "Christ hating people, with few exceptions."

The "Italian nestle" is a new disease that is said to be more popular than the Greenland bend. A contemporary thus describes it: "It usually attacks young people—and always in couples. The symptoms are: a drooping of the head of the young lady till it rests on the shoulder of the gentleman, and his mustache sweeps her forehead, and his arms encircle her waist. It usually comes on in the cars, on the steamboats, and in other public places; and its said by those who have tried it to be very nice."
