EDITORIAL NOTES.
The Ballot Box says "Woman has purified literature whenever she has touched it from the time of Christine of Pisa to the present day." Just so; Victoria C. Woodhull for instance.

The Paris Exhibition—of 1877, not of 1878—had a curious incident connected with a monster Grayeese cheese, shown in the Swiss Department. A story of this incident, by Maud Christian, has been verified for St. Nicholas by J. T. Crowbridge, and L. Hopkins, the artist, has made half a dozen funny drawings to illustrate it. The poem is to occupy the place of honor at the beginning of the August St. Nicholas, and one of the pictures, a large one, is to be the frontpiece of the same number.

"Women of the Scriptures" is the title of a neat pamphlet of twenty-four pages, by Mrs. Hannah T. King, with whose poetical effusions most of the people of Utah are familiar. It consists of brief, prose sketches of the lives of prominent scriptural heroines, and is addressed particularly to the young ladies of this Territory. The object of the pamphlet is denoted in its motto, "Woman know thyself," and the desire of the authoress is to promote emulation in the minds of her sex for the virtues and sacrifices of the holy women of old. Copies can be obtained, for ten cents, at Dwyers and the Exponent office.

What a red rag is to an enraged bovine, a yellow flag is to a patriotic Irishman on the 13th of July. By reference to our dispatches it will be seen that the Montreal Orangemen did not parade as expected, but peace did not altogether prevail between the rival colors, the Orange and the Green. It is strange that on coming to a new country and under new laws and regulations, the factious and strife every year on "the cold day," cannot lay down the insignia which have no significance on the soil of Columbia, and with them the accompanying spirit of animosity and fratricide.

Schuyler Colfax delivered a remarkable fourth of July oration at Pottsville, Iowa. Almost the entire oration was devoted to a glowing denunciation of Mormonism and polygamy. This is clipped from the Omaha See. The extinguished statesman and played-out politician was merely endeavoring to carry out his threat of "getting even" with the "Mormons." He became very angry over some remarks of the Exponent, which he called a "Mormon" organ, and in his lecture he uttered some puerile threats of what he would do against the whole community, in revenge. He will only succeed in lowering himself still further, if that is possible, in the estimation of the American public, and his vile harangue, on a day when good feeling and union should abound, has already caused much severe comment in journals of influence. Let the poor man rave.

A SAMPLE OF "LIBERAL" FRUITS.
THE "liberals" of Tooele County who captured the political pot through fraudulent voting and the errors of their opponents, have sickened to nausea over one of their own creations. They advanced to the front a person of small calibre but extensive impudence, and made him a Justice of the Peace, and also County Superintendent of District Schools, for neither of which positions he was fitted by nature or education.

Quite recently he was convicted in the Third District Court, of obtaining money under false pretenses. He victimized a number of Salt Lake tradesmen, and although the jury on the trial of the first case presented against him found a verdict of "not guilty," to the astonishment of the court, the spectators, the prosecution and his own counsel, he was convicted on the second case but sentence was suspended.

His former supporters are now anxious to repudiate him in the most positive and public manner, which shows their good sense and right feeling. They declare him to be "a standing disgrace, unfit to be tolerated as a citizen, to say nothing of being entrusted with public interests."

With fraud at the polls, what wonder that the career of one of its main supporters and candidates should wind up in the penitentiary? Vigilance, determination, united effort and strict compliance with and enforcement of the law, will put the power where it belongs, and deliver that section of country from the control of the minority, and the rule which has worked so much injury to the people while it has covered itself with disgrace and ignominy. We hope to be able next August to record Tooele again among its sister counties, all in their proper place under the banner of the People's Party of Utah.

A "SPIRITUAL" ERROR.
We are in receipt of An Address to the Clergy, issued by some members of the New Jerusalem church, "concerning the second coming of the Lord Jesus Christ and the writings of Emanuel Swedenborg in connection therewith." The main object of the address is to direct the attention of the public to the doctrines of Swedenborg. The point projected, on which to hang the rest of the address is a "spiritual" explanation of the Second Advent.

After referring to the indications of the opening of a new dispensation of divine truth, and the wonderful changes which are taking place in every department of human knowledge and in the views and feelings of men, the intimation is given that Christian teachers are "looking amiss for the coming of the Lord," that is, plainly spoken, all are wrong who expect the literal re-appearance on earth of the Lord Jesus Christ.

According to this address, Jesus is to come in the clouds of heaven, but the clouds mean "the letter of His holy word," and His coming signifies the revelation of the internal or spiritual sense of the scriptures as made known to Emanuel Swedenborg.

To us, and we think to all people who pay any respect to the evident meaning of plain language, this is an explanation at all, but merely a fantastic method of denying the second coming of Christ altogether. It is argued that at His first coming he did not appear as the Jews expected Him, that is true, and in all probability He will not appear at His second advent as Christians appear to expect Him. But His first coming was actual, visible, real. The predictions concerning Him were not fulfilled in a figurative, symbolical, mythical sense. We may therefore reasonably conclude that the promises concerning His second coming will be literally fulfilled.

In regard to the manner of His coming "the second time with his saints and salvation," the angels who spoke to the disciples on the Mount of Olives went up bodily in a cloud, gave all the explanation that is necessary to persons with common understanding. They said:

"Ye men of Galilee, why stand ye gazing up into heaven? This same Jesus which is taken up from you into heaven, shall so come in like manner as ye have seen him go into heaven." Acts I. 11.

Jesus did not go up "in the clouds of the letter of His Holy Word," therefore he will not come into them at His second advent. He went up bodily, in the presence of those who were watching Him; therefore he will come again bodily "to those who look for His appearing."

We have not space at command to-day to enter into this matter more fully, but we testify to the writers of the Address and to all the world, that Jesus, who died on Calvary's Mount will come again in such a manner as has been predicted by the holy prophets concerning Him, and will be accompanied by the whole of the human race.

BRITISH AMERICA.
The Orange Anniversary—Great Celebration—Military Preparations.
MONTREAL, 12.—Since eight o'clock the city has been in commotion with crowds of people on the principal streets, and the military marching to the rendezvous on the Champ de Mars. The first blow struck in the impending conflict was by one of the Mayor's special constables, who deliberately assaulted, with his baton, a handman of the Prince of Wales Rifles, named William Sharp, at the corner of Jacques Cartier Square and Notre Dame Street, without any provocation, as the regiment was proceeding to the point of rendezvous. The special constable arrested Sharp, and the whole military force, consisting of artillery regiments, one corps of artillery and a troop of cavalry, were drawn up on the Champ de Mars, under Col. Fletcher, waiting the arrival of the Prince of Wales Rifles, and the officer in command expressed his fullest confidence in the men doing their duty loyally and well.

The police are collected at the city hall, where the special constables are assembled, with white ribbons as badges, and clubs in their hands. They are a despicable looking lot and the police sergeant says the majority are jail birds. The utmost fear prevails that they are a dangerous gang who will commit excesses if they have a chance. The police are in charge of the Mayor, and the special constables under deputy chief Neigle.

The Orangemen are determined to force a march on the city hall, and the police are determined to prevent it. The procession will not be large, but their sympathizers in the streets are many. A riot is expected between Orange Hall and Victoria Square, where the dangerous element is collecting in masses.

The chief of police, with 60 men, searched the passengers in the steamer from Quebec, for arms, but found none. Some four or five hundred men on board a steamer named Brennan, from Three Rivers, arrived at the railway depot with a loaded seven shooter on his person. He was looked up.

It is reported that a store of arms, concealed in a house in Craig Street, where an Irish Catholic club meets, has been discovered. At 8:30 the military marched from the various points where they will be stationed during the day. Some excitement was created by an alarm of fire, but it turned out to be only a chimney.

The Orangemen are marching around their hall, and it looks as if the procession would be larger than anticipated. A detachment of police are stationed around the entrance to the hall.

At 10 o'clock, the arms alluded to in the previous dispatch were found in Union Hall, Craig Street. There were fifty stand.

The police and special constables, the former under chief Neigle, and the latter under Sergeant Parolais, are massed between the Place de Armes and St. Lambert's Hall. On St. James Street, which is kept clear at either end, are massed dense crowds of the Catholic party chiefly St. Jean the Baptiste's and certain village confreres. They are dreadfully excited, and every man with an Orange emblem on his way to the hall, is pursued.

The mayor has an interview with the Orangemen and tried to persuade them not to walk, but they would not listen to his counsel. The procession will start about 10:30. A young man wearing an Orange lily, was attacked by two special constables, and struck across the head. This attack was applauded by the whole body of constables.

At 11:30 o'clock, the Orangemen have just decided not to walk, and the police will escort them to their homes. An attack was made on an Orangeman on Craig Street, but he was quickly rescued and did not receive much injury.

The Orangemen gave up their procession in the face of receiving protection from the authorities. They stipulated with the mayor that he should disperse the whole of the Catholic party, and place a guard in the hall, to-night, to protect it. Rev. Mr. Drude is now preaching to a large congregation in Stanley Street Church.

FOREIGN.
GREAT BRITAIN.
Amnesty to Immigrant Native.
LONDON, 12.—A Cape Town dispatch says: The premier has informed the assembly that government would issue, almost immediately, a general amnesty to the immigrant natives, excepting only a few leaders.

The Anglo-Albanians.
A dispatch from Berlin states that the treaty of alliance between Great Britain and Turkey was confidentially communicated to the powers shortly before its promulgation.

Various special telegrams from Paris represent the excitement there at awaiting and it will be very short lived.

The correspondent affirms that England has given France satisfactory explanations.

Watching Greece.
A Constantinople dispatch says: Two large ironclads and a corvette are being prepared to proceed to the Straits to watch the movements of the appearance of Greek brigands.

Raising Obstacles.
The Turks are raising all kinds of obstacles in the way of the evacuation of Varna and Shumla.

What England Pays for Cyprus.
An official statement, announcing the conclusion of the Anglo-Turkish alliance, is published in Constantinople. The statement says: England has engaged to pay the Porte 500,000 pounds yearly, whereas the present revenue of Cyprus is only 100,000 pounds per annum.

Congress Proceedings.
The congress at yesterday's sitting, resolved that an urgent recommendation, virtually amounting to a demand, should be made to the Sultan to institute a national financial congress to guard the rights of holders of Turkish bonds and to regulate finances. It is also decided that a committee should immediately proceed to investigate the disorders in Rhodes district. It is thought that the congress, if it has not already done so, will insert in the treaty of commerce and not only in the protocol, a clause obliging Greece, Turkey and the other powers to take the Greek claims into serious and immediate consideration.

A Berlin correspondent denies, on authority, the report that the cabinet at Constantinople decided to ignore these claims. A clause concerning Greece, Turkey and the other powers to take the Greek claims into serious and immediate consideration.

It is reported that Serbia and Rumania have been exempted from the payment of arrears of their tribute to the Porte. The tributes henceforth cease.

The Cyprus Treaty.—The French Senate.—The English Liberal Medical Meeting.
From what may be gathered from abroad there seems to be no really serious dissatisfaction at the step England has taken regarding Turkey. The scars in France about Cyprus is stated to be by no means so great among the general public as among professional politicians.

The Republic's French continues watchful, suggesting that the French plenipotentiary should protest, but the more reflecting opinion, like the Journal des Debats and the Revue, deprecate any indulgence in irritation against England.
