The Campaign Cry of the Salt Lake Real Estate Association for 1905.

The Salt Lake City Real Estate association, having completed its first full year as an association, wishes to thank the public, and especially the business men and the newspapers of the city. for their generous support and words of encouragement, and the association feels that it is due the public that a statement of the finances and work done the past year should be published, and for that reason issue the statement herein.

herein. We feel that Salt Lake offers the greatest advantages just at this time of any western city. The completion of the new railroad to Los Angeles, the probabilities of other roads being ex-tended to our city in the near future, the grand returns from our mines, the largest smelting industry of this coun-try in our midst, the opening of Uintah reservation adding greatly to the popu-lation of our state, the millions to be lation of our state, the millions to be expended by our government in making our valleys more productive, all these advantages should awaken the zeal and encourage the confidence of the citizens in the future of our city and state. It is impossible that we are our worst enemies. Members of the asour worst enemies. Members of the as-sociation have been told so by strangers visiting our state who have been quick to see the possibilities existing here. We ask each and every clitzen to boost for Salt Lake City. Let not periods of depression dampen your ardor, but be ever ready to say a good word and boost for your city. No stranger will locate in a city where its clitzens cannot speak for its future. ### THEY LIVE HIGH.

Creatore's Musicians Prodigal Both in Diet and Sleeping Cars.

Creators's band travels in economical style par excellence. The musicians occupy two chair cars, sitting up all night, instead of going to be between places of engagement. The menu of their frugal re-parts includes such emphatic delleacies as Limburger and Schweiterkase, bologna and Weinerwurst, onions and garile, with mahogany bread and pretzels. It is said that the atmosphere is so thick after one of these impromptu gustatorial rehears-als that train hands have been carried from these cars in a suffocating condi-tion on attempting to pass through them, while the conductor wears a respirator and takes a draft of ammonia each time he goes through the train. At the end of every division, the Italian musicians are routed out onto the station platform, while the singineer turns a steam blast loose through their cars. It is reported that the superladen atmosphere from the cars spreads over all the depot grounds, and is efficacious in driving all the chair warmers and loafers in the depot from the premises of the railroad company, so pungent are the odors. instead of going to bed between places of
