COLUMBIA, S. C., 8.—The State Democratic Executive Committee issued an address denouncing Gov. Chamberlain's recent proclamation as unwarranted by law or facts, and as issued to furnish a pretext for asking for troops. In response to a letter from Gen. Hampton, Chief Justice Moses says: He knows nothing to lead him to conclude that South Carolina is an armed camp or that any army is needed. Associate Justice Willard, and Judges Mackey and Cook, republicans, have written letters denying the knowledge of the statements in the proclamation. Mackey charges Chamberlain with conspiracy against the free ballot.

SAN FRANCISCO, 8.—The centennial anniversary of the founding of the Mission Dolores, of San Francisco, was celebrated to-day, with much spirit.

Beekeepers' Meeting.

SALT LAKE CITY,
October 7, 1876.

Editor Deseret News:

The beekeepers held a meeting in the Council House, October 7th, 1876.

The meeting was called to order by Vice-President John Morgan, and opened in the usual manner. Geo. B. Bailey was requested to act as secretary.

The Vice-President stated that the object of this meeting was to report the progress in bee culture, and to exchange ideas, for the benefit and improvement of ourselves in our apiaries.

The question was asked, What was foul brood, and how it could be detected in the hive?

J. Morgan explained that it was of a darker color, the caps over the brood were sunken or indented, instead of being full and round, and emitted an obnoxious smell. He urged upon all bee tenders to urge upon the owners of bees where this foul disease made its appearance, to destroy them, for it was the experience of apiarians east and west that it could not be cured.

Ed. Stevenson stated that his bees had done very well, that from twenty-seven hives in the spring he had increased to fifty-four, and had taken one ton of honey. He recommended to keep our swarms strong in numbers.

Sam. McKay said that he had only one case of foul brood, and that he destroyed it. The bees had not gathered much honey in the city this summer, therefore he had not taken much.

J. E. Malain stated that his bees had not done much this season, compared with others, and had no foul brood.

A bee-keeper from Payson, Utah County, gave a good report of bees in that locality.

H. Drake stated his experience and thought the bees had not gathered enough honey this fall to supply their own wants.

J. Barlow said that in Davis Co. bees had done remarkably well this season, and that bee culture, with good attention, would pay and was profitable, but he had sadly neglected his own. He had had some foul brood, but had destroyed it.

President A. M. Musser stated that he had been detained on particular business, but was glad to meet with the beekeepers, for it was an important branch of home industry, and he hoped to see the day when Utah would be able to export honey. He gave some other good instructions to the beekeepers.

Geo. B. Bailey stated that he had been called upon to attend bees infected with foul brood, and that he had worked with it for five years. Some he had cured and some he had destroyed. The disease made its appearance in his apiary last Spring. He had changed the bees from the hive infected, into a clean and new hive, and they had gone to work and built new combs, and he had no symptoms of the disease in those hives at the present time. He said that the honey extractor was not the cause of foul brood. He had used the machine with many different persons' bees and their bees were in good condition and healthy. Bees had not done as well this season as they did last. This season he had taken 1,600 lbs. of honey, and last year he had 2,500 lbs., showing a decrease of more than one-third.

Samuel McKay was elected a vice-president, Geo. B. Bailey, Secretary and C. Denney, Assistant Secretary.

Adjourned sine die.
