AT THE GRAVE.

The Dead Commander's Remains Laid Low in the Earth.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—When the formation of troops was completed at the grave, eight stalwart sargeants of artillery lifted the casket from the caisson and bore it with slow and careful steps down to the mouth of the open grave, placing it upon rods ready to be lowered to its resting place when the ground should have been consecrated by the priests. After a moment of reverend silence the clear voice of the bishop-elect was heard uttering the words of the blessing "Deus Cujus Miserationæ," etc. "O! God, by whose mercy the souls of the faithful find rest, deign to bless this grave and send Thy holy angels to guard it, and loose from all the bonds of sin those whose bodies are herein interred, that they may ever rejoice in Thee with Thy saints, through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen."

With a sprig of fir plucked from a neighboring branch the holy water was sprinkled over the grave and the casket was lowered by the sargeants. The regular burial service, beginning with the canticle of Zachary, or benedictus, and ending with the chanting of the de profundis by the choir of dominican priests, brought the religious features of the obsequies to an end. The priests stood aside and remained in a group near the head of the grave and every breath was hushed while the widow came a step forward and for one brief moment looked upon the casket which held her beloved dead. As she turned away, the other mourners in a body paid their and then at a signal the artillery fired a salute of seventeen guns and the Loyal Legion moved up in line and looked in upon the still uncovered casket and then filed away. The great hollow square contained but one figure, that of a stalwart cavalry bugler, who stood at ease facing the eastward, his bugle under his arm, at the head of the grave. There was a hoarse command at the left of the line, echoed, and passed on down the line of infantry a rattle of steel, a moment of expectation, then a simultaneous flash and roar of 500 muskets. Again and again the volley was repeated. Then the bugler came to attention, raised his bugle to his lips, blew the taps as a signal for "lights out," the military equivalent for good night.

The tones were low, mellow and tremulous at the start, but each succeeding phrase swelled, clear and shrill and commanding, making tardy echoes from the surrounding banks of foliage, which came back to blend again with the long drawn wail to the end. At last the echoes died away, and just as shadows of a towering buckeye fell across and covered the grave, as with a pall, the groups of the living turned silently homeward and left the dead to his solitude.

THE BURIAL SITE.

The grave is a few rods distant from the Lee Mansion, a little to the front and south of it, and just beyond the brow of the grassy slope that pitches somewhat eastward toward the river. A dozen acres of close shaven green sward, dotted here and there with wide spreading oaks and maples, and lower down fringed with an irregular row of evergreen trees, surround the spot. Above and at either hand stands a maple and a buckeye, but in front and citywards naught obstructs the view. It is a rare picture of farm and city, of river, grove and garden diversified and glorified with such a panorama of stately public architecture as no other spot on the continent commands. Back of the grave and upon the most commanding spot of the Virginia side stands the Lee mansion, now the office and headquarters of the National Cemetery, the mammoth pillars of its portico gleaming from their background of living green, forming the most conspicuous feature of the Virginia landscape as seen from the city. No other grave than that of Sheridan is in front of the mansion. As he was alone in the exalted rank in which he died so fittingly, he lies alone in front of that army of dead heroes who find a resting place at Arlington.

OUTWARD SIGNS OF GRIEF.

BOSTON, Aug. 11.—Flags were at half mast on all the public buildings today. The suspension of business in the executive and military departments at the State House, and the booming of cannon, were the outward signs of Boston's respect for the memory of Gen. Sheridan. Guns were fired at half hour intervals, from sunrise until 10 a. m., and then every minute for an hour, as well during the funeral ceremonies at Washington. At sunset there was a national salute.

AT WEST POINT.

WEST POINT, Aug. 11. — Solemn requiem mass was celebrated in the Soldier's Chapel at West Point at 10 o'clock this morning by Rev. Edward McGinty.

MINNESOTA'S TRIBUTE.

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 11.—The Sheridan memorial services here this afternoon included a street parade, followed by addresses by Commander-in-chief Rose, of the G. A. R., and Rev. R. W. McKaeg, D. D. The Grand Army men and the regular troops from Fort Snelling participated in the parade.

AT SHERIDAN'S HOME.

NEW BEDFORD, Aug. 11.—This morning Col. Sheridan, with the four children of General Sheridan—Mary, Irene, Louis and little Phil—drove to this city from Nonquitt and went to the Parker House, where they were met by Edwd. Dewes, B. Reniman and Dr. John H. Mackie, representing the Loyal Legion. The party proceeded to the St. Lawrence Catholic Church, where mass was celebrated at 10 a.m. by Rev. Hugh J. Smith, the pastor, assisted by Rev. James J. Brady, of St. Lawrence, as deacon, Rev. James J. Flood, of New York, as sub-deacon, and Rev. Thos. Daly, of St. Lawrence Church, as master of ceremonies.

Pushing the Railway.

SEATTLE, W. T., Aug. 11.—Contracts were let today by the Seattle, Lake Shore and Eastern Railway to the Moss Bay Iron and Steel Company of America for 30,000 tons of steel rails, delivery to commence next July. The works of the Moss Bay Company are now in process of construction on Lake Washington, five miles from this city, and will be the largest west of the Mississippi. Their iron supply is in Mequalmio Pass, about thirty miles from the works.

The articles of incorpertion of the Seattle & Southern Railroad Company were filed here today. The capital stock is $7,000,000. The object is to build a line between this city and Portland, Oregon. It is understood that this is a branch of the Southern Pacific Company. Work will begin at once. The termination of the road will be West Seattle.

CRIMES AND DISASTERS.

Killed in a Quarrel over $20—Maxwell's Last Message.

GALVESTON, Aug. 11.—This afternoon John Lovejoy, a prominent attorney, shot and instantly killed Aaron Williamson. The difficulty originated over an election bet of $20 owed Williamson by Lovejoy since the fall of 1886.

ANOTHER "Q" RIOT.

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—A special from Lincoln, Nebraska, says: "The old Burlington trouble broke out here anew today in the shape of a small riot. An excursion train of thirty cars left Omaha via the Union Pacific road for this place, carrying several hundred people who attended a picnic. It was decided by the railroad officials to return the trains over the Burlington tracks, and to this end it was switched on the main line. At once the Brotherhood men and adherents appeared on the scene and insisted that the train should not pass over the line selected. A wholesale fight ensued. Revolvers were drawn and several dozen shots fired. One man was shot through the thigh and another had his ankle shot. The train left on the Union Pacific tracks at 9 p. m. No arrests have been made, and it is not known who the wounded men were.

MAXWELL'S FAREWELL LETTER.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 11.—Maxwell's farewell letter to his mother and sister came to light today. It is as follows:

My Darling Mother and Sister: I cannot part with you without again bidding you farewell. I have tried again and again to write you, but my heart was too full of love for you to allow me to express my thoughts; and even now I am only able to do so partially. It is a severe blow both to you and to me and the only consolation we can have is the fact that it is the will of the Almighty and for His own wise purposes. He sees it to be the best. Father Tihan will call and see you. He spent the greater part of the night with me and gave me the greatest consolation. Now, darling mother and sister, try to bear up as well as you can. Remember that the parting is only for a short time and that I am merely gone before and hope to meet you all hereafter where the wicked cease from troubling and the weary are at rest. God bless and preserve you is the final prayer of your loving son and brother.

P. S.—Give fondest love to father, George, Aunt Jane and all my relatives.

H. M. B.

Mrs. Brooks and daughter have not fully determined when they will embark for home. It is not provable that the remains of Maxwell will be taken to England but it is thought they will be interred in Calvery Cemetery.

SHOT HIS LOVE AND HIMSELF.

HARTFORD, Ct., Aug. 11.—At Plainville, twelve miles west of this city, this afternoon, George Bradly, aged 23, shot his sweetheart, Lillie Pated, aged 17, and then shot himself. Both will die.

The Nicaraguan Enterprise.

SAN JOSE, Aug. 11.—The Costa Rica contract negotiated at Washington by Señor Pedro Pavez Zeildon, special envoy of Costa Rica, and Hiram Hitchcock, president of the Nicaragua Canal association of New York, having after some verbal changes received the approval of the executive and the state department of Costa Rica, and been accepted as modified by A. G. Menscal on behalf of the Canal Association, was yesterday ratified by Congress and signed by the President of Costa Rica. The concession is similar to the Nicaraguan concession. Already private capital is moving for the construction of a railroad from Port Simeon by the San Jose route to the southern shores of Lake Nicaragua or to the line of the canal in upper San Juan River.

THE EUROPEAN QUESTION.

Comments on Salisbury's Speech—Russia Still Aggressive.

BERLIN, August 11.—The most discussed event of the week was Lord Salisbury's speech at the Lord Mayor's banquet in London. The despondent tone of the speech was construed as confirming the National Zeitung's statement that Prince Bismarck believed the meeting between Emperor William and the Czar would result in a long period of peace, and the only portion of Salisbury's speech that is thought to be open to criticism is his reference to Bulgaria.

Advices from St. Petersburg today in no way tend to confirm the Prime Minister's optimistic remarks. On the other hand, it is stated on reliable authority, that Russia adheres to her original programme of

OUSTING PRINCE FERDINAND,

Excluding Prince Alexander and sending the Russian minister to secure diplomatic relations without interfering with international relations. They will not interfere with a Bulgarian prince whom they think fit, providing he is legally elected and is a member of the orthodox church. As for the rest, the St. Petersburg officials and press are unusually gratified at Lord Salisbury's fairness in recognizing the disinterested character of Russia's reply.

LORD SALISBURY'S SPEECH

met with greater criticism in Vienna than elsewhere, his apparently improved feeling toward Russia being unpalatable to the Austrian Cabinet at Vienna. Austria has no intention to abandon Prince Ferdinand, and continues to favor a settlement to be agreed upon by all the powers.

The Massowah incident is here considered definitely closed by M. Goblet's note of protest.

HERR VON SCHLOSSER,

German representative at the Vatican, who brought a letter from Cardinal Hampolla, the Papal Secretary of State, has had several long interviews with Prince Bismarck during the week. There are rumors that as results of these conferences they have caused a hesitancy in completing the plans for the Kaiser's visit to Italy. The Italian government is arranging railway excursions from all parts of Italy in order to bring a large concourse of people, with a view to demonstrations to the royal visitor.

A Deserved Tribute.

BOSTON, Aug. 11.—Nicholas Murphy, a watchman at the wharf for five years past, has during that time saved the lives of 100 persons who have fallen overboard, Today his employers presented him with a gold-headed cane. He had previously received a silver medal from the Massachusetts Humane Society.

The American Party Convention.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Hon S. D Wigginston and J. M. Bassett of California, have arrived as an advance guard of the California delegation to the American party convention. Advices from Boston, Pittsburg, Baltimore and other points west and south indicate that a considerable number can be counted on. In conversation with the delegates a number of men are mentioned for the head of the ticket, among whom are Mayor Hewett of New York, ex-Mayor Low, of Brooklyn, Senators Blair, Stanford, Hearst, Palmer of Michigan, Wade Hampton of South Carolina, Governor Rusk of Wisconsin, Governor Oglesby of Illinois, and General Hensey of Pennsylvania, who seems the most formidable of the candidates. About 800 delegates are expected.

A Bill Becomes Law.

WASHINGTON, August 11. — The river and harbor bill becomes a law without the President's signature. No memorandum is attached, but the President stated this afternoon that while it contained items to which he could not sign, his approval of the great bulk of the work provided for is so important to the best interests of the country that he was unwilling to obstruct it by a veto.

ENGLISH POLITICS.

Chamberlain Makes a Statement by way of Explanation

LONDON, Aug. 12. — Chamberlain's reply to Parnell's recent letter was published this morning. Chamberlain says: I understood that Parnell denied that O'Shea had any authority to represent his views, and that he repudiated all responsibility for the scheme for a national council submitted to me by O'Shea. Chamberlain proceeds to state that the scheme attributed to Parnell and appended to this letter, was the subject of conversation with O'Shea from the end of November, 1884. It was brought to me in writing by O'Shea on January 18, 1885. Parnell's letters prove his authority and also that O'Shea was a confidant exponent of his views at the time. These points, however are not disputed in Parnell's letters to the Times. The correspondence also corroborates Parnell's statement that he did not intend the proposal as a substitute for an Irish parliament. Chamberlain says: "I understand the proposal was offered as an acceptable settlement, though I felt that no statement made even by Parnell, could bind the Irish people in the future; and, though I believed then as now, that a large and safe extension of the local government would remove all practical grievances, the whole subject was fully discussed with my colleagues and was not finally rejected till May 9, 1885. When the new government was formed, I tried to learn whether Parnell adhered to his proposal in the middle of July. O'Shea informed me that in view of the altered state of affairs and Lord Carnarvon's speech, Gladstone doubted the policy of encumbering the Irish question with a larger extension of than to England. The question of the renewal of the crimes act was discussed simultaneously with the foregoing. In the spring of '85, O'Shea brought me Parnell's revised coercion act of '82." Chamberlain says that in subsequent conversations, he told O'Shea he was of the opinion that no government could dispense with some provision against boycotting and intimidation. He understood that if the act was limited to a year Parnell would consent to more stringent provisions, than if extended to three years. I therefore pressed this limit on the other members of the government. I may say, neither at this time nor subsequently has it appeared to me that there was anything in these communications of which Parnell has cause to be ashamed. I believe he was sincerely anxious to see the end of the dangerous agitation that so long had devastated Ireland.

It was with this object that I understood him to propose a compromise of the views between the separatist party and the existing system, and I readily accepted the statements made of his attitude, as entirely consistent with what I knew of it. And I must express my great regret that this difficulty has been rather increased than diminished by the experience of myself and others who have in recent years endeavored to overcome it."

Blaine and Party.

HON. James G. Blaine and family passed a quiet day at Manhattan Beach and at five o'clock the party returned to New York.

Sensational Drowning.

BAR HARBOR, Me., Aug. 12.—There is great excitement here over the supposed drowning of two young society people, and the water in the vicinity is covered with craft of various kinds engaged in searching for some trace of the missing ones. At 9 o'clock last night J. H. Harmon Rodge and Miss Nilliken took a cruise out and around Bar Harbor. The night was intensely dark and, becoming alarmed at their absence, searchers went out at 11 p.m. At an early hour this morning the wharves in the vicinity were crowded with anxious friends who hoped and waited until noon, when a gun from a steam yacht Nonya, belonging to Montgomery Sears, announced that she bore tidings. She had picked up the boat bottom up, off Egg Rock, a distance of three miles from here. Miss Nilliken was a guest at the St. Sanevever, and was chaperoned by Mrs. Vanoorhees. Their parents are residents of New Orleans. Mr. Rodge is the son of Joel Harmann Rodge, one of the wealthy iron foundr, men of Albany, N. Y. The age of both victims is supposed to be about 25 years.

An Attempt to Kill Boulanger.

PARIS, Aug. 13.—While General Boulanger was driving in an open carriage, at St. Jean de Argyle, Prof. Perrin, of the Lycee, fired five shots at him from a revolver. M. Ratapan, a friend of the general, rushed forward and managed to turn the weapon aside. The result was that Ratapan himself received a bullet in the back of the head, but the wound is not serious. Two peasants were also wounded. General Boulanger was not touched. Prof. Perrin is a friend of Mayor Lair, the candidate nominated by the opportunists in opposition to Boulanger. The affair occurred at the heights of a pitched battle between the rival political parties when the Gen'l and arms charged.

Count Dillon received a blow on the head from a stick, and other Boulangists were roughly handled. It is not certain that Perrin intended to aim at Boulanger.

Will Visit America.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 13. — Mr. Lorthrop, U. S. minister to Russia, his family and Baron Huhne, the fiance of Mr. Lorthrop's daughter, have started for America.

Annexation of Cuba.

MADRID, Aug. 12.—The Cuban government reports an agitation being carried on to Cuba with the assistance of influential American politicians in favor of the annexation of Cuba to the United States. The Cuban situation is becoming extremely difficult owing to financial troubles and the increasing agitation in favor of home rule.

Troops to Arizona.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12.—Instructions have been received here from the War Department ordering the transfer of the Second Cavalry, stationed at Fort Whipple, A. T., to Fort Grant, A. T., under [illegible] destination, it is understood, is Arizona, along the line of the Southern Pacific railroad. The purpose is not known, but opinions exist that the orders are issued owing to some trouble which is said to have been caused by the border ruffians and also the Indians in Arizona.

The Crops Prospects.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—The weather crop bulletin for the week ending August 11th, says that excessive rainfall and cold weather in Minnesota and northern Nebraska is retarding the growth of the crops and will delay the harvest. Light frosts occurred in northwestern Minnesota and Michigan on Friday, but no damage is reported. From Kansas, Missouri, and Southern Nebraska the reports indicate that favorable weather during the past week, has generally improved the condition of crops, especially corn.

BRIEF TELEGRAMS.

New York, Aug. 11.—The Republican League reports that 1200 clubs, aggregating 30,000 members, are now formed in this state.

Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 11.—Two new cases of yellow fever the past twenty-four hours, making a total of twelve. One is convalescent, three are seriously ill and two have died.

Boston, Aug. 11.—John L. Sullivan distinguished himself tonight by getting drunk and smashing up a turnout he was driving at Brighton. He was arrested for drunkenness, and bailed.

Durango, Col., Aug. 11.—Two conferences have been held with the Ute chiefs this week, but no satisfactory conclusion was reached. The Indians will not agree to anything until their yearly gratuity money has been paid. The majority are disinclined to vacate the reservation.

Lay the steak, chops, ham or fish on a wire broiler or meat rack, placing it in an ordinary bake pan to catch the drippings.

Allow it to remain in the oven with the door closed 15 or 20 minutes. No turning is required. At the end of this time it will be found nicely cooked ready to serve.

THIS IS THE IDEAL WAY TO BROIL MEATS.

There is no taint of coal-gas or smoke, and the meats are more tender and better in flavor than those broiled over the coal. The convenience of broiling in the oven will be appreciated by every housekeeper, and adds another to the many reasons why the Charter Oak Range or Stove with the Wire Gauze Oven Door should be preferred to all others now in the market.

MATTERS OF INTEREST TO Gardeners and Farmers.

BUY NORTHERN-GROWN SEEDS. WE ARE THE PRODUCERS OF seed sold by us. They are the best in the world. They are the best for all climates. They are earlier, more hardy, vigorous and productive than those grown in lower altitudes. We keep a large stock of fresh seed and believe that we can give you satisfaction. We unhesitatingly affirm that no better seeds than those we deal in CAN BE PROCURED. Bestowing such assiduous care upon them, we feel justified in saying our seeds are UNSURPASSED in purity and quality. We do not pretend to be the "only house in the west selling NORTHERN-GROWN SEEDS," but we do claim that we have the very best seed to be had anywhere; and that has not been all over the country, for several years, in commission boxes, as we do not send out any commission boxes at all, as so many do. Ask your HOME MERCHANT for our Northern-grown Seeds. OUR PRICES are as low as reliable stocks can be sold at and afford a fair remuneration for the expense and labor attending the proper conduct of the business. We ask a trial order from all who have not used our seeds. Write for circulars. Address all correspondence to the UTAH NURSERY CO., General Western Agency, Salt Lake City, Utah.
