

DESERET NEWS.

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY.

COMMUNICATION.—M. D., Sheriff and others are omitted, to make room for the CELEBRATION, of the 24th inst. in commemoration of the ingress of the pioneers to this valley which we publish, so far as our space will permit; and shall give all we can gather, hereafter. We regret that our Reporter was necessarily absent a part of the day, and we fear some of the most interesting items are lost. The day was pleasant, and warm, as usual, at this season. We have heard but one opinion respecting the numbers assembled, and that from a Respectable professional Gentleman from abroad, that there were 15,000 present. We think that rather a large estimate; but, situated as they were, no man could number them, not only from our own state, but travellers from every state if not from every county in the Union, and from almost every Kingdom in Europe, and many other nations, together with Capt. Stansbury, and Lieut. Gunnison, officers of the U. S. circumstances prevented the setting of a public table, and the Saints generally dined at home, inviting the stranger as they had opportunity.

President Young's dinner to his Council, with their ladies, the Patriarchs, U. S. officers, presiding Bishop, Mr. Holladay, and others present, would have been an honor to the oldest State, and most refined city in the nation. The exercises of the day closed about 11 o'clock P. M., with the Grand Concert of the Nauvoo Brass Band, which was attended in the Bowery by at least 1600 people, every one retiring to their homes, with most perfect satisfaction, not a profane oath having been heard, a drunkard seen, a fight exhibited, or the least jar or disturbance, during the day or evening.

Sickness of hands has delayed this No. of the News.
