A flore Brilliant Event Than That Tendered Admiral Dewey - Berlin Expresses Satisfaction.

Chicago, March 3.-The run of Prince Henry's train from St. Louis to Chicago was without incident and the train arrived at 6:30 o'clock, exactly on time. From the station, after he had been formally welcomed by Mayor Harrison and the members of the general reception committee, the prince rode to the Auditorium hotel, through streets packed with a dense multitude, whose cheers compelled the distinguished visitor to bow continually to right and left. The sidewalks were solidly pucked with people,

Every building along the line of route from the station to the Auditorium hotel was gaily decorated with bunting, the prevailing scheme being the American and German flags inter-twined with the black eagle of Prussia over all.

Many of the buildings had upon their fronts elaborate devices made up of hundreds of electric lights. There were "welcomes," by the dozen; there were eagles and flags and there were strings of gay-colored lights almost No hint of the decorations in electric decorations was given to prince until after his carriage had rolled over Jackson boulevard bridge and was descending the gentle slope that leads toward Michigan avenue. Then almost in the same second the lights were turned on and what had been but one second before a lane between dark towering buildings was an avenue of dazzling light. The torch-bearers, who were German veteran soldlers, lit the torches at almost the ame instant and from end to end of the boulevard between the bridge and Michigan avenue, two-thirds of a mile away, there was an instantaneous blaze of red fire from both sides of Mayor Harrison welcomed the prince and party at the station and introduced to the prince the committee of the common council and the members of the general reception committee. The suite of the prince and the members of the reception committee then mingled and introductions followed The mayor and the prince, followed by the others, then passed through the gateway and up the stairs into street. The cavalry escort, which was valting, quickly wheeled into place, the prince entered his carriage; in which Mayor Harrison and Admiral Evans were seated with him, and the Only 30 minutes was allotted in the

Shortly after 10 o'clock the prince and the members of his suite rose from their seats and, escorted by the memfor their carriages. Notwithstanding the lateness of the hour, a crowd num-bering at least 50,000 people was standing in walting on the outside, and the reappearance of the prince was greeted with the same cheers that had marked his arrival at the hall. Bowing to the right and left as he entered his car-riage, the prince, in five minutes after leaving the balcony in the armory, was on his way to the Auditorium hotel to ake his part in the great ball arranged

AT THE GRAND BALL.

Chicago, March 3 .- The chief event of the day of the prince in Chicago was the grand ball at the Auditorium tonight. It was perhaps the most magnificent social event ever witnessed in this city, surpassing even the great ball given in honor of Admiral Dewey two years ago. The decorations of the huge half went beyond anything held in the Auditorium before.

In the general scheme the German and American colors were freely mingled and formed the basis of the principal designs. The black Eagle of Prussia and the Stars and Stripes were in evidence upon all sides. Nautical effects prevailed to a great extent. The unit for repetition was a boat's prow and masthead flanked on either side by panels bearing eagles and flags, and by the banners of America and Germany. On each side of the ball-room were five of the boat prows, the base of each one being draped with the combined colors of the United States and Germany, through which gleamed hundreds of small electric

Covering the cell ing of the ballroom were thousands of yards of yellow and white drapery held in place by the eagles of America and Germany.

At the west end of the ballroom was placed the canopied box which was occupied by the prince when he was not upon the floor of the ballroom. It was 22 feet in height and elaborately decorated with the flags of the various German principalities, German yachting flags and the yachting pennant of Prince Henry. The canopy of the box was white without and yellow on the was white without and yellow on the inner side. The border was yellow, edged above with black and red and below with white. The hour set on the program for the arrival of Prince Henry and his suite upon the floor of the ballroom was 10:30, but it was fifteen minutes after that time before he was ready. Before his arrival nobody was allowed upon the floor of the ballroom with the exception of the members of the ball committee, who entered at 10:30 and, standing behind long streamers of bright-colored ribbon, awaited the arrival of the prince. At streamers of bright-colored ribbon, awaited the arrival of the prince. At the head of the committee was Mrs. Carter Harrison, the wife of the mayor, and assisting her were Mrs. Richard Yates, wife of the governor, and a large number of ladies prominent in Chicago society.

> THE PUT AND CALL DECISION Comments of Chicago Board of Trade Men on it.

Chicago, March 4 .- The decision of the Inited States supreme court upholding the Illinois law against trading in puts and calls is freely commented upon by members of the board of trade. A. V. Booth, the member who loses

"It appears to be all off with privi-lege trading in Illinois, though it is still legal in Wisconsin, Minnesota, Missouri and New York. The larger markets in all these states have a 'put' and 'call' trade. The only thing now is for some interested parties to take steps to have the Himois law repealed. Whether this will be done or not I cannot say. Certainly there will be no trading of this character in Hilmois, where the penalty uns up to $1,000, with imprisonment rom one to five years."

Vice President Adams of the board of trade was glad the constitutionality of the law had been passed on and upheld. "So far as I know" he said, "the board of trade would not oppose the repeal of the law against 'puts' and 'calls:' but so long as it is on the books the members of the board must observe it."

Prior to the campaign against privi-lege trading made by President War-ren of the board of trade two years ago, says the Tribune, the violation of the Illinois law, which for a number of years had been a dead letter on the statute books, was open and general. When, however, the board of trade ruled against puts and calls in this market so far as its own membership was concerned the plan of transferring the scene of operations to Milwaukee was devised. The base, however, re-mained in Chicago, though gradually the business fell into a disrepute which materially restricted its volume. There was a dislike on the part of a majority of the membership to evade the Illi-nois law or the rules of the board of trade by wiring the orders to Milwaukee and having them executed there, for which reason the practice fell off until now the volume of put and call business originating here, according to
