LOCAL BRIEFS.

Dr. H. A. Anderson has been appointed chairman of the city democratic committee.

Mrs. E. L. Price is recovering from an operation for an affection of the breast, which she underwent at St. Mark's hospital yesterday afternoon.

Samuel Gould, a young lad from Sunnyside, who was operated upon for appendicitis at St. Mark's hospital yesterday afternoon, is getting on as nicely as could be expected.

John Rae of this city has been appointed assistant supervisor of the horse department of the coming state fair. Mr. Rae is well experienced in all matters pertaining to the horse.

First creditors' meeting in the case of F. W. Benson and John H. Jarvis was held in the office of Referee in Bankruptcy Baldwin yesterday afternoon. No trustees were appointed and the cases were referred back to the federal court.

A dispatch from Mrs. Will Clawson in San Francisco received late last night states that new complications had arisen in her husband's case, both pneumonia and brain trouble having developed. Mr. Clawson's friends will await with painful anxiety the receipt of the next dispatch.

The International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers No. 57 met last night and elected I. F. Buckley as delegate and James Hodgson as alternate to the seventh annual convention to be held at St. Louis, October 21st. The delegates were instructed to try and secure the next convention for Salt Lake.

In speaking of the changes in important federal offices of Spokane as announced by the Republican governors, the Spokane-Review says that Hon. Geo. A. Black, whom it refers to as a former governor of North Dakota, but who was former Governor of Utah, is said to be a prominent candidate for register of the land office drawing a salary of $3,000.

There will be a civil service examination for position as messenger boy in the weather bureau service in this city on October 4th. Section Director Murdoch has received a letter from the department urging that Salt Lake boys from 16 to 20 years of age enter the examination. The department has been put to considerable anxiety in having messenger boys at hand when required. The salary is $30 per month to begin with and there are good chances for promotion.

$1.00 will start a bank account. Zion's Savings Bank & Trust Company, No. 1 Main street, will furnish you free of cost a small steel savings bank. Helps you save small amounts; 4 per cent interest allowed on $1 to $5,000. You have the bank, we keep the key.

OTTO GROW'S ANSWER.

Sensational Cross-Complaint to His Wife's Divorce Suit.

Helen D. Langford has commenced divorce proceedings against her husband, F. M. Langford, on the ground of non-support. The defendant is a well known mining man and rancher.

In her complaint Mrs. Langford makes the statement that her husband is worth over $200,000, consisting of a 1,000-acre ranch and livestock in Canada county, Ida., real estate in Salt Lake City, and mining interests in the Century, Melchior and Mammoth companies. The plaintiff asks the court for an order requiring her husband to show cause on Friday why he should not be restrained from incurring or disposing of his property until the suit is settled, and that he be required to pay into court a sum sufficient for temporary alimony and attorney fees. An equal division of her husband's property is asked, or a sum sufficient for permanent alimony.

OTTO GROW HAS FILED A rather sensational answer to his wife's suit for divorce, which was commenced about four weeks ago, alleging that she left him and her little boy in June, 1899, about six weeks after their marriage. Grow further states that about four months after their marriage his wife showed signs of depravity and then used vile and obscene language. He charges her with striking him with a broom in November, 1899, and pulling his hair. Then she had him in the police court, charged with assault, of which he was acquitted. Charges of brandishing a knife and threatening to kill him, and vowing that she would poison him in his sleep are also made, and Grow says that he was compelled to lock his wife up in a room to insure his own safety. Other charges are made, such as that when his wife left him she said she intended to have a good time with "the boys" and that she would never cook breakfast for him. Grow says that his wife is not a fit person to have the custody of their child as her family are known to be of the lowest class.

Drs. SHORES CASE TRANSFERRED.

The case of Joseph McConnell vs. Drs. Shores and Shores for $10,000 damages for alleged erroneous diagnosis and treatment of a disease has been transferred to the federal court on a motion filed by the defense, knowing that Dr. A. J. Shores is a resident of San Francisco and Dr. G. W. Shores of Denver.

HEADQUARTERS MOVED.

Director-General Stoll Located on Third South Street—Other Items.

Director-General Stoll, of the Elks' carnival, moved his quarters this morning to Third-South street. A handsome room was erected for that purpose and the Captain is very highly pleased with his new location.

Among the features of the concert numbers that held the military band will give will be cornet duets by Mr. Heid and Mr. Zimmerman, the manager of the band, who is also a cornet soloist, cornet quartet by Messrs. Higer, Leslie, Johnson and Kennedy. The descriptive war selection entitled the "Capture of Manila," in which is introduced guns, bombs, and other implements of war, also a new selection of "Day on the Farm," in which almost all the animals on the farm are represented with their cries during the music, another one entitled "A Day at the Circus." These selections need four men to work the traps and have required a great deal of patient rehearsing. One of the features of the carnival will be a concert by the Military band of thirty selected men, including a quartette of trombones, Messrs. Olsen, Snodgrass, Smith and Montgomery, a quartette of French horns, Messrs. Johnson, Atkins, Andrew and Mackay, a trio of saxophones and a quartette of cornets.

Mr. Heid will play at the opening ceremonies "The Elks' Carnival March," 1901, written and dedicated to Lodge No. 58. The members of the band who have rehearsed it say that it is the best thing that Mr. Heid has ever written.

Elizabeth M. Corgriff will represent Rawlins, Wyoming, as maid of honor to the queen. The Rawlins lodge will send a large representation.

MAYOR'S VETO

IS SUSTAINED.

Young Canning Is Not Acceptable To the City Council

AS SPRINKLING FOREMAN.

President Buckle Says He Is Opposed to Nominating Public Affairs—Other Council Matters.

Three important transactions were done at the council meeting last night—the mayor's veto of the ordinance transferring the duties of watermaster from Peter Condit to the city engineer, was sustained; the mayor's appointment of George Canning, Jr., as day sprinkling foreman, failed of confirmation; and the appointment of Russell B. Schuller as clerk of the police court was confirmed unanimously.

The roll call on the mayor's veto of the watermaster ordinance was the first order of business. Canning and Cottrell voted no without comment, but when it came to Pernstrom, the councilman from the Third district, thought that it was up to him to justify his vote of yes, so he rehearsed the allegations of alleged incompetency made concerning Watermaster Condit, and why he declared that the mayor was wrong in vetoing the measure.

The vote to overrule the mayor's veto did not attain the necessary two-thirds majority, there being only 5 to 5. Those voting to sustain the mayor's veto were Canning, Cottrell, Hewlett, Thomas and Whittemore; those against it, Pernstrom, Hartenstein, the two Howes, Reid, Robertson, Tuddenham and Buckle.

YOUNG CANNING REJECTED.

The next matter was the mayor's appointment of George Canning, Jr., son of councilman Canning, chairman of the sprinkling committee, to be day foreman of sprinkling. Cottrell moved its confirmation and Canning seconded it.

Robertson said that he objected to the son of a councilman holding any city official position, especially when his father was well off. There were many good men in humble circumstances to whom the $75-a-month salary would be a godsend. President Buckle, in explaining his vote of no, said he was always opposed to nepotism in public affairs.

The vote was: Ayes—Canning, Cottrell, Hewlett, Whittemore and Thomas. Nays—Pernstrom, Hartenstein, Edgar Howe, C. R. Howe, Reid, Tuddenham and Buckle.

POLICE COURT CLERK CONFIRMED.

The Mayor's appointment of Russell B. Schuller as clerk of the police court was confirmed without an adverse vote. A special meeting of the council was called for tonight.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

AGED COUPLE IN RUNAWAY.

The Wife Was Seriously Injured and Taken Home.

N. C. Williamson and wife, an aged couple from Pleasant Grove, met with a most distressing accident about ten o'clock this morning on West Temple near Seventh South street.

They came to town with a wagon load of fruit and Mr. Williamson left his wife in the wagon while he attended to some business nearby. The horses became frightened and started to run. Mrs. Williamson was unable to check the infuriated animals and was thrown to the ground and dragged nearly half a block. The horses dashed on to the sidewalk and ran for a block when they smashed into a fence and literally splintered the wagon.

Several persons who witnessed the accident ran to Mrs. Williamson's assistance and carried her to a house near by. Her face and shoulders were badly cut and bruised and it is feared the bones in her left hand are broken. Someone telephoned to the police station for the patrol wagon and Officers Kirkman and Hemple went at once to the scene. The old lady was found to be in a very serious condition and Dr. Beer was sent for. Mr. Williamson said he would not have his wife sent to the hospital and made arrangements to have her taken to their home in Pleasant Grove.

KILLED IN THE TESORA MILL.

David Blackhurst Jr. Meets Violent Fate at Silver City.

FELL ON THE MAIN BELT.

Was Carried Under the Fly-Wheel When Life Was Crushed Out of Him Instantly.

(Special to the "News.")

Silver City, Utah, Sept. 11.—David Blackhurst was killed at 3 o'clock this morning at the Tesora mill. He was passing the main belt, which was close to the floor, from the engine room, when his foot slipped and he fell over the belt. He was jerked under the fly-wheel instantly, and the life was crushed out of him. He had only been working at the mill three days. Previous to that time he had been working in the mine.

David Blackhurst was the son of David Blackhurst who lives on Twelfth South and West Temple streets. The latter conducted a business in Salt Lake for years, and is one of the best known residents of the city. His son, who was killed in so violent a manner this morning, was also very well known in this city. He was 35 years of age, but was not married. He had been connected with the Tesora mine for some time.

An inquest will be held this afternoon and the remains will be shipped to this city in the morning. The funeral will probably take place tomorrow afternoon.

OLD DARKEY IS GONE.

Tom Humphreys, Well Known Colored Man, Victim of Typhoid Fever.

Old "Tom" Humphreys, known familiarly as "Mulvey," died yesterday from typhoid fever. Tom had been a servant in the home of M. E. Mulvey for fourteen years. He was born 48 years ago in Texas and he always retained that courteous and kindly spirit that distinguished the darkey of slavery days. Mr. Mulvey engaged him at first, Texas, and brought him to Utah with him. He always had a fund of "bobo de wah," stories with which he delighted the children.

The funeral was held this afternoon from O'Donnell's undertaking parlors, under the auspices of the Colored Odd Fellows, of which order the deceased was a chaplain.

"THE GHOST."

A Famous Gambler Who Won and Lost Fortunes.

With the death of P. Fred Harding—"The Ghost"—which was reported from Freepoint on Thursday, there passed away a veteran gambler of the "wide open" days of Chicago. Poverty and riches, hardships and affluence, followed each other through his life. He won and lost fortunes in this and other cities with a frequency that made him, as recently as the world's fair time, a noted figure in his fraternity. Yet so short is the memory of the sporting and gambling haunts in Chicago yesterday there was to be found scarcely a man who remembered him.

Among the old-timers whose recollections of him were still fresh was Barney Marx, the veteran roulette player. Even he could not recall anyone named Harding, but the sobriquet, "The Ghost," brought him instantly to mind.

"I remember 'The Ghost' well," he said. "It's many years since I saw him, but he was such a plunger he'd be hard to forget. He was a great game player, a big player, and his winnings would have kept him in a life of luxury if he had stopped when he was at the top of the heap."

"When I first heard of him he was a speculator on the open board of trade, and he won a good deal there at times, though he may have lost more. Anyway, he took to playing roulette, and at his life time he won great sums. I remember when I was dealing at 14 Quincy I had to make him a $10 limit, and at that he would get $250 every turn of the wheel if he won. He often had $50,000 to $100,000 at that rate, and he was a great player. Once he lost $25,000 at a sitting, but he won more back later. He finally went out of that game about $50,000 to the good and went down East. At Long Branch he played in Daley's famous gambling house and won $70,000 there."

"After Washington was made mayor of the city, he came to the board of trade and I heard he lost heavily, so he went against the horses. He played long shots. I remember once he went to Washington Park with his last $15. There was a horse called Little Sullivan, at 20 to 1. When it was brought out for warming it ran away and ran two miles before it could be stopped, so all the bookies and gamblers lost 100 to 1. The $15 went up at that rate and Little Sullivan won. Before the week was out that $15 had grown to $50,000, and that 'The Ghost' went to New York. Down there he won enough more to make his $100,000."

"During the war's fair he played the board and the races regularly till the money was all gone. He tried faro, but it was too slow for him. He had to have the excitement. He went to Europe once and won at Monte Carlo."

"The nickname 'The Ghost' he got at Freepoint. He was a lone, slender, smooth-shaven man, with a face that was ghastly white. He was not a talkative man, came and went silently and softly, and seemed to fit the name."

He had one terror—photography. He would have been killed if he had seen anyone had offered to take a picture of him. He was what you called a gentleman gambler—refined, careful about his appearance, and never got intoxicated or disorderly. But he seemed full of fire and when he entered the play, win or lose, it was sure to be mighty lively."
