INCOME TAX.

I Hr. New York Tribune is by no means a favor of the continuance of the income tax. The changes which are made by Congressional action in the law it considers in the light of valuable reforme. It can only adopt so far as the Law la concerned, Hamlet's adjuration: On, reform it altogether." It remarks:

"It has been steadily urged that the tax was already paid only by rich men. The papers think the Typographical Union exemption of an additional thousand doldeserves honor. are cannot, therefore, be considered as of serious consequence, save in the ten or weive millions reduction in our revenue wrought by it. Certainly nothing of that quisitorial character which has made the levy so obnoxious is removed. Its tenlency to demoralize still exists. It is as much calculated as ever to make us a nation of hars and oath-breakers. It remains a standing premium on fraud and falsebood. It is not less, for this reduction, an inducement to deception. Honest men are still to pay it, while rogues avoid it. Men whose business credit requires them to conceal impending bankruptcy (a crime in the country from which we borrow the idea of the tax) are urged by it as strongly as before to fraud and deseption. In the future as in the pass, it will serve to lower the standard, at home and abroad, of Ameclean commercial merality.

There is no policy in continuing the tax. Neither is there any right to do so. As Mr. Davis said in his argument on Thursday, it cannot be continued without a breach of faith with the nation. When the tax was demanded by the imperious exigencies of the war, Congress in imposing it gave a colemn pledge to the country that it should not be continued or renewed. The langurge of the act is: 'The taxes on incomes hereta imposed shall be levied' * * * * to put a stain ugon the honor of Congress. To renew it is to proclaim repudiation as And if faith is not to be kept with our own people with whom shall it he kept? It is an argument which every foreign bondholder will ask himself, and it is a view which public and private morality demands shall not be wholly forgotten by the Senate as it has been by the House. To the Senate We appeal.

In another article concerning the tax and the tinkering of the law which is proposed, it says:

"This bill forces an income tax from the clerk, whose $2,500 salary is known, while Spain. it opens many doors of escape to his em-ployer, whose $200,000 income is not so easily reached. It punishes him who dares to own the roof over the heads of his famtax ab a moome the interest annually paid on any mortgage which he may have thereon, while it allows a premium, in the shape of a deduction of $500, to his neighbor, who, unlike himself, prefers paying an extravagant rent. It recognizes gambling bells and lottery swindles by imposing upon them a tax which can never be collected. Although pronounced by its advocates to be a measure that discriminarea against the rich in favor of the poor, the principal taxes which it removes are the tax upon railroad companies, gas companies, upon rich legacies and successions resi estate, upon such luxuries as gold and silver plate, carriages, gold watches and private billiard tables. Under these circumstances, should the Senate decide to befor reasons for so doing than those which have hitherto been advanced."

AN INTERESTING DOCUMENT.

Was publish below a copy of a very interesting document, which was found upon the records of Salem, Essex Co., during his recent mission to that State. It is the letter of Administration on the "estate of Robert Smith, late of and Switzerland had a conference to-Boxford," Massachusetts, an ancestor of the Prophet Joseph Smith's, the said Robert being his third great-grandfathor, or five generations back from him. in the enterprise. This of itself will give it interest in the eyes of many of our readers; but, aside from this, it is interesting from a his- which is a cause of so much anxiety. torical point of view, as by its assistance we can compare the value attached to the articles a numerated in the invent the articles e umerated in the inventory, one hundred and seventy-two years ago, with the value at which they are estimated in these days. He was a well-to-do farmer, and a man of respectable position among his neighbors; and another matter of interest connected with this inventory is the number and extent of farming implements and household utensils which a family of that class possessed in those days. Contine a prosperous farmer's family in these days to such a household outfit and they would think they were retrenching with a vengeance.

partment of the Ladies' Co-operative Retrenchment Association, S. L. City, organized May 27, 1870, Resolved. - That, realizing ourselves to be wives and daughters of Apostles, Prophets and Elders of Israel, and, as such, that high responsibilities rest upof women as compositors, eastern on us, and that we shall be held accountable to God, not only for the privileges we inherit from our fathers, but also for the blessings we enjoy as Latter-day Saints, we feel to unite and co-operate with, and do mutually pledge ourselves that we will uphold and sustain each other in doing good.

Resolved. - That, inasmuch as the Saints have been commanded to gather out from Babylon and "n t partake of her sins, that they receive not of her plagues," we feel that we should not condescend to imitate the pride, folly and fashions of the world; and inasmuch as the church of Jesus Christ is likened unto a city set on a hill to be a beacon of light to all nations, it is our 2 Plainers, Quoins, Furnitur- and labor saving duty to set examples for others, instead of seeking to pattern after them.

St. Paul exhorted Timothy to teach the women to adorn themselves in modest apparel-not with braided hair, the l'plon expedition and the execution or gold or pearls, or costly array; but which becometh women processing godliness, with good works." Peter, also, in his first epi tle, in speaking of women, says, "Whose adorning, let it not be that outward adorning of plaiting the hair, and wearing of gold, or of putting on apprrel; but let it be TOWNSEND HOUSE the hidden man of the heart, in that which is not corruptible, even the ornament of a meek and quiet spirit, which is in the sight of God, of great price: for after this manner in old time, the holy women also, who trusted in God, adorned themselves." In a revelation given to the Latter-day Saints in 1831, the Lord said "Thou shalt not be proud in thy heart; let all thy garments be plain, and their beauty, the beauty of the work of thine own hands." All of which, we accept as true principle, and such as should be fully illustrated in our practice.

Resolved .- That, with a firm and settled determination to honor the foregoing requirements, and being deeply sensible of the sinful ambition and vanity in dress among the daughters of Zion, which are calculated to foster the ily by not allowing him to deduct from his France-American banking Scheme- The pride of the world, and shut out the Emperor much better -- Corpus Christi spirit of God from the heart, we mutu-St. Gothard railroad, and agricultural ally agree to exert our influence, both by precept and by example, to suppress, and to eventually eradicate these evils.

Resolved. - That, admitting variety has its charms, we know that real beauty appears to greater advantage in a plain dress than when bedizened with finery, and while we disapprobate extravagance and waste, we would not, like the Quakers, recommend a uniform, but would have each one to choose the style best adapted to her own taste and person: at the same time we shall avoid, and ignore as obsolete with us, all extremes which are opposed to good sense, or repulsive to modesty.

Resolved .- That, inasmuch as cleanliness is a characteristic of a Saint, and an imperative duty, we shall discard the dragging skirts, and, for decency's ake, those disgustingly short ones, extending no lower than the boot tops. We also regard "paniers" and whatever approximates in appearance towards the "Grecian Bend," a burlesque on the natural beauty and dignity of the numan female form, and will not dis-grace our persons by wearing them. And, also, as fast as it shall be expedi-ent, we shall adopt the wearing of home-made articles, and exercise our united influence in rendering them fashienable.

Resolved .- That we, the daughters of Zion, realizing the evils resulting from our compliance with the vain and fool-ish fashions of the Gentiles, and also feeling sensible of the sacred, high and important duties devolving upon us as Saints, wives and mothers in the kingdom of God, will from this day retrench in our dress, and make our apparel plain, neat, and becoming to us as daughters of Zion.

Resolved .- That we, being endowed with natural sense and abilities and with intelligence from on high-appreciating these blessings, are determined to use them to the honor and glory of God, and shall endeavor here-after to refrain from speaking evil of every opportunity for doing good to those around us—ever striving to build each other up in truth and righteousness, and by so doing, ennoble ourselves, and also gain the approbation and blessing
