TWO MEN AND A DOG.

Engage in a Row on East Temple Early This Morning.

There was a brawl on East Temple street early this morning in which two men and a dog were the participants.

Dick Gunther and a fellow named Connors engaged in a quarrel in front of the Vienna Royal saloon and Gunther got a smash on the jaw that sent him through the saloon window. His hand came in contact with several pieces of broken glass and was cut quite badly. The place was smeared with blood until it looked like a slaughter house. This row was No. 2. Dick Gunther had a mix up over some trivial thing and when they met on East Temple street Gunther thought he could have some fun by suggesting Connors' canine by the caudal appendage. The dog made the night hideous with his howls and Connors objected to the insult.

Gunther intimated that he might do Connors' great bodily harm but the latter quickly knocked that idea out of Gunther's head with a right hand hook to the jaw. The noise of the falling through the window attracted the police who rushed with great speed to the scene. No arrests were made.

PICK-POCKETS AT WORK.

Two Visitors at Salt Palace Lose Their Purse.

Clarence Jones, of Springfield, and Robert Allen, of Granger, went to the Salt Palace last evening and while taking in the sights had their pockets picked. Jones said he felt a hand in his pocket while he was looking at the game and when he looked around saw a boy running away. The lad had Jones' purse which he threw over the fence and thus made his escape. The purse, containing some small change, is still missing.

OFFER BEING ACCEPTED.

P. V. Coal Company Settling $500 Up on the Heirs of Soldfield Victims.

The offer of the Pleasant Valley Coal company to settle $500 upon the heirs of every person who was killed in the Soldfield explosion has been accepted by most of the heirs, and it is thought that the matter will thus settle amicably the differences between the sufferers of the disaster and the company. Considerable difficulty has been encountered in locating some of the heirs, as they have scattered about the country since the terrible explosion.

SOMETHING MUST HAVE HAPPENED.

Whereabouts of Rev. W. Daunt Scott are Still Unknown.

No word received today.

Stituation is Worse Than Ever Because Publicity Brings Forth No Tidings.

No word was received today from California relative to the whereabouts of Rev. W. Daunt Scott, the young divine who left here over a month ago for a vacation in that state.

The friends of the young minister are much concerned now, for the situation to them is much worse than it has ever been heretofore. Not only have personal efforts been made by Mr. J. R. Walker, who is now in California, to locate Mr. Scott, but the newspapers of the west have within the past day or two contained accounts of the young man's disappearance. Notwithstanding all this publicity, no trace of Mr. Scott's present whereabouts has been discovered. It is as if the young minister had dropped into the bowels of the earth, so complete is his disappearance.

Mr. Scott was one of the members of the committee to make efforts to discover the young man's whereabouts. All that is possible to do will be done before the search is given up, and there is still some remaining hope that no harm has befallen the young divine.

OFFICERS LOCATE MINT.

Counterfeiting Outfit Unearthed in a Blacksmith Shop Near Sandy.

Mon Arrested Believed to be the Moss Brothers of Nepht-Kept Doing Secret.

The counterfeiting outfit long sought by Sheriff Howell's officers in Thayne's blacksmith shop on State road, about a mile and a half north of the Homestead, was watching the discovery of the mint was made by Sheriff Howell and Deputies Dowse and Goldman.

The men kept their things secret and Thayne and his wife were on the watch that they were perfecting an invention.

WANTED TO GO TO CHINA.

Three Tough Salt Lake Youngsters Intercepted at San Francisco.

According to an Associated Press dispatch from San Francisco the police there have arrested three young Salt Lake adventurers who were trying to make their way to China as muskets of the Second Infantry. Their names are Conrad Holland, aged 12 years, Louis Lewellyn, aged 13, and Lawrence Lewellyn, aged 14. Edgar and Lewellyn are known by the police here, as members of a tough gang of juveniles of the west side. The dispatch is as follows: San Francisco, Aug. 22—Three young boys from Utah, who were on their way to China as muskets of the Second Infantry, were reclaimed by the police today. The youths will be returned to their relatives. The boys are Lewis Edgar, aged 12 years, Conrad Holland, aged 12, and Lawrence Lewellyn, aged 14, of Salt Lake City.

Holland, who is the spokesman for the trio, made the following statement: "The soldiers of the Second Infantry stayed on away on their train as muskets, and we were to go to China. The plan was to stow us away on the transport, too, but the police reached us to soon. We want to go on to China."

FOUGHT THE LEADER.

Young Man Resented a Musician's Remarks to His Sister.

The San Francisco Post has the following to say of an encounter which occurred in that city. While the Youngs referred to earlier in Salt Lake they are neither "Mormons" nor related to the family of the late President Brigham Young.

"As the result of a slight encounter between Max Hirschfeld and James Young, brother to Phyllis Young, a Tivoli circus girl, the two young men fought a battle which resulted in the arrest of the great 'Mormon' Prophet will no longer be seen on the local opera stage."

During Saturday's rehearsal Miss Young appeared tired and weary. The orchestra leader became irritated, and so Phyllis said, "reminded her in a way that did not become a gentleman to speak, nor a lady to listen."

"On her way home Hirschfeld's words came back to her again and again, each time with a bitter undercurrent meaning, until when she arrived she was in tears, and could not help confiding her troubles to her brother."

The close of Saturday night's opera found the brother James Young, packing up and down before the Tivoli entrance waiting eagerly for the exit of the orchestra leader.

"When his man came out, Young stepped up to him."

"What do you mean by insulting my sister?" he asked.

"What is it to you?" was Hirschfeld's retort.

"For retort, Young reached out with his left hand and snatched the musician's glasses from his nose, and at the same time raised his right hand to drape the leader's eyes in black. Before he could strike, Hirschfeld had raised his cane and brought it down across Young's head."

"There were bright lights, a quick curtain, and the next second the two friends were using the two combatants in opposite directions."

"Last night Miss Young was dismissed from the Tivoli."

UTAH'S CALLAN BATTERY BOYS.

Major John B. Jeffery Talks of Their Work For Uncle Sam.

NONE DID BETTER WORK.

Kind Words For Majors Young and Grant—Something of the Major's Own Career.

"Do I remember the Utah Volunteers in the Philippines?" asked Major John B. Jeffery of a "News" representative today, when asked with questions concerning Uncle Sam's new archipelago.

"Well, I guess I do. Utah should be mighty proud of those boys—every one of them. No organization exhibited greater courage; none did more effective service; none was as frequently talked of among the army officers in the Philippines as the Utah Battery. The very appearance of a Utah man among the members of other companies was often enough for a volley of cheers to go up in his honor. I know Major Richard W. Young, who is a bright level-headed man and stands high in the opinion of the administration. His appointment to the supreme court of the Philippines is proof of that."

The idea of this city, of whom Mr. Scott was one, have appointed a special committee to make efforts to discover the young man's whereabouts. All that is possible to do will be done before the search is given up, and there is still some remaining hope that no harm has befallen the young divine.

"The Utah Battery boys," continued the major, "were under my immediate command at one time that I was prior to departing for the Philippines, and though few in number as compared with the quota of some of the older and bigger states, they always attracted attention on every occasion. They were in a manner displayed, and from their gentlemanly demeanor on all occasions. Now, this may be considered fulsome praise of our boys, but I think it is only a statement of absolute fact."

THE MAJOR'S OWN LIFE.

The major's own life is replete with interesting incidents. He is apparently about 55 years of age, with gray hair and beard, and of large fine physique and pleasing personality. For thirty-seven years he has been a citizen of Illinois. In politics he is an ardent Republican, and has been a member of every national Republican convention in his state since 1876. He is, by profession, a newspaperman and a printer. When McKinley was elected president he was a candidate for the office of public printer and it was quite generally expected that he would receive the place, but as he expresses it, he withdrew from the contest at the last moment, in the interest of the country.

In the interest of General Frank Palmer, who was given the appointment.
