Local and Other Matters.

FROM TUESDAY'S DAILY, JULY 22.

Supreme Court.—The Supreme Court held a short session this morning, but transacted no business and adjourned over until the 2nd of August.

"Juvenile Instructor."—The last number of this valuable paper contains the usual amount of interesting and useful reading, including events, descriptions, moral essays, poems, philosophical dissertation, etc., etc. It is a good number. Get it and see for yourselves.

Suicide.—Advices from Silver Reef state that yesterday John Hannan, alias Tom Collins, an employe at the Stomant Mill, shot himself through the head. He was a married man, and, it is said, killed himself on account of domestic infelicity. He was dissipating considerably previous to his death.

Key to the Universe.—This new and valuable work, by Professor Orson Pratt, Sen., has arrived, and orders are now being rapidly filled. It is a well bound, nicely printed book of 118 pages, presenting an entirely new theory of the mechanism of the universe. A treatise of much interest to philosophical students. To be had at the Historian's Office.

Fire at Ogden.—"Semper" sends us an account of a fire that took place at Ogden, last night, about 11:30 o'clock. Mr. W. G. Childs' old planing mill, which has lately been used as a repository for agricultural machinery, grain and dried fruit, took fire, and despite the efforts of the firemen, who found scarcely any water in the vicinity to supply their engine, was entirely consumed. The loss is estimated at $5,000. The property was insured for about $2,000. Cause of fire supposed to have been incendiary.

Sad Accident.—Last Sunday morning an unfortunate occurrence took place at South Jordan where, by a little four year old son of William Bailey, Henry by name, met with an untimely death. The child was playing around a bed used by some of the boys out in the stack yard, and finding a bottle of whisky which they had left in the bedding, drank some of it. A deep sleep ensued and death resulted yesterday morning. Every effort was made to save the little boy, but all was unavailing. The guardians of the child were entirely unaware of there being any liquor about the premises, therefore no blame can rest upon them.

"Enquirer Notes."—Five car loads of baled wool were sent east, last week, by the Provo Manufacturing Company.

Santaquin is said to be looking up. Freightage between there and Tintic is good.

The wheat crop in Provo and vicinity, with but little exception is up to the average.

P. Huntsman, Sheriff of Millard County, writes to the Enquirer of a highway robbery that took place between Fillmore and Scipio last Monday night, about 9 o'clock. Five men were robbed of $50, by two masked highwaymen. This was the third event of the kind perpetrated in that County within the last three months.

Another Version.—Regarding the accident of the young man Darton, at Nephi, which we published last night, there comes another version from an eye witness to the occurrence. Mr. R. P. Morris, writes to Superintendent John Sharp, that Darton was standing on the platform when the construction train was passing, and before it stopped, attempted to jump aboard, but missing his footing, fell between the last two cars of ties, right across the track. The brake beam shoved him along until the train stopped, which was about 18 feet ahead of where he fell, and he helped himself out. Morris further says that himself and a carpenter named Kidder were standing close by at the time, and saw just how it occurred.

A Penitentiary Library.—We have been thinking lately of the great benefit it would be to establish a library in the Utah Penitentiary, for the use and advantage of its inmates. They are now left to employ their spare time in playing cards and in other idle pursuits, or debasing their minds more and more by evil thoughts and imaginations, when if books and periodicals could be furnished them the same time could be used for informing their minds, making them better in every way. It would be an easy matter to start this project. Hundreds would be willing to contribute to the enterprise. Almost every household has a number of old volumes and papers lying around doing nobody any good, which might be utilized for the purpose mentioned. Wont somebody act on this suggestion? Marshal Shaughnessy would no doubt assist, and receive any literary contributions which might be offered, and all who desire may leave books, papers, etc., at this office for the same purpose.

FROM WEDNESDAY'S DAILY, JULY 23.

Call and See.—If Mrs. Patsey Duberry, formerly of Franklin, Ky., will call at this office she will hear of something to her advantage.

Ogden Notes.—The Dispatch says the project of an up-town hotel for Ogden is being agitated vigorously.

A cargo of eight sea lions is expected in Ogden to-morrow morning from the west.

Accident.—The Junction chronicles a serious accident that befel Mr. Geo. Bailey, fireman on the Central Pacific Road, on Monday evening about 11 o'clock. The train was moving up Kelton Hill when Mr. Bailey had it stopped for the purpose of lubricating the locomotive valves. While he was engaged in doing it, the train began slowly moving backward down the hill. Bailey followed it in the darkness and before going far was precipitated into a very deep culvert upon a pile of stones. He was brought to Ogden and it was ascertained that his collar bone was broken, his right arm fractured above the elbow, and that he had sustained other bruises. He is now getting along nicely.

"One of a Family."—Bro. James Johnson, late of Omaha, called on us the other day. He arrived here last Saturday evening and intends making Utah his home hereafter. We learn from him that he joined the Church some years ago in Omaha and that his house has been open from the first to receive the Elders, and for the holding of meetings. His wife also joined the Church but afterward apostatized and is now a spiritualist, and for sometime past has led him a very unhappy life from her illtreatment of the Elders and aversion to the gospel. She at last sued for a divorce and got it, taking all his property, a house and city lot and several hundred dollars in the bank, besides retaining the charge of his three children. Brother Johnson was compelled to leave them behind, and has come to Utah to settle down and retrieve his shattered fortunes. We hope he will be successful and wish him all prosperity.

FROM FRIDAY'S DAILY, JULY 25.

Runaway.—A team attached to a wagon made a rather hasty and unexpected departure from the Deseret Bank corner this afternoon. A little boy was in the wagon who sat without trepidation while he was being wadded towards West Temple street. A lad on horseback followed, and overtaking the runaway, reached over and grasped the reins, and thus saved the outfit from total demolition. Brave boy.

Severe Injury.—This morning a son of Bishop Kesler, of this city, was brought to his home in an insensible condition and badly bruised. He was found last evening in the southern part of the city and picked up by some friends of the family. Medical aid was called in and it is thought that the head is not dangerously hurt although the jaw and the right eye are much swollen. The young man, whose name is George, and who is about 24 years of age, rode out last evening on an unbroken horse which he is accustomed to do, and it is thought perhaps was violently thrown. Further developments will doubtless reveal the true state of the case.

On the Way.—A dispatch from Elder Rudger Clawson to President John Morgan, received Wednesday evening, states that he had been delayed in his departure for home with the body of Elder Joseph Standing, on account of a coroner's inquest held over the remains, and the embalming of the corpse for transportation. Elder Clawson started for home yesterday morning and will probably reach this city on Tuesday evening. Elder Clawson has been instructed to telegraph often, from time to time, along the route, as he progresses, so that arrangements for the reception of the body in this city may be completed and carried into effect. A committee selected from the Y. M. M. I. A. of the State will meet the body at Evanston and escort it home, while other committees will arrange the necessary preliminaries here.

Third District Court.—Proceedings Thursday, July 24, Judge P. H. Emerson, presiding:

Jury notice.—In the Third District Court of Utah, on Tuesday, July 29, 1879, at 10 o'clock a. m., in open District Court, at the court room thereof, in the Wasatch building, Salt Lake City, eighteen (18) names will be drawn from the jury box to serve as petit jurors at the said September term of said Court. PHILIP H. EMERSON, Judge.

SALT LAKE CITY,
July 24, 1879.

Emeline A. Young, vs. George Q. Cannon et al.; argument on attachment for contempt continued until Friday at 10 o'clock a. m.

Mr. Miner made his argument for the defence this morning, on the part of the Trustee-in-Trust, and was followed by Judge Williams, who was talking when we went to press.

Judge McBride follows for the plaintiffs to-morrow.

The Entertainment.—The great attraction for the Twenty-Fourth was the Grand Commemorative Entertainment in the Tabernacle. The committee certainly provided a fine treat for the visitors from all parts who attended, the entertainment being of a high order in class and merit. In short this was its greatest fault, as the building is too vast and stupendous to admit of fine soft passages being properly heard and duly appreciated.

The Sunday Schools formed a very beautiful feature, there being between 3,000 and 4,000 children present; but the little folks as might be expected were somewhat restless and the quiet being more or less disturbed in consequence, the very beautiful and difficult performances of Prof. Weihe on the violin, and Prof. Daynes on the piano, as also the charming songs of Miss Olson and Miss McKay were comparatively lost to a large portion of the audience. However, these performers, as did also others that appeared, receive strong appreciative marks of approval, and Prof. Weihe was deservedly encored and gave a third evidence of his wonderful genius in handling the king of stringed instruments.

The first appearance of Zion's Musical Society which formed one of the attractions of the day, was an unqualified success. They rendered several pieces in a masterly manner, and their aid in the choruses with the mammoth organ was marked and appreciated. This society number over 300 ladies and gentlemen, quite a number of whom are of recognized musical ability. Some of the voices are really excellent, and in a smaller building, such as the Theatre or the New Tabernacle now in process of erection, their possessors would shine as vocalists of a rare order. Prof. C. J. Thomas is the conductor of the Society.

Another very nice feature was the singing of Mrs. Ferguson's normal class, consisting of about a dozen voices. This class has been in training only six weeks, and already exhibits a proficiency quite surprising in singing from the notes, and does credit to the lady in charge of their studies.

One of the most enjoyable pieces was a commemorative song, written expressly for the occasion by Brother Charles W. Stayner, music composed by Brother Joseph J. Daynes. The sentiment of the song, which was well sung by Brother W. H. Foster, touched the hearts of all present, and the grand swell of the chorus rendered by the Musical Society filled every soul with patriotic ardor, and love for the Old Pioneers beamed from the countenances of the audience during its rendition. The Union Glee Club gave some of their choice selections in their usual happy style, and the schools sang three pieces that never fail to please. Their almost numberless voices form a wave of sound that came like the swell of the ocean through the mammoth structure.

This building is better adapted for jubilee purposes than for a concert entertainment where many solo performances are produced, the classical should be to a great extent reserved for such buildings as are suited in their construction to such performances. But as a whole the entertainment that was given yesterday, has probably never been surpassed here, either in variety or artistic merit.

Catarrhal POISON

Wei De Meyers' Treatise on Catarrh, explains the following important facts:

1. That Catarrhal Colds become a poisonous infection, at first local, and finally constitutional.
2. That, being Constitutional, the infection is beyond the reach of mere local remedies.
3. That whatever impurities exist in the nostrils, are necessarily swallowed into the stomach and inhaled into the lungs, thus poisoning the digestive, the respiratory, and the genito-urinary organs.
4. That Catarrhal virus follows the mucous membrane and causes Weak Eyes, Deafness, Dyspepsia, Chronic Diarrhoea, Bronchitis, Leucorrhoea and Consumption.
5. That Smokers, Douches, Inhalations and Insoluble Snuffs, taken into the nostrils and throat, cannot possibly remove infectious inflammation from the organs named.
6. That an antidote for Catarrh must possess an inoculative affinity for, and the capacity of being absorbed by the purulent mucous wherever located.

Acting upon these theories, Dr. Wei De Meyers has found a remedy for Catarrhal diseases, which proves to be infallible. His Treatise, with overwhelming proofs and full explanations of the most important medicinal discovery since vaccination, is sent free and Post-paid to anybody. Wei De Meyers' Catarrh Cure is not yet in the hands of all Druggists. Where not thus procurable, it will be delivered to any address at $1.50 a package. To Clubs, six packages for $7.50. To the trade, liberal terms.
