HAS ANOTHER VIEW OF IT.

A Cousin of Matt Warner, Etc., Denies the Published Story.

Says that the Circumstances of Some of the Events Were Not as Published Recently.

Joseph Brown, of Nephi, who is a cousin of Roe Christensen, also Roe Lewis alias Matt Warner—and Annie Willett Christensen—says that the story of Mrs. Roe Christensen's experiences, as related in Wednesday's News, contained some inaccuracies.

In the first place, he denies that Christensen, or Lewis, or Warner,—as they call him Christensen's hero since—worked on a ranch in Wyoming as a cowboy. He was employed in a saloon in Rock Springs when he courted of Miss Roe Brown, the girl now known as his wife. Mr. Brown says the parents of the girl did not object to Christensen's coming; but they supposed he was courting as most cases. There was no objection on the part of his parents to his marrying their sister Nora, but when he married Nora instead, they objected on account of her youth. It is useless to say he married her for all, handsome eyes, but Christensen, and Nora and Roe Brown were together, and Nora was a witness to the marriage, which was performed without any unusual circumstances, or objection on the part of any one. At that time the couple lived, but with my objection, was in full agreement with.

The second one most objected to in the former account is that the girl Roe Brown was living a useless life on the ranch. Mr. Brown says that was untrue. They did not go one hundred and twenty-five miles distant to get married, but the ceremony was performed in the town where both lived. The story about Christensen stealing the girl and carrying a revolver on the ranch, or who married them Brown says is a myth.

The next objection is to the assertion that the girl was compelled to escape. Mr. Brown says that she was in Lovan, Juab county, when her first child was born; that she had three seven months, or fourteen being at Rush Springs, from where he sent her money to her support. Mr. Brown says he personally knows that she was never from place to place to keep her whereabouts known from Christensen but she was in constant communication with him and was anxious to go to Rock Springs.

A further denial is entered to the statement that when she came to this city Christensen had to wait for her second boy. Mr. Brown says that she left for Lovan under a voluntary agreement with the husband of securing a divorce, but she went to the home of Washington with him, willingly that her sister Sara was sick. When Christensen got into the trouble there, crime in this city.

As to the inquiry which caused the separation of her and Mr. Brown says it was owing to her love, as a result of a brute whom Mrs. Christensen was living a false, and on this account Mrs. Christensen left her husband.

As to the affidavit Wilson going to Vernal, Mr. Brown says one went to Rock Springs, who in the first operation was perjury, also had one at Vernal to sell for money to her husband, but her husband, though she did and supports of the harlot-song and was not neglected by him; also that Christensen took up the abode in Rock Springs since the Uintah Rock robbery, and that on two the last same, Matt Warner, from working for a man named Warner.

Mr. Brown says he does not justify Christensen in his wrongdoing, but does not like him to be charged with things he is innocent of, as he has been the case. He also says that the family of the criminal love to the Brown people to keep secret his whereabouts and sensitive being deeply grieved at his crime. He, Mr. Brown, was one of those instrumental in locating the prison officials to allow Christensen to see his wife's body after her death.

As to the respective accounts of this case, the one published last Wednesday exonerates the man to a large degree, while the latest would have us infer that Christensen is a fiend. The News is somewhere between these extremes, and on the difference therein it is a question of the veracity of the respective parties who variously vie for mastership in the low deep tide of the case.

Political Chaw Chew.

Tooele Mines: We are advised from Nephi that the McKinley club in that place are in a sad state of collapse, and those who were offered that the gold letter will be accepted to put Billy Nelson on the other side of the camp.

Utah Patriot: Judge Powers is making some speeches in Utah for Bryan and Sewall. For the sake of the Democratic party we hope he will be more commended if the speeches were made to Indians.

Eureka Democrat: It is intimated that the guest Ex Lucas was invited to withdraw from the Republican ticket because in Utah county on account of the strong free silver sentiment. Prof. Brunnell, who has replaced him on the ticket, we understand is not liable to that objection.

Ogden Press: The meeting of the Populist executive committee resulted in the withdrawal of S. S. Smith for reasons, J. J. Daly for state auditor and M. H. Thomas for treasurer on the county ticket. The committee then instructed the Republican nominees for these offices to withdraw, and there is a great deal of talk among the Democratic committee to do such, since if they persist in the course they are pursuing the Democratic ticket is practically dead. The chief manager of the meeting was Congressman Terrell of Minnesota. Col. H. H. Eddy of Colorado was also present, and F. Wolf Harlan of Kentucky and Robert Lindheim of Chicago also spoke.

In the afternoon a largely attended meeting was held, at which Senator Cannon of Utah, J. Chamberlain of Washington, James A. McKenzie and H. F. Bartine of Chicago spoke. Senator Terrell was unable to speak.

Denver Republican: Secretary of State McGaffey, after listening to arguments all day yesterday, decided that the protest of the Silver Republicans was a good one, and ordered that the name of the McKinley people as the Republican ticket. The McKinley people will take an appeal to the courts, beginning with the district court, as soon as papers can be prepared, of the decision and appeal notice of the Silver Republicans, "and Chairman Hodges, "we will have a ticket just the same, and, although we are in position where we will not be required to be interested in the election, we will have an eye to it. I have some experience in Arkansas in the reconstruction days and, I know, since will serve me well in this instance. Whatever happens, we will have our ballots, and they will be voted on election day, and, if necessary, the United States courts will be called upon to sustain our rights and protection."
