OGDEN BAR HONORS JUDGE MALONEY

Encomiums Upon the Life, Work and Character of Learned Jurist.

WAS FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE.

The Poor and the Friendless, the Widow and the Orphan Could Enlist His Aid Unrequited.

Ogden, Utah, March 25.—The Bar association of Ogden met at the district court room Saturday and unanimously passed the resolutions of respect to the memory of their late fellow attorney, Thomas Maloney, as they were published in the "News."

After the adoption of the resolutions, Abbott R. Heywood, feelingly spoke of the life of Judge Maloney, recounting some of his excellent services as an attorney and a citizen.

Mr. A. J. Weber spoke of his patriotic service in the union army in the war for the preservation of the Union. As a lawyer, continued Mr. Weber, Judge Maloney was ever ready to listen to the humble, the poor and the friendless, the widow and the orphan could always, without money and without price, enlist his sympathy and secure his assistance. He had the highest regard for the ethics of his profession and believed integrity of character to be more essential to the true lawyer than all the wisdom that could be acquired by either experience or study. His manner was unobtrusive and often seemed diffident; his language was simple, clear and direct; his knowledge of the law was excellent, and he placed "learned in the law" in one that could be truthfully applied to him. During all his useful life, well could it be said of our departed friend:

"He hath a tear for pity and a hand. Open as the day, for melting charity; and the elements. So mixed in him, that Nature might stand up And say to all the world, 'This is a man.'"

Judge J. A. Howell in conclusion said:

"I deem it proper briefly to speak to you of Thomas Maloney, not what has already been spoken of—his career as

A soldier and as a lawyer—but of his services as an officer of this court, for it has always seemed to me that there is no member of this bar who always kept in mind so well the particular functions of the court and one of its officers as he always did. I deem it proper to say at this time that so far as Brother Maloney and I were personally concerned, the friendship was as deep as was possible between two men in the same profession who were so different in age, he moving towards the last end of his life and I just beginning. And in that regard I would remind the members of this bar of a quality of our departed brother which has not been adverted to as yet—his spirit of helpfulness toward the younger members of the bar.

Perhaps that quality did not impress itself upon the minds of those who have spoken, because they belong to the same age and time as did Brother Maloney, but there are members of this bar of the same age and experience as myself, who can recall the pleasure with which Brother Maloney gave us the benefit of his knowledge of the law, which he had gained as a result of his long experience in life, or which he had gleaned from the books of the law, which he was so ready to impart to the members of the bar, then, cannot speak of him simply as a friend, but as a helpful adviser when we were in need of counsel.

The court misses the presence in this court room of one of its most faithful and distinguished officers, and personally I am deprived of one of my most loyal and helpful friends.

Gentlemen, the order of the court will be that the resolutions passed by the Bar association of this court and also the remarks which have been made this morning by counsel concerning the life of Thomas Maloney.

VICTIM OF MENINGITIS. After a hard struggle of nearly four weeks against that fatal disease which has been taking so many from mortality, spinal meningitis, Addie Pearl Child, the little 11-year-old daughter of Alfred and Julia Reid Child, was released from her suffering yesterday morning at the family residence at Roy, Weber county. The physicians have attended her and she was given the most careful nursing, but almost from the first she was unconscious, and gradually grew weaker until the end came.

A QUESTION.

When Eating an Orange Why do You Throw the Skin Away?

You immediately answer, because the skin is indigestible, unpalatable, useless. This delicious and nutritious fruit has a parallel in cod liver oil. Over fifty medicinal alkalis or curative elements are to be found in the cod's liver, and the centuries people, have been swallowing the gross, indigestible, nauseating oil, either in its raw form or in an emulsion, to get the benefit of these medicinal elements.

Now it has been proven by two celebrated French chemists that the oil which envelopes the curative properties found in the cod's liver is just as useless as the skin of an orange, and have discovered a way to separate all of these medicinal elements from the oil, retaining all that is good and eliminating the bad, and thus make Vinol.

This will explain what a valuable medicinal Vinol is, and why it is superior to old-fashioned cod liver oil and emulsions, and why it has been so successful in curing stomach troubles, giving strength and renewed vitality to the weak, run-down and aged, and curing chronic coughs, colds, and building up the convalescent, and it is because we know so well of what Vinol is made that we unhesitatingly offer to return your money if you are where it fails.
