

FRAGMENTS.

No arrests were made by the police last night.

The city has been unusually quiet for several days.

The Madison Square Company, after a most successful engagement, has taken its departure. The people will be welcomed back at any time.

WM. MORRISON, who has been convicted in the justice's court of an assault on Hiram Mikesell, will receive sentence to-morrow at 2 p. m.

ISAAC BROCKBANK and Henry Reiser personally presented themselves before the grand jury this morning, and gave testimony in their own cases.

The law and motion calendar set by Judge Kane does not keep up with its work so far as dates are concerned. Some of the lawyers are wound up too far.

Several attempts have been made in Logan, Cache County, recently, to find persons accused of unlawful cohabitation, but thus far these efforts have failed.

The District Court does not attract very large audiences—hardly any audiences at all at present. The arguments on law and motion business are not generally very taking with the average court-goer.

This morning deputy marshals called at the house of Mr. E. J. Liddle, in the Eleventh Ward, and subpoenaed his family to appear before the grand jury. Mr. Liddle was not at home. Several neighbors were also summoned to appear in the presence of the grand inquirers.

J. D. LOMAX, a Salt Lake attorney, has been employed by the friends of the murdered woman to assist in the prosecution of the supposed Chinese murderers now in the Evansville jail. The court appointed C. M. White, of Evanston, and J. W. Blake, of Laramie, as counsel for the defense.—Utah Chief.

LOCAL NEWS.

Arrest.—Yesterday afternoon G. B. Williams, of Hooper, Weber County, was arrested on the charge of unlawful cohabitation. He was taken before Commissioner Black, waived examination and was placed under $1,500 bonds to await the result of the grand jury's investigation.

An Excellent House.—In this issue appears a new advertisement of the dry goods house of C. M. Donelson & Co., one of the most popular retail establishments in the city. The firm manifest a determination to hold and increase their present excellent trade, by carrying a complete stock and selling at low figures will accomplish this.

Interesting to Lumbermen.—In another column appears an announcement made by the law firm of Stayer & Stinson, which is of special interest to the manufacturers of and dealers in native lumber. This firm is prepared to furnish information, forms, etc., of special interest and value to the persons referred to, relative to the requirements of the law respecting the sawing of and dealing in lumber.

Livestock Stable.—The livestock stable of Messrs. Grant Bros. & Co., 24 and 26 E. Second South Street, contains a larger number of vehicles than any other establishment of the kind in the city, and is well stocked with fine horses. The rates charged are reasonable, and every attention is paid to patrons. On such occasions as funerals or excursions this establishment is prepared to meet all demands. See advt.

Under Bonds.—About 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon John Cartwright, of the Eighth Ward, was arrested by Deputy Marshal Greenman and taken before Commissioner McKay to answer to a complaint made by D. W. Rench, and charged him with unlawfully cohabiting with his wife. The accused waived examination and gave bonds in the sum of $1,000 to await the action of the grand jury.

On the wheel.—Lewis Peck, who is traveling southward on a bicycle, sends us the following card, dated Meadow, Sept. 14, which came to hand this morning:

Editor Desert News: I arrived at Holden, last evening. The roads are terrible from Jubb to Scipio, especially the road to the Flat. It is a wretched one with nothing but sage brush and telegraph poles for company. I am feeling O. K.

Court Proceedings.—In the Third District Court to-day a new trial was allowed in the case of Frederick Crowton vs. John T. Lynch, et al. Morris Dusseldorf et al. vs. Ontario Silver Mining Company; demurrer argued and submitted.

Freeman National Bank vs. George Bock; motion of defendant to discharge attachment argued and submitted. The People vs. Mrs. E. M. Mallon; motion to dismiss case overruled.

The People vs. M. McLaughlin; motion to dismiss case argued and submitted.

The People vs. Heber West; same. John C. Wise and Frederick C. Alsop were admitted to citizenship.

Another Returned Missionary.—This morning Elder James Roskelley, of Smithfield, who has just returned from a mission to the Southern States, called at this office. He left Utah, May 24, 1884, and labored in the Tennessee conference the whole period of his mission. Prospects in the particular field in which he has been laboring were rather more encouraging when he left it, than they had been for some time previously. The laying of prejudice comprises most of the work accomplished by the Elders in that section during the present summer. Baptisms occasionally occur in different parts of that conference, and the Elders laboring in it feel encouraged.

Y. L. M. I. A. Conference.—The quarterly conference of the Y. L. M. I. A. of this State was held in the 14th Ward Assembly Rooms, to-day, commencing at 10 a. m. and at 2 p. m. Counselor Martin B. Doreau presiding. There was a good attendance from various parts of the State as well as the city, and twenty-one reports were read. Mrs. Horne was the first speaker in the forenoon and was followed by Mrs. Snedaker, who exhorted to purity. The matter of the conference was the visit to Washington. Mrs. Edgington spoke on faith and prayer and exhorted all to do their duty, even if hard. Mrs. Fanny B. Thatcher and Mrs. Ellen Clawson dwelt on the temptations that beset our young people. Mrs. Amelia E. Rogers spoke on injuring each other by talking about our neighbors. The afternoon meeting was in session when we went to press.

"Sealed Instructions."—Palmer's Madison Square Company closed its highly successful season at the Salt Lake Theatre last evening. The play was "Sealed Instructions," a drama of much interest, made intensely so by the admirable acting of these talented performers. It was a triumphal flash to a triumphal engagement, one that will leave an enduring impression upon the minds of the play-going public.

Those who appeared in the cast, and each in a part for which art as well as nature seemed to have designed him or her, were Messrs. Frederick Robinson, Herbert Kelcey, L. F. Masson, W. J. Lemoyne, E. M. Holland, J. Stoddard, and H. Millward; Misses Caroline Hill, Annie Russell, Maud Harrison, and Mrs. Robeson. The clearest cut characters were those of Benton, the old servant, by the incomparable Stoddard; Mrs. Haughton, the French wife of an English gentleman, by Caroline Hill; Ada, her daughter, by Miss Annie Russell; Lord Dorchester, the British Ambassador in Paris, by Mr. Robinson; and Lionel, his spendthrift son, by Mr. Kelcey.

The play, without being profound, is very interesting, and although sensationalism has little to do with it, many of the scenes are made to thrill with pathos and emotion. Undoubtedly the strongest scene is where Lord Dorchester discovers the theft of the package of sealed instructions, and fastens the seal of the rified safe upon his own son, Lionel. The male-diction of the "first act" was upon the cowed and trembling culprit, who, for French gold, had placed the secrets of the British cabinet into the hands, supposedly, of the wily diplomat. Dupin, the harlequin, away his noble father's honor, was a powerful portrayal of grief, wounded pride and indignation. The remorse, penitence and subsequent reformation of the cast-off son; the accidental, almost miraculous recovery of the stolen package, still sealed and unopened; together with the happy denouement of reunited hearts and hands, threw a perfect flood of sunlight over the sad and gloomy picture earlier displayed, and sent the vast audience home in the best humor imaginable.

The Palmer Company may rest secure in the certainty of a cordial welcome whenever they choose to visit Salt Lake.

A Tough Trio.—Yesterday afternoon Peter Miller, Richard Mooney and Frank Preston were brought before Justice Fryer on the charge of burglary. They will be remembered there as the individuals who were brought to this city from Logan to answer for having broken into and robbed Mr. Hatch's house at that place. They are also accused of having burglarized Browning Brothers' gun and ammunition store at Ogden. Their appearance yesterday was anything but prepossessing. Preston is above medium height and of rather light build. He looked haggard, from his imprisonment, but the natural expression on his face is one that would cause an observer to keep a sharp watch on him. Mooney is short and heavy set, and carries himself with a reckless air which indicates his true character. Miller, however, is the most villainous looking of the trio. His small, dark eyes, low forehead and large mouth, make him appear decidedly repulsive. Yesterday he was "ornamented" with a chain on his leg, to which was fastened a twenty-pound slug. His feet were bare, his hair unkempt, and his clothing ragged and unclean. The judge in the case was read to him, and alleges that, on the 24th of July last, he, with the others, entered the residence of Mr. C. W. Lyman, in this city, and stole therefrom a seal sack valued at $500. The garment was in the possession of the accused when arrested. To the statement of the court that he could employ counsel, make his plea or waive examination, he replied in a surly tone, "I'll waive and go before the grand jury. I'll be bound over anyhow. I suppose." Mooney and Preston likewise waived the examination, and bail was fixed at $1,000 in each case. As bondsmen could not be found, they were remanded to the custody of the Marshal. What Miller anticipates the result in his case to be, his conduct in a certain other case shows. He was called as a witness, and flatly refused to testify, saying to the court, "You can't hurt me." When a penalty of 90 days imprisonment was imposed for contempt of court, he remarked, "Oh, that won't amount to anything in the time I'll have to stay in jail for what they've got against me."

Destroying Fish.—About six weeks ago, authentic information was received in this city that parties near Scould, Emery County, were engaged in the wholesale destruction of fish by powder. Fish Creek was the field of operation, and daily large numbers of young trout which had been killed by the explosions and had escaped the notice of those engaged in the business, could be seen floating down the stream. The fish that were taken out were shipped to distant points to market. A watch was set, and enough information was obtained to indicate who the guilty parties were, though the evidence was considered barely sufficient to secure conviction. The matter was referred to the Fish and Game Association, and at their request no public mention was made of what had occurred, as it was deemed that the offenders should be caught. There was so much delay, however, in getting an officer at work on the case, that the fish-killers took the alarm and made a good thing out of their nefarious business, managing to elude detection and escape punishment.

There is a point in connection with this that deserves the attention of the Emery County officers, as well as those of other counties where violations of the fish and game law occur. The Fish and Game Association have been usually left to prosecute all offenders against the law, when in fact that labor does not belong to them. Their organization is simply one of private citizens and not a public body, and public funds for the detection and conviction of the law breakers, so that everything done in that direction is at private expense. This state of things should not be. The enforcement of the territorial statute properly devolves on the officers of the law, and should be taken up either by the prosecuting attorneys or the district attorney. The instance above referred to, as well as others of a similar nature in different parts of the Territory, was a matter of great comment in the county where, and at the time it was committed, yet no steps so far as can be ascertained, were taken by the local officials to put a check on it or bring the guilty parties to justice. It reflects discredit on these officials to leave the matter entirely to the Fish and Game Association, whose officers claim that in cases where prosecutions of offenders have been instituted, they have been retained instead of assisted by public officials in dealing with this class of cases.

MUSIC NOTES.

A large and excellent music class has been formed at the Deseret University.

Many of the district school teachers in Salt Lake County, have taken up the study of music.

The Juvenile Instructor office has just received a lot of new music type, and some new sheet music from that wide-awake establishment may be expected shortly.

Prof. Jos. J. Daynes is practicing some new and excellent pieces of music on the large Tabernacle organ, and the public will doubtless have the pleasure of hearing them.

It is expected that the Tabernacle choir will postpone their intended excursion to Sanpete County until October, when the people there will have more leisure to enjoy the treat in store for them.

A class of general musical instruction for young men and ladies under the direction of Brother E. Stephens is talked of, where the exercises would be so varied as to be made instructive in many ways. Reading, practice in pitch and time, notation, etc., is to take up a considerable part of the time, the rest to be devoted to chorus training and practice in voice control, etc. The masses of our young people need just such a class, where they can be taught the most requisite points of good general singing at a cost within their reach. Private lessons, though indispensable to one aiming to become a professional, are often beyond the reach of many a lover of music who has good natural ability and only wants a little aid to put his talents to good use, and a chorus class is useful in many ways to both amateurs and professionals.

Discharged.—This morning W. U. Hampton was arrested on a charge of larceny, on complaint of Mr. Hirschling, made before Commissioner McKay. The investigation showed that the proceedings grew out of a family feud and that there was nothing in the charge. The case against the defendant was dismissed.

Obsequies.—The funeral service, conducted by Bishop Tingey, over the remains of Sister Laura Nebeker Smith, was held at the family residence this afternoon. The assemblage of relatives and friends was very large—sufficient to have filled a capacious hall. The rooms were crowded and many had to remain on the lawn in front, where seats were arranged. The chorists of the Tabernacle choir, of which the deceased was one of the oldest members, were out in force. The opening pieces sung were: "How sweet to the soul is communion with Saints" and "Nearer, my God, to Thee." Prayer was offered by Elder Henry P. Richards. The speakers were Bishop James Watson, Elder John Nicholson and Apostle John Henry Smith, the remarks being eulogistic of the character and noble qualities of the deceased, and instructive upon matters of faith and doctrine. Words of consolation and sympathy were directed to the bereaved. The benediction was pronounced by Patriarch John Smith. The cortege which followed the remains to the cemetery was very large. Sister Laura was a faithful Saint, with much more than the ordinary allotment of sunshine in her kindly nature. She has an affectionate place in the memories of many people. Peace to her ashes.

CULLED FROM LATEST EXCHANGES

—Miss Dolly Confer, the young lady who went to Salt Lake recently to have her eyes operated upon with the hope of recovering her eyesight, received considerable benefit, and was assured that her case was not a hopeless one, but that she would be able to see again. She was wholly restored, and that the treatment could be varied at any time, at a distance as under the immediate care of the physicians. Miss Confer left for the home of her parents in Denver Monday.—Evansville (Wyo.) Chief.

PACIFIC COAST NOTES.
