We hear much about the art of winning a husband. Let us take a Councilor Cluff presented a bill for step further and make a study out of keeping a husband. If he is worth winning he is worth keeping. This is a wicked world, and man is dreadfully mortal. Let us take him as he is, not as he ought to be. In the first place, he is very weak. The wife must spend the first two years in discovering all these weak first present a petition signed by at nesses, count them on her fingers leas' ten freeholders residing in the and learn them by heart. Though icenses, shall te divided equally it is a common sneer that a woman between the county treasury and the has admitted that her sex consider more, in marrying, the tastes of her friends than her own, yet it must be considered ludicrous that a man looks at his wife with the same eyes that other people do. Is he fond of literary matters? Listen to him with wide open eyes when he talks of them, A man doesn't care so much for a literary wife, if she only be literary enough to appreciate him. If she has literary inclinations let her keep hem to herself. Men love to be big and great to their wives. That's the reason why a helpless little woman can marry three times to a sensible self-reliant then, you have a treasure; you can Then, woman, this is not for you; cease reading; cease tor-turing that fre ted heart which wants you for his own, and ugly in temper and fault-finding? Give him a dose of his own medicine, skillfully done. Is he deceitful? Pity him for his weakness, treat him as one who is born with a physical defect, but put your wits to work—it is a bad case. It is well not to be too tame. Men do not waste their powder and shot on hens and barnyard fowls; they like the plea-sure of pursuing wild game—quail and grouse and deer. A quail is a good model for a wife neat and trim, with a pretty swift way about it, and just a little capri clous. Never let yourself become the appropriation would be entirely new to them.

Another important fact is, don't be too good; it hurts his feeletitioner, Mr. J. W. Witt was col ings and becomes monotoneus. Cultivate a pleasant voice, so that this very mortal man may have his conscience prick him when he is in jeo-pardy; it's pleasant ring will haunt him much more than a shrill one. It seems necessary. "To be born a woman is to be born a martyr," says a husband who for the years has watched in amazeport was accepted and the amount ordered to be place i on the approprition bill.
