

SAM GRICE MISSED ENGLISH FORTUNE

Widow of Man Who Died in the State Prison Making Preparations to Sail.

HOPES TO GET BACK PENSION

In Addition to Property in Chancery
British Government Owes Twenty-
Two Years Pay—Pathetic Story.

Mrs. Samuel Grice, wife of "Sam" Grice, who passed away in the Utah penitentiary on July 1, is making preparations to leave for England in the near future, where she will endeavor to obtain a portion of the estate which was to have been her husband's, had he lived to execute certain papers. She will also try to secure some of the pension money due to Mr. Grice, who served in the British army through the war of the Sudan, when the heroic Gordon met his death at the siege of Khartoum.

A pathetic story surrounds the trip planned by Mrs. Grice. Her husband, Sam Grice, was the grand nephew of Sam Grice, the elder, who was a wealthy manufacturer of soap and wax candles in the old country. The father died 27 years ago, while the son was at the front in the Egyptian campaign. Grice received his honorable discharge from the British army, and had won several medals for distinguished conduct and bravery on the field of battle. He came to America with his family, and after arriving here got mixed up with bad company, which finally resulted in his downfall. He got to drinking and developed an unexplainable mania for paroling horses, for which offense he was arrested many times and finally placed in prison.

LIQUOR HIS DOWNFALL.

For four months prior to his death in the penitentiary, Mrs. Grice had been working to secure a pardon for Mr. Grice. He was a devoted husband and loving father, and was generally liked among his immediate friends. His unfortunate tendency developed through indulging in liquor was the only fault the man had. Mrs. Grice was meeting with fairly good success with the pardon when her husband died, and she was left without a head to the family. She had been doing odd jobs about town for her own support, and has scraped together a few dollars which she hopes to reach England in her attempt to secure a portion of the estate of her husband's father and great uncle, who died leaving large realty and terrace holdings in London, in Cheshire. She spent seven months in England last year in preparing the papers to be signed by her husband before the court of chancery, but he never lived to sign them, and she is going to try to get his share without the signature. There is pension money due Mr. Grice covering 22 years, during all of which time he never drew a cent from the British government, and Mrs. Grice, is at least hopeful of receiving this amount.

SHOE THIEF CAUGHT.

Colored Man Makes Lively Sprint but Is Finally Captured.

George Harris entered McGee's shoe store on Second South street yesterday and bolted out with a pair of shoes. He was noticed just as he reached the door, and chase followed. Proprietor, clerks, spectators and Patrolman Pierce went after the colored man, for he is colored and a porter claiming to be from Baltimore. He got away, but Patrolman Pierce didn't worry. He telephoned to various second-hand stores, asking them to hold a negro with shoes to pawn. Soon after Harris appeared at a Commercial street shop and was told the shoes would be bought, but he would have to return in a half hour or so. Pierce was waiting for him, and he made another sprint, but was caught quickly this time.

MALICE OR CARELESSNESS.

Actions of Street Sprinklers May Cause The City Damage Suits.

The "News" is in receipt of many complaints from people who have suffered extreme annoyance by the action of the men who drive the sprinkling carts on the streets for the city water department. If Mr. Raleigh knew the city is liable to have a number of heavy damage suits on its hands as a result of the carelessness of his drivers, he might issue instructions to have his crew take more care. Then he might not. The latest instance reported is that of Mrs. Fernamor Clawson, who narrowly escaped personal injury and the wrecking of her horse and buggy on Monday afternoon. The horse had been hitched to a post in front of a residence on east South Temple, and Mrs. Clawson had just gone inside when the water cart, sprinkling the street, drove past, sprinkling the street. The force of the stream of water struck the animal and set it plunging to such an extent that it fell to the ground and overturned the buggy in its struggles. The men on the watering cart merely drove on laughing and did not seem to see what became of the animal or the buggy. Mrs. Clawson was naturally much incensed at the conduct of the sprinklers and the matter will be brought to the attention of the city authorities.

Other cases are frequently heard and some of the men seem to take rare delight in drenching pedestrians and passersby.

BROOKS IN MORE TROUBLE.

He Will Have to Explain Why He Took a Suit of Clothes.

W. J. Brooks, who was arrested last night by Patrolman Carlson for refusing to pay an automobile fare, will have to face a more serious charge. Last night in the dark Patrolman Carlson did not recognize his man, but this morning when he got a better light on him he discovered that he was wanted for stealing a suit of clothes. Several other

CALL FOR MASS MEETING.

Proposed Bond Issue to Be Discussed in Fourth Ward.

A committee of taxpayers of the Fourth municipal ward has issued a call for a mass meeting of citizens to be held in the Twentieth ward amusement hall, Second avenue between D and E streets, to discuss the proposed issue of $600,000 bonds by the city administration. The meeting which will be non-political and non-sectarian, is set for 7:30 p. m., Friday. Such action will be taken at the meeting as may be proposed and voted upon by those present. Similar meetings in the interest of the taxpayers will undoubtedly be called in the other municipal wards of the city.

police men were in court, but they failed to fit the description of the man they were looking for to Brooks, Carlson, however, got a "hunch" and it proved to be correct.

A few days ago J. E. Jack, 154 south Fifth East street, sent a suit of clothes to a cleaner to be cleaned and pressed. When it was taken home by the cleaner, Brooks was on the trail of the cleaner's wagon. The suit was left with Jack's mother and a few minutes after the wagon drove up the street, Brooks went to the door and inquired for Mrs. Jack.

Peterson wants Mr. Jack's suit for about 20 minutes. He forgot to repair the clothes and he will surely have it back this afternoon.

With this information imparted, Mrs. Jack handed the suit to Brooks. He took it down the street and made once pawnshop in Commercial street, where it was pawned for $2.50. The suit was had been worn only a few times.

Patrolman Carlson will charge his man with obtaining goods by false pretenses and Mr. Jack will have his suit returned to him by the pawnbroker.

TELEGRAPHING TYPEWRITER.

San Francisco Man Showing Machine In Salt Lake.

George B. Smith of San Francisco is registered at the Kenyon. Mr. Smith is here for the purpose of organizing a subsidiary company in Salt Lake City to handle the Burlingame Telegraphing typewriter, a machine of recent invention which it is claimed will revolutionize the old methods of telegraphing. The machine is of simple construction, and consists of an ordinary typewriter keyboard attached to the wires instead of the Morse sender, and the receiving machine on the other end is the same thing in place of the ordinary receiver. The letters of the alphabet are reproduced just as they are on the keyboard by the new apparatus. The keys are operated by combs with slots in them and with magnets of different strength, and by the operation of different contacts with which the sending and receiving machines are equipped. The inventor of the machine is only 28 years old and was born in Indiana. The machines are manufactured in San Francisco, which is headquarters of the company controlling the patent.

SAMPLE DAILY LETTER.

Gov. Cutler has received a letter from a Brooklyn man, who evidently thinks that any one for president of the United States other than the present incumbent would be a failure. The writer who signs himself Spencer C. Wychoff says:

"I look both foreign and domestic demands the re-election of Theodore Roosevelt.

"I have, therefore, made fervent prayer to the Almighty God that he will compel the Republican delegates to re-elect Roosevelt, and place the name of our honored president in nomination."

SONS OF UTAH REORGANIZE.

The Sons of Utah were reorganized last evening, in Judge Armstrong's courtroom, with Judge George G. Armstrong as president, and a committee on membership including A. E. Carr, E. A. Rogers and J. Castino. The society was first organized in 1890, but after a six years' existence interest in the organization lagged. For membership the qualifications are one must be a male white, an American citizen, and must have resided in the state for five years, or since April 1903. The object of the society is to boost for Utah's industries. The Sons of Utah is strictly non-sectarian and non-political. Yet it will endeavor to favor in business ways and the way of larger opportunity the Sons of Utah.

SUCCUMBS TO INJURIES.

Peter Nielson, Run Down by a Car, dies at Hospital.

Peter Nielson, the Utah Light & Railway employee who was run down by a work train yesterday afternoon, as mentioned in last evening's "News," died late in the afternoon. He did not regain consciousness from the time of the accident, and breathed his last shortly after 5 o'clock. It is not believed that the man has any relatives living here, and the remains are at Evans' undertaking establishment. Nielson was about 30 years of age, and for several months had roomed at the old Valley House.

ARRESTED FOR FORGERY.

Mandus Krough, a junk dealer in a small way, was arrested yesterday evening by Detectives Schultz and Wilson. Krough is only 24, and is charged with forgery. Krough, so the story goes, called at the M. Levy junk yards a few days ago and when in the office of his stock, he learned that the forgery of Levy's name was discovered and the arrest of Krough followed quickly. He is said to have confessed to the forgery, explaining that business was bad and he was hungry.

GOOD ROADS MEN OFF FOR LAKE

Automobile Parade Through Salt
Lake Precedes Sixteen Mile Run Northward.

WEBER COUNTY IS COMING

Its Delegation, In Thirty Automobiles
Left Ogden As Larger Crowd
Chugged from Salt Lake.

The route—From First South and State, south to Fourth South, west to Main, north to South Temple, south to Second West and north to Lagoon, over the state road.

The guests—Gov. Cutler, Mayor Bransford, members of the Salt Lake City council, and city officials from Kaysville, Farmington, Bountiful, Wellsville, Pleasant Grove, American Fork and Ogden.

Participating—Over 100 machines carrying 200 people from Salt Lake, and 30 machines from Ogden, in addition to 150 people coming by train, all of these people backing the movement for good roads.

The Program—Automobile parade through Salt Lake and Ogden commencing at 1:30 o'clock in both cities, heading for Lagoon at 2:30 o'clock by Gov. Cutler, Mayor Bransford, E. S. Ferry, Orson Hewlett, and many others from Salt Lake, with short speeches from guests.

Utah's first assembly of automobiles to parade in a "good roads" movement occurred this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock when over a hundred machines gathered at First South and State street to parade south to Fourth South, then west to Main and on out to Lagoon, where this afternoon a big "good roads" demonstration is to be held, with people from four Utah counties participating.

The Salt Lake Automobile club and the Weber Good Roads club have joint charge of the run, which began from Ogden and Salt Lake simultaneously. While Lagoon is situated about midway between the two towns, there is no race to reach it. The pace-maker of the Salt Lake parade set a gate of 15 miles an hour and all the parade cars were forced to follow it, at a distance of about a city block between cars, to avoid dust.

While in the east there have been many long tours with great numbers of cars participating this is the first held in Utah, and for that reason was looked upon by those involved as an interesting test that may be followed by many other clubs.

The responses this morning to invitations to join in the tour and the good roads meeting were all enthusiastic. The city officials from Pleasant Grove and American Fork replied that they were glad to join in the movement, and they came to Salt Lake on the train arriving at 1:19 o'clock. Provo's officials replied regretting their inability to accept but giving assurances of their interest in the movement.

Many Salt Lake automobile owners who could not leave their business affairs offered the use of their machines, and some of these will be used to transport guests from the northward towns. The start was made promptly at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, each machine being decorated with placards boosting for good roads.

NO DOMESTIC SCIENCE.

Board of Education Votes Down Proposition for the High School.

The city board of education met in regular monthly meeting last evening, the members present being Messrs. Oberndorfer, Hammond, Thomas, Cummings, Glaue, Newman and Martin.

The principal subject to come before the board was whether or not a department of domestic science should be established at the high school. Such a recommendation had been made by Supt. Christensen, but after considerable discussion the proposition was voted down, those supporting it being Thomas, Oberndorfer and Hammond, while Martin, Cummings, Glaue and Newman opposed it. Mr. Thomas then changed his vote to the negative, so that the matter might be reconsidered.

Clerk Judd was instructed to solicit bids for the erection of an 18-room school building on the Walker site, Sixth South and Main street, bids to be opened Aug. 4. The estimated cost is in the neighborhood of $80,000.

The board will purchase from Wilson Simpson 160 rods of ground in block 30, plat A, and the small building on the Riverside grounds will be sold by the superintendent of buildings.

BROOKS RUNS AN AUTO.

But When It Comes to Paying, He Didn't Have the Cash.

Running brooks are all very fine, but W. J. Brooks found running an automobile unlucky last night. He ordered a machine from an east Second South garage and rode all over town, with Alf. Knudson, proprietor of the garage, acting as chauffeur. Mr. Brooks explained that he was the son of a big mining man named Freudenthal, and when the ride was ended, Brooks instructed the garage owner to send in the bill to Freudenthal at the Wilson hotel. When the bill was found no man by that name was there, Brooks was taken to the police station, for he said he could not pay for the ride. At headquarters Brooks was searched. Three beer chips and an empty morphine box constituted the result. The police held Brooks over night. A man named Freudenthal is believed to be coming to the Wilson, so the police are taking no decided steps until the case has been investigated further.

BURGLARS IN GROCERY STORE.

W. Bennett Finds a Wagon Load of Provisions Missing.

When W. Bennett, who lives in and conducts a grocery store at 801 south Eighth East street opened his shop for business this morning, he was somewhat surprised to find that while he had been asleep about 20 feet from his store during the night burglars had paid him a visit, departing with about $100 worth of provisions. Upon making an invoice of his stock, he learned that the thieves had taken with them a 60-pound can of lard, several dozens of canned goods, three or four hams, some candy and tobacco and numerous other articles of foodstuff. He found so much missing that he is sure a wagon was used to cart the goods away. Entrance was effected through a transom and then the front door unlocked. The thieves had to get the goods removed through that passage. The police, while now engaged in a hot pursuit, are working without clues, none of which were left by the robbers.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

A large affair of yesterday was the afternoon tea given by Mrs. George Moore, about 100 guests being present. The rooms were beautifully decorated, and assisting during the afternoon were Mrs. M. A. Stingley, Mrs. Richard Stingley and her daughters, the Misses Mary and Georgina Moore, Mrs. J. J. Campbell, Mrs. W. W. Armstrong, Mrs. J. B. Coggriff, Mrs. W. E. Pike, Mrs. W. C. Alexander and Mrs. T. R. Woodruff.

A pretty affair of yesterday was the tea given by Miss Margaret Werner for her guest, Miss June Whittemore, for her guests, Miss June Whittemore, with sweet peas in pink and white in the parlor, red roses in the library, and nasturtiums in the dining room, with wild mustard blossoms twining the chandelier. The hostess was assisted by Miss Katherine Jennings, and about 75 were present.

Mrs. H. D. Niles gave a luncheon at the Country club today.

Mr. and Mrs. William C. Bradford returned last week from their wedding trip to the northwest Pacific coast, and left on Tuesday last with Miss Lisle Bradford for Chicago, where they will attend the summer music school on Lake Michigan, conducted by the educational publishers of school music.

DEATH OF WM. CARROLL.

Architect William Carroll died last evening at his residence over the river, from an illness whose fatal character did not make itself fully apparent until recently. The deceased was a native of England, 54 years old, coming to this country at the age of 15. He graduated from the Boston institute of technology. The funeral services will be held from Joseph William Taylor's chapel at 2 p. m., tomorrow.

HIGH PRICE FOR SHOES.

Fine of Fifty Dollars Assessed George Harris for Stealing Footgear.

George Harris, colored, was sentenced to pay a fine of $50 by Judge Diehl this morning for stealing a pair of shoes worth $4. Harris took the shoes from the repair department of Henry McGee's Second South store and fled to a second-hand shoe shop to sell them. He told several stories of the way he came to have the shoes, none of them connecting very well with the others. First he said the shoes were his, and then he said a white man he had never seen before had given them to him to sell.

Harris is a porter, he says, and came here five days ago from Chicago. Because he neglected to have $50 on his person, he will tarry 30 days with the inmates of Tom Pitt's municipal reformatory institution in the rear of the police headquarters.

ANTI-SALOON MASS MEETING.

Rev. Fuller Reports Growing and Strong Interest in Movement.

Rev. L. S. Fuller, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Utah, reports a growing and strong interest all over this state in the local option movement which he is prone to believe will before long become so universal as to warrant a movement toward state prohibition. Mr. Fuller also reports much public anticipation relative to the great anti-saloon mass meeting in the tabernacle next Sunday at 2 p. m. On that occasion, the speaker of the day will be Rev. Dr. P. R. Baker, national superintendent of the league, with headquarters at Columbus, Ohio. Dr. Baker is a convincing speaker, who lays down the situation in such terms that the man who is generally inattentive cannot but help listen and understand. A large turnout is expected.

believes that of Utah's 27 counties, 25 will go for local option. He says that one-third of the city of Chicago and 75 per cent of the state of Illinois are now practically under prohibition.
