HEATH MAKES DENIAL.

Says He Is Not Going to Quit the Tribune or Salt Lake as Reported.

The report has been current for two or three days that Perry S. Heath, publisher and manager of the Tribune, was about to leave the city for good, relinquishing his business relations with Senator Kearns, and move to Novo Scotia, St. Heath volunteered during the interview.

It was said that Mr. Heath had given up his home, a fact the reporter is unable to verify, and was further reported that he had sold his interests in the Tribune to another man.

Mr. Heath was born in Toronto, Ont., Dec. 24, 1856, and entered the service of the Grand Trunk in 1875. He was superintendent of the Grand and Milwaukee road in 1882 and in 1884 became manager of the Chicago & Great Trunk. In 1884 he was elected president of the United Pacific and from 1886 to 1890 was president of the Toledo, St. Louis and Kansas City. From 1893 to 1895, when he became the head of the locomotive works, he was president of the New York Central. He arrived about 1895.

On the arrival of the special the visé, Heath, who accorded a genuine Gothic welcome. This means that the people turned out in mass to greet him. Another evidence of the manner in which they were received was seen in the decorations, which were in the style of the Gothic.

Mr. Heath was very popular in Salt Lake.
