Foreign Office Preparing Statement of Case.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 8,-The Russian St. Petersburg, Feb. s.-The Russian foreign office is preparing a statement of the negotiations between Russia and Japan. It may be in the form of a cir-cuflar note to the Russian representa-tives abroad but it is more likely to be published in the Official Messenger as an official communication. The situation diplomatically is delicate and anomolous. Just what Japanese action Russia would consider a cause for war under the circumstances is not clearly defined but it is pointed out that when Japan abruptly severed diplomat-ic negotiations notification was given concerning the Russo-Japanese treaty of 1896 and 1898, covering Corea. These treatles provide for the independence of Corea and in view of the commercial interests of Japanese in the Hermit kingdom. Russia therein recognized Japan's right to send troops to Corea for the preservation of order. There is, however, an important reservation. In case Japan considers it necessary to avail herself of this cause, Russia must medical an advance outfloation. The receive an advance notification. The treatles are specific on this point. Technically, the landing of a Japanese army in southern Corea without the now that diplomatic relations have ceased would be a breach of the spirit of the convention. The Russian authori-ties declare their position diplomatically as very strong. It is possible, how-ever, that Russia instead of insisting on the inviolability of these treaties at this juncture, will take her stand or the contentions set up in the negotia-tions and await a Japanese invasion of northern Corea, for the neutrality of which Russia insisted, as an overt act equivalent to war. The situation is such that the authorities are prepared at any moment to hear that Japan has made an aggressive move which would make a semblance of peace any longer impossible, and the czar is making disimpossible, and the czar is making dis-positions accordingly. Although in diplomatic circles there still is some vague talk to the effect that hostilities may be averted, this hope is regarded as so slender as hardly to be worth considering. Mediation is believed to be impossible unless the two adver-saries ask for it. Neither France nor Great Britain is in a position to offer their good offices, on account of their their good offices, on account of their alliances, and the distrust here of the United States would make it difficult for America to do so. In short, war is regarded here as practically inwith. is regarded here as practically inevita-The people of the Russian capital been thoroughly aroused by the Japanese action and war is the only subject discussed. The greatest ac-tivity prevails in government circles. Heavy snow is falling and the streets are filled with marching soldiers in campaign uniforms.

DROWNED IN THE LAKE. J. R. McFarland was drowned in the lake Saturday evening by failing off the trestle while intoxicated. The accident happened about & o'clock and was wit-nessed by a number of workinen, but the wind carried the unfortunate man out into the lake before they could overtake him. McFarland was a man about 45 or 50 years of age and his home was at Odebolt, Ia. Several letters from his son Irvine, living at that place, were found in his pockets. He went out to the cut-off about a week ago and had previously worked in Ogden at the Eagle saloon, where he conducted one of the games. He had not gone to work out on the treatle, as he was intoxicated, and the foreman would not put him to work un-il he had sobered up. ATTACK BY CATTLEMEN.

In Retaliation for Cutting Off Return Passes They Complain of Service.

It looks as though western live stock shippers are preparing to worry the railroads in retallation for the cutting off of return passes, says the New York Commercial. Members of the exchange in Kansas City have prepared a petition to Secy. Cortelyou of the depart-ment of commerce, in which they call attention to the "unwarrantable, un-reasonable and unjust manner in which shipments are handled;" that they are "no longer treated as perishable and in accordance with humane laws." The petition further says: "The loss-es in extra shrinkage expense and in values amount to many millions of dol-lars to those engaged in the live stock industry. As over 75 pr cent of the live stock shipments is what is known as interstate commerce, it seems to us that your department of the govern-ment can and will investigate the charges that we make against the rall-way companies. We stand ready to furnish proper evidence bearing on the subject. Some prompt action should be taken, to relieve the deplorable conditions: if not, the industry will be seri-ously crippled."
