

LAWYERS OF THE EIGHTH LEGISLATURE

There Are Ten Representatives of the Legal Profession and FOUR LAWYERS IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES. They Show Up Prominently in Committee Assignments.

LAWMAKERS by tradition are supposed to be largely composed of lawyers. The courage that familiarity with the law gives lawyers to tinker with it is what counts in their favor, while the sheep must help off daring to lead only when the matter of a bounty on coyotes is mentioned or a bill is introduced to make sheepmen responsible for damage caused by their flocks to hillside roads.

In this legislature the lead of the lawyers is not so marked as formerly. On the judiciary committee of the state senate only a bare voting majority is made up of lawyers, while there are also on the committee one business man, one farmer, and one contractor and builder.

Salt Lake and Ogden are the only communities that sent lawyers to the senate. Ogden sent Senator Hulaniski, a veteran member both of the bar and of the Grand Army. The house is more liberally provided in the matter of geographical distribution. Of the six lawyers in that body, two are from Salt Lake, one from Tooele, one from Cache, one from Weber and one from Washington. One, moreover, is a Democrat, and thus he keeps up the traditions of a party that has always been famed for the predominance of lawyers in its leadership.

In point of standing among lawyers, Benner X. Smith and Hulaniski are the best known members. Marks of the senate is a young lawyer who is a graduate of the University of Utah, and in politics, a representative of the southern section of Salt Lake county.

MARKS OF SALT LAKE.

Marks comes to the senate from the house where he was extensively trained in parliamentary rules. He draws the young man's choice by succeeding Hollingsworth on the committee on engrossed and enrolled bills. This is a committee that takes real work. Its rewards are not in fame, but in the castigation of any senator who finds a flaw, however slight, in any of his measures. Marks serves on the judiciary committee, and draws another opportunity for extensive work in the chairmanship of the committee on contingent expenses. In this position he is responsible for the smooth working of the general machinery in so far as a proper equipment of typewriters, rules, paper, pens and all necessities go. He has always been an advocate of better treatment of the University of Utah, and in this connection has an opportunity for service as a member of the committee on education.

SENATOR C. E. MARKS,
Salt Lake.

BENNER X. SMITH.

Senator Smith this season receives the trust of responsibility for the final legal form of each bill passing the senate. Bills afterwards counted out in the courts are considered to be direct reflections upon the judiciary committee chairman, and he is the person to whom the senate looks for protection. His recommendation that a bill die because it fails to measure up to constitutional requirements will quickly result in a concurring vote to kill it. Nearly all bills sooner or later will go through his hands, and his committee therefore is all powerful, so long as the senate receives its recommendations in good faith. Benner X. Smith has served through three previous legislative sessions, although they were not consecutive. As a holdover he is well acquainted with the general trend of routine bills, and will have much to do in dropping into his grave yard "freak bills," such as certain house members are famous for introducing.

SENATOR B. X. SMITH,
Salt Lake.

BADGER OF SALT LAKE.

Carl Badger is a type of the lawyer who is also a politician. In politics

SENATOR CARL BADGER,
Salt Lake.

his past has been built up, and his future seems to lie. His education in law was secured at George Washington University, at Washington, D. C., but all the time he had one eye on his law books he had the other in the chambers of the senate and the house. There he picked up much information that has proved useful to him in the Utah legislature. His youngest member in years, his committee are among the most important, and his activities have been so well timed that he has escaped the "squabbling" maneuver with which young senators are generally greeted by their older colleagues. Stookey and Marks have not been so fortunate in this respect. Badger has added to a legal training, a good voice well equipped with the flowing periods of oratory. No other member of the senate could be classed in the "public speaker" category. In making notable nominating speeches in the recent Republican state convention, and in nominating Senator Smoot for re-election, Senator Badger foretold the future bent of his mind and career.

EDMUND T. HULANISKI.

The senior senator from Ogden is a native of Michigan, whose pride is that he is a "life long Republican." He served through the Civil war in actual service and can tell stories of cavalry and infantry in the most severely forced scouting for forage that breathe an atmosphere of real warfare. He is the only member of the upper house with a military record, and in the legislature has a record of being interested in civic organizations. He is chairman of the committee on county and municipal corporations in which capacity he will have much opportunity to work out his ideas in this field. The only lawyer on the Kuchler committee is Badger, and he is not working strictly in harmony with the "bury her deep" plans from which the hopes of practicability are dimming.

SENATOR HULANISKI,
Weber.

JAMES B. MCCrackEN, WEBER.

James B. McCracken, elected to the Eighth legislature from Weber county, is a member of the firm of Agee & McCracken of Ogden, and is intensely interested in all things pertaining to the legal profession. Mr. McCracken has fathered a bill in the lower branch doing away with a great many of the obstacles to instituting garnishment proceedings, the bill having been introduced by him and referred to the committee on judiciary. Mr. McCracken came to Utah 19 years ago, locating at Ogden. There he formed a co-partnership with Ex-Governor Alfred W. Agee of the State of Nebraska, and this firm is among the leading ones of the junction city. Mr. McCracken has been an ardent Republican all his life. His family consists of his wife, her sister and himself. The family came west for the benefit of Mrs. McCracken's health and fortunately the climate has agreed with her and she is now restored to her usual good health.

PHOTOS BY JOHNSON.
L. L. BAKER,
Tooele.

L. L. BAKER, TOOELE.

L. L. Baker, elected to the Eighth session from the county of Tooele, was born at Greeley, Iowa, Nov. 19, 1871. He attended the Upper Iowa University at Fayette, Iowa, for three years, and studied law in the office of Blair, Dunham & Norris, at Manchester, Iowa, during the years 1893-95. Completed his law course at the University of Michigan, at Ann Arbor, in 1895, and came west the next year.

Mr. Baker chose Tooele for a location, in 1895, and has resided there ever since, practicing his profession. He was elected county attorney of Tooele county in 1895, and re-elected in 1900 and 1902. He married Miss Georgia Warburton of Tooele City, in 1895, and three children have blessed the union.

In the activities of the house, Mr. Baker is one of the leading spirits. He is chairman of the committee on manufactures and commerce, and his other committee assignments include the following: Military affairs, mining and smelting, municipal corporations, capital, census, education and public funds.

E. W. ROBINSON.

E. W. Robinson of Logan, speaker

REP. E. W. ROBINSON, Cache.

of the house, is in the strictest sense of the word a Utah product. He was born at American Fork, Utah county, July 19, 1866, and received his education at the Brigham Young university and at the Michigan university at Ann Arbor. For a number of years he taught school, becoming principal of the district school of American Fork. He also served that city in the capacity of councilman.

Mr. Robinson spent several years in Europe, and while away learned the Turkish, German and Arabic languages. Returning to this country, he took up the study of law at Ann Arbor and was admitted to the bar in

BRIGHAM CLEGG.

Brigham Clegg, representative from Salt Lake, is 32 years old, having been born at Heber City, Utah, Dec. 30, 1876. After graduating from the public schools Mr. Clegg spent two years in the B. Y. academy at Provo and three years in the L. D. S. university at Salt Lake, preparing himself for the study of law. Read law at odd times for two years and spent one year in study with Dey & Stevens, attorneys, and was admitted to the bar May 9, 1904.

Mr. Clegg's first political experience was gained in the contest for county attorney of Wasatch county in 1900, in which he was defeated by 30 votes, although he ran ahead of his ticket. He was elected to the legislature from Salt Lake City in 1907, and again in 1909. Mr. Clegg has been successful in his practice, and has accumulated considerable farming and city property.

During the session of 1907, Mr. Clegg was chosen chairman of the judiciary committee of the house, and was given the same appointment at the beginning of the present session. As such, Mr. Clegg will have direct supervision of many of the most important bills to come before the legislature, including those on the subject of prohibition.

ELIAS CONWAY ASHTON.

Elias Conway Ashton is one of the representatives in the lower house from Salt Lake county. He was born in Salt Lake City, Feb. 18, 1883, and is thus 25 years old. His education was obtained in the public schools and four years in the L. D. S. college, two and a half years in College of Commerce and Administration, winding up with three years' law course at the University of Chicago, from which he graduated with degree of L. L. B.

Mr. Ashton first entered the political arena as a candidate for election to the legislature from Salt Lake county last November. In common with the balance of the Republican ticket, he was elected. He has been greatly interested in the movement for juvenile betterment in the city and state, and has already fathered house bills Nos. 22, 23, 24 and 25, which are measures covering the entire subject of juvenile court procedure, curfew law, establishment of detention homes, and the protection and supervision of dependent and neglected children.

REP. D. H. MORRIS.

was educated in the common schools, spending two years at the J. Y. academy at Provo during 1879-80. He studied law and was admitted to practice before the district and supreme courts of the state, and the federal court for St. George City, and served nine years as city and county attorney of Washington county. He served two terms as representative in the legislature from his section, during the sessions of 1901 and 1903.

Mr. Morris has the distinction of being one of two Democrats in the present session of the legislature, his fellow Democrat being F. B. Hammond of Grand county. Mr. Morris also has the honor to introduce the first joint memorial passed in the present legislature, being H. J. M. No. 1, asking ing count had been inaugurated in the year when Daniel was being tried in the fiery furnace of King Nebuchadnezzar, it would not be completed until the year 3522.

REVENUE RECORD.

According to the official reports of the internal revenue department, the following amounts were "paid in" to Uncle Sam by the drink curse out of its own tremendous never-ceasing graft from the American people:

Internal Revenue From Alcoholic Liquors for 1899-1908 Inclusive.

The total amount received by the United States Government in Internal Revenue from liquors, during the 10 year period, 1899-1908, inclusive, was $1,901,793,588.

The amount in detail year by year is as follows:

Year.	Spirits.	Permented Liquors.	Total.
1899	$ 99,283,534	$ 68,614,558	$ 167,928,092
1900	109,848,817	73,550,754	183,419,571
1901	116,927,980	101,697,888	218,625,868
1902	121,158,013	171,958,902	293,126,915
1903	131,953,472	175,477,856	307,431,328
1904	135,810,015	198,083,458	333,893,473
1905	135,958,513	200,400,553	336,359,066
1906	143,000,000	199,935,912	342,935,912
1907	156,336,901	205,567,818	361,904,719
1908	140,158,807	209,807,010	350,965,817
	$1,289,950,107	$611,863,281	$1,901,793,388

SCIENTIFIC MISCELLANY.

The rocket life-saving apparatus is sometimes ineffective in reaching vessels wrecked off a dangerous coast, and as in such cases the force of both wind and waves is almost always directed toward the shore, Mr. Bredsdorff, director of a shipbuilding company at Flensburg, Prussia, has devised a so-called "stranding buoy" to be carried by the vessel and launched when necessary. The apparatus has the form of a miniature sailing vessel, 2 feet long, 1 1/2 inches wide and 1 1/2 inches deep, drawing 3 inches of water. It has a rounded deck, a heavy lead keel to keep it upright, and a mast and sail, and a red attached to the stern carried 1500 feet of light manilla rope, which is paid out as the buoy is carried away from the ship. Three water-tight compartments insure floating, while giving space for ship's papers or any communication. On being driven to land by the wind, the people on shore can easily secure the buoy, and by means of the line a strong cable can be stretched to the vessel in the usual way. Recent wrecks, where the rock of apparatus and surf boats have fallen, could have been connected to shore by this buoy, saving many lives.

The mapping of airship harbors is a new duty of the British war office. The map already made shows chosen hollows in woods, at the foot of sheltering hillsides and in deep gravel pits, where a balloon in distress may descend quickly and be protected from

PHOTOS BY JOHNSON.
THOMAS B. MCCrackEN,
Weber.

THOMAS B. MCCrackEN, WEBER.

ly prominent in local railway circles, having been connected with the Denver & Rio Grande, Rio Grande Western, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific and Oregon Short Line. He is now president of the Nevada & Northern Railway, and is also president of the Great Northern Exploration company. John Hays Hammond is a holdover member of the board of governors. John Hays Hammond, vice president; Frank W. Seligman, treasurer; James J. McMillan, secretary.

Gov. William Spry was elected an honorary vice president, as were the following governors of other states and territories: Porfirio Diaz, president of Mexico; Wilford L. Huggatt, governor of Alaska; Joseph J. Kirby, governor of California; John P. Shafroth, governor of Colorado; James H. Brady, governor of Idaho; John A. Johnson, governor of Minnesota; Edwin L. Norcross, governor of Montana; L. S. Dickinson, governor of Nevada; John B. Hays, governor of New Mexico; George F. Chamberlain, governor of North Dakota; George F. Vessy, governor of South Dakota; M. Campbell, governor of Texas; Samuel B. Bryan, B. Brooke, governor of Wyoming; James Dunsen, lieutenant governor of Florida; L. Columbia.

The Rocky Mountain Club of New York is an organization of western men in the east, formed to promote good fellowship among its members, and to the further interest of the west in the east. Its membership is made up of a number of the most influential and wealthy residents of New York, formerly residents of the western states. It was organized as a result of a number of informal gatherings of western men in the east, resulting in a demand for a New York home for themselves and other friends. The club has been most successful from the start and now proposes to build a home of its own. A special committee has been negotiating with several property owners for a suitable and commodious clubhouse. The plans of the club contemplate the building of a large, comfortable and commodious clubhouse, in addition to its social features, the club is in constant touch with commercial and other national resources in the protection and development of the great national resources of the west.

ELIAS CONWAY ASHTON.

At the annual meeting of the Rocky Mountain Club of New York, held at the Waldorf-Astoria, Jan. 12, many well known westerners were present. Among the governors chosen for the class of 1912 was S. W. Eccles, former

ELIAS CONWAY ASHTON.

At the annual meeting of the Rocky Mountain Club of New York, held at the Waldorf-Astoria, Jan. 12, many well known westerners were present. Among the governors chosen for the class of 1912 was S. W. Eccles, former

ELIAS CONWAY ASHTON.

At the annual meeting of the Rocky Mountain Club of New York, held at the Waldorf-Astoria, Jan. 12, many well known westerners were present. Among the governors chosen for the class of 1912 was S. W. Eccles, former

ELIAS CONWAY ASHTON.

At the annual meeting of the Rocky Mountain Club of New York, held at the Waldorf-Astoria, Jan. 12, many well known westerners were present. Among the governors chosen for the class of 1912 was S. W. Eccles, former

ELIAS CONWAY ASHTON.

At the annual meeting of the Rocky Mountain Club of New York, held at the Waldorf-Astoria, Jan. 12, many well known westerners were present. Among the governors chosen for the class of 1912 was S. W. Eccles, former

ELIAS CONWAY ASHTON.

At the annual meeting of the Rocky Mountain Club of New York, held at the Waldorf-Astoria, Jan. 12, many well known westerners were present. Among the governors chosen for the class of 1912 was S. W. Eccles, former

ELIAS CONWAY ASHTON.

At the annual meeting of the Rocky Mountain Club of New York, held at the Waldorf-Astoria, Jan. 12, many well known westerners were present. Among the governors chosen for the class of 1912 was S. W. Eccles, former

ELIAS CONWAY ASHTON.

At the annual meeting of the Rocky Mountain Club of New York, held at the Waldorf-Astoria, Jan. 12, many well known westerners were present. Among the governors chosen for the class of 1912 was S. W. Eccles, former

ELIAS CONWAY ASHTON.

At the annual meeting of the Rocky Mountain Club of New York, held at the Waldorf-Astoria, Jan. 12, many well known westerners were present. Among the governors chosen for the class of 1912 was S. W. Eccles, former

ELIAS CONWAY ASHTON.

At the annual meeting of the Rocky Mountain Club of New York, held at the Waldorf-Astoria, Jan. 12, many well known westerners were present. Among the governors chosen for the class of 1912 was S. W. Eccles, former

ELIAS CONWAY ASHTON.

At the annual meeting of the Rocky Mountain Club of New York, held at the Waldorf-Astoria, Jan. 12, many well known westerners were present. Among the governors chosen for the class of 1912 was S. W. Eccles, former

ELIAS CONWAY ASHTON.

At the annual meeting of the Rocky Mountain Club of New York, held at the Waldorf-Astoria, Jan. 12, many well known westerners were present. Among the governors chosen for the class of 1912 was S. W. Eccles, former

ELIAS CONWAY ASHTON.

At the annual meeting of the Rocky Mountain Club of New York, held at the Waldorf-Astoria, Jan. 12, many well known westerners were present. Among the governors chosen for the class of 1912 was S. W. Eccles, former

ELIAS CONWAY ASHTON.

At the annual meeting of the Rocky Mountain Club of New York, held at the Waldorf-Astoria, Jan. 12, many well known westerners were present. Among the governors chosen for the class of 1912 was S. W. Eccles, former

ELIAS CONWAY ASHTON.

At the annual meeting of the Rocky Mountain Club of New York, held at the Waldorf-Astoria, Jan. 12, many well known westerners were present. Among the governors chosen for the class of 1912 was S. W. Eccles, former

ELIAS CONWAY ASHTON.

At the annual meeting of the Rocky Mountain Club of New York, held at the Waldorf-Astoria, Jan. 12, many well known westerners were present. Among the governors chosen for the class of 1912 was S. W. Eccles, former

ELIAS CONWAY ASHTON.

At the annual meeting of the Rocky Mountain Club of New York, held at the Waldorf-Astoria, Jan. 12, many well known westerners were present. Among the governors chosen for the class of 1912 was S. W. Eccles, former

ELIAS CONWAY ASHTON.

At the annual meeting of the Rocky Mountain Club of New York, held at the Waldorf-Astoria, Jan. 12, many well known westerners were present. Among the governors chosen for the class of 1912 was S. W. Eccles, former ly prominent in local railway circles, having been connected with the Denver & Rio Grande, Rio Grande Western, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific and Oregon Short Line. He is now president of the Nevada & Northern Railway, and is also president of the Great Northern Exploration company. John Hays Hammond is a holdover member of the board of governors. John Hays Hammond, vice president; Frank W. Seligman, treasurer; James J. McMillan, secretary.

THOMAS B. MCCrackEN, WEBER.

Gov. William Spry was elected an honorary vice president, as were the following governors of other states and territories: Porfirio Diaz, president of Mexico; Wilford L. Huggatt, governor of Alaska; Joseph J. Kirby, governor of California; John P. Shafroth, governor of Colorado; James H. Brady, governor of Idaho; John A. Johnson, governor of Minnesota; Edwin L. Norcross, governor of Montana; L. S. Dickinson, governor of Nevada; John B. Hays, governor of New Mexico; George F. Chamberlain, governor of North Dakota; George F. Vessy, governor of South Dakota; M. Campbell, governor of Texas; Samuel B. Bryan, B. Brooke, governor of Wyoming; James Dunsen, lieutenant governor of Florida; L. Columbia.

The Rocky Mountain Club of New York is an organization of western men in the east, formed to promote good fellowship among its members, and to the further interest of the west in the east. Its membership is made up of a number of the most influential and wealthy residents of New York, formerly residents of the western states. It was organized as a result of a number of informal gatherings of western men in the east, resulting in a demand for a New York home for themselves and other friends. The club has been most successful from the start and now proposes to build a home of its own. A special committee has been negotiating with several property owners for a suitable and commodious clubhouse. The plans of the club contemplate the building of a large, comfortable and commodious clubhouse, in addition to its social features, the club is in constant touch with commercial and other national resources in the protection and development of the great national resources of the west.

Many little lives have been saved by Foley's Honey and Tar, for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. It is the only safe remedy for infants and children as it contains no opiates or other narcotic drugs, and children love Foley's Honey and Tar. Careful mothers keep a bottle in the house. Refuse substitutes. F. J. Hill Drug Co., ("The Never Substitutes.")

THOMAS B. MCCrackEN, WEBER.

ly prominent in local railway circles, having been connected with the Denver & Rio Grande, Rio Grande Western, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific and Oregon Short Line. He is now president of the Nevada & Northern Railway, and is also president of the Great Northern Exploration company. John Hays Hammond is a holdover member of the board of governors. John Hays Hammond, vice president; Frank W. Seligman, treasurer; James J. McMillan, secretary.

Gov. William Spry was elected an honorary vice president, as were the following governors of other states and territories: Porfirio Diaz, president of Mexico; Wilford L. Huggatt, governor of Alaska; Joseph J. Kirby, governor of California; John P. Shafroth, governor of Colorado; James H. Brady, governor of Idaho; John A. Johnson, governor of Minnesota; Edwin L. Norcross, governor of Montana; L. S. Dickinson, governor of Nevada; John B. Hays, governor of New Mexico; George F. Chamberlain, governor of North Dakota; George F. Vessy, governor of South Dakota; M. Campbell, governor of Texas; Samuel B. Bryan, B. Brooke, governor of Wyoming; James Dunsen, lieutenant governor of Florida; L. Columbia.

The Rocky Mountain Club of New York is an organization of western men in the east, formed to promote good fellowship among its members, and to the further interest of the west in the east. Its membership is made up of a number of the most influential and wealthy residents of New York, formerly residents of the western states. It was organized as a result of a number of informal gatherings of western men in the east, resulting in a demand for a New York home for themselves and other friends. The club has been most successful from the start and now proposes to build a home of its own. A special committee has been negotiating with several property owners for a suitable and commodious clubhouse. The plans of the club contemplate the building of a large, comfortable and commodious clubhouse, in addition to its social features, the club is in constant touch with commercial and other national resources in the protection and development of the great national resources of the west.

Many little lives have been saved by Foley's Honey and Tar, for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. It is the only safe remedy for infants and children as it contains no opiates or other narcotic drugs, and children love Foley's Honey and Tar. Careful mothers keep a bottle in the house. Refuse substitutes. F. J. Hill Drug Co., ("The Never Substitutes.")

THOMAS B. MCCrackEN, WEBER.

ly prominent in local railway circles, having been connected with the Denver & Rio Grande, Rio Grande Western, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific and Oregon Short Line. He is now president of the Nevada & Northern Railway, and is also president of the Great Northern Exploration company. John Hays Hammond is a holdover member of the board of governors. John Hays Hammond, vice president; Frank W. Seligman, treasurer; James J. McMillan, secretary.

Gov. William Spry was elected an honorary vice president, as were the following governors of other states and territories: Porfirio Diaz, president of Mexico; Wilford L. Huggatt, governor of Alaska; Joseph J. Kirby, governor of California; John P. Shafroth, governor of Colorado; James H. Brady, governor of Idaho; John A. Johnson, governor of Minnesota; Edwin L. Norcross, governor of Montana; L. S. Dickinson, governor of Nevada; John B. Hays, governor of New Mexico; George F. Chamberlain, governor of North Dakota; George F. Vessy, governor of South Dakota; M. Campbell, governor of Texas; Samuel B. Bryan, B. Brooke, governor of Wyoming; James Dunsen, lieutenant governor of Florida; L. Columbia.

The Rocky Mountain Club of New York is an organization of western men in the east, formed to promote good fellowship among its members, and to the further interest of the west in the east. Its membership is made up of a number of the most influential and wealthy residents of New York, formerly residents of the western states. It was organized as a result of a number of informal gatherings of western men in the east, resulting in a demand for a New York home for themselves and other friends. The club has been most successful from the start and now proposes to build a home of its own. A special committee has been negotiating with several property owners for a suitable and commodious clubhouse. The plans of the club contemplate the building of a large, comfortable and commodious clubhouse, in addition to its social features, the club is in constant touch with commercial and other national resources in the protection and development of the great national resources of the west.

Many little lives have been saved by Foley's Honey and Tar, for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. It is the only safe remedy for infants and children as it contains no opiates or other narcotic drugs, and children love Foley's Honey and Tar. Careful mothers keep a bottle in the house. Refuse substitutes. F. J. Hill Drug Co., ("The Never Substitutes.")

THOMAS B. MCCrackEN, WEBER.

ly prominent in local railway circles, having been connected with the Denver & Rio Grande, Rio Grande Western, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific and Oregon Short Line. He is now president of the Nevada & Northern Railway, and is also president of the Great Northern Exploration company. John Hays Hammond is a holdover member of the board of governors. John Hays Hammond, vice president; Frank W. Seligman, treasurer; James J. McMillan, secretary.

Gov. William Spry was elected an honorary vice president, as were the following governors of other states and territories: Porfirio Diaz, president of Mexico; Wilford L. Huggatt, governor of Alaska; Joseph J. Kirby, governor of California; John P. Shafroth, governor of Colorado; James H. Brady, governor of Idaho; John A. Johnson, governor of Minnesota; Edwin L. Norcross, governor of Montana; L. S. Dickinson, governor of Nevada; John B. Hays, governor of New Mexico; George F. Chamberlain, governor of North Dakota; George F. Vessy, governor of South Dakota; M. Campbell, governor of Texas; Samuel B. Bryan, B. Brooke, governor of Wyoming; James Dunsen, lieutenant governor of Florida; L. Columbia.

The Rocky Mountain Club of New York is an organization of western men in the east, formed to promote good fellowship among its members, and to the further interest of the west in the east. Its membership is made up of a number of the most influential and wealthy residents of New York, formerly residents of the western states. It was organized as a result of a number of informal gatherings of western men in the east, resulting in a demand for a New York home for themselves and other friends. The club has been most successful from the start and now proposes to build a home of its own. A special committee has been negotiating with several property owners for a suitable and commodious clubhouse. The plans of the club contemplate the building of a large, comfortable and commodious clubhouse, in addition to its social features, the club is in constant touch with commercial and other national resources in the protection and development of the great national resources of the west.

Many little lives have been saved by Foley's Honey and Tar, for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. It is the only safe remedy for infants and children as it contains no opiates or other narcotic drugs, and children love Foley's Honey and Tar. Careful