ENGLAND SOMEWHAT SLOW.

Ex-Chief W. G. Bywater of the fire department, who was placed recently, says there was only one place he visited where the system anywhere near approached the excellencies of the American, and that was Manchester. This city has a fire chief who is up-to-date in his work. He had inspected the workings of the American methods of department operation, and was appreciative of their worth. That he at once introduced them into his own department, in which he was substantially supported by prominent citizens. Mr. Bywater was not much impressed with the method of obtaining fire hydrants in England and on the continent. In some large centers where the fire boards ought to know better, he found the fire hydrant connections buried under the streets, instead of being set above ground. This necessitated opening a trap and going through a slow method of coupling on the hose that often occasioned an exasperating delay.

ATTRACTIONS AT FAIR.

Contracts Signed Up With the Reiss Carnival Company to Appear.

The conference between Secretary Ensign and Nat Reiss of the Reiss Carnival company, referred to in last evening's "News," resulted later in a contract, by which the state fair attractions will be amplified by additions from the Carnival company. Mr. Ensign says, the free attractions will number 60 acts in a single week. Of these balloon ascensions, two high-wire acts, two Japanese pole stunts, two high dives and two slides for life. Among the other free attractions during fair week will be Viola in leaning the gun, two dogs doing a high dive from a ladder, the Slim Lettes, four in number, doing a horizontal bar act, Phillo, doing a hand-balancing act, Miss Gilbert, doing a triple contortion act, Professor Henderson, doing an aerial Roman ring act, the three Geasons, slack wire performers; the Hawkins trio, trapeze performers; and a comedy clown juggling act. In return for the free attractions, the carnival company is given the right to place fifteen shows on the midway for which admission will be charged.

"LUCK OF A DRUNKEN MAN."

A thrilling moment for a number of spectators on South Temple street this morning was that in which a drunken man staggered across the street, track immediately in front of a west-bound O. S. L. depot car. The fellow had turned the corner from Main street and was ambling westward along the sidewalk, hat in hand and waddling like a bear without a rider. Arriving in front of the marble works west of the "News" office, the fellow made a tack into the street, and without regard for dray wagons, automobiles or streetcars, proceeded in his shambling to cross the car track. The car bound for the depot had just turned the corner as he of the bibulous proposition left the sidewalk, and the motorman had no idea that he would attempt to cross the track, and when it became a certainty that he would do so, the car was within five feet of the stumbling inebriate. The motorman slapped on the air and shut the power off, while the people watching the affair held their breath. The car never touched the fellow, however, and he hobbled on board with the assistance of the conductor, and rode with it to the depot.

FUNERAL OF DORA PETERSON.

Highly Respected Young Mother Laid To Rest.

Funeral services were held in the Eleventh ward meetinghouse yesterday afternoon, over the remains of Mrs. Dora Peterson, wife of Earl Peterson, daughter of the late Charles Livingston, who died Monday last of typhoid fever. The hall was beautifully draped in white, and the casket and pulpit were entirely buried under a wealth of delicate, sweet flowers. A very large attendance of family and friends of deceased was present, and the services were conducted by Bishop Robert Morris. Appropriate music was furnished by members of the ward choir and solos were feelingly rendered as follows: "The Beautiful City," by Miss Edna Morris; "Only a Prayer," by Miss Myrtle Brown.

The speakers were, Bishop Morris, Counselor Isaac Sears, and Elder Alexander McMaster, and the opening and closing prayers were offered respectively by Elders W. B. Douglas and President John M. Knight. The speakers uttered words of comfort and consolation to the living and spoke in high terms of the faith and devotion of the deceased who had been laid down in the prime of young womanhood. A long funeral train followed the remains to the city cemetery where interment took place, the dedication prayer being offered by Elder Jos. E. Taylor.

LOCAL OPTION CAMPAIGN.

The following committees were appointed in arranging for the coming state convention, on entertainment—Mrs. T. A. Walker, Mrs. David, Mrs. Pinkerton, Mrs. Wright, Mrs. Nipper, Mrs. Dr. Thomas, Miss Dittmar, Mrs. L. D. Martin, Mrs. Core and Miss Simpson, on refreshments—Mrs. H. W. Smith, Mrs. Leaty Montgomery, Mrs. Mater, Mrs. Page and Mrs. Dr. Green. The annual election will be held Sept. 11, at the home of Mrs. L. H. Page on Third avenue.

TILE VS. IRON PIPE.

Councilmen Wrestle With Problem But Receive No Solace from Plumbing Inspector.

Whether or not tile pipe shall be substituted for iron pipe for sewer connections was a question discussed to considerable length by the council committee last night. Suggestions have been made that the tile would stand as good service and at the same time cost much less than the iron, and some councilmen favor the substitution. Others, however, are opposed to the change, and their attitude is backed by the city engineer and the plumbing inspector.

The latter, J. W. Farrell, presented for the consideration of the committee a correspondence between himself and the editor of Domestic Engineering, Chicago, relative to the matter. That journal is strongly opposed to the pipes. The committee deferred action to another meeting.

BACK FROM ENGLAND.

T. R. Cutler Revisits the Place of His Birth in Sheffield.

Mr. Thomas R. Cutler, general manager of the Utah-Idaho Sugar company, returned last evening from a trip to Great Britain, the main purpose of which was to visit his birthplace in Sheffield, which he and his brother, Geo. Cutler, left 45 years ago. He also had the pleasure of meeting his son and his daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Cutler, who are now filling a mission in England.

Mr. Cutler states that he never experienced a more enjoyable trip than the one just concluded. He was 17 days on British soil, and it was just a month from the time he left New York to the time he landed on his return. He had the pleasure of traveling on the new steamship, the Mauritania, on one of her latest trips, when she broke the record going east, by covering the distance from land to land in four days, 10 hours, and a few minutes. It was no uncommon thing for her to make over 650 miles in a day's run. Mr. Cutler says the vessel is a marvel of modern palatial achievement. Her crew consists of 300 men, and she can carry 3,000 passengers. She has six decks, and elevators carry the passengers up and down. Boat races were held on one of the decks during the trip, and proved a most enjoyable feature.

Mr. Cutler says he found his birthplace and his father's old place of business so little changed that it seemed as yesterday since he visited them last. Business is quite dull in England and in Sheffield there were 10,000 steel workers idle.

Coming back, Mr. Cutler, his son and daughter-in-law went through Ireland and had a most enjoyable visit in Dublin and Belfast. Mr. Cutler catching the Lucania, the return steamer at Queenstown. He also visited Douglas on the Isle of Man, a famous watering place, on a bank holiday, and saw 200,000 people disporting themselves at play.

Mr. Cutler was deeply grieved to learn of the death of his old business associate, C. L. Granger, and he told what a peculiar shock the intelligence gave him, reaching him as it did on the ocean. The news had been cable from New York to Ireland, and was flashed back to the ship by wireless telegraph.

Mr. Cutler found the depression among railroads not confined to America alone, as the falling off of traffic was just as heavy in England. In New York he states that the money market promises to be stagnant for some time to come, and standard western enterprises can secure all the funds they want for the remainder of the year, at low rates.
