

FLOATING FRAGMENTS.

J. T. Gilmer offers a reward for a stray or stolen stallion. See advertisement.

The time for holding Sunday meetings in the 21st Ward has been changed from 6.30 to 6 p.m.

There is an appearance of an approaching snow storm. "Are we going to have snow do you think?" is the common remark on the street. "Looks like it, don't it?" is the customary reply. Not a great deal of intelligence from either side.

The Wood River Miner says: A number of prospectors inform us that the bears are so thick about Sawtooth that they have driven workmen out of some sections of the country. Nearly every clump of brush contains one or more bald-faced grizzlies, and as they are unusually savage, men give them a wide berth. If any one has lost any bears this is the place to look for them.

A few years ago Mr. Edward E. Brain, a young man of this city, thought he would like to acquire the ability to write. He had the necessary books, put himself through a course of study, took notes at public meetings for practice, all the while working for his business as a man. Now he is a good stenographer, the result of perseverance and close application. Every young man in the community should apply himself with the same industry to some useful branch of study.

The Helena Herald says: Sitting Bull has made a formal demand upon Col. Andrews, commanding at Fort Randall, that he be permitted to visit Washington, with him twelve other chiefs, to have a big talk with the great father. If this is refused he wants the great father to appoint a commission to visit him and his braves, or to deliver his own signature advising him what is expected of him. He is willing to go to work and till the ground, like other reservation Indians, and he asks for stock, agricultural implements and a wagon and two horses for himself.

A western detective kept for many years a scrap book, in which he pasted accounts of crimes in which rewards were offered for the arrest of the criminal. Turning over the leaves of this volume a short time ago, he checked off all the cases in which the fugitives had been caught, and found that a surprising number were still at large. Then he reasoned that Leadville was a likely place for such wanderers to drift into, and resolved to go there. He frequented the public resorts, and that city for weeks, looking for men answering to the book's numerous descriptions. One night he observed that a policeman was a remarkably peculiarly flattened figure. That was a mark of John Ott, who committed a murder in Leadville, Ill., in 1898 and for whose arrest an offer of $1,000 still held good. Ott's identity was fully established, and the detective has been paid the money.

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

Will Preach.—Bishop O. F. Whitney will preach his farewell discourse to-morrow evening, in the Eighteenth school house. Meeting will begin at half past six.

Kicked by a Cow.—The Beaver Enterprise says that on Sunday last, Mr. Thomas Jones, an old gentleman for many years a resident of Beaver, received a kick in the stomach from a cow, and was at once attended with dangerous symptoms. On Monday he made his will and yesterday morning expired. He had the reputation of being an up-right citizen.

Feeling Better.—Elder Landon J. Rich, son of Apostle C. C. Rich, is down from Bear Lake, and will leave on a mission to the Southern States, on Tuesday. He brings the welcome intelligence that his father, when he left Paris, a few days ago, was feeling better than he had done since he left this city the last time.

Lost a Finger.—The Ogden Herald says that, yesterday morning, John Anderson, one of the night watchmen on the U. P. R. R., at Ogden, while coupling one car to another, had the first finger of his left hand crushed. Amputation of the digit was found to be necessary, and Dr. J. D. Carnahan performed the operation.

Too Late.—Sugar-making will not make much progress this year in Deuel County. The season of the delay is that the season was far advanced before Mr. Stayner had his arrangements completed. So we learn from the gentle man himself. Next year he anticipates turning out the sweets of life in large quantities at Farmington. We hope he will.

Robbery at Melrose.—We learn from the Butte Miner that a week ago, to-day, Mr. Harry Gassett was robbed at Melrose, a town on the Utah and Northern Railroad. The amount taken from him was $1,000, and $1,850 in checks. He did not discover the theft until some time after it must have taken place, and consequently could not readily point out the guilty party. The next morning the pocketbook was found on the streets of Melrose, with the checks, but the money was gone. A man named Wm. J. Kirby has been arrested on suspicion of being the guilty party.

Shooting Tame Ducks.—Some of the duck hunters who frequent the banks of the Jordan need the attention of the officers of the law. Mr. Cyrus Gold, whose place is in the vicinity of the Sixth Ward Bridge, informs us that he has been making an "ineffectual effort for a long time past to keep ducks. The locality is admirably adapted for the purpose, but his flock is constantly thinned down by boys sportsmen, who shoot and carry them away. Out of 50 he had some time ago, he has only 26 remaining. If such a practice is not stopped, we do not know what term to apply to it. Mr. Gold is not the only one who suffers in this way.

Handsome Houses.—A couple of the finest private building improvements in this city are nearly completed, on South Temple Street. James Sharp, Esq., has had a handsome brick residence erected on the Smoot lot, immediately behind the old house. It is two stories high and an attic. It is one of the best designs of modern architecture, with a handsome exterior, embellished with three elegant verandas, bay windows and everything else to harmonize. The work throughout, in every department is executed in a manner that reflects credit on the parties who executed it. Neatness of finish is combined with solidity and durability. Messrs. Latimer, Taylor & Company are the contractors, the work having been conducted under the efficient supervision of Mr. George Romney, that firm. The subcontractors are Mr. E. Morris, for the mason work; Mr. Nowell, the plastering, and Mr. Joshua Migley, the painting. The water pipes and other fittings, together with the grates, were put in by Mr. David James. Two leading points that have been kept in view in the construction and arrangement of this building are light and ventilation, which appear to be perfect. The heating apparatus put in by Mr. James is self-ventilating, each apartment being provided with a constant supply of fresh air, one of the most essential conditions to the maintenance of good health. It is one of the finest private residences in Utah.

On the next lot east, Bishop John Sharp has had a new brick residence erected of the same class of materials by the same contractors. It is not so large as that of Mr. James Sharp, but, in our opinion, it has a still more handsome exterior. The interior, like the other, is fitted up with all the latest improved modern appliances for elegance, comfort and convenience. The old Sharp residence was considered in its day one of the best in the city, now both that and the old Smoot house are thrown into the shade by the comparative palaces that have just been erected. These two old landmarks of former advanced Utah architecture will soon cease to be. They are to be torn down, and in their places, or rather on their sites, will appear ornamental lawns to embellish the surroundings of their more elegant successors.

The Benefit.—There was quite a large audience at the Theatre last evening, on the occasion of Mr. Orson F. Whitney's benefit. When the dark, wet, unpleasing night is considered, the presence of so many people was a compliment to the benefactor and the Club, of which he has been a member from its inception. "Coralie" was presented in an admirable manner, not free from a few blemishes, it is true, but they were passed over in the general interest which the play excited, and the good acting of the Club. Mr. Whitney performed his part with that gentlemanly ease, and that force, without bluster, characteristic of all his renditions. Mr. L. Cummings looked the brave young soldier lover to perfection, and in some scenes was very effective. Mr. H. M. Wells made another hit in Godfrey, a weak-minded and hasty old archaeologist. Mr. J. D. Spencer also played an old gentleman remarkably well. Of the personator of Morrisseau, the least said is the soonest. The part might have been omitted altogether to the improvement of the play. Miss Nellie Cleoborn deserves praise for her strong presentation of "Coralie," her pathos brought tears to many eyes. Mrs. A. Cummings made a charming Edith, and Miss Lottie Claridge as the romantic old maid was true to life.

At the close of the play Mr. Whitney was called before the curtain and responded with a brief speech of thanks and farewell. The force of "My Wife's Bonnet" served to show up the eminent talents of Messrs. Wells and Spencer in low comedy. All the performers, including Mr. Hensley, were brisk, funny and up to the mark, and the pleasant little farce, free from the outrageously improbable that usually mar that kind of sketches, made lots of fun and wound up the performance satisfactorily. The new drapery and ornaments attracted deserved attention and the Careless Orchestra rendered some splendid music in unexceptionable style.

The Building Business.—The number of new buildings in process of construction in this city is quite extraordinary. There are the Cooper Eldredge block, the White Horse addition, the McKenzie Opera House, the new Greenstock block, the Presbyterian Academy on South Temple Street, the Catholic Hospital, near Butcherville; University Building, 18th Ward Meeting House. A new meeting house is also about to be erected in the 19th Ward. Mr. Scott Crismon, is having a residence erected in the 12th Ward, and Messrs. Mark Croxall, C. S. Burton, David Anderson, Mathison Pratt, and several others are having houses built in the 18th Ward, while a number of others contemplate putting up residences in the same locality. There are many other structures in course of erection in various parts of the city. The building trade is unusually lively, and is being crowded through to escape the winter weather.

Religious Services.—Religious services at the Tabernacle to-morrow, at 2 p.m. Sunday schools in the morning, at the usual hours. Home missionaries will attend the Ward meetings in the evening. The times for holding Sunday meetings in the 10th, 17th and 21st Wards has been changed from 6.30 to 6 p.m.

Pleasant Party.—Last night a complimentary party was given under the auspices of the young people of the 5th Ward, in the Assembly Room, to Elder Joseph W. McMurtre, who will leave, on a mission to Great Britain, on Monday morning. It was a very pleasant affair.

He Should Not do It.—E. W. Nye, who visited this city, a short time since, in the columns of his paper, the Laraine Beacon, keeping up a bitter personal attack upon Mr. R. G. Read, the local editor of a rival journal, the Times, Mr. Read publishes, in the paper with which he is connected, a card that has in it a touch of true pathos, and if Nye has any of the milk of human kindness in his soul, he will desist from his journalistic onslaughts upon an evidently unfortunate, though erring man, in whose protest the following passage appears: "There is enough in me to say of me that I am without resorting to falsehood to give color to my attacks. I continue to have contracted, years ago, a strong appetite for intoxicating liquor, which I have repeatedly resolved to rid myself of, but an old habit, deeply ingrained, has not only disappointed the hopes, but only of friends in Laraine, but of two aged parents in the far west, whose united prayers yet nightly ascend to Heaven's open gate for my reformation. I have no apology to offer for no indulgence or forgiveness or claim for these repeated mistakes. This community has already excused me too many times. I have no right to ask or expect."

A Tragic Occurrence.—The Territorial (Provo) Enquirer, to-day, contains the following dismal narrative:

We learn from Mr. Stirling Colton, just in from Ashley's Fork, Utah, County, the particulars of a most deliberate and determined act of suicide which occurred at that place on Sunday, Oct. 9th. The unfortunate individual who thus rashly put an end to his earthly career was by name John Vest, about 58 years of age, and a former resident of Mona, Utah County. Mr. Colton was an intimate friend of the deceased, and one to whom the latter had confided many items of domestic trouble, which are now regarded as the cause prompting his rash act. He addressed a letter to his friend, an "I'll sit upon the table in the room, together with what money he had in his possession. The letter read as follows:

"Mr. S. Colton, I have decided to sell and give the proceeds to my children, and oblige. JOHN VEST.

He then killed his eleven year old son, telling him of his purpose, and notwithstanding the little fellow's frightened pleading, the father sent him away, bidding him fetch Mr. Colton, and assuring him he would find his father a corpse when he returned. The poor man then took a double barreled shot gun, loaded the gun, walked about forty feet from the house, cocked both barrels and discharged one at himself, the charge taking effect under the chin and carrying off the whole lower part of the face. With the same determined spirit he returned to the house, broke open the door, secured a revolver, went again to the spot where he first shot himself, and with a ball through his body, placing the heart.

He leaves a large family to mourn his untimely end.

W. P. APPLECK, President.
