THE DURRANT TRIAL

Witness Who Saw the Defendant and Blanche Lamont

TOGETHER ON THE FATAL DAY.

Fifteen Days of Actual Court Session Needed by the Prosecution to Put in Its Testimony.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 16.—This was the opening day of the ninth week of the trial of Theodore Durrant for the murder of Blanche Lamont. The prosecution estimates that it will require fifteen days of actual court session to put in its direct testimony.

The first witness today was Miss May Lonigan, who had been a fellow pupil of Blanche Lamont at the Normal school. She testified that on the afternoon of April 3rd, when school was dismissed at 3 o'clock, she left the school with Miss Pleasant, now Mrs. Dugan. They noticed Blanche Lamont in company with a man whom they identified as the defendant in the present action. When she noticed them Miss Lamont was smiling up at Durrant, who was carrying her books. Witness identified the dress and hat worn by Blanche Lamont, and also Durrant's appearance and attire. Durrant left Miss Lamont, and he (Powell) and Miss Lamont boarded a Powell street car, going toward Market street. As the car passed over the hill, the witness could still see the pair in animated conversation.

In cross-examination the attorneys for the defense tried to shake the witness's identification of the defendant, and tried to show that from her position she only had a partial view of the features of Miss Lamont's companion. The witness, however, persisted that there could be no mistake about her identification of the prisoner. She said she saw the man distinctly, and that there could be no doubt that he was Durrant. She admitted that she had never seen the prisoner before, and did not see him again until after his arrest. Then she identified him in the office of the chief of police.

C. A. Stevens, a gripman on the Powell street line was then called by the prosecution to show that the Powell street cars going south will stop at California street. The testimony is impeachment, as it shows that Mrs. Dugan and Miss Lonigan could have had time to take a careful look at Miss Lamont and her escort when they were on the car. They were at the crossing when the car stopped, and their glances were not momentary.

Miss Mary Vogel, a new and important witness, told in a straightforward manner how she sat in her parlor on the afternoon of April 3rd, and noticed a man waiting outside the Normal school. Asked who the man was, she pointed her finger toward Durrant, and dramatically exclaimed, "There he is." The court was electrified with this identification, as the witness left the stand, walked down toward where Durrant sat, and bowed to the prisoner on the shoulder, amid great excitement in the court room, exclaiming: "This is the man; this is Durrant."

Continuing, she said that Durrant walked up and down in front of the school for over three-quarters of an hour. She was at this time in a state of mind that she procured a pair of opera glasses to observe him more closely. When school was dismissed she saw two girls emerge from the building. She said that Durrant accompanied them, and the three boarded a Powell street car, one going inside and the other with Durrant taking seat on the dummy. That evening she told her husband about the peculiar conduct of the young man. When Durrant was arrested she recognized him from his portraits in the newspapers. She explained her long and careful watch, stating that she suspected from Durrant's actions that he was a burglar. A day or two before there had been a burglary in the neighborhood, and as she had $400 in the house she thought it advisable to keep a careful watch. The witness said she was 44 years old, had excellent eyesight, and had never worn glasses in her life.

After a cross-examination lasting for three hours Miss Vogel departed, her testimony unimpeached.

The defense was evidently much worried over Mrs. Vogel's testimony. She was very positive in her identification, and stood up remarkably well under cross-examination.

CLEVELAND AND HARRISON.

The London Times Discusses Presidential Possibilities.

LONDON, Sept. 16.—The Times, in the course of an editorial, says, speaking of presidential possibilities: After the Wilson tariff bill compromise, Mr. Cleveland was the most discredited man in American public life, and the sweeping Republican victory in November appeared to shut his gate to a Democratic leader. Curiously enough, the second difference in his party acted his reputation. He has now seated on the silver question all his time, and the result of the courage and tenacity he has displayed is to improve the prospects of his party in the coming campaign.

As against ex-President Harrison, the "most prominent Republican possibility," the Times says: "His acts and speeches are those of an honest and earnest statesman."

THE IRRIGATION CONGRESS.

Hon. George G. Symons Elected General Vice President.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Sept. 16.—Col. Carr, a Lincoln, made a most little speech paying to nomination Mr. Jesse H. Breen, of Arizona, the youngest son of the late great general, for temporary president. The nomination was seconded and, on motion of ex-Governor Prince, was carried by acclamation.

J. W. Clarke, of Iowa, was elected temporary secretary and the usual committees were provided for.

The afternoon session was opened promptly at 2 o'clock by the report of the committee on rules and order of business. The committee decides to close the session on Wednesday evening, and in order to do that has arranged three sessions per day, from 9 to 12:30, 2 to 6 and an evening session.

Governor Thornton then gave his address of welcome, branching off into a eulogy of New Mexico and an enumeration of her resources.

The report of the committee on permanent organization was then read and adopted, as follows: President, Col. John E. Frost, of Kansas; secretary, Fred L. Ailes, of Los Angeles; general vice president, George Q. Cannon, of Salt Lake; and one district vice president from each state and territory represented.

President Frost addressed the delegates, thanking them for the honor conferred upon him, more especially as he saw before him a body of men who were thoroughly informed in all the questions pertaining to theoretical and practical irrigation.

Col. Carr of Illinois then presented the following resolution. "Resolved, that the provisions of the Carey act be extended to the territories, and that Congress be urged to expedite the matter."

National Lecturer Emery then gave a witty and masterly address on the subject of "Irrigation through individual effort." The speaker after forcibly impressing upon his hearers the advantages to be derived from individual effort, quoted Horace's motto: "The West is the most American part of the continent. The confidence of the American people is super. Nature and time source to have completed the task that is left to man to do. What is it?" The speaker spoke of the prophecy that the center of the English-speaking race would be in the Mississippi valley, and pointed out that irrigation was bringing this about. After dwelling upon what had been done in his own state for the cause, the speaker closed by exhorting the members to make individual efforts for the advancement of irrigation.

A statistical report was then read by P. E. Harrow, C.E., of New Mexico.

THE GOLD OUTFLOW.

Comptroller Eckles States the Cause at the Shipments to Europe.

LONDON, Sept. 16.—Hon. James H. Eckles, comptroller of the United States treasury, made the following statement today, on request of a representative of the Associated Press:

"Being thus far away from New York, and not knowing the exact condition prevailing there which are producing the shipments of gold abroad, I feel I can say nothing on the subject while using it as special benefit to the public. Generally speaking, the gold shipments come about from the fact that the American people are buying a great deal abroad, and are settling sufficient of their own products to equalize things, thus necessitating the settlement of the balance due in gold. We maintain a financial system which makes the United States treasury the general custodian of supply for all requiring gold. Consequently more or less embarrassment comes to the administration of the treasury department, when these balances require to be settled. However, the treasury has always managed to maintain unquestioned, the payment of its obligations, and always will do so. The system under which it is forged to operate makes it sometimes expensive to do so, but as long as the voters tolerate them, the people have no right to complain of the expense."

The Standard Suit.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 16.—The people of the United States began the second attack upon the Stanford estate in the circuit court of appeals today, in the suit involving $15,000,000. When the case was heard in the United States district court, the demurrer interposed by the defense was sustained, so the case never came to trial. It was considered a victory for the widow of Senator Stanford, however, for her attorney was upheld in every point. L. F. McKisick, counsel for the plaintiff, began his argument on his appeal today. The history of the Central Pacific, as made by Congress, the bill of complaint, and the decision of the United States district court, were enumerated in the opening remarks. A little or no new material was introduced.

Turkey Accepts.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 16.—From a good source it is learned the Porte has accepted the demand of the powers with regard to reforms in Armenia.

SLAVE TRADERS KILLED.

Belgian Troops Capture One Hundred of Stokes's Followers.

LONDON, Sept. 17.—The Daily Telegraph this morning publishes a telegram dated Uganda, September 5th, which states that 100 of Stokes's followers were shot by Belgian troops after Stokes had been executed. Stokes, it will be remembered, is the Englishman who was hung by the Belgians for aiding and abetting the slave trade, and whose execution has since formed the subject of negotiations between the British government and Belgium.

Rose Bonds Predicted.

LONDON, Sept. 16.—The Standard's financial article this morning says: President Cleveland is not likely to let gold go to a premium in New York during an administration if a new issue of government bonds can prevent it. He knows the bond syndicate is loaded up and will leave another season of its nothing alone.

Hard times increased the sales of Price's Baking Powder. It's most economical.

SIX MONTHS LONGER.

The Spanish Minister Gives the Cuban Rebellion Another Lease on Life.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Senor Deputy de Lome, the Spanish minister at Washington, who is in this city, believes the revolt in Cuba will be crushed within six months. He said he has received from General Martinez Campos a personal letter in which the last campaign against the revolutionists is fully outlined.

General Campos will conduct the campaign in person. As active operations will be undertaken, the minister says, until the rainy season is over.

The minister said the reinforcements were all on a war footing and the navy on the Cuban coast in a satisfactory condition. Fifteen men of war of the armored type are now on constant duty, apart from about twenty small gun boats. Twenty-seven gun boats are under construction in Spain and twenty in England. They are due on the Cuban coast early in November or December.

The minister said the extent of the area involved in the revolution had been grossly exaggerated. It is confined to sections of eastern Cuba and has never held no place of any importance whatever.

It is just as good as it looks, Dr. Price's Baking Powder, the most perfect made.

OFF FOR CUBA.

Filibustering Expedition from Key West, Fla.

KEY WEST, Fla., Sept. 17.—It is stated on reliable authority that an expedition consisting of several hundred well equipped men, left here Sunday morning for the Keys, where they are to meet a vessel that will take them to Cuba. For the past several days many Cubans have been arriving here whose actions have led the United States and Spanish authorities to believe they were filibusterers. These Cubans have all mysteriously disappeared and with them many of the native Cubans.

The Spanish consul called his suspicions to Havana and the gun boat Condewandito, of Alfonso notoriety, last night arrived to head off the expedition. The air is full of filibustering rumors and the arrival of the gun boat greatly excited the Cubans.

The gun boat left to cruise along the Keys and to intercept, if possible, the filibusters while they lay 1. cruise the gulf. There is little doubt that all has been arranged for an expedition to sail.

Leave for Chickamauga.

NASHVILLE, Sept. 17.—The state guard of Tennessee, 1200 strong, with adjutant Sykes and staff, leave for Chickamauga tonight by a special train.

Governor Turney left for Chattanooga yesterday and his staff will join him there. Governor Altgeld will reach the city this morning and make a short stop. Trains are jammed and the indications show that during today fifteen hundred will go to the park.

FALL GOODS COMING NOW.

Woolen Goods a Trifle Higher Than Last Fall, Cotton Fabrics and Sewing Silks have Also Advanced in Price.

We have selected such fall with the idea that we are to have an improvement in trade. And that we customers will want better value than they have been buying for the past three years. Therefore we purchased from the most reliable manufacturers, and have control of the same. Many of them will not repeat as the high prices now quoted for last year's designs. We have also made some to advantage to our cash clothing department. Besides saving those by engaging the services of one of the most reliable and best known cutters in the city, our customers are trying to save money by placing orders with us.

With regard to prices we still adhere to our motto: "The lowest consistent with the greatest value possible for their money." Things to afford with very small profits.

We have also looked after the interests of our fashionable customers, to the end that they can afford to invest $15.00 or more in a suit, and not in fact do so as well as $20.00, as well-made, well-appearing clothes, and for this trade have purchased a very carefully selected line of All-wool made goods. These goods are equal in finishes of get-up and general points are to those of foreign manufacture, and are of excellent wearing qualities and are up-to-date in many specialties. Prices are exceptional, and offered for sale by them as such at prices much lower than the imported goods are, to sell at, but a trifle higher rates than we are offering the same made for. From these goods we are ready to fill out as at from $12.50 to $25.00 and trust the readers of the book will be of opinion that we have the best skill of workmen in the city, a perfect we trust will be appreciated.
