A dispatch to the "News" this morning from San Francisco says:

"W. D. Cornish of New York, vice president of the Union Pacific railroad. has departed for the east after devoting two weeks to sight-seeing in California. He said before leaving that the only railroad matter that had engaged his attention during his stay in this state was the proposed new line from Salt Lake to Los Angeles and that his trip to the southern part of the state was largly for the purpose of studying the situation and its bearing on the projects of E. H. Harriman and Senator Clark." In this connection it is perhaps interesting to note that Acting Traffic Manager T. M. Schumacher and Assistant General Freight Agent J. A. Reeves of the Oregon Short Line left for the south on last night's train with Calientes as their destination, where they will leave the cars and make a personal inspection looking toward a report on the ore ton-nage from that yet undeveloped district which is to be tapped by the line through to Los Angeles,
