SECOND EDITION

IMPORTANT TO VOTERS.

People's Party voters must not move from one precinct to another before election day, or they will lose their votes.

Those who have already removed from one precinct to one another must apply forthwith to Registrar Page for the transfer of their names.

No transfers will be made after Friday, January 24th.

FRAGMENTS.

THOMAS DAILEY is in the city city jail awaiting trial for being drunk, and Wm. Davis is held on a charge of vagrancy.

IN the Police Court today, S. J. Kelly was fined $5 for battery, and J. W. Horner and Peter Myers $5 each for being drunk.

SEE special notice of socialds for stockholders and friends of the Equitable Co-op. Store. It will doubtless be a very pleasant affair.

THE Poultry Show will be open till Saturday night, at No. 30 West First South street; admission 25 cents. It is a fine exhibition of chickens, ducks, turkeys and geese.

THE regular meeting of the Second quorum of Seventies, which was set for Jan. 27, in the Fifteenth Ward meeting house, has been postponed for one month. By order of the Council of the quorum.

THE Co-op. Wagon and Machine Co. are so confident of the present weather continuing for some time to come that they have just got in another carload of cutters, which from present indications will all be sold within a very few days.

D. M. FERRY & Co., Detroit, Michigan, offer to mail free, on application, a copy of their Seed Annual, for 1890. This is one of the most useful of all seed catalogues, not only for experienced gardeners, but for the novice as well. A sample package of the seeds put up by this house, has been received.

THE Union Pacific has discontinued running sleepers between Salt Lake and St. Paul on the train leaving here at 9:20 a.m. and arriving at 12:30 p.m., and instead will run a line of sleepers between Salt Lake and Council Bluffs on these trains. This is undoubtedly an advantage over the former arrangement, owing to travel between the latter places being greater than between here and St. Paul. The traveling public should bear this change in mind.

Students' Society.

The Students' Society of the L. D. S. College will meet in the Social Hall tomorrow evening at 7:30. Dr. J. E. Talmage will lecture on "The Birth and Growth of the Earth." Lantern views will be used to illustrate the subject. All are invited.

Released from Prison.

Brother Moss Anderson of Lehi was released from the penitentiary this morning after serving a twelve months' sentence on a charge of adultery with his wives. He received the benefit of the Cooper act, hence was set at liberty just ten months to a day from the time he was first incarcerated.

From Scotland.

Elder John McKellar, of Tooele, reached this city today on his return from a mission to Scotland. He left Utah April 10th last, and expected to have continued longer in the field, but ill health necessitated his release. He labored while absent in Ayrshire, and reports the prospects there discouraging.

Pleasant Recognition of Services.

One of those pleasant events calculated to have a lasting impression of pleasure on the minds of the participants took place in the Eleventh Ward last evening, the occasion being a surprise party, complimentary to the officers of the Sunday school of that ward. The meeting house was tastefully decorated, banners, flags and evergreens presenting a most beautiful appearance in the brilliant gaslight.

There were assembled Sunday school officers, teachers and pupils and a goodly number of the other members of the ward, awaiting the arrival of the superintendent, Willard Done. That gentleman, blissfully unconscious of the event, was in attendance at a meeting elsewhere, when he received a note calling him to the place of gathering.

When he made his appearance a scene of enthusiasm ensued, and the surprise of the gentleman knew no bounds. An ample picnic had been prepared, and after the ablution had been effected, Brother H. A. Tuckett, in behalf of the committee of arrangements, presented Brother Done with a Webster's unabridged dictionary, with the latest style of stand.

The same gentleman presented each of Brother Done's assistants, Brothers Ruehl Cannon and John G. Kelson, with a handsome photograph album, and the secretary, Brother Edwin Allen, with a set of Dickens' Works.

The recipients responded in a few well-chosen words, expressing their gratitude for the kindly feelings displayed, and stating their determination to merit such esteem in the future.

A brief time was then spent in musical and literary exercises, after which the participants separated.

Political Notes.

James L. McMurrin and A. M. Woolley will be the speakers at the People's political meeting, Second Ward. Meeting to commence at 8 o'clock. All are invited.

The meeting of the Twenty-first Ward Political Club will be held this evening, at 8 o'clock. John Nicholson, Esq., will be the principal speaker.

THE Mandolin and Guitar Club will meet at Calder's Music Store this evening at 7 o'clock and go by street car from there to the Nineteenth Ward.

The First Ward political club will hold a meeting at 7:30 o'clock this evening. Hon. F. S. Richards will be the speaker of the evening. A brass band will be in attendance.

All members of the Eighteenth Marching Club are notified to meet at the Eighteenth Ward Independent Hall this evening at 7:30, for the purpose of considering the election of officers.

R. V. DECKER, Captain.

The People's Scandinavian Club held a meeting in the Thirteenth Ward assembly rooms last evening. A motion was made and carried to organize a company of Scandinavian ladies to work for the People's cause in this campaign. A programme of interesting exercises was rendered.

First Precinct Drum Corps, Attention!—The officers of the First, Second, Third, Eighth, Ninth and Tenth Ward bands will please procure four torches each and bearers, for the purpose of providing for their bands at the next parade. Torches can be had at the People's headquarters. W. E. WINKWORTH, Drum Major.

THE POULTRY SHOW.

It Is In Progress at No. 30 w. First South Street.

This morning the second annual exhibition given by the Utah Poultry Association commenced in this city at No. 30 west First South street, and will continue during the remainder of the week. Thus far there have been about 80 entries and some 300 birds are on exhibition. The show is very fine, and is well worth a visit. Some of the pens of fowls would be hard to beat anywhere. The pens are conveniently arranged down the sides of the room. The exhibition is under the direction of W. W. Browning, Esq., of Ogden. The scoring will be done this afternoon and tomorrow, by Mr. F. IN THE DISTRICT COURT.

Decision Adverse to Bothwell.—Stringam Appeals.

In the Third District Court today, Judge Anderson presided, and the following orders were made:

United States vs. George Stringam; illegal sale of liquor; three cases; forfeiture of bail set aside, and defendant pleads not guilty; new bond required of the defendant, as his former sureties were his wife and his attorney, C. O. Whittmore.

John R. Bothwell vs. Samuel M. Jarvis and Roland R. Conklin; order to show cause why defendant should not be restrained modified; plaintiff gives notice of appeal and ten days' stay granted.

John R. Bothwell vs. James C. Armstrong and the other directors; application for injunction denied with a modification that the executive committee be dispensed with; plaintiff appeals, and is allowed ten days' stay.

The effect of the decision in the Bothwell suits is adverse to Mr. Bothwell. The injunction granted is so modified that Messrs. Jarvis and Conklin can vote $300,000 of the stock at the stockholders' meeting. This gives them the balance of power, and if they choose they can remove Mr. Bothwell from his office as president of the canal company—an action which he was desirous of preventing.

The injunction against the directors only goes to the extent that the executive committee have not the power to manage the affairs of the company, but it should be done by the board of directors. This is practically a finding for the directors, and a vindication of their course. The directors form the executive committee, and instead of calling themselves a "committee" they may go on in their management of the company's affairs as "directors." Judge Anderson made but a brief announcement of his decision, and the findings of fact were agreed on this afternoon.

Good Words.

OGDEN, Utah, January 22, 1890 [Correspondence of the DESERET NEWS.]—En route to Ogden this morning the following clipping was read with interest, and as newspaper correspondents have seldom a good word for the Latter-day Saints, this may be worth reproducing for the benefit of your many readers. "Alpha," a correspondent of the Denver Republican, accompanying Engineer Stanton's exploring expedition through the Grand Canyon in Arizona, writes as follows from Lee's Ferry, Arizona, December 29, 1889:

"We were nine days on the road, and with heavy wheeling, poor teams and lazy teamsters, and a drizzling rain nearly all the time, it was anything but an enjoyable part of our journey. The only bright spot in it was the little Mormon settlement of Graves' Valley on the Dirty Devil River, about thirty-five miles above its mouth, where there are some twelve or fifteen Mormon families, seemingly prosperous and happy, upon 1600 to 1500 acres of rich tillable land. Here we replenished our supplies with beef, mutton, onions, etc., and were treated most kindly by the settlers.

"Just here let me say that now here can you find a more kindly and perfect gentleman than Mr. Warren M. Johnson, the postmaster at Lee's Ferry, a devout Mormon, and a man who is honestly sincere and sincerely honest, and Mrs. Johnson a most kindly and courteous lady. It has been my fortune to meet some of the most perfect gentlemen and kind-hearted men and women among the Mormons of northern Arizona and southern Utah, and especially is our whole party indebted to the many kindnesses of Bishop L. C. Mariger of Kanab."

Yours truly,
"PHŒNIX."

The Weather.

This afternoon the barometer commenced to fall, and the signal service office predicts another snow storm.

The railroads are still overmatched by the snow and ice, nearly all trains being delayed. Communication is kept open, however, on the local roads, though trains cannot make time. The Union Pacific east of Ogden has to abandon some of its trains, getting one through occasionally. It was thought the Central Pacific would get through today, but a storm last night has postponed the getting through of trains indefinitely. The storm is reported to be the worst of the season, and trains are tied up all along the line. It is understood that the passengers are supplied by the railway company with food and necessary conveniences to keep them from suffering.

THE SEYMOUR KILLING.

Two Inquests Held.—Was It Murder or Suicide?

A correspondent sends the following regarding the killing of Wm. W. Seymour in Uintah county, whose death was announced in the dispatches:

VERNAL, Jan. 18, 1890.—No doubt you have heard a report from this place of the supposed suicide of Mr. W. W. Seymour of Vernal. The first coroner's jury brought in a verdict of suicide; but it was learned afterwards that two of the jurors were not registered voters, and the coroner called another jury, who, after taking all the evidence that could be obtained and considering the position the body was found in, could not make up their minds that he shot himself.

Circumstantial evidence goes a long way to show foul play. Seymour was found lying on his back with his head clear back under a camp-chair, and his feet about six inches from the door-step. The gun was firmly held in his right hand, and his left hand was thrown across both the gun and his right arm—in fact his arms were folded across his breast. The stove-poker was lying by his right side, with one end partly under his shoulder. He was shot in the left eye, and his face and hair were very much blackened and singed with the powder. The second jury's verdict was that he came to his death by a shotgun wound in some unknown man's hand. It is a good case for a first-class detective, and that is what we need very much in this place. Mr. Seymour's father and mother live in Denver, Col.

The body was found on the morning of January 14. Following is the verdict of the second jury the coroner impaneled:

TERRITORY OF UTAH,
Precinct of Vernal, Uintah County.

An inquisition holden at Vernal, Vernal Precinct, Uintah County, on the 18th day of January, A.D. 1890, before P. Peterson, coroner of said county, upon the body of W. W. Seymour, there lying dead, by the jurors whose names are hereto subscribed. The jurors upon their oaths do say that the deceased came to his death between the hours of 5 o'clock p.m. January 11, 1890, and 12 o'clock a.m. January 12, 1890, by a shotgun wound in his left eye. By whose hands the gun was discharged we are unable to determine.

P. L. YOUNG,

P. PETERSON,
Coroner for Uintah County, January 18th, 1890.

Street Car Extensions.

The Street Railway Company are busy making preparations for extensive work as soon as spring opens. All of the lines at present operated by mules are to be brought within the electric system, which is to be extended 20 miles beyond that now laid. The principal extensions will be along the projected route up West Temple street and to the Warm Springs, and along Fifth South, Second West and Eighth South to Jordan River. The lines will be double-tracked three-quarters of a mile each way from the "butt," at the corner of East Temple and First South streets. With this system in operation, Salt Lake will have a service second to no other place.

A Great Amount of Snow.

A correspondent writing from Eagle Rock, Jan. 20, says "the oldest inhabitant" never saw so much snow as there is at that place now. Sabbath meetings have been discontinued by the branch of the Church there, on account of the difficulty experienced in traveling through the deep snow. The weather is also intensely cold.

Evanston Meeting House.

The Latter-day Saints at Evanston, Wyoming, have erected a handsome new meeting house, and on Sunday next, January 26, the building will be dedicated as a house of religious worship.

Modern Mummification.

The facts disclosed in the process of unrolling a mummy present in striking contrast the difference of the mode of embalming pursued by the ancient Egyptian and that carried out in modern times. Now the embalmer can conduct in minutes a preservation process which cost the Egyptians as many days, and if after his process is completed he should take pains to seal up the preserved body with all the skill possible to modern art, he might leave a human body so perfect in regard to natural form and color that after 3000 years not a lineament need be wanting for its identification that would not have satisfied even a contemporary of the dead person. We are inclined now to experience regret that in Egyptian times the art was not advanced enough to leave the embalmed in such likeness of life. But whether it is worth the trouble in these days to revive the art, in the more perfect type of it, for the edification and satisfaction of the men and women of thirty centuries hence, is a wide question. Cremation is, at this moment, becoming the fashion, but possibly some persons would rather be so immortalized and preserved for scientific study, like William Gilbert's flies in amber, "shining in eternal sepulchres."—London Lancet.

American life is full of the most excessive intemperance in a dozen different ways. Yet the temperance reformer deals with one only, intemperance in the use of alcoholic stimulants. There are thousands of men and women dying from dyspepsia today whom a moderate use of liquor would cure.

Yet the ordinary temperance reformer never lectures against dyspepsia, nor against too many hours of labor, or of the use of too much tea or coffee, or against gluttony in any form. There can be no doubt that there is as great a demand for reformation in all these indulgences and excesses as there is in intemperate drinking.—Minneapolis Tribune.

Culture and Practical Power.

When we see a man who adapts means to ends successfully we say he is a man of great invention, a man of resource, ingenious, crafty, skilful, clever, shrewd, sagacious, talented, adroit, sharp—epithets, all of them, having reference to the mind. Without looking at experience it would be at once conceded by a reasonable man that, in proportion as we increase the vigor and quickness of the mind and give it materials on which to found comparisons, we increase in practical power. Voltaire, a man of genius and a poet, was one of the most successful speculators in Europe. Chinese Gordon was a highly cultivated man, with a capacity for all things, small and great. He could fight, rule, shoot, tinker, negotiate, conduct campaigns, and all with unbecoming self-reliance. Emin, who prior to his capture was doing in Central Africa the work whence Gordon was taken, is also a man of great practical power. Who is he? Well, he is a German, who carried with him an heroic will and a universal education into the heart of the Dark Continent. Who is Stanley? Who is the man whose African campaigns have been marvels of management? A journalist—a literary man. The progress of civilization has equalized the physical qualities of man. In years gone by the strong arm ruled. It is the strong head rules today. Force is dethroned, and where brute violence wore a crowned which sometimes gleamed with barbaric ornament, intelligence, wearing a diadem in which there is no false glitter, in which every gem is of the purest water, sits an omnipotent queen. A revolution, the most beneficent for man, has taken place, and it is the duty, as it should be the delight, of every citizen to cultivate his faculties. Bacon has said, "Knowledge is power." Knowledge is also pleasure. I think it is Sir Arthur Helps that says a man who goes through life knowing only the trade or profession by which he gets his bread is a poor stunted creature. There is a close relation between all the arts—between poetry, painting, music, sculpture—and genuine proficiency in any one of these prepares the mind to enjoy the productions of the others. You can not really make any faculty of the mind your own by the rest asleep. Happy is it for the uncultured that they know not what they have lost!

When a man is destitute of some great physical attribute, the most superficial observer recognizes his incompleteness. The blind can never see the purple corners of morning close night from margo to margo, or evening steep the landscape in every glorious and tender hue. For the deaf the birds sing, the voice of woman is low and musical, and "the wind, that grand old harper, smites his thunder-harp of pines" in vain. So far as these who have no sense of smell are concerned, the cafe of nature in making every flower and shrub and grass odorless is heathen, while to the cripple the rapture of energetic movement is denied. In all these cases men recognize the absence of a faculty which would be cheaply purchased by colossal wealth. But how if we should want the seeing eye and the hearing ear in a more important sense than is conveyed by any physical deprivation? How if there is a subtle aroma about what has been said by highly gifted men we cannot catch, a flavor we cannot appreciate; if nature and art teem with beauty which is for us as though it never was; how if there is a music in the made which our unstrained ears can not catch? The men of genius come to us each with his mission. One takes us up to the highest heaven of harmony; another purges our eyes that we may see God's glorious works as they are. George Macdonald says Burns' mission was to show men there was poetry immediately around them, at their very door. Now, beauty and utility go hand-in-hand in nature, and the same is true of all things which enable us to know her better. Take drawing and designing, they increase the power of observation along the whole line, and develop accuracy in all matters on which the mind employs itself.—Toronto Weekly.

always use ANTIKNOT and rub it in well. It gives such pleasant relief from parched tongue, reeling brain, sour stomach, and doubtful sweetness of the mouth. It will cost more for meat and such things but don't begrudge it.

SHILOH'S CATARRH REMEDY—A positive cure for Catarrh, Diphtheria and Canker Mouth. 3

AT THE GARDEN CITY.

Visit of the Legislators to the Insane Asylum.

PROVO, Utah, January 23, 1890 [Special to the DESERET NEWS.]—At ten o'clock today the streets surrounding the depot commenced to fill up with buggies, cutters and hacks, awaiting the arrival of the legislative visitors. The band was out in force and discoursed pleasant music on their arrival, which did not occur till noon. A procession formed up to the bank corner, where the band came to a halt and rendered some stirring music.

The visitors then proceeded on the way up to the asylum, where they were heartily welcomed by Dr. Pike, medical superintendent, and Steward Dunn. Dr. Pike escorted the members through the various rooms and wards of the asylum, winding up with the engine-room and boiler house. All appeared to be highly pleased with the order and discipline exhibited on all sides, but realized that the institution was overcrowded. After observing and dilating upon the beautiful location of the asylum and surrounding scenery, they proceeded down town to the Cosmopolitan, where they were regaled with something to strengthen the inner man. They return to Salt Lake by the four-thirty train. There were present Governor Thomas, Judge Henderson and Judd, Marshal Parsons, and Messrs. Hatch, Booth, Laud, Hall and Olsen, of the Council; Wood, Sargent, Bennion, Stewart, Reed, Lowe, Ferrin, Johnson, Porter, Robison, Williams and Russell, of the House; Barrell, Pickett and Cazier, officers of the Council, and and Smoot, Payne and Maughan, officers of the House. At present the party are having a good flutter in the parlors of the Cosmopolitan, entertained by local callers and musicians.

Swindling.

For a few days a firm calling itself H. Galloway & Co. has been operating on South Temple street, a short distance east of the Utah Central depot. A sort of "intelligence office" has been assumed to be carried on, but from developments today it seems to have been a big swindle. Thirty or thirty-five men have paid $2 each for situations and were to appear this morning to go to work. The men appeared, but "Galloway & Co." had disappeared. Word was left that the partners had gone to Bear River. The men are out just the amount paid for the bogus situations.

Dr. Condon Nominated.

A dispatch received from Washington this afternoon announced the nomination, by President Harrison of A. mos S. Condon, of Ogden, for the position of supervisor of census for Utah.

OBITUARY.

BUDGE.—At Pleasant View, Jan. 6, 1890, Frances M., wife of Thomas Budge, Jr., and daughter of Dr. Ezra G. and Henrietta E. Williams; born at North Ogden, May 31, 1864.

Sister Budge was the mother of five children—three boys and two girls, the youngest a babe three weeks and twelve hours old. She was second Counselor in the presidency of the Y. L. M. I. A. from the time of its organization to the retirement of Pleasant View. She was also a faithful teacher in the Sunday School, and a consistent Latter-day Saint.

Logan papers please copy.

WALKER.—At Pleasant Grove, Jan. 19th, of consumption, Margaret Fenn Walker, wife of ex-Bishop Hanson Walker. She was the daughter of the late Bishop Jacob and Margaret Foutz, and was born in Adams County, Illinois, Oct. 26th, 1839.

While the family were journeying from Missouri—having been expelled from the State by mob violence—the deceased's mother, who was wounded in Haun's Mill massacre, only escaped death at the hands of the mobs by pulling the bodies of the dead over him and himself feigning death. The family settled at Nauvoo, Ill. Taking up the line of march they stopped at Garden Grove, Iowa, and next winter at Winter Quarters. They crossed the plains in 1847, and located in Salt Lake City, and Fort, Fourth Street, a few doors east of the Post Office; also from Dalton, Nye & Cannon, Main Street, or it will be delivered at your residence the same evening by applying to Mr. Scott Anderson, NEWS agent in Ogden City.

When the deceased's father died he left his wife with a large family to battle with the hardships of those early times. They next settled at Battle Creek (now Pleasant Grove) in the year 1850. Under these circumstances Margaret grew to womanhood. She was married to Hanson Walker in the winter of 1852, and was blessed with one child—a son, Ezra F.

The deceased has held high offices in the several organizations of the ladies' societies of the ward, and has ever proved faithful to her trust. She goes to her grave as one who has "fought the good fight."

She leaves a husband, son, mother, four sisters and two brothers, together with a large circle of relatives, to mourn her loss. [COM.

Better Than A Hot Lemonade.

In a recent article in the Youth's Companion, on "How to cure a cold," the writer advises a hot lemonade to be taken at bed time. It is a dangerous treatment, especially during the severe cold weather of the winter months, as it opens the pores of the skin and leaves the system in such condition that another and much more severe cold is almost certain to be contracted. Many years constant use and the experience of thousands of persons of all ages, has fully demonstrated that there is nothing better for a severe cold than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It acts in perfect harmony with nature, relieves the lungs, liquifies the tough tenacious mucus, making it easier to expectorate, and restores the system to a strong and healthy condition.
