Acording to the es timate of the delegates chosen, twelve of them seem to be Henderson supporters while the other eleven are for Roeased from jail.

The First ward has up to last night en considered a quiet ward, but evening it took a change and from now on, instead of it being the "bloody sec-end," it will be the "bloody first." It took the first ward people over and hour and a half to choose a chairman. The names of Daniel Hamer and Ben Ternes were placed before the meeting for chalrulan on the first ballot they each had 35 votes, but on the second vote Ternes received 38 votes and was declared chairman, and E. E. Stevens was appointed secretary. They proceeded to ballot, which resulted in the anti-Rolapp delegates getting the maty of the votes. At all of the other wards everything seemed to move along quietly excepting at the fifth, where a man who was somewhat intoxicated made himself very annoying oughout the entire meeting, and was finally knocked down and received his

SHRINKAGE IN VALUATIONS.

The county assessor has just completed totaling up the assessment of the county for the present year. His figures show a falling off of $60,000 in the valuations in the county. Much of this shrinkage is due to the fact that nearly all the sheep owned in this county were this year assessed in either Beaver or Millard county,

ANOTHER PIONEER GONE.

Israel Whiton, one of Utah's pioneers, died today at his home in Weilsville, aged 55 years. Mr. Whiton had his knee injured a few days ago and went to bed, but did not seem to suffer any particu lar inconvenience with the injury. This morning a neighbor called on him and said, "Well, Father Whiton, how are you today?" "I feel all right," he re-plied, "but I do not want to be both-ered." An hour and a half later the neighbor returned and found him dead, For about twenty years Father Whiton had been blind, but bore his affliction cheerfully. He was one of the first settlers of Cache county and figured prominently in the experiences of early days. His wife died many years ago. He left no children, except an adopted daughter who is the wife of Mr. George Spencer of Wellsville. Mr. Whiton was a faithful Latter-day Saint, and highly respected by all who knew him. The committee in charge of the old folks' celebration for Cache county has lecided to postpone the date for the proposed festivities until later in the season. The celebration was to have occurred next month, but on account of Milton Hall has taken a trip to Mont- the excessive heat a postponement was deemed advisable.
