Parson Brownlow on Himself.

FROM AN AUTOBIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH IN 1862.

I have been a laboring man all my life long, and have acted upon Scriptural maxim of eating my bread by the sweat of my brow. Though a southern man in feeling and principle, I do not think it degrading to man to labor, as do most southern disunionists. Whether east or west, north or south, I recognize the dignity of labor, and look forward to a day, not very far distant, when educated labor will be the salvation of this vast country! I am known throughout the length and breadth of the land as the "fighting Parson," while I may say, without incurring the charge of egotism, that no man is more peaceable, as my neighbors will testify. Always poor, and always oppressed with security debts, few men in my section and of my limited means, have given away more in the course of each year to charitable objects. I have never bean arraigned in the church for immorality. I never played a card. I never was a profane swearer. I never drank a dram of liquor, until within a few years when it was taken as medicine. I never had a cigar or a chew of tobacco in my mouth. I never was in attendance at a theatre. I never attended a horse race, and never witnessed their running save on the fair grounds of my own county. I never courted but one woman and her I married. I am about six feet high, and have weighed as high as one hundred and seventy-five pounds—have had as fine a constitution as any man need desire. I have very few gray hairs in my head, and, although rather hard favored than otherwise, I will pass for a man of forty years. I have had as strong a voice as any man in East Tennessee, where I have resided for the last thirty years, and have a family of seven children.

Seventeen-Year Locusts.

THE CURIOUS INSECT THAT COMES UP TAIL FIRST WITH A LETTER W ON HIS HEAD.

GREENBUSH, N. Y., May 5.—The seventeen-year locusts have appeared in large numbers hereabout. They first emerge from the ground in the form of a large grub. The wings appear soon afterward, when the locust settles in the nearest tree. The noise made by the insects is a constant shrill humming. They do not eat growing crops, as many suppose, nor do they in any way resemble the ravenous locusts of the West. They devote their time to working in the branches and twigs of all kinds of trees. They plough little groves in the limbs, the tender bark next the wood. Their perforations in the trees kill the branches, and the foliage soon turns yellow. In 1860 the locusts did not appear until June, when the trees were in leaf. In two weeks the woods looked as though they had been subjected to the frosts of November. From all appearances the locusts will soon be as thick as they were in that year. Stories of the poisonous nature of the sting of this curious insect, which did duty in 1860, creating much alarm, have been revived, but the seventeen-year locust is harmeless to man and beast. It is an inch and a half long when full grown. It comes our of the ground tail first, and has on its head white marks forming a perfect letter W. In 1860, believers in signs and superstitions declared that the appearance of this cabalistic sign denoted war. In that year the locusts did not entirely disappear till late in the fall. People still living here remember their appearance also in 1843. They were so thick then that the trees were threshed with whips, and dead locusts carried away by the bushel. They do no permanent injury, but interfere greatly with the year's fruit crop.—New York Sun.

The Corner Loafer.

Everybody knows him at sight. What he does by daylight is a mystery, for his face would exclude him from every business but the mock auction, and his clothes do not qualify him for that. By night, however, he is a critic, particularly of the gentler sex, and while he is not destitute of appreciation his favorable remarks are more to be dreaded than his criticisms. He selects his professional stand on the most crowded thoroughfares, where policemen most do congregate; but he is let alone as tenderly by officers as if he were a burglar or a roper-in for a gambling house. He never appears alone, but is a consistent believer in the theory of co-operation, and what remains unsaid by him and his associates concerning any lady who passes them is beneath the capacity of the meanest blackguard to conceive. Utterly depraved himself, he cannot imagine that any one upon whom he looks can be otherwise. Instinctively a coward, his lips are sealed in the presence of a lady accompanied by a gentleman or even a half-grown boy. Having only two feet, he cannot be shot like the Spitz dog or any other perambulating nuisance; being a voter he cannot be arrested without damaging the prospects of some human nuisance equally dangerous but more politic. The only relief from him seems to reside in the toe of the manly boot. Self-constituted vigilance committees of one might profitably employ a few evenings in the interests of society by watching these ruffians and inflicting punishment immediately on the commission of any offence, although the marvellous faculty of officers for arresting the wrong man would dictate that action should be taken only when no policeman is in sight.—New York Herald, April 30.

HIGHEST HONORS

AT THE

UNITED STATES CentenniaL

World Exhibition, 1876.

MASON & HAMLIN CABINET ORGANS

Unanimously assigned the "FIRST RANK IN THE "SEVERAL REQUISITES" of such Instruments!

The MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO. have the honor to announce that the Organs of their manufacture have been unanimously assigned "the FIRST RANK in the SEVERAL REQUISITES of instruments of the class" by the Judges at the CENTENNIAL EXHIBITION at Philadelphia, 1876, and are the ONLY INSTRUMENTS OF THIS GENERAL CLASS AWARDED THIS RANK. This is after the severest competition by the best makers, before one of the most competent juries ever assembled.

They have also received the MEDAL, but, as is well known, medals of equal merit have been awarded all articles deemed worthy of recognition; so thus it will be easy for many makers to advertise that they have received "first medals."

The differences in competing articles, and their comparative excellence, are recognized in the Reports of the Judges from which the following is an extract:—

"THE MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO.'S exhibit of Reed Organs and Harmoniums shows instruments of the FIRST RANK IN THE SEVERAL REQUISITES OF INSTRUMENTS OF THE CLASS, viz: Smoothness and equal distribution of tone, scope of expression, resonance and singing quality, freedom and quickness in action of keys and bellows, with thoroughness of workmanship, combined with simplicity of action."

(Signed by all the Judges.)

The Mason and Hamlin Organs are thus declared to rank first, not in one or two respects only, but in the SEVERAL REQUISITES of such instruments, and they are the Only ones assigned this rank. This triumph was not unexpected, for the Mason & Hamlin Cabinet Organs have unformly been awarded the highest honors in competitions in America, there having been scarcely six exceptions in hundreds of competitions. They were awarded highest honors and

FIRST MEDALS

PARIS, 1867; VIENNA, 1873; SANTIAGO, 1875

PHILADELPHIA, 1876;

and have thus been awarded highest honors at Every World's Exposition!

at which they have been exhibited; being the Only American Organs which have ever obtained any Award at any competition with best European makers, or in any European World's Exposition!

NEW STYLES, with improvements, exhibited at the CENTENNIAL; elegant new cases in great variety. Prices very lowest consistent with best material and workmanship. Organs sold for cash on installments, or rented until rent pays. Every Organ warranted to give entire satisfaction in every reasonable purchaser or THE MONEY REFUNDED. ☞ ILLUSTRATED CATALOGUES sent free.
