

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

THEATRE.—Remember the immense bill for to-night: "The Will and the Way" and "Raising the Wind," with strong casts including all the old favorites. This is the second performance of the first piece, in this city, and it is a drama that will bear being often repeated. The plot is well defined and the situations of thrilling interest, abounding in sensations. It was played with spirit and ability on Saturday night and, as practice produces perfection, it will probably be still better this evening. "Jeremy Diddler," in raising the Wind is one of Phil's master-strokes. He has played the character several times before when he delighted the audience and kept them in a continual roar.

AMPUTATION.—A young man aged eighteen, son of Isaac Lee, of Tooele, some time since, while chopping wood, accidentally cut through the capsule of the knee joint. Dr. W. H. Tait of this city, was called out to attend on the young man, a few days since, who found it necessary to amputate the limb. He was assisted at the operation by Dr. Terry. The patient is doing well and hopes are entertained for his speedy recovery.

WOOLEN FACTORY.—The Brigham City folks have so far completed their building for the Co-operative Woollen Factory, that it is ready to receive the machinery, and all it comes to hand. On Wednesday evening last, about half the machinery necessary for the factory arrived at the switch, near the city, and the rest is expected in a few days. The portion which has arrived weighs nine tons. The factory is expected to be in full operation next spring.

Let other cities take notice. Co-operative manufacturing is the end of co-operative merchandising, and must at sometime to a great extent supersede it. Let all enterprising cities in Utah look ahead, and shape their plans accordingly. Home manufactures mean wealth and independence.—Ogden Junction, Nov. 12.

A THEATRICAL TREAT.—There will be a novel entertainment at the Theatre on Tuesday evening, Nov. 22nd, in the shape of Mac Evoy's "Pictorial, Musical and National Entertainment." The performances will be strictly Irish in their character and will doubtless partake of the raucous, rollicking nature of the genuine natives of the "Green Isle." The playing will be highly spiced with lively specimens of Irish melody. The company will perform in this city for four nights only.

THE RAILROAD ROBBERIES.—As all the circumstances connected with the late robberies on the C. P. R. R. are interesting to the public, we give the following concerning the arrest of Gilchrist, one of the guilty parties, near Truckee, which we take from the Nevada, Cal., Transcript.

"It appears that Gilchrist, who was arrested in Sardinia valley on the charge of robbing the train, was twice arrested—once by Neils Hammond, formerly a stage agent at San Juan, who was accompanied by an officer. Gilchrist managed to ally their suspicions, and shortly after James Burke, of Truckee, came up. A correspondent of the Union gives the following details of the arrest: James Burke, one of our citizens, returning with others from a hunting excursion in Sierra valley, called for dinner at Parson's. While dining, the circumstance of the robbery, suspicions and arrest, were related. Burke felt interested, and resolved to investigate. He conversed with Gilchrist, and detected agitation, but could get no clue. While this was going on, Mrs. Parsons, with the perception and restless curiosity of woman, having noted Gilchrist's every movement, resolved to investigate on her own account. Having seen Gilchrist visit an out house, and return quickly, as the agent and officer approached, she rightly conjectured that he might have left evidence of guilt. So, providing herself with a candle, after brief searching discovered gold coin in the vault, recently hidden, which she hastened to report. Burke, no longer in doubt, quickly and unobservedly got his Spencer's rifle, and at a favorable moment brought it to bear on Gilchrist's breast, demanding surrender, which was accorded with the utmost nonchalance, the prisoner demanding by what authority. Burke, equally cool, patted his Spencer, while yet in position, and replied 'it was that'; however, when Gilchrist was informed that coin had been found, his agitation was plainly apparent."

MESSAGES.—There are messages at the Office of the Deseret Telegraph Line for the following:

Susan Westbrook, H. C. Lincoln, C. Conner and James T. Boyd.

THE MINES OF UTAH.—The Omaha Herald, of the 13th inst., contains a very able letter on mining matters, &c., from its special correspondent "Phocion" now in this city, from which we make the following extract:

"Although I have not personally visited the mining districts yet I have met and conversed with gentlemen in whom I can place the utmost confidence. Alex. Majors is here, and his statements are to be taken with absolute certainty. He tells me that there are paying lodes in many places in Utah, but the public expectation is considerably above what the real facts will warrant. He is a practical man, and when he tells me that capital and skilled labor and patience will have to be brought into requisition before the mines will be made pay, I believe him. Therefore, I make a suggestion that from time to time you make editorial mention of the fact that Utah is no place for the riff raff. Prospecting will not pay; there are no fortunes to be made in a day nor in a year. This is no place for the poor man, however brave he may be in muscle. President Young on Sunday preached to his people in the southern district, and advised them to go to work for any party that had money to develop the mines. His people can supply the labor market much better and cheaper than any other class, and now that they are willing and anxious to work, it will be suicidal for the common laborer of the east to come here."

"I have a suggestion to make to another class of people in the States—to the moneyed class. During the coming winter you will be approached by hundreds of men representing themselves as owners of immensely rich claims. You will be asked to invest your money in machinery and supplies to develop these claims. When so approached, let your mind wander for a moment to Fraser river, to Oryzoe, to White Pine. If you are sensible the reflection will be profitable. My general opinion is that you should not invest a dollar except upon personal inspection of the claim. In this way only can you be sure of a safe investment."
