MANY VACANCIES IN STATE FAMILY

Governor Spry Has at His Command the Appointment of 75 Citizens.

TO SERVE ON THIRTY BOARDS.

Hoster of Men Selected, However, Will Not Be Available Until Legislature Is Well Under Way.

Who are going to do the state's work under Governor William Spry? To do it Governor Spry has at his command the appointment of 75 citizens of Utah to place on appointive boards. They will serve on thirty state boards, some with handsome remuneration, some for the honor there is in it, and some because it is a duty imposed upon them. On some of the boards the new appointees will make a working majority; on others all the board members will go out of office, or stand for re-appointment.

One certainty of the administration is that boards created to do the state's business will not suffer serious dismemberment. The election of Governor Spry, who has been near the administration for the past four years, means that there is no serious clash as to the personnel of men in office. Just as in the main present incumbents were returned to elective positions, so in the returned present members of the state boards where they are available, and some definite fight is not centered on their positions.

An effort to secure from Gov. Spry this month, a list of appointments, which he has decided upon was unsuccessful. Those nearest to the governor assert that it is a foregone conclusion that the legislature will receive no names to be approved for appointments until near the close of its session. This means that applicants for positions of appointment must remain on the anxious seat until after Feb. 15, and that no appointments save only the normal state of the governor, may be expected before that time.

SIX GOOD POSITIONS.

The principal appointive positions are six in number. Their present incumbents are Caleb Tanner, state engineer; John E. Pettit, state coal mine inspector; Charles A. Glazier, state bank examiner; H. B. Cromar, state fish and game commissioner; Herman Harris, state chemist, and John Peterson, state food and dairy commissioner.

Of these offices, Mr. Tanner, Mr. Glazier, Mr. Harris, and Mr. Cromar are practically sure of reappointment. Mr. Pettit's position of coal mine inspector is in jeopardy through the probability of legislative action making a state board of industries, to take over this work, that of the proposed railroad commission, and that of a telephone commission, which is later being urged.

Even if retained, there is strong opposition which may prove successful. Competing with Mr. Cromar for his position are seven candidates, Brigham Madison, J. M. Fisher, Robert Dodge, D. O. Willey, William Wilson and two others whose names could not be learned today. In spite of this opposition, however, Mr. Cromar is confident that he will be reappointed. Herman Harris has no opposition for state chemist, although John Peterson will have far from smooth sailing to be reappointed food and dairy commissioner.

For the state boards vacancies are scheduled all along the line except in the state board of horticulture, all of whose members serve on until 1911.

SOME UNSALARIED JOBS.

The boards of parol, examiners, and insanity are composed ex-officio of state officials. For the state board of corrections the terms of Elias A. Smith and Dr. G. B. Proust expire. The position has no salaries, and these two officials serve with the governor on the board. Gov. Spry will have two successors to these officials to appoint.

On the state land board, William J. Lynch, T. C. Callister, William Canham, Henry Hixon, and William Thayne have all reached the end of their terms, thus necessitating the appointment of an entirely new board. Contests are being made for positions on this board, and the probable outcome of them is as yet uncertain.

For the state board of education, two vacancies are to be created through the expiration of the terms of William Lynch, H. B. Cromar, and William Thayne, the president of the university, the state superintendent and the president of the Agricultural college serve ex-officio.

The state board of equalization has one member who will hold over until 1911. This member is John Watson. The retiring members are R. R. Tanner, John J. Thomas and R. W. Salisbury.

UNIVERSITY REGENTS.

In the regents of the University of Utah many vacancies are to occur. Of the board's nine members the terms of four expire, although all or a part of them may be reappointed.

Those who complete their terms are Frank Pierce, Richard W. Young, Rebecca E. Little and Dr. Charles G. Plummer. Those serving until 1911 are J. F. Langworthy, W. E. Ritter, Alexander V. Cott, A. H. Lund, and Samuel Newhouse.

LOGAN A. C. TRUSTEES.

Among the trustees of the Agricultural college the percentage of expiring terms is even higher. Susan Young Gates, Lorenzo Stohl, Thomas Smart, J. W. N. Whitecotton and A. S. Condon go out, while Mrs. A. W. McCune and John Q. Adams continue until 1911. All of the trustees of the Industrial school—Dr. E. M. Conroy, Harry Joseph and T. R. Evans go out.

Of the trustees of the school for the deaf and dumb, Maud May Babcock and John W. F. Vickroy go out while Mrs. A. B. Conroy, the Rev. Peter A. Simpkins and Isaac L. Clark continue.

Nearly all of the members of the state board of health continue in office. Those whose terms expire are D. O. Miner and A. P. Davis. The state board of dental examiners is spared only a single member. This is W. G. Dalrymple, those who retire are A. E. Trapp, A. C. Wherry, S. H. Clawson and H. W. Davis.

The terms of all members of the board of medical examiners expire. The present incumbents are D. C. Budge, A. S. Condon, Charles L. Olsen, A. C. Ewing, Fred W. Taylor, F. E. Garup, B. W. Fisher, Ralph Richards and A. P. Hibbs.

The state board of labor conciliation and arbitration has never been conspicuous by the number of calls made upon it for active duty. Its members are John Derr, Arthur Parsons and William Drysdale. The only one whose term is not in Arthur Parsons.

STATE FAIR OFFICIALS.

A goodly portion of the state fair directors continue to serve. Of the 12 members of this board the terms of only four are completed. These four are Mrs. Priscilla J. Ritter, W. W. White, Lester C. Prosser and Joseph A. Silver. Those continuing to serve are J. G. McDonald, M. K. Parsons, T. H. Smith, J. H. Seely, F. J. Hewitt, Robert H. Irvine, Mrs. Emma A. Simpson and J. J. Henderson.

Of the Utah Art Institute directors the terms of Myra L. Sawyer, A. H. Wright and Virginia S. Stephens expire. Those who continue in office are Edwin Evans, Leslie S. Hodgson, G. Wesley Browning and M. M. Young.

The commission on uniform legislation is a body created by the last legislature to attend the convention at Seattle of the national Uniform Legislation association. Stephen B. Love and Charles R. Hollingsworth attended the convention, while Ashley Snow, also a member, was unable to go. The term of the commissioners expires this month.

The state board of accountancy was created with a view of having it certify to the capability of public accountants after holding examinations to qualify them. Its members are Ralph S. Hogg, William J. Bateman and David J. Watts, all of whose terms expire.

Of the board of barber examiners, William M. Piggott and D. J. Watts have completed their terms, while Dr. C. M. Benedict serves until 1910. The three members of the board of optometry, Dr. L. W. Snow, F. J. Alexander and H. O. Jensen, all complete their terms. This state board of park commissioners, Geo. Webb and Joseph R. Murdock retire. The board is a recent creation made in the hope that the government would turn over the Strawberry valley as a state park.

SHEEP COMMISSION OUT.

The three members of the board of sheep commissioners all retire. They are L. R. Anderson, John E. Austin and J. S. Ostler.

When the bid for "examining boards" had gathered in the medical profession, the dentists, the accountants, the eye-glass sellers, the barbers, and the sheep men, it was also decided to extend it to the horse doctors. Therefore came into existence the "state board of veterinary examiners," with John Ernst, N. C. Spaulding and F. Parker as members. An adverse supreme court ruling threw the law out, however, and now the board is likely to be reappointed. The terms of all its members are completed.

In spite of the fact that many of these positions carry no salary, enough of them require it to make an annual salary list of $50,000.

TO PROSECUTE DELINQUENTS.

The state, by virtue of the decision of the supreme court, making the corporation tax legal, is going to attempt to collect something like an aggregate of $30,000 from the corporations who have failed to pay it. The tax is a number nearly 1,300 and should they fail, during nearly a week to pay their taxes, Atty. Gen. Barnes will be given a list of their names as delinquents, when they will be liable also for a penalty fine of $100 each in addition to the tax.

ROLLER SKATING AGAIN AT THE AUDITORIUM

The whirl of the little wheels, the soft sweet strains of appropriate music; the gliding around and around over the smooth surface of the big floor the invigorating, healthful and pleasant pastime of roller skating is again to be the rage in Salt Lake City. The popular sport starts again Monday evening, Jan. 11, at the Auditorium, on Richards street, under the personal management of Phil S. O'Leary, a local and owner of the rink. The dances which were conducted there for a time at an end as he has taken over the lease for the purpose of reviving roller skating.

There will be sessions each evening and afternoon, except Sunday, and on afternoons a corps of gentlemen and capable instructors will be on hand to teach beginners the art and mystery of mastering the roller skates. The high class instruction will be free of charge. An orchestra will be there at each session and there will be many pleasing and attractive features. Mrs. O'Mara will look after the comfort and pleasure of ladies and children and the management extends a most cordial invitation to fathers and mothers to visit the big rink on any and all occasions and to assist in the conduct of the same.
