

THE SOCIAL PAGE.

The hurry and bustle of the Christmas tide is having its usual effect upon social activities, only a few functions breaking in upon the stress of preparations for the holidays. Christmas and New Year's will witness some notable dancing parties and with the opening of the coming year will doubtless recommence the record of frequent social entertainments which have previously enlivened the week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Douglas entertained at an evening party on Monday night, about twenty-five guests being present. A feature of the entertainment was a floral guessing contest in which Mrs. H. J. Grant was prize winner. Several vocal selections were rendered and refreshments were served. The guests were: President and Mrs. Snow, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Grant, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tingey, Mr. and Mrs. W. McChesney, Dr. and Mrs. Benjamin Goldard, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Fox, Mrs. E. V. McCune, Mrs. Julia Brisen, Mrs. Wilcox, Mr. and Mrs. Eardley, Miss Stella Neff, Miss Aggie Campbell, Miss Joan Campbell, Miss Sarah Edgington, Mrs. Lillie Freese, Mrs. Mary A. Freese.

The wedding of Miss Marian Thelma Lichtenstein and Louis Edward Boukowsky on Monday evening at the Ladies' Literary parlour was one of the prettiest events of the week. The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Lichtenstein, the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Boukowsky. The ceremony took place at 7:30 p. m. in the presence of a great many friends and relatives. As the bride party entered the Christenson orchestra played Mendelssohn's march. The ushers, Messrs. Nate and Marc Lichtenstein, first and the best man, Mr. Harry Lichtenstein, of New York, entered with the groom; next followed the ring bearer, Master Joe Fulop, the matron of honor, Mrs. Max H. Harris, a sister of the bride, then followed with the bride and her father and the mothers of both bride and groom completed the wedding march. In the center of the stage was a pretty canopy of white and pink carnations. At the rear against the wall were the letters "L. D." in carnations and at the front was an arch under which Rabbi Reynolds stood while performing the ceremony.

During the ceremony the orchestra played the intermezzo from Cavalleria Rusticana. Lehengren's wedding march was played while the bride party marched to the stage.

After the wedding, the bride sat and their guests, numbering thirty, sat down to an elaborate dinner of twelve courses, served by Franklin in the dining room. The reception was held from 9 to 12 o'clock, during which many friends gathered to offer their congratulations and enjoy the dancing. Punch and refreshments were served throughout the evening.

The bride wore an exquisite wedding dress of white liberty satin on traine. It was made in stripes between which was Spanish lace, and flounces and accented plating of liberty silk finished the skirt. The waist, which was made with high neck and long sleeves, was trimmed with real lace, and a veil of Brussels net and bouquet of Tribby roses completed the costume.

Mrs. Max Harris wore a dress of white net, appliqued in white silk, de-collate with elaborate trimmings of duchesse lace and diamond ornaments.

The mother of the bride wore black satin striped grenadine, trimmed with Renaissance lace.

Mrs. Boukowsky wore black crepe with duchesse lace trimmings. The bridesmaids, Miss Ella Davis, wore white net over blue tulle. Mr. W. C. Sharp acted as best man. Refreshments were served. Miss May Naylor, Miss Marie Edwards and Miss Maud Luft presiding. Dr. and Mrs. Fraser left after the reception for a trip to San Francisco, and on their return will be at home at 357 east, Third South street.

tenstein, of New York, and Eddie Cohen, from San Francisco.

The presents received were costly and beautiful, consisting chiefly of checks, cut glass and silver.

A wedding tour will be taken to California where the bride couple will remain until about the 10th of January. On their return they will be at home to friends at the Knutsford hotel.

On Thursday evening Miss Anna Treagle and Dr. Walter Fraser were united in marriage, the ceremony being performed at the home of the bride's parents by Rev. Ellis Bishop of St. Paul's. A reception followed, a large number of the friends of the contracting parties being present.

The rooms were beautifully decorated. In the parlor, where the bride party received, was a canopy of evergreen sprays with hearts and a bow and arrow of pink carnations forming a centerpiece.

The mantel and piano were bright with roses, and ferns and palms filled the corners. In the rear parlor pink and white prevailed, and the library was in red. American Beauty roses being used to carry out the color idea. Yellow and green were used in the dining room, and the punch-bowl in the library was surrounded with violets and ferns. The bride wore a gown of white liberty silk over tulle with yoke of pearl passementerie and carried bride-roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Ella Davis, wore white net over blue tulle. Mr. W. C. Sharp acted as best man. Refreshments were served. Miss May Naylor, Miss Marie Edwards and Miss Maud Luft presiding. Dr. and Mrs. Fraser left after the reception for a trip to San Francisco, and on their return will be at home at 357 east, Third South street.

Mrs. George H. Holman entertained at an elaborate card party on Tuesday evening, about seventy guests being present. The rooms were decorated with scarlet and green of the Christmastide and the holiday idea prevailed in tables and scores. Wreaths of holly hung in the doorways, and the chandeliers were entwined with green leaves and berries, while from the network of red ribbon were suspended Christmas bells. On the tables and mantels vases of American roses aided in carrying out the pretty and suggestive scheme. The winners of the ladies prizes were Mrs. Fildel and Miss June, the former taking first and the latter second. Mr. Keith won the first gentleman's prize and Mr. McCormick second. Refreshments were served at the close of the contest. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. R. Harkness, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. David Keith, Mr. and Mrs. Mont. Ferry, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Ferry, Mr. and Mrs. K. Kerr, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Nye, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Clement, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Rice, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Lowe, Mrs. Sam Woodward, Mr. and Mrs. Chas.
