

al training department is being collected by Supervisor Samuel Doney. The parents of pupils who are in this department are to receive a special invitation to visit the pupils at their work after the holidays.

No meetings are scheduled for this coming week.

Mr. Bradford of the Jackson conducted a lively discussion of "History" for the fifth and sixth grades on Thursday.

The teaching corps of the city most sincerely sympathize with Supervisor Doney in the loss of his aged father, who died in his 74th year this week.

Miss Moffet's 4 B room invited parents to "An Afternoon in Switzerland," Friday, April 3. The children had moulded Switzerland upon the large sand table and collected an abundance of rare material and gave a review lesson, after which a missionary, in Swiss costume, spoke.

Among the teachers visiting the Franklin were Misses Cottam, Allgood, Nelson, Whelan, Stevens and Messrs. Howells and Bradford.

Among the parent visitors of the Franklin were Messames Baker, Brady, Mortensen, Jacobsen, Christensen and Messrs. Clark and Bodner.

Franklin rooms 2, 6 and 9 had no tardy marks.

L. D. S. UNIVERSITY.

Salt Lake City—On account of general conference no school will be held on Monday and Friday morning the students voted to have no school on Tuesday, as all would be too busy to study during conference.

Miss Sasie Heath, instructor in shorthand, has been unable to conduct her classes since Tuesday on account of illness. Her students and the family hope for her return next week.

Prof. Kent's class in glee singing will hereafter recite from 12 to 12:30 on Tuesdays and Fridays for the greater convenience of the students. On other days the sessions are held from 4 to 4:30.

Thursday afternoon Prof. Porter and about 20 members of the botany class visited the greenhouses on State street. A pleasant and profitable time was spent studying the fertilization of flowers. In the hot houses are 5,000 Easter lilies now in bloom.

Prof. Whitson's students in geology are now studying structural geology and mineralogy and will soon begin field work.

Next Friday evening under the efficient management of the Gold and Fine staff, in Christensen's dancing parlors will be given the last grand school ball of the season. The members of the committee are of every opinion to make this function a success. Dainty invitations—gold letters or blue paper—have been designed, and it is expected that this same good taste will appear in every detail of the event.

Wednesday morning in general assembly, Miss Mercy Baker, of Mendon, a graduate of the Boston School of Oratory, spoke to the students on "Expression," and recited Paul's defense before Agrippa.

Thursday afternoon at 4 at a meeting of the High school students held in Barratt hall, the regular business was transacted. Archie Willey favored us with a song, after which Prof. Hinchey in that kind, interesting and agreeable manner, so characteristic of him delivered an instructive lecture depicting the life of Benedict Arnold from the time he achieved greatness by distinguishing himself as the hero of Quebec and Saratoga, to the last sad rites of a traitor who died in extreme wretchedness and despondency. He said that truly great men are not those who can fight amid the roaring of cannon and the heat of drums, but those who fight and resist temptation in everyday life.

The two contests with the Boulder champions, now exist only in memory, and fortunately the memories of the games are very pleasing and agreeable, not only to the victors, but also—and what is a very significant fact—also to the losers. In the first game, witnessed by hundreds of spectators the score was, L. D. S. U., 11; U. of C., 9. Wednesday night the attendance, though not so large as on the preceding Friday night, was very good. The score was 13 to 12 in favor of our team. On each night a very enjoyable party was given after the game. The Ogden High school girls were defeated by the L. D. S. girls last Friday night, the score being 6 to 2.

WEBER STAKE ACADEMY

Principal McKay lectured before the joint session of the Young Men's and Ladies' Improvement associations last Sunday evening of the first ward.

Prof. Terry, during the week, gave some rigid "exams" in most of his classes, which have had the effect of reminding his students that a final reckoning is nigh at hand.

Dr. E. L. Rich gave the academy a beautiful specimen of the Star fish. He obtained it at Monterey, Cal., while on a trip with the Tabernacle choir. Prof. Land pronounced it the best he has ever seen. The academy appreciates this generosity on the part of Dr. Rich—a worthy example for others to follow.

During the theology hour on Thursday morning, the ladies and gentlemen received instructions separately. Bishop David McKay, a member of the board, spoke to the ladies, and Joseph Stimpson and Charles Saunders, both students and excellent essays on behavior and excellent essays on behavior and excellent essays on behavior.

The following named students received letters from "Box B" to take foreign missions in May and June: Walter Wainwright, John Peterson, Hyrum Colby, Clarence Manning, Geo. T. Larsen, Eugene Ringham, Lawrence Ritchie, Wm. Mitchell and Thomas D. Watkins. The boys feel fine and the school feels complimented.

The baseball boys are showing up nicely; our sister schools can look out for material worthy of their steel. The same can be said of the girls' basketball team.

Prof. Maud May Babcock gave a dramatic recital of "Monsieur Beaucaire" at the academy Thursday evening for the lecture calendar. It was a grand effort and added one more to her numerous successes as a reader. Immediately after the recital, a luncheon was served in the office in her honor by the lady members of the faculty, to which were invited the members of the faculty and their wives.

AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE

Learn—At a meeting of the board of trustees at the college last Saturday, the building committee was authorized to prepare plans and specifications and advertise for bids for the new buildings and additions authorized by the Utah Legislature, so that they may be ready for use by September of this year.

At the same meeting a committee, consisting of Trustees Whitmore, Director Wainwright and Prof. Merrill, the station agent, was appointed to visit the different counties to determine the best locations for the dry farm experiments to be conducted under the direction of the college. After their report of investigation this committee will report back to the board, at an early meeting when final action will be taken on the location of the farms. Under the able direction of the college these experiments will doubtless prove of great value to the state.

The excellent policy of President Kerr

THE FAMOUS DEVEREUX HOUSE IS NOW THE KEELEY INSTITUTE.

The announcement is made that the residence of the late Hon. William Jennings, once mayor of Salt Lake City, and one of the financial pillars of Utah 20 years ago—the famous Devereux house, has been leased by the proprietors of the Keeley Institute. Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Jennings, who have been renting the place for a number of years past, from Messrs. Thomas Weir and Aaron Keyser, the present owners, moved last week to Idaho, and with their departure, it is likely that the last connection of any of the Jennings family with the historic old house has been severed.

Few homes in Salt Lake have enjoyed a greater fame for hospitality than the Devereux. Originally built by Mr. Jennings, it was during his life time and for some years after, the center of a round of social functions whose brilliance was unsurpassed by any occurring in the west. Gen. Grant, Gen. Sherman, Lady Franklin, and many other notables were entertained there by Mr. and Mrs. Jennings, and years afterward, the social parties that used to be given in its halls and on its lawns were famous for the scale on which they were attempted, and the success with which they were achieved. Mr. Jennings died within the Devereux house, Jan. 15, 1886, and his funeral was held from there. The establishment of depot yards so close to the place, in time, made it less desirable as a residence, and years ago Mrs. Jennings left it. Though it was sold to Messrs. Weir and Keyser, Mr. Frank W. Jennings, her son, continued to live in it as a tenant, valuing the house on account of past associations.

As soon as it was vacated, Dr. Brown, of the Keeley Institute, secured it on a lease dating from April 1. The calls on the institution for enlarged quarters, and the convenient location near two railroad depots, made the house an ideal one for Dr. Brown's needs.

In obtaining the best instructing force that the salaries offered will secure, and of placing greater responsibility upon the heads of departments is resulting in an improved condition throughout the institution. The board of trustees met today at President McCormick's office in Salt Lake. The lunches served by the domestic science department were discontinued last Saturday. The lunches were enjoyed by members of the faculty who were fortunate enough to have seats at these tables, and with them now begins the "long fast" until next January. The classes whose members have prepared and served the lunches will now take up the study and practice of bread-making and plain pastry cooking.

The large classes in the domestic science work will necessitate new equipment and the changing of the laundry into an additional kitchen. This will probably be done within the next week.

Prof. Robinson delivered an address at a ward meeting at Paradise last Sunday evening.

A ball will be given at the gymnasium this evening by the Engineering society.

Prof. Ball organized an institute in the Fourth ward last evening.

Prof. Hunt addressed the farmers of the Fifth ward last Thursday evening, on the subject of pruning trees.

Prof. Merrill went to Salt Lake yesterday to make arrangements for work this season on the alkali farm.

Prof. Burchell has tendered his resignation to take effect at the end of the year. He has accepted a position in the department of commerce in the University of Wisconsin. His work here has been successful, and he with his estimable wife have the best wishes of faculty and students as they go to their new home.

Prof. Swendsen is again confined to his room with throat trouble.

Miss Duncan, of the city visited her cousin, Miss Vida Roberts, at the college Saturday.

Prof. Langton begins a course of lectures next Tuesday to his class in bacteriology, on immunity. His class in course 'D' is working on soil bacteria.

Bishop Oldham of Paradise visited the college last Monday.

The college has just received a shipment of the best varieties of silk worms from Italy, Spain and France to be used in experimental work for the season.

Mrs. L. A. Merrill left today for a 10 day visit with Mrs. J. M. Tanner at Salt Lake City.

Mrs. Whitson, mother of Director Whitson, came up from Salt Lake on Tuesday for a few days visit with her son.

Mr. H. O. Mantor, a sophomore, left for Rexburg, Ida., last Thursday to purchase a farm. He expects to return and finish the work of the year.

Five acres of flax will be grown this season on the station farm. The purpose is to make scientific tests with this plant under irrigation. It is to be a co-operative experiment conducted by the college and the bureau of plant industry of the U. S. department of agriculture.

The crowning theatrical event of the season was the rendition of Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream," by the ladies of the Sorosis society at the opera house last Friday evening. The parts were all well taken. Much favorable comment was also expressed on the beautiful dance of the fairies. The play society and on Prof. Upham and Miss Moench for their painstaking effort in training them, and on Prof. Stutter for his designing the costumes of the little fairies. The play was presented to a crowded house at Richmond on Monday evening.

BRIGHAM YOUNG ACADEMY

A recent acquisition to the library consists of 12 well-bound volumes by Matthew Arnold.

Thirty-five of the 36 inter-class basketball games have been played, and the 1902's came out winners, they having lost not a single game.

Among the many visitors during the past week was Hon. William Metcalf, representative in the lately adjourned

Legislature, who spent one day visiting his two sons and getting acquainted with the school.

Next Friday will be devoted to a general cleaning up of the grounds of the academy, the planting of new trees and shrubs, and the extension of the lawns. The students are all enlisted in this excellent work, and will be given a free dance in the evening.

President Cliff returned last Saturday from a visit to the Beaver branch, where he found everything in shipshape. He spent Sunday evening in the Eighteenth ward of Salt Lake City, where he lectured on subjects relating to the South American expedition.

The academy last meeting was held last Sunday in College hall and an unusually excellent spirit prevailed. Not half of the students that desired to speak, found time during the two hours of the meeting, although the testimonials were as short as they were fervent.

The play entitled "A Scrap of Paper," recently produced by students in Miss Nellie's elocution classes, is to be given next Saturday night in Heber City. It will also be presented again at the Opera house in Provo in the near future.

A proposition presented to the faculty by certain ambitious students, to cut down the spring vacation to two days, instead of the usual conference week, met the approval of the faculty, provided the student body should be agreeable. A vote was taken last Monday morning, and the proposition was overwhelmingly lost.

Elder B. F. Grant took up the hour for theology last Monday morning, a ringing talk on manliness and business integrity. Given an audience of young Latter-day Saints, the words of this speaker rarely fail to search the marrow of their moral backbone.

Friday night last, just previous to the lecture, a number of the teachers of the academy, including also Miss Lund, Miss May, and Miss Pond, spent an enjoyable hour at the Hotel Roberts, dining with Miss Ellen Stone. They found the gifted woman a genial conversationalist, and full of interesting reminiscences concerning her work in the Orient.

The inter-class athletic contests for the honor of inscribing the names of winners on the academy athletic cup, will take place next Friday and Saturday. The students have been practicing at various separate points, during the last few weeks, and we may expect some interesting competition.

One of the recent valued contributions to our portrait gallery is a handsome picture of Senator Reed Smoot, which deserves a place in the school, not only because his achievements as an Alumnus bring honor to the institution, but also because he is one of its foremost friends and promoters. The portrait was presented by his wife.

President Chipman, of Alpine state, accompanied by one of his counselors, spent one day last week visiting the halls of his Alma Mater. The changes since he was a student have been mainly in the line of intellectual extension and better physical equipment, the spirit of the academy remains the same that it was during the good old days of Brother Maer.

Miss Nellie Schofield, president of the High school graduating class, has recovered from her attack of nervous prostration, having been out only about three weeks. Her health is so much better that she will be able to graduate with her class, a boon for which her fellow students are full of gratitude to the Giver of life and health.

Following are the names of the Academy double quartet: Prof. A. C. Lund and Claire Reed, of the music faculty and Messrs. Andelin, Acord, McAllister, Whitaker, Fletcher and Broadbent from among the students in music. Their singing has become famous in this part of the state. They were especially fine in the rendition of "Jesus, My Cross, I've Taken" last Sunday night in Domestic meeting.

"FORCE"

Friday night to a fair-sized audience of students and visitors, who for an hour and a half were breathlessly absorbed in her thrilling narrative. We had read many of the things she related, but of course they lacked the intense feeling under which the events were originally experienced—a feeling which Miss Stone reproduces in a most telling manner.

"The morning is too beautiful to spend in so trying an exercise as 'Strang's English,'" said one of the teachers in Rhetoric last Monday morning, after the rain had bathed the dusty earth and washed the lawns. "Go out during the hour, see and hear, and feel the opening of spring; and bring your impressions in the form of a description next Monday." The class applauded and were soon on Temple hill, and at other points of interest, in the neighborhood.

Monday morning an item in last Saturday's "News," which related that President Paul reprimanded the tinian brigade—was read to the students assembled for devotional exercises, and President Cliff, by way of promoting friendly feelings, pointed out that the D. S. U. was evidently the first to be held responsible for what was without doubt the work of a few scoundrels of that worthy sister institution.

After the Colorado basketball team had done the baby-act last Saturday by refusing to continue the game, our boys offered them almost any concession to go on to a finish, even permitting them to choose our referee. What seemed surprising was the fact that up to the time of their objecting to Mr. Erickson's decisions they had appealed no single call to the referee, Mr. Barney. The real source of their discomfort was evidently the fact that the score stood 20 to 13 against them, with only six minutes more to play.

By way of cultivating oral composition, Prof. Nelson has introduced "toasting" in English D. Five of the students are elected in turn as toastmasters; each of these chooses five members of the class to deliver toasts. The sections thus arranged being in competition with each other. Students from the school at large are invited on Fridays as audience and judges. The method furnishes excellent practice, both in the introduction of speakers and in the delivery of toasts. Much merit was created by the first of these meetings last Friday morning, and some of the speeches will probably appear in the "White and Blue."

Within the next six months the following students of the missionary class will all be gone to the fields of labor herein designated. Most of them start immediately: To the Eastern States—James H. Clark, Panguloh; L. H. Redd, Bluff; Roy W. Bean, Richfield, and Howard Roper, Gunnison. To Switzerland—Joseph R. Thurber, Richfield; James W. Thornton, Pinto, and Clarence Gardner, Pine Valley. To Germany—B. F. McIntyre of Price. To the Northern States—Anthony Rasmussen. To California—Lee R. Taylor and E. M. Coray of Cedar, and Silas Brimhall of Spanish Fork. To Colorado—Eugene Hamblin and Thos. Brough of Lyman, Wyo. To the Central States—William M. Appod of Woodland. To the Southwestern States—Orson Manwaring of Mapleton and George Hemphill of American Fork. To Great Britain—Samuel F. Leigh of Cedar City; F. G. Baker of Sterling, Canada, and Cecil Woodward of Franklin, Ida. To the Southern States—Ephraim Y. Moore of Moab; L. F. Shepherd of Beaver; I. R. Price of Salem, and Chester C. Pulley of American Fork.

A Great Sensation.

There was a big sensation in Leesville, Ind., when W. H. Brown of that place, who was expected to die, had his life saved by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. He writes: "I endured insufferable agonies from Asthma, but your New Discovery gave me immediate relief and soon thereafter effected a complete cure." Similar cures of Consumption, Pneumonia, Bronchitis and Grip are numerous. It's the peerless remedy for all throat and lung troubles. Price 50c and $1.00. Guaranteed by Z. C. M. I. Drug Store. Trial bottles free.

Robbed The Grave.

A startling incident is narrated by John Oliver of Philadelphia, as follows: "I was in an awful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite, growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Then I was advised to use Electric Bitters; to my great joy, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50c guaranteed, at Z. C. M. I. Drug Store.
