CONSTITUTION FOR WOMAN'S CLUB

ARTICLE I. NAME.

The name of this Association shall be the WOMAN'S PERSONAL APPEARANCE CLUB.

ARTICLE II. OBJECT.

The object of this Association shall be the improvement of the natural appearance of each of its members.

ARTICLE III. MEMBERSHIP.

Section 1. Membership in this Club shall be of two classes, Active and Passive.
Section 2. Active Membership shall be limited to those who intelligently devote a reasonable share of their time to the object of this Association.

ARTICLE IV. OFFICERS.

The offices of President, First and Second Vice-President, Secretary and Treasurer shall be honorary in character, and may be assumed, at will, by any member, when such assumption advances the good of the cause.

ARTICLE V. MEETINGS.

Section 1. Regular meetings may occur upon bright days, following the careful preparation of members for the purpose.
Section 2. No member shall be admitted to any regular meeting whose appearance does not instantly stamp her a member of the Club.
Section 3. Special or unexpected meetings between members may occur at any time or place; therefore each member should at all times be mindful of her membership and never appear untidy or be seen with dull, brittle or unsightly hair.

ARTICLE VI. QUORUM.

Section 1. One member shall constitute a quorum for the execution of any plan or the use of any prophylactic not out of harmony with the object of the Association.
Section 2. Upon special occasions a larger number may constitute a quorum, provided the purpose of the meeting interests and instructs those who are known to be loyal to the Club.

ARTICLE VII. AMENDMENTS.

Section 1. But one amendment is permissible under this Constitution.
Section 2. Article III may be amended by the addition of a section permitting Auxiliary Members.
Section 3. Any married man may become an Auxiliary Member by prompt and cheerful purchasing—for his own family—such toilette remedies or requisites as may be desired by any Active or Passive Member.

NOTE 1.

It is passing strange that we have no clubs for the improvement of one's natural appearance: "a back to nature club," so to speak. We certainly need them, for we all know that one lecture by a capable dermatologist would be more helpful to the complexion than a ton of beauty lotion.

NOTE 2. No one has other than encouragement to admit that many, many hours are devoted to looking up the depredations of some ancient buccaneer, when the time would be worth more if spent in combating the depredations of dandruff germs.

NOTE 3. Upon this very subject, how many know about the dandruff germ and the havoc it creates in a luxuriant growth of hair? It is a deplorable fact, but up to within very recent years, one century after another rolled by without any important addition to our knowledge of hair preservation.

NOTE 4. Nearly six thousand years ago, or to be exact, 4,900 B. C., the mother of the Egyptian King Chats (second king of the first dynasty) tried to save the hair of that monarch with a mixture of dogs' paws, dates and asses' hoofs, ground up and cooked in oil (Egyptian Papyrus). Similar remedies have been popular ever since.

NOTE 5. Just when cantharides took the place of dogs' paws in hair remedies is not known, but Hippocrates, "the father of medicine," used it four hundred years B. C., and it has been in constant use—without benefit whatever—up to within the present decade. Most hair remedies contain it even now. What is "cantharides"? Simply a foul smelling dead fly or bug from the Levant that has been dried, powdered and soaked in alcohol. The elder Pliny, A. D. 23, and also Dioscorides, overcame the "mosquy" odor with hot vinegar.

NOTE 6. It remained for the eminent German, Dr. Unna (ask your doctor about him), to discover that the real cause of dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair is an invisible microbe growth of vegetable character that lodges and develops in the sebaceous glands of the hair follicles in the scalp. This shows that the disease is contagious and also that the use of dead animals or bugs is worse than useless.

Read how a guinea pig was denuded with human dandruff germs, page 511, "Jackson on Diseases of the Skin," 4th edition. Also Lancet, London, Sept. 24, '04; Medical Review of Reviews, New York, Nov. '01; New England Medical Monthly, Oct., '04; Literary Digest, New York, March 1, '02, and Nov. 12, '04.

NOTE 7. The first remedy to successfully combat the dandruff germ, stop itching and permit the hair to grow as nature intended, is Newbro's Herpicide. It is a scientific germicide and scalp prophylactic. It does not stain or dye the hair, and it contains no cantharides. While Newbro's Herpicide will not cure chronic baldness or do anything "magical," its intelligent use will produce results that are, to say the least, extraordinary. In addition to its remedial qualities, it makes the hair light and fluffy and gives it a silken gloss. Doctor V. T. McGillicuddy, Denver Colo., Medical Inspector Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, writes as follows concerning Newbro's Herpicide:

"Knowing the composition of Herpicide, I can state that it contains nothing injurious. In a great number of cases of baldness, a neglected dandruff can be considered as its immediate exciting cause or associated condition. Your Herpicide will, in the vast majority of cases, cure and prevent the continuation of dandruff. It is an elegant and ideal hair dressing."
